Mrs Charles W. Peirce has bought the house and land of her late husband's father, Mr. William Peirce, and will move there with her family as soon as practicable. The farm which they have occupied the past twelve years will be left vacant; it is owned by Dr. Geo. L. Peirce of New York, and will probably be let to some good tenant.

Mr. Albert Chick has moved from Mr. T. J. Pettigrew's house to the Kimball house, near the old mill, now the property of Dr. A. W. Johnson.

Miss Emma Berry, of the Point, has returned from Greenland, N. H., where she has been engaged in dressmaking. We understand she has all the business she can attend to in that line.

Mr. Benjamin Keen is engaged in repairing the schooner Triton, which has been hauled up for the winter at the draw-pier of Portsmouth bridge.

Mrs. Geo. W. Collins of Exeter, N. H., returned home last week after a pleasant visit among friends at the Point and vicinity.

Charles W. Cottle & Son are making arrangements to build a large two-story carriage house, to take the place of the old shed on the Mark Spinney place.

Geo. O. Wilson has a neat and desirable stock of goods for sale in the store lately occupied by Mrs. Otis in Trefethen block.

De Courcey the tailor, of Portsmouth, claims to have the famed wild critter; it is called a "Patagonian mink."

A company from the Point, friends of Capt. Samuel H. Pillsbury and wife, called on them last Tuesday evening and presented Mrs. Pillsbury with an elegant willow rocking chair as a token of their esteem. The affair was a complete surprise to the couple, and the evening was passed very pleasantly in discussing the topics of old time acquaintance. Mrs. Pillsbury was formerly for many years organist at the 1st Congregationalist church at the Point, and has acted in that capacity on several occasions since she moved to the village. SUB ROSA.

A GREAT MISTAKE

has heretofore been made in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, and nervous or sick headache. This is evidenced by the failure on the part of thousands of sufferers to find relief, even though they have exhausted the skill of various physicians and tried numerous so-called remedies. To such Athlophoros is offered as a safe, sure, and quick cure. Its success has been phenomenal, and yet it is not surprising because it will do all that is claimed for it. The Athlophoros Co. will gladly refer any who desire to make an investigation to reliable parties who have been cured by it.

Concord, N. H., March 18, 1886.

My father, who is eighty years old, has for years been a great sufferer with rheumatism, also neuralgia, in the stomach. His case was a very severe one and worried not only the family but the doctors as well, who seemed utterly unable to do him any good, so they resorted to the most powerful remedies. My father grew worse and weaker daily, and, unknown to the doctor, we got him to try Athlophoros. Very soon there was an improvement, the pains almost immediately ceased, and there was no longer any cause to keep the doctor in ignorance of what he was using. We told him it was Athlophoros that he was taking, and the doctor told him to continue its use, as it was what he wanted, and so it proved, for he has never been troubled with rheumatism since. J. W. LANE.

Hudson, Mass., May 12, 1886.

This is to certify that I have sold more Athlophoros than all other so-called cures for rheumatism combined. It gives universal satisfaction to my many customers. Have sold Athlophoros for three years. W. L. WEST, Druggist.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

"SEA SANDS."

This evening, at Music hall, Miss Lizzie Evans, the charming little soubrette who so delighted our theatre goers last year by her performance of the part of "Chip" in Fogg's Ferry, will appear in her new comedy "Sea Sands," written expressly for her, and presented with the aid of special scenery and a strong and well balanced company. She will be greeted by a large audience, and deserves it. Reserved seat tickets can be procured to-day at Goodrich's.

TEMPERANCE ASSOCIATION MEETING.

The Rockingham County Temperance Association will meet at the Middle street Baptist chapel in this city on Thursday, March 31st; at 10:30 A. M. there will be a prayer and praise service, and at eleven an address on the Good Templars by Chief Templar George H. Bailey; collation at noon; at one P. M., "Love in Law;" at two, Woman's Christian Temperance Union; at three, "Righteousness in Law."

MARITIME NOTES.

Capt. Ellery O. Garland of Newington has been in this city the past few days, getting his vessel—the crack schooner D. K. Ham—ready to engage in the brick-carrying trade. She will start next Monday to load at Abbott's brickyard, Eliot. We understand that Capt. James S. Brewster of York will go with Capt. Garland this season as mate.

Messrs. Charles Stover and Daniel Caswell of this city have contracted to supply up-river parties this spring with 25,000 bushels of rockweed, which is gathered from the islands at the mouth of the harbor.

Capt. Sanders of Dover point had a large gang of men at work Monday, overhauling the schooner J. Chester Wood; she will be ready in a few days to start in the brick carrying trade.

The fishing schooner Northern Eagle came off the marine railway at Kittery a day or two ago, and is being fitted for spring fishing; she will be commanded by Capt. Andrew Garland of this city.

The schooner Fleur de Lis, which has been hauled up for the winter at the south end, is being overhauled preparatory to going into the spring fishing.

There have been shipped from this city the past winter to the Boston and New York markets over 5,000 boxes of fish, averaging ever 500 lbs. to the box—in other words, not far from 2,500,000 lbs. or 1,250 tons of fish, all of which were caught in Ipswich bay. The prices have ruled high all the season, making it a profitable one for most of the fishermen. The fish have been bought and forwarded by Elvin Newton & Co., Edw. Jameson, Randall & Caswell, and Daniel Clark.

The schooner Charity arrived at this port from Boston on the 22d inst. with salt to E. F. Sise & Co.

The schooner Susan E. Nash, built at Westerly, R. I., in 1868, and until recently owned there, will be put in the brick carrying trade between this port and Boston, a little more than one-half of her having been purchased by Portsmouth parties, at the rate of $2200 for the whole vessel. She is eighty-three feet long, twenty-four feet beam and six feet in the hold, registers about eighty-nine tons, and will carry 70,000 bricks. Capt. Stevens of Wells, Me., will have command of her, and has gone to Stonington, Conn., where she wintered, to take charge; she will bring a cargo of coal to this port, by way of making a start on the summer's work.

Mr. Lewis Holmes has during the winter built two new boats, of the following dimensions: Length, sixteen feet six inches; breadth, three feet eight inches; depth, one foot three inches. They will be added to his fleet of letting boats, which now numbers fourteen. Mr. Holmes is already getting his floating stages overboard.

A schooner arrived at Boothbay, Me., on the 20th inst., from Barrington, Nova Scotia, with sixty-four men to man the fishing vessels of Boothbay and Southport for the spring fishery. The schooner Velocipede, formerly of this port, arrived at Gloucester on the 21st from Pubnico, N. S., with eighteen men to join Gloucester fishing schooners.

To-day (Wednesday) the Teachers' Institute will commence its sessions at Exeter and continue three days. It is understood all the teachers of this city will be in attendance at least one day, and many of them will attend all its sessions. The spring vacation of two weeks for the schools will commence on Monday, Mar. 28th. The schools of those teachers who attend the institute will be closed during their absence.

The Crazy Tea Party to be given by the ladies of Storer Relief Corps on Thursday evening, 24th inst., at G. A. R. hall, bids fair to be the hit of the season. The arrangements are nearly completed, and an enjoyable evening is assured to all who attend. The whole programme will be a surprise, and very amusing as well as interesting. The public generally are invited; the comrades of Storer Post and their families are especially expected to be present.

Mr. Branch O'Brien, business manager of the Helene Adell Standard Dramatic Co., was in this city on Tuesday making arrangements for the appearance of Miss Adell at Music hall on the first three evenings of next week.

It is expected that the reunion of the 13th regiment at the Revere house, Boston, on Tuesday, April 5th, will be a grand affair. The reception will be at ten o'clock, the business meeting at eleven o'clock, A. M., and the banquet at one o'clock P. M. Among the invited guests are Gen. Devens, Chaplain Quint, and Gen. Ayling.

Mrs. Harriet Piper, widow of Moses Piper, died in Boston this week at the age of eighty-four years. Her husband was for many years a saddler in this city, carrying on the business where W. J. Sampson & Co. are now located on Daniel street, but afterward removed to Boston. Mrs. Piper was sister to Mr. Benjamin Carter, formerly of this city.

The Young People's Association of the North church will give a "rainbow supper" and entertainment at their chapel on Middle street, Thursday evening, March 24th. Admission ten cents; supper extra. The entertainment will consist of vocal and instrumental music, speaking, etc. This will be the first rainbow supper ever given in this city, and is expected to be as amusing as novel.

Mr. A. K. Brown, proprietor of the sprinkling carts which have been in use on our streets for a number of summers past, has had them at the Abbot-Downing Co.'s premises in Concord for repairs; one of them arrived home a few days ago, looking as good as new, and all will be here by the time they are wanted—that is, unless dusty weather comes much sooner than is now threatened. Mr. Brown was out on the streets last Monday with a fine pair of matched greys, which it is said he contemplates purchasing for the hauling of fish and doing any other heavy teaming.

Comrade B. D. Stewart, of Post 17, G. A. R., of Dover, Assistant Inspector, will inspect Storer Post, No. 1, of this city, on Friday evening, March 25th.

A Newburyport paper says: "Simon Page of Portsmouth is to act as administrator of the estate of the late Betsy Page of this city, in the place of N. A. Moulton, deceased."

The school building on Hanover street will receive an overhauling during the spring vacation, and needed repairs will be made.

Mr. Flagg F. Grant, the popular and efficient steward at the Rockingham, becoming tired of the discomfort and misery of a bachelor's life, on Tuesday, the 22d inst., married Miss Carrie E. Nay, of Wells, Me. The happy coaple after a brief tour will take up their residence in this city.

Gen. M. T. Donahue was in the city yesterday, on "official business."

Judging from the weather of Tuesday, the weather bureau was altogether too lavish in serving out "etherial mildness" on the first two days of spring, and temperarily exhausted the supply. Snow and rain overhead, slop and slosh under foot, and a howling northeaster, (which we suppose may be accepted as the line gale,) made the day unpleasant enough for those who were forced to be out of doors; but it was genuine spring weather, although the etherial mildness did not materialize to any marked extent.

Mr. Lemuel B. Caswell, who has usually spent the winters in this city, has stopped the past winter at Smuttynose island, Isles of Shoals.

The Samuel Ham farm on Middle road, near the pound, was sold on the 19th inst. by Mr. Wm. F. Ham, administrator of the estate, to Mr. Nathaniel Wiggin.

Samuel R. Gardner, Esq., the courteous and attentive city messenger, was out on the street for an airing on Monday, for the first time since he was taken ill. Even that indication of returning health is a satisfaction to his many friends.

Mr. Richard F. Trevelick, grand lecturer of the Noble Order of Knights of Labor of the United States, will lecture at Music hall in this city on Wednesday evening, April 13th, under the auspicss of Local Assembly 5344, of this city.

A new naval prison is being fitted up at the Charlestown navy yard, which will be ready for occupancy next month. It is to be strictly a marine and naval stronghold, receiving sentenced men by court-martial or those awaiting trial on the eastern coast.

Amanda Jones of West Epping, aged eighteen years, committed suicide on Saturday night last by taking a large dose of rat poison. She died after three hours of extreme suffering.

Rev. Josiah H. Stearns, pastor of the Congregationalist church of Epping for the past thirty years, died at five o'clock in the morning on the 21st inst., aged seventy-four years. He was a native of Epping.

A line of Jersey Waists at $1.00 have just been received by Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market street.

United States Vice-Consul-General Penfield, at London, has resigned to accept a position with the American exhibition.

The discovery of gold deposits in British Columbia leads the Dominion government to send a surveying commission to look after the boundary between that province and Alaska.

The Bengal chamber of commerce objects to the appointment of natives to offices heretofore held by Europeans.

Governor Marmaduke, of Missouri, has signed the bill repealing the state oleomargarine law.

A man named Lyons drove his wife out of doors last Sunday in South Berwick. She complained to the police officers, and three of them went to the house, which they found barricaded, and Lyons inside armed with a pitchfork. While forcing an entrance one of the officers, Mr. Ham, was stabbed with the fork, but Lyons was captured. In the South Berwick police court Monday morning the fellow was arraigned, and committed for trial at the next term of the supreme judicial court for York county.

Massachusetts supervisors of elections performed ten days labor at the last election; but Attorney General Garland informs R. T. Davis that only five days' pay will be allowed. The law says supervisors of elections shall be paid for any number of days work actually performed, not exceeding ten; but then Attorney General Pan-Electric doesn't know much about the law.

A military convention has been concluded between Austria and Servia, whereby they will become allies in the event of war between Austria and Russia.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors

Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has completely cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

P. S. WHITLINGER, Leechburg, Pa.

Reference:—FRANK T. WRAY, Druggist, Apollo, Pa.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and smoked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1881 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. H. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

TAYLOR & TAYLOR, Druggists, Frankfort, Kan.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED.

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are speedily and safely by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

MACMILLAN & CO., Druggists, Lacrobe, Pa.

CUTICURA REMEDIES

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrah. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

HOW MY SIDE ACHES.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1876.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1849, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

A Mattress Maker's Views.

"Nobody respects anything now, and I saw a rich woman the other day let her boy 6 years old empty a box of candy on a pale blue satin couch and then sit down on it and rub his shoes up and down on the edge. I say when there's no respect left for anything it's no wonder decent work comes to an end. I make a mattress and there isn't an inch of it that isn't sewed to last and that isn't an honest piece of work, but you can go into any house furnishing department and buy one that looks just as well for a third less money. Everything's so cheap that people don't care whether anything lasts or not, and so there's no decent work done, and people pretend to have learned trades when really they just botch things together."—Helen Campbell in New York Sun.

Musical Tones Among Animals.

According to a book recently published by an English organist, a cow lows in a perfect fifth and octave or tenth; a dog barks in a fifth or fourth; a donkey brays in a perfect octave; a horse neighs in a descent on the chromatic scale. Each person has his fundamental key in which he generally speaks, but which he often transposes in sympathy to other voices, or when he is excited.—Chicago Times.

I took the opportunity to praise the Norwegian spitkin, which is a most ingenious device, and not only ingenious, but wholesome and cleanly. It is an open brass pan, some four inches in depth, filled with broken twigs of green juniper.

These are put in fresh every day, an invention, no doubt, of poverty in the first place, for the Norwegian has been hard pressed for centuries, and has learned to set his fragrant juniper and fir boughs to all manner of uses unknown in other countries; for instance, spreading them down for outside door mats in country houses—another pretty and cleanly custom.—Lady Tourist in Norway.

From the Cotton Plant.

The value of the cotton plant, great as it is acknowledged by all to be, seems to have the possibility of being increased, since it has lately been discovered that the bark of the root contains what promises to be an available coloring matter.—New York Sun.

—A dear old mother in Israel always complimented the minister. One Sunday there seemed absolutely nothing good to say for him—the sermon was bad, the delivery worse. Her children tried to make her admit that it was a total failure, but she wouldn't. All she would say, all she could say, was: "Well, he had an excellent text."

—"Silver pitchers for presentation to bridal couples can be had of us as low as $2, and they will wear for three months," advertises a Chicago firm. That firm has tumbled to a long fell want, and those pitchers will soon be sold all over the United States. Can't they manage to get up a set of silver spoons or forks for about twenty-five cents?

—A man whose favorite hymn is "I would not live always" has spent $230 for patent medicines during the past ten years.

—Talmage said in his lecture the other night that "the man who can sing and won't sing should be sent to Sing Sing." That would be too severe. It is the man who can't sing and will sing who should be sent to Sing Sing.

—Minister (to boy who is digging for worms): "Little boy, don't you know that it is wrong to work on Sunday, except in cases of necessity?" Boy (going on with his digging): "This is a case of necessity. A feller can't go fishin' 'thout bait."

Great floods are reported in the river bottoms of Dakota, owing to the rapid melting of the heavy snows, and the blocking of the streams with ice at narrow points. The lowlands everywhere are overflowed; many people are perched in trees, and many are missing. All railroad travel is stopped, and great pecuniary damage has already been done.

I Had Faith.

About six months ago I was advised to consult Mr. Hall, the great Spiritualist doctor, to see if she could cure me of scrofula, a disease with which I had suffered greatly from childhood. She said if I would have faith in the medicines she gave me, that she could cure me. I took her medicine, and in less than three months I was cured. Why, the way the medicine worked was a miracle. I begged of her to tell me what the medicine was made of, but she said she could not do so. Finally she told me the medicine was Sulphur Bitters, and that she never knew it to fail in all such cases as mine.—Mrs. Clara Knowlton, 35 Hanover street, Boston, Mass.

The new city government of Biddeford was inaugurated on the 21st inst., the mayor being a democrat, and the board of aldermen and common council, which last year were unanimously democratic, having a majority of one each. In the evening, when the common council met, it was found that the democratic majority of one was absent—it being openly stated in the board, and not denied, that he was too drunk to attend the meeting—and upon a motion being made to go into joint convention with the aldermen for the election of city officers, the corrupt ring which has ruled the city for four or five years past decided that it would not do under the circumstances, as it was possible that some one democrat in one board or the other might decide to vote for the clean and respectable republican nominees, instead of for the "hard ticket" put forward by the ring; so a motion was made to adjourn. The republicans voted solidly against an adjournment, and the democrats, including the president, a parliamentarian named Center, in favor of it, making a tie, which of course defeated the motion; but Mr. Center is a man of resource, and having once voted on the motion to create the tie, he voted on it a second time as president of the council, to dissolve the tie, and declared the motion carried! The republican papers of Biddeford seem as surprised at this remarkable performance as if it were something unusual for a Biddeford democrat to vote twice or more when it is necessary "for the good of the party."

Disorders which Affect the Kidneys Are among the most formidable known. Diabetes, Bright's disease, gravel, and other complaints of the urinary organs, are not ordinarily cured in severe cases, but they may be averted by timely medication. A useful stimulant of the urinary glands has ever been found in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which not only affords the requisite stimulus when they become inactive, but increases their vigor and secretive power. By increasing the activity of the kidneys and bladder, this medicine has the additional effect of expelling from the blood impurities which it is the peculiar office of those organs to eliminate and pass off. The Bitters is also a purifier and strengthener of the bowels, an invigorant of the stomach, and a matchless remedy for biliousness and fever and ague. It counteracts a tendency to premature decay, and sustains and comforts the aged and infirm.

John Ruskin rises to remark wrathily that civilization is putting its best iron into ironclads and stink-pots.

I Had Faith.

About six months ago I was advised to consult Mr. Hall, the great Spiritualist doctor, to see if she could cure me of scrofula, a disease with which I had suffered greatly from childhood. She said if I would have faith in the medicines she gave me, that she could cure me. I took her medicine, and in less than three months I was cured. Why, the way the medicine worked was a miracle. I begged of her to tell me what the medicine was made of, but she said she could not do so. Finally she told me the medicine was Sulphur Bitters, and that she never knew it to fail in all such cases as mine.—Mrs. Clara Knowlton, 35 Hanover street, Boston, Mass.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had pooched at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,
Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

"WHEN I WAS A BOY!"

"When I was a boy," the grandsire said
To the bright lad by his knee,
"Of the victors crowned with fame I read
Who triumphed on land and sea!
And through the years, from the dawn of ess page,
A summons has sounded long;
To youth, and manhood, and hoary age,
The message is this: 'Be Strong!'"

"When I was a boy—" he paused and said
To the listener by his knee,
"Of the men who were as lights I read
Who dwelt on this sphere;
They prized the truth and were loved of God,
And no fear of man they knew;
And still from the glorious heights they trod.
The message was this: "Be True!"
—J. R. Eastwood in The Quiver.

RESEARCHES ON SNAKE POISONS.

Peculiarities of the Venom of Serpents. How Death Is Caused.

The Smithsonian institution has published Dr. Mitchell's and Professor Reichert's researches on snake poisons. The Boston Medical and Surgical Journal says of the work: "The new researches have been executed with so great skill, the results are so important, and the presentation of the whole matter is so excellent, that the memoir must at once be ranked a classic." We give a few of the results:

No chemical difference can be detected in the poison of all known snakes. The poison resembles in some respects the saliva of other animals, and differs but little from normal elements of the blood.

Introduced within the living tissues, it produces destructive changes more rapidly than any other known substance, and yet it is harmless within its own tissues. Herein, as The Journal suggests, it resembles the gastric juice, which digests all substances except that of the stomach itself.

Like most other poisonous substances, it is associated with more or less innocuous matter, from which the active principle can be separated by chemical analysis and obtained pure.

It has generally been supposed that the malignant effect of the poison was due to an intense inflammation to which it gave rise. But in inflammation it is principally the white corpuscles that escape from the blood vessels, while snake poison causes the blood to exude unseparated. In the former case, also, the blood strongly coagulates; in the latter, it retains its fluidity.

The red blood globule, in its normal form, is biconcave, or hollowed out on both sides; the poison renders it round, softens it, and causes the globules to run together like a gelatinous mass. The tissues become black with the infiltrated blood, break down, and rapidly putrify and slough.

It is probable that in most cases death results from the paralysis of the respiratory centers—those parts of the brain that preside over the acts of respiration.

The bushmen of South Africa use as an antidote the powdered poison sac of a different species of snake; some, a small lizard, dried, powdered and rubbed into incisions around the bite. Observations of travelers seem to confirm the efficacy of these antidotes.—Youth's Companion.

Queer Things in China.

A decree has been published in The Pekin Gazette which gives definite shape to the negotiations of China with the pope. The cathedral schools, dwelling houses, hospital, museum, printing office and library, so well known for 150 years as the Peitang, are to be removed to another site a quarter of a mile distant. The bishop is highly praised and rewarded with second rank decorations, as is also Mr. Commissioner Deitring of the customs, Tientsin. Abbe Favier, who went to Rome and Paris from Pekin to conduct the negotiations, is honored with the third rank decorations and £500. The accord of France with China seems to be perfect.

The new cathedral and other buildings will be erected at the expense of the Chinese government, following in this respect the example set by the great Emperor Kanghi in the latter part of the Seventeenth century. The empress wishes to have the cathedral, which overlooks a park where she will reside occasionally, in the western precincts of the palace. What she will do with the cathedral is a secret, and perhaps not yet decided.—London News.

Slavery in Eastern Countries.

It is a mistake to regard the condition of a slave in the east as utterly wretched. On the contrary, he is much better off than the average artisan in Europe. The worst he has to endure is the severance from his home and the journey to his place of destination. The relations between master and slave in eastern countries have little analogy with those formerly existing in Brazil and North America. It is usual for the Arab to grant freedom to his bondsman after a certain term of servitude; but in general the boon is declined and the slave prefers to continue in a service where he is well taken care of. The children of a Mohammedan master and a female slave stand upon an equal social footing and enjoy the same legal rights of heirship as the offspring of the legitimate wife. The mother, by the very event of the birth, becomes free and cannot be sold. An emancipated slave frequently inherits his master's property and carries on his business. In Meccah and Jeddah I know many freedmen of this class who have become eminent merchants.—Cor. St. Louis Globe-Dispatch.

A Patriotic Composer.

The great composer, Verdi, is also a great patriot. In the dark days of thirty and forty years ago there was no more ardent champion of Italian liberty and union than he. He was elected to parliament in 1861, and took deep interest in all its operations. But it was a silent interest. He never could make a speech, though he often declared that he would gladly give the copyright of his best opera for the ability to do so.—Chicago Times.

"DON'T YOU WORRY."

How Shrewd Business Men Have Solved a Great Problem.

"Is there a fatality among our prominent men" is a question that we often ask. It is a question that perplexes our leading medical men, and they are at a loss to know how to answer it.

We sometimes think that if the physicians would give part of their energy to the consideration of this question that they give to combating other schools of practice, it might be satisfactorily answered.

The fights of "isms" reminds us often of the quarrels of old Indian tribes, that were only happy when they were annihilating each other.

If Allopathy makes a discovery that promises good to the race, Homœopathy decides it and breaks down its influence. If Homœopathy makes a discovery that promises to be a boon to the race, Allopathy attacks it.

It is absurd that these schools should fancy that all of good is in their methods and none in any other.

Fortunately for the people, the merit which these "isms" will not recognize, is recognized by the public, and this public recognition, taking the form of a demand upon the medical profession, eventually compels it to recognize it.

Is it possible that the question has been answered by shrewd business men? A prominent man once said to an inquirer, who asked him how he got rich, "I got rich because I did things while other people were thinking about doing them." It seems to us that the public have recognized what this fatality is, and how it can be met, while the medical profession have been wrangling about it.

By a careful examination of insurance reports we find that there has been a sharp reform with reference to examinations (and that no one can not get any amount of insurance who has the least development of kidney disorder), because they find that sixty out of every hundred in this country do, either directly or indirectly, suffer from kidney disease. Hence, no reliable company will insure a man except after a rigid urinary examination.

This reminds us of a little instance which occurred a short time ago. A fellow editor was an applicant for a respectable amount of insurance. He was rejected on examination, because, unknown to himself, his kidneys were diseased. The shrewd agent, however, did not give up the case. He had an eye to business and to his commission, and said: "Don't you worry; you get a half dozen bottles of Warner's safe cure—all dealers keep it—take it according to directions and in about a month come around, and we will have another examination. I know you will find yourself all right and will get your policy."

The editor expressed surprise at the agent's faith, but the latter replied: "This point is a valuable one. Very many insurance agents all over the country, when they find a customer rejected for this cause, give similar advice, and eventually he gets the insurance."

What are we to infer from such circumstances? Have shrewd insurance men, as well as other shrewd business men, found the secret answer to the inquiry? Is it possible that our columns have been proclaiming, in the form of advertisements, what has proved a blessing in disguise to millions, and yet by many ignored as an advertisement?

In our files we find thousands of strong testimonials for Warner's safe cure, no two alike, which could not exist except upon a basis of truth; indeed, they are published under a guarantee of $5,000 to any one who will disprove their correctness, and this offer has been standing, we are told, for more than four years.

Undoubtedly this article, which is simply dealing out justice, will be considered as an advertisement and be rejected by many as such.

We have not space nor time to discuss the proposition that a poor thing could not succeed to the extent that this great remedy has succeeded, could not become so popular without merit even if pushed by a Vanderbilt or an Astor.

Hence we take the liberty of telling our friends that it is a duty that they owe to themselves to investigate the matter and reflect carefully, for the statements published are subject to the refutation of the entire world. None have refuted them; on the contrary, hundreds of thousands have believed them and proved them true, and in believing have found the highest measure of satisfaction, that which money cannot buy, and money cannot take away.

You Can't BEAT THEM! For General Family use they are Vastly Superior to ALL other kinds.

THE FAMOUS HOP PLASTERS

They restore and vitalize weak parts, subdue inflammation and instantly banish pain, whether in the Back, Side, Hip, Leg, Kidneys, Joints, Shoulder, Chest, Breast, Stomach or Muscles. Powerfully soothing, pain allaying and strengthening. The best plaster on earth is the verdict of thousands. Mailed for price by proprietors,

Hop Plaster Company, Boston, Mass.

Swindlers abroad! This plaster is spread on white muslin, ready for instant use. HOP PLASTER CO., signature on every plaster.

An Imperative Necessity.

What pure air is an unhealthy locality, what spring cleaning is to the neat housekeeper, so is Hood's Sarsaparilla to everybody, at this season. The body needs to be thoroughly renovated, the blood purified and vitalized, the germs of disease destroyed. Scrofula, salt rheum, and all other blood disorders are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the most popular and successful spring medicine.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission.

The president has appointed the following-named gentlemen as inter-state commerce commissioners:

Thomas M. Cooley, of Michigan, for the term of six years.

William R. Morrison, of Illinois, for the term of five years.

Aldace F. Walker, of Vermont, for the term of three years.

Walter L. Bragg, of Alabama, for the term of two years.

Mr. Cooley has had great experience as a corporation lawyer, and is a republican. Mr. Morrison is a lawyer and a democrat, and has been made famous by his attemps at "horisontal reduction" of the tariff. Mr. Schoonmaker is a prominent lawyer of New York, and a democrat. Mr. Walker, the New England member of the commission, is a republican, and a former law partner of Senator Edmunds. Mr. Bragg is a lawyer and a democrat, and has been president of the Alabama state railway commission.

An Earnest Supporter.

The New York Sun, whose support of a candidate is usually as fatal to the man supported as is that of the Boston Herald, mildly remarks:

We do not hesitate to say that we are earnestly, thoroughly, and uncompromisingly in favor of renominating Grover Cleveland for 1888—in a certain contingency. This contingency would be realized in case it should become certain that the democracy is doomed without hope to defeat and overthrow in that election. If democratic principles are to be stricken down and the democratic party overthrown in that struggle, no man is so well qualified, so indisputably suitable to be the democratic candidate as Grover Cleveland. Better, infinitely better, to be beaten with him than with any other living man.

They Don't Learn.

It might reasonably be supposed that the New England farmers who were so severely bitten a few years ago through signing innocent looking receipts for "Granite Agricultural Co.'s" tools, or agreements to act as agents for one thing or another, which receipts and agreements afterward turned up in the possession of banks or brokers in the shape of regularly worded notes for liberal sums, would be shy about signing their names to anything presented for signature by strangers. But it is announced that parties down in Maine who last summer gave a patent medicine man an "acknowledgment" of the receipt of a bottle of his wares, not to be paid for if not used, and not then if it did not effect an absolute cure, are now being invited to pay notes of $25 each in the hands of innocent holders.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY POINT, ME., March 21st.

Perhaps none of our neighboring towns have experienced more startling revolutions in two years than Kittery Point, especially in the localities known as Cutts' and Gerrish's islands. Not only has one of our new and enterprising citizens established a considerable hotel, whose first season gives good promise for future success, but has made a necessity for new roads and strong bridges, in place of narrow and dangerous paths, and suspicious erections across the water, formerly regarded as all sufficient.

Already the tourist can find ample entertainment, and plenty of diversion for a long summer along our wild seacoast and in the surrounding country. It is to be hoped, however, that better facilities for public travel may soon be warranted by the future development of the place. Many of the old farms, forsaken and fallen into a state of decay, have been purchased by parties of means and good taste, who are fast converting them into beautiful retreats by taking advantage of the natural features, which are somewhat wild and rugged. We might suggest that our older citizens borrow a little light from their more fortunate neighbors, and not be insensible to the fact that beauty has a money value, as well as so-called utility.

New and picturesque dwellings have been erected in place of the old and ill-constructed farmhouses. We are to suppose, however, that changes have only begun,—for parties are already negotiating for the places owned by Mr. Call on Cutts' island, and also for the adjoining one of Wm. Raynes, the new road having, by running through the latter farm, added to its value, and the enterprising movements on the Thaxter farm making it desirable for the owner to add the upper portion of the Raynes place to his own already fine estate. The remaining portion, though of a somewhat desolate and naked appearance, owing to the ruthless slaughter in former times of the trees that once covered the hills and rocks, is reported to be about to pass into the hands of a prominent citizen of Portsmouth; doubtless he will redeem it, as far as may be, by the careful cultivation of trees and shrubbery, while plans have been already laid for improving the above-mentioned portion, adjacent to Mr. Thaxter's farm. Mr. Call's land will probably be sold for small building lots, of future possibilities.

While we may with a touch of sentiment regret the removal of ancient landmarks, and possibly in some instances of the old order of things, we must not be indifferent to the progress of our quiet old town, nor the advantages attendant on our increase of wealth and population.

PROGRESS.

Chas. A. Harriman of Haverhill, Mass., the well known heel and toe pedestrian who appeared in this city several times during the absurd "leg mania" of eight or ten years ago, and was a six day's go-as-you-please contestant in New York, has been very successful of late in Australia. When he first reached there he engaged in short races with the principal walkers in the colony, and was defeated. Since then he has become accustomed to the climate and has had several long distance matches in which he was successful.

On and after April 18th, the Maine Central railroad will run three trains daily each way between Bangor and Bar Harbor.

A good deal has been said in some papers because United States Marshal Harmon of Maine, on the occasion of the late municipal election at Biddeford, worked valiantly at the polls all day in a ward where he does not belong, getting democratic voters to the polls, and making sure that they voted the straight ticket whether they wanted to or not. This is called "offensive partisanship," and it is suggested that President Cleveland have the matter duly laid before him. What bosh! Do not these papers know that the president has defined "offensive partisanship" to be the active support of the republican ticket, and that for democratic office-holders to make themselves useful at the polls is but the laudable exercise of the citizen's right?

A GREAT MISTAKE

has heretofore been made in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, and nervous or sick headache. This is evidenced by the failure on the part of thousands of sufferers to find relief, even though they have exhausted the skill of various physicians and tried numerous so-called remedies. To such Athlophoros is offered as a safe, sure, and quick cure. Its success has been phenomenal, and yet it is not surprising because it will do all that is claimed for it. The Athlophoros Co. will gladly refer any who desire to make an investigation to reliable parties who have been cured by it.

Concord, N. H., March 18, 1886.

My father, who is eighty years old, has for years been a great sufferer with rheumatism, also neuralgia, in the stomach. His case was a very severe one and worried not only the family but the doctors as well, who seemed utterly unable to do him any good, as they resorted to the most powerful remedies. My father grew worse and weaker daily, and, unknown to the doctor, we got him to try Athlophoros. Very soon there was an improvement, the pains almost immediately ceased, and there was no longer any cause to keep the doctor in ignorance of what he was using. We told him it was Athlophoros that he was taking, and the doctor told him to continue its use, as it was what he wanted, and so it proved, for he has never been troubled with rheumatism since. J. W. LANE.

Hudson, Mass., May 12, 1886.

This is to certify that I have sold more Athlophoros than all other so-called cures for rheumatism combined. It gives universal satisfaction to my many customers. Have sold Athlophoros for three years. W. L. WEST, Druggist.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors

Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

P. S. WHITLINGER, Leechburg, Pa.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One dollar bottles of Cuticura in the saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED.

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are positively cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own families, and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrah. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

A Pet Whale's Antics.

An immense whale is "knocking about" in the water at Santa Monica. It is quite tame, and the inhabitants take great pleasure in feeding it and watching its antics in the water. It is so friendly that he will follow a boat at a respectable distance and eat the food thrown to him. He is especially fond of fruit. Of course there is no way to fill him up; but he knows when he has enough, and when satisfied takes a plunge and disappears. Whales are shy monsters, and when it comes to enjoying the company of human beings, no such fact was ever recorded before. Some years ago a whale was captured and placed in an aquarium in Paris, where he became the object of great interest. It grew to great size and was not slow in responding to the calls of its keeper. The constant stream of visitors naturally made it lose its shyness, and it often seemed to enjoy the presence of sightseers. This whale was in 1884 sold to a showman in London for the handsome sum of $25,000. Great trouble was experienced in loading it on the schooner Misty Way; but the trouble did not end there. While in a gale in the channel the vessel was badly wrecked, and the huge wooden tank, which stood on the upper deck, was smashed and the valuable innmate escaped. The sailors, when they saw the whale floundering on the deck, were thunderstruck and made for the rigging.

It is just possible that this most precocious whale at Santa Monica is the same one that endured captivity at Paris and made its escape. He evidently belongs to the species known as the sebbaldius sulfurens, as the body is large and relatively slender, and is capable of great speed. Just how long this marine visitor will remain in these southern waters is not known; he may disappear as mysteriously and unceremoniously as he appeared upon the scene. The Santa Monica people are enjoying him, and it is to be hoped no attempt will be made at a capture.—Los Angeles (Cal.) Express.

A despatch of March 22d from Omaha, Neb., says: "Mrs. Randall, who helped her husband, Dr. Randall, in the outrage upon Ella Hart, would have been lynched by 500 men, who pursued her from court, had she not disguised herself in man's attire. After young Hart, Ella's brother, had shot Randall dead in court, he kicked the corpse to make sure the wound was fatal, and walked from the court house. There will be no effort to punish him."

Remarkable Cure of Lumbago.

DENVER, COL., Feb. 13, 1886.

For nearly six years I suffered greatly with what the doctors called lumbago. I was unable to walk in that interval more than a few steps at a time, or to rise from a chair after once sitting down, without assistance. A friend urged me to give Allcock's Porous Plasters a trial, and he went and got some for me and put them on my back. I felt easier with them on than anything I had ever tried, and continued their use for nearly three months, changing them every week, until I was absolutely cured—cured so that from that day to this, nearly six months, I have been able to work.

In St. Petersburg a policeman was arrested a day or two ago on suspicion of being implicated in the plot against the czar. He tried to commit suicide but was prevented from killing himself outright, though he is mortally wounded and must soon die. It is said he has made a full confession of the plot, admitting his connection therewith, disclosing the names of the leaders, the programme which was and yet remains to be carried out, and furnishing other information of great importance, which will result in the arrest of many persons hitherto without the bounds of suspicion.

For New England to-day:—
Warmer, with rain or snow, westerly winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 18 degrees above zero.

Sky Clear.

SCHOONER SUNK.

The fishing schooner Guinevere, of Newburyport, Capt. Jerome Smith, which has this winter been shore fishing from Gloucester, came to anchor in a dangerous position near Odierne's point on Tuesday night, March 22d, having lost her rigging in a gale, and was temporarily abandoned by her crew. On Wednesday forenoon her captain engaged the steamer Clara Batemen to to tow her into this port, and the tug proceeded on her way to do the job, but when within a short distance of the schooner she was seen to roll over and sink, having filled at her anchors. The Guinevere was built at Newburyport in 1878, was 33.7 feet long, 12.4 feet wide, and 4.3 feet deep, and registered 8.76 tons; she has fished out of this port during the summer for several years, and has been popularly known among the fishermen as the "Guinea Pig." Half of her was owned by the master, who had no insurance; the other half was owned by a party in Newburyport, and was insured; she is a total loss.

"SEA SANDS."

There was a good audience at Music hall on Wednesday evening, the 23d inst., to see Miss Lizzie Evans and her dramatic company in "Sea Sands," and they were well repaid for their attendance, Miss Evans making a charming "Dew-drop," the support being strong, and the play possessing more merit than many that have been longer on the boards. The special scenery was fine, the light-house scene being especially good. A first-class entertainment was expected, and the expectation was realized.

ACCIDENTS.

As a young horse belonging to Dr. Johnson of Kittery, and driven by Harry Grant of that town, was coming into this city shortly after noon on the 23d inst., the animal took fright at the cars and jumped over the railing of the Noble's island bridge. The carriage remained in the roadway, and the horse was for a few moments hung up by the harness, which then gave way and let him fall into the water. He started to swim for the river, but was headed off by a boat and turned toward the Noble's island beach, where he was caught.

A son of Mr. Walter Brown, aged about eight years old, fell into the dock at Randall, Caswell & Co.'s wharf on Wednesday forenoon, March 23d, and was saved by Mr. William Berry as he was sinking for the third time.

MASONIC ELECTION.

At the regular meeting of Washington Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, held Tuesday evening of this week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Wm. G. Billings, H. P.; Edward W. Riley, K.; John Pender, S.; John Nutter, treasurer; Walter H. Page, secretary. The election of the other officers was postponed until a subsequent meeting.

HELENE ADELL.

The announcement of the regular annual engagement of the above-named favorite and talented actress, is creating wide spread anticipation of enjoyable evenings at Music hall next week. Miss Adell will open in "A Night in Rome," in which she appears as the wily, scheming and almost unconquerable "Eugenia De Morney." The amusement lovers of Portsmouth are well aware of the great success Miss Adell has achieved in this fameus role, and it goes without saying that she will be greeted royally on Monday evening. Seats now on sale at Goodrich's.

MARITIME NOTES.

The following fares of fish were landed at this port on Tuesday night, 22d inst., and Wednesday: Abby A. Snow, 10,000 lbs.; Hector, 2000; Grace Choate, 5700; Alabama, 1000; Rising Star, 2500; Farragut, 3000; Martha Jane, 7000; Blue Jay, 3000; Eliza, 4000; Bonita, 1000; Joseph Garland, 1500; Fannie Reed, 1500; Georgia Hagan, 1500; Light Wing, 2500; Agnes E. Downs, 2000. Prices ranged from $1 to $2.25 per hundred pounds.

The schooner Georgia Hagan, Capt. Nathan White of Newcastle, is "high line" of the winter fishing fleet out of this port this season, so far as the earnings of the crew are concerned, each man having shared about $330 after paying all expenses.

The Dover Democrat says: "It is expected that the name of C. H. Trickey & Co.'s new steam tug will be 'Cocheco.' It will be built by the New England Ship Building Co. and Goss Iron Works of Bath, Me., and ready for delivery by July 1st. It will be a condensing boat, and will have iron tanks with a capacity of 4000 gallons of water. It will be useful also if necessary as a wrecking boat."

The schooner Thomas B. Garland, Kelley master, owned by the Dover Navigation Co., bound from Clark's Cove, Me., for Hampton, Va., was run into Saturday morning, the 19th inst., near Gull island, by the schooner Ida L. Ray. The T. B. Garland had her spanker boom and mizzen shrouds on the starboard side carried away, and spanker split. The Ray had her jib-boom carried away and cut-water stove. It is claimed that the lights on both vessels could be plainly seen. Both vessels were towed into New London, Conn., for repairs.

It was announced on the 23d inst. that the river was open to Dover.

Attention is called to the new lot of fresh cigars and genuine Vichy waters, advertised by Charles E. Laighton & Son this morning. They are prime goods at low prices.

Everybody should go to the "Crazy tea party" at G. A. R. hall this evening, given by Storer Relief Corps. It is the first of these unique entertainments given in this city, and rare attractions are promised.

The electric lights have not shed their refulgent rays for two nights on Liberty bridge. Puddle dock is in darkness. This should not be.

Mrs. Mary Stott, wife of Mr. George Stott, died at her residence on Hanover street at 10:30 o'clock P. M., on Tuesday, the 22d inst., at the age of about sixty-nine years. She and her consort had been married nearly long enough to celebrate their golden wedding; she was a most estimable lady, and much beloved by her family and friends. She was mother of six children, three sons and three daughters, all of whom are now living in this city, and were present during her last hours.

Eastern railroad stock sold at 140, and Portland, Saco & Portsmouth at 128, in Boston on the 23d inst.

We are pleased to report Samuel R. Gardner, Esq., city messenger, on duty again.

Mr. Pickard, principal of our High school, will illustrate his methods of teaching Physical Culture, before the Teachers' Institute to-day, with an exhibition of dumb-bell exercise and Indian club swinging by a class of high school boys from this city.

A general order, just published by the war department, directs the discontinuance of the practice of firing a morning and evening gun at military posts. The supply of powder remaining at the close of the war of the rebellion, which has been used for this purpose, has been exhausted, and the ordnance department is without funds to purchase a further supply. This does not interfere with the sounding of the nine o'clock at night gun at the Portsmouth navy yard, which continues to bang away at the appointed time, regardless of the scarcity of condemned powder in the army magazines.

Sheriff Kent says the reported prize fight between Snee and Currier at Hampton beach, did not come off there, but occurred at Salisbury beach, Mass., two and one-half miles beyond the state line.

The wharf in the rear of Mr. Howell D. Russell's store on Water street has been extended a considerable distance out toward the river, and filled in with ashes and rubbish from the streets, during the past winter. It is reported that Mr. Russell will have the dock dredged out, and go into the coal trade in addition to his present business.

Moses W. Fiske, formerly for many years a printer in the office of the old Dover Gazette, but of late years connected with the show business, died in Providence, R. I., a few days since, at the age of sixty years. Miss Marion Fiske, the actress, is his daughter. He was with the Little Corinne company the last time that organization visited this city, as a comedian.

Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury was in town on Wednesday.

A number of men have this week been engaged in erecting a blacksmith shop back of Leonard Jenkins' house at Kittery Foreside, to be used by the railroad builders. Another blacksmith shop and a powder magazine will be put up in Robert Newsome's field near the Kittery Point bridge, where there is a deep cut to be made through a ledge. It is stated that the officers of United States engineers who is in charge of fortifications in this district has notified the railroad officials that the line cannot be run across the United States property at Fort McClary, the survey taking the line through the edge of what is known as "Government grove." But it is alleged that the secretary of War can grant permission for the construction of the road there, subject to the subsequent approval of Congress, and if this is so no doubt such permission will be given.—Hon. Frank Jones is interested in that road.

Norton & Leavitt, contractors for the construction of the westerly section of the new railroad to York, have sublet the job to a contractor who it is said will employ Italians to do the work.

Extra Liability to Malarial Infection.

Persons whose blood is thin, digestion weak and liver sluggish, are extra-liable to the attacks of malarial disease. The most trifling exposure may, under such conditions, infect a system which, if healthy, would resist the miasmatic taint. The only way to secure immunity from malaria in localities where it is prevalent, is to tone and regulate the system by improving weakened digestion, enriching the blood, and giving a wholesome impetus to biliary secretion. These results are accomplished by nothing so effectively as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which long experience has proved to be the most reliable safeguard against fever and ague and kindred disorders, as well as the best remedy for them. The Bitters are, moreover, an excellent invigorant of the organs of urination, and an active depurent, eliminating from the blood those acrid impurities which originate rheumatic ailments.

Judge Edwards Pierrepont has just got back from France, where he went to arrange the marriage settlements of an American woman, worth several millions, who was to marry a French marquis. Judge Pierrepont says: "The power which the French law gives to a husband over his wife, when there are no ante-nuptial limitations, can almost be compared to the power of the southern slaveholder over his slave. The French husband cannot sell his wife, but with that exception he has almost unbounded control over her liberty and her property."

I Had Faith.

About six months ago I was advised to consult Mr. Hall, the great Spiritualist doctor, to see if she could cure me of scrofula, a disease with which I had suffered greatly from childhood. She said if I would have faith in the medicines she gave me, that she could cure me. I took her medicine, and in less than three months I was cured. Why, the way the medicine worked was a miracle. I begged of her to tell me what the medicine was made of, but she said she could not do so. Finally she told me the medicine was Sulphur Bitters, and that she never knew it to fail in all such cases as mine.—Mrs. Clara Knowlton, 35 Hanover street, Boston, Mass.

Won a Fortune.

Buying Three Lottery Tickets and Winning Two Prizes.

Joseph Strang, a former Auburnian, who has been living at Smith Falls, Ontario, is stopping with his wife at the Arbor hotel on South street. Mr. Strang is the lucky man who drew one-tenth part of the first capital prize of $150,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery, at its last month's drawing. To an Advertiser reporter Mr. Strang said that he sent money from Smith Falls, by express, to M. A. Dauphin, at New Orleans, for three tickets and received them in due time. For the one-tenth ticket, No. 73,987, he paid one dollar. About six days after the drawing he received a circular by which he learned that he had drawn $15,000 of the capital prize and also $10 of an approximation prize by another ticket, thus drawing two prizes with three tickets. Mr. Strann had also drawn several prizes previously, but not very large ones.

Mr. Strang came to Auburn and ordered the money sent from New Orleans by express to the banking house of Wm. H. Seward & Co. The total sum of $15,000 was forwarded in gold and Mr. Strang now has a certificate of deposit from that bank for the amount named. There was no deduction for commissions or any other charge except the express tariff of $71.

Mr. Strang is a machinist by trade, and has been in comfortable circumstances, but never had so large a sum of money before. He and his wife will reside in this city. They have no children.—Auburndale (N. Y.) Advertiser, March 11th.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.
High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,
Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

RAWLINS' INFLUENCE OVER GRANT.

What Gen. Badeau Says of Prohibition at Gen. Grant's Headquarters.

When we all returned to Washington in 1865, Gen. Rawlins and myself finally arranged to keep house in partnership and share the expenses jointly. I then being in charge of The New York Herald bureau at Washington. These facts, well known to the public men of that day, are mentioned now in no spirit of egotism by me, but rather as a letter of credence to another generation which has come to the front since then, and to show that I was in position to share many confidences and be intrusted with many secrets which must of necessity be confined to a few persons.

Gen. Rawlins' influence upon the personal habits of Gen. Grant commenced within a week after his arrival at Cairo in August, 1861, to accept the appointment of assistant adjutant general with the rank of captain. He found Gen. Grant's office was substantially in his hat or pockets, as convenience prompted, and the camp story was but slightly exaggerated, which asserted that half his general orders were blowing about in the sand and dirt of the streets of Cairo. All was soon reduced to order, and office habits, methods and forms enforced. He also found much roystering and drinking at headquarters among the staff officers and their invited guests. Discipline among them there was none, and as a rule but little deference to rank and military custom. He soon foresaw that if Gen. Grant was to have any future promption all this must be changed, and having cast in his lot with him for the better or for worse, he set about the difficult and thankless job of correcting these evils.

PROHIBITION AT HEADQUARTERS.

He obtained Gen. Grant's consent to the issuance of an order forbidding any open use of liquors or public drinking at headquarters. This was the first foundation stone upon which the whole superstructure of Grant's greatness was thereafter erected. Having Grant's authority for this step, given, perhaps, with little thought of the iron determination at its back, it was from that day to the end of the war mercilessly enforced. No one ever saw any open public drinking at Gen. Grant's headquarters from that time forward. There was much rebellion among the staff. Many of them tried to ignore its provisions, but found themselves throttled by the iron hand of Rawlins.

Finding themselves powerless, they next resorted to keeping private stores of bottled liquors in their own tents, inviting their friends in there, dropping the flap of the tent and sometimes having a carouse. It was soon noticed that these officers lost caste, were ordered to their regiments, or in some way removed from headquarters. Later on it was no secret that any staff officer who offered the general a glass of liquor, or drank with him, or in any way whatever connived at his taking a single drink, would be disgracefully dismissed and actually degraded in rank as soon as it could be brought about. There was much indignation expressed at first against this arbitrary authority exercised by Capt., Maj. and Lieut. Col. Rawlins, as he reached these promotions, by the full colonels on the staff, who claimed the prerogatives of superior rank. But Gen. Grant sustained his adjutant, and respected him the more for the stand he took, because he knew it to be a turning point in his own life.—Adam Badeau in Cincinnati Gazette.

Not Always Overstudy.

To overstudy is attributed many ailments of children, which are probably due to the carelessness or the indulgence of parents; in fact, the physical training is frequently as grossly neglected as the mental training is excessively stimulated. What we want in this age of rush and excitement is to insist that children shall eat simple food, take plenty of exercise and sleep and not be forced to use their minds actively until they reach the age of 8 or 10 years. If such a system were followed in California it would result in a race of superb physique, with mental strength and alertness that would keep pace with the physical powers. As it is, bad food, late hours, insufficient exercise and oversufficient study neutralize all the good results of a climate that is without an equal in the world for physical or mental work.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Donnelly's Shakespearean Cipher.

Ignatius Donnelly, being asked as to the statement that he had written to a friend in New York that the cipher rule in the Shakespeare plays had failed, that he had applied it to "Pericles," the "Winter's Tale," etc., and it would not work, said that he could only reply in the words of Sir John Falstaff: "Lord! Lord! how this world is given to lying!" He had written no such letter to any person; he had never attempted to apply the cipher rule to the plays mentioned; he had enough to do to work out the cipher narrative in first and second "Henry IV." The cipher was a reality, as he would soon satisfy the world.—Chicago Tribune.

Sea Lions and Salmon.

One of the greatest enemies of the salmon and the salmon fisheries in Oregon is the sea lion. It is estimated that half the salmon that enter the Columbia river the early part of the season are captured by these big beasts, which also damage nets to the amount of thousands of dollars. Vast numbers of them congregate at Tillamook rock and at Seabrocks, and it is suggested that dynamite be used to force them to seek other localities.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Indian Bric-a-Brac.

The scarcity of Indian bric-a-brac in California is a new phase of the Indian question. A string of shell and bone beads is worth $50, and wampum, fragments of bones and other relics are rapidly becoming extinct.—Chicago Times.

The Witch's Fate.

A Cruel Prejudice of Old Times More Than Equaled Now.

Not many decades ago in this country, the people were excited over witchcraft. Persons suspected were thrown into the water; if not witches, they would drown; if they were witches, they would swim ashore, and would be put to death! In any event, they were doomed!

Not many years ago if a person were taken sick with advanced disorder of the kidneys, the physician would pronounce the disease Bright's disease, and when so declared, he regarded his responsibility at an end, for medical authority admitted that the disease was incurable.

When the physician found a patient thus afflicted, he would say, "Oh, a slight attack of the kidneys; will be all right in a little while." He knew to the contrary. But if he could keep his patient on his hands for a few months, he knew he would derive a great revenue from his case, and then when the disease had progressed to a certain stage, he would state the facts and retire, exonerated from all blame.

But the error of supposing the disease incurable, has swayed the public mind, long after the fact has ceased to be. But public opinion has been educated to the true status of the case by those who have discounted the incurability theory, and the public recognizes and testifies to the fact that Warner's safe cure is a specific for this disease. This has been shown with thousands of testimonials.

Upon referring to them in our files we find that $5,000 reward will be given to any one who can prove that so far as the manufacturers know they are not genuine, and that hundreds of thousands similar in character could be published, if it were necessary.

This condition of things is very amusing to the journalist, who looks upon all sides of every question. Proof should be accepted by all, but prejudice fights proof for many years. It seems strange that when a proprietary medicine is doing the good that Warner's safe cure is, that the physicians do not publically indorse it. Many of them, we are told, privately prescribe it, as it is sold by dealers in every part of the country.

A few years ago, as stated, when a man had Bright's disease, the doctor boldly announced it, because he thought it relieved him of responsibility.

To-day when prominent people are dying (and hundreds of thousands of common people die of the same disease), we are told that doctors disguise the fact that it is Bright's disease of the kidneys and say that they die of paralysis, of apoplexy, of pneumonia, of consumption, of general debility, of rheumatism, of heart disease, of blood poisoning, or some other of the names of the direct effects of kidney disease. They are not the real disease itself.

We sometimes wonder if they avoid stating the real cause of disease for fear they will drive the public into patronage of the only scientific proprietary specific for kidney diseases and the thousand and one diseases that originate in inactive kidneys.

We do not believe every advertisement we read. Some people perhaps may regard this article as an advertisement and will not believe it, but we are candid enough to say that we believe the parties above mentioned have stated their case and proved it, and under such circumstances the public is unwise if it is longer influenced by adverse prejudice.

CANTATAS FOR FLOWER TIME!

Teachers of Juvenile Singing Classes do not need to be told of the intense interest and enthusiasm which attends the bringing out of a new CANTATA. The music is fresh, bright, pretty and easily given. Commence in time to prepare them.

VOICES OF NATURE. Operetta. N. B. Sargent.

FOREST JUBILEE BAND. N. B. Sargent.

NEW FLORA'S FESTIVAL. Arranged by J. C. Johnson.

MERRY COMPANY or Cadets' Picnic. Collin Coe.

Price of each book, 40 cts., or $3.60 per doz.

The first two books are by a nature and music-lover, who fills them with very sweet songs of birds, flowers, insects, etc. Flora's Festival, doubled in size, and with minute directions, will surely be a success, as will, in another way, the "MERRY COMPANY."

Our new edition of VOICES OF PRAISE, (40 cts., or $4.20 per doz.) by Rev. C. L. Hutchins, is cordially commended to all who wish a Sunday School Song Book of the highest character.

Schools, Academies and Seminaries are always safe in adopting the carefully compiled School Song Books of Ditson & Co. We recommend for the higher schools, SONG GREETING (60 cts.) and ROYAL SINGER (50 cts.), for grammar schools, SONG BELLS (50 cts.), and for primary schools, GEMS FOR LITTLE SINGERS (30 cts.)

"Mother, the birds are singing—the sun is bright—the ladies are all out in Spring dresses and I can't wear mine for fear of neuralgia." "Pshaw, child, go out and be happy. Only don't forget to buy a bottle of Salvation Oil."

Mr. S. H. Dow of Warner, plaintiff in the celebrated lease case of Dow vs. the Northern railroad and others, through his counsel, Bingham & Mitchell, has filed a bill in equity in the supreme court at Concord asking that he be allowed from the defendants, exclusive of taxable costs, $2500 for attorneys' fees, printing briefs, and money paid out in contesting the validity of the lease.

Pure Rye Whiskey

Is bottled by us, under the brand G. O. Taylor Pure Rye. Rock candy is pure sugar. The two, in combination, make a syrup that will relieve the most stubborn cough or lung trouble. Buy the candy and any leading druggist or grocer will supply the G. O. Taylor Pure Rye by the bottle or dozen. Our firm name should be on each label and over each cork. Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston, Mass.

In accordance with a vote of the town of Franklin the selectmen have notified all persons concerned that the illegal sale of liquor must cease, and that all violations of the prohibitory law will be prosecuted.

An Imperative Necessity.

What pure air is an unhealthy locality, what spring cleaning is to the neat housekeeper, so is Hood's Sarsaparilla to everybody, at this season. The body needs to be thoroughly renovated, the blood purified and vitalized, the germs of disease destroyed. Scrofula, salt rheum, and all other blood disorders are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the most popular and successful spring medicine.

NEWS AND NOTES.

An explosion by which eighty miners were killed occurred March 23d in the Bulli colliery at Sydney, New South Wales.

At the democratic city convention of Chicago on the 23d inst., Carter H. Harrison was renominated for mayor by acclamation. He accepted.

The United States steamer Thetis, purchased by the navy department as an exploring steamer in the search for Lieut. Greely, and which was flagship of the expedition, has been thoroughly equipped as a naval vessel, and will sail for duty in Alaskan waters. She is in command of Lieutentant William H. Emory, who commanded the steamer Bear on the Greely expedition.

Harry Hill's notorious resort in New York has been closed by the police for the first time in thirty-four years.

A movement has been started to endow a professorship at Amherst college in memory of Henry Ward Beecher.

The bids for steel gun forgings and steel armor plate, which were recently opened in Washington, were very gratifying to Secretary Whitney.

It is feared that Robert Boyd, of Boston, special agent of the Bell Telephone company, perished in the Richmond hotel fire at Buffalo, N. Y.

The breach between Hiram lodge of New Haven and the Masonic grand lodge of Connecticut, has materially widened within a day or two.

Several of the German and Scandinavian steamship lines have raised their steerage rates in anticipation of a big business the coming summer.

The Livingstone house at Stockbridge, Mass., the summer residence of Mrs. Philip Livingstone, sister of Mrs. Van Rensalaer of New York, has been burned.

At Belvidere, N. J., the death sentence of Janitor Titus for the murder of Miss Tillie Smith has been commuted to imprisonment for life.

It is said that Mrs. Langtry will be married to Fred Gebhardt early in the spring.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett is said to be writing a sequel to "Little Lord Fauntleroy," which will show him as a young man.

Mrs. George William Curtis and other ladies recently took part in a crusade against the saloons of West New Brighton, Staten Island, where one voter in every twenty is a liquor-seller.

Miss Helen Lenoir, the manager of Mr. D'Oyly Carte's operatic companies, crossed the Atlantic in charge of the Ruddygore company, and got them settled and playing with expedition and without fuss. In theatrical matters, Harper's Bazar says, she is "the leading representative of the administrative genius of her sex."

A Disagreeing Jury.

In New York, March 23d, the jury in the case of Ex-Alderman Thomas Cleary, charged with bribery, failed to agree. On the first ballot the jurymen stood six to six, but one after another of those who at first were for a verdict of guilty, went over to the other side, and finally all were on that side except one man, who said he was satisfied that Cleary was guilty, and would not agree to any other verdict. On announcing their inability to agree, they were dismissed. Cleary's bail was renewed in the same sum as before, $40,000.

AROUND HOME.

The brief report in the Chronicle of Thursday morning, of the rescue of Mr. Walter Brown's son from drowning the previous day, omitted some details which merit mention. Mr. William Berry, who is employed at Randall, Caswell & Co.'s wharf, where the boy fell overboard, and who rescued him, had to jump overboard himself to do it. It was a close call for the boy, as his friends worked upon him for two hours before he regained his senses, and Mr. Berry's humane promptness and courage undoubtedly saved his life.

The company now playing "Siberia" at the Howard Atheneum will present this famous play in this city Monday evening, April 4th. They carry with them when travelling a full car load of scenery.

The Boston Journal says: "All the rumors about the probability that the President and Mrs. Cleveland will visit Portsmouth, N. H., next summer, are understood to arise from a report that Hon. Frank Jones of that city has cordially invited them to accept as his guests the hospitalities of Hotel Wentworth at Newcastle at their convenience. The strong personal friendship existing between the president and Mr. Jones increases the belief that Mr. Cleveland and his wife are more than likely to go to Portsmouth, either in July or August, and thence take a trip through the White mountains."

St. John's Lodge, No. 1, A. F. & A. M., was visited by the grand officers on the evening of the 23d inst., about a hundred of the brethren assembling on the occasion. After the exemplification of the work an excellent supper was served in the banquet hall.

Mrs. M. Louise Butler of this city, widow of Major George Butler, U. S. M. C., has been granted a reissue and increase of pension.

Much complaint is caused by the bad condition of the sidewalk in front of the Rundlett house on Middle street. Portsmouth is noted for its good sidewalks, and pedestrians will grumble when they find a walk out of order; and they have room enough to grumble about the section of walk specified, in all except the very best of weather, for the walk is lower than the road-bed, and has numerous hollows just right for holding puddles of water. It is said there is no record or tradition of when this walk was laid, or when any repairs were made to it.

The Mutual Life Insurance company of New York paid during the week ending March 18th, death claims amounting to $155,328.63. Endowments paid for the same time, $7,818.47. For every $1.00 paid in premiums the company returned $2.61.

The Oregonian, a democratic paper published at Portland, Oregon, says; "President Cleveland, by 'pocketing' the River and Harbor bill, has made it impossible for any democrat to carry Oregon in the presidential election of next year. It will be quite useless for that party to present an electoral ticket in this state."

Sore Throat, Coughs, Colds, and Diphtheria have for 46 Years yielded to Perry Davis' Pain Killer when promptly given

Hon. Frank Jones has bought a fine estate of a hundred and sixty acres at Tavares, Florida. It has a lake front of nearly half a mile, and comprises a large orange grove, where can be produced all the oranges required for the Wentworth and Rockingham hotels.

A GREAT MISTAKE

has heretofore been made in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, and nervous or sick headache. This is evidenced by the failure on the part of thousands of sufferers to find relief, even though they have exhausted the skill of various physicians and tried numerous so-called remedies. To such Athlophoros is offered as a safe, sure, and quick cure. Its success has been phenomenal, and yet it is not surprising because it will do all that is claimed for it. The Athlophoros Co. will gladly refer any who desire to make an investigation to reliable parties who have been cured by it.

Concord, N. H., March 18, 1886.

My father, who is eighty years old, has for years been a great sufferer with rheumatism, also neuralgia, in the stomach. His case was a very severe one and worried not only the family but the doctors as well, who seemed utterly unable to do him any good, as they resorted to the most powerful remedies. My father grew worse and weaker daily, and, unknown to the doctor, we got him to try Athlophoros. Very soon there was an improvement, the pains almost immediately ceased, and there was no longer any cause to keep the doctor in ignorance of what he was using. We told him it was Athlophoros that he was taking, and the doctor told him to continue its use, as it was what he wanted, and so it proved, for he has never been troubled with rheumatism since. J. W. LANE.

Hudson, Mass., May 12, 1886.

This is to certify that I have sold more Athlophoros than all other so-called cures for rheumatism combined. It gives universal satisfaction to my many customers. Have sold Athlophoros for three years. W. L. WEST, Druggist.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

MEMORIAL.

DIED. In Chicago, Ill., Sunday, March 13th, 1887, at the residence of her son, Col. George F. Towle, United States Army, Mrs. Ann Morton Towle, daughter of the late Jno. Moseley of Lee, and wife of Capt. George William Towle of this city.

The following tribute to her worth is by the clergyman who had seen much of her during her residence in Chicago, and who conducted the funeral services in that city:

The announcement of the sudden and unexpected death of Mrs. Towle will be received by her many friends in the community where she has been so long known, with sincere sorrow. Her last and fatal illness was less than a week in duration, and the end when it came was calm and painless. She fell asleep so gently that not even the smile upon her placid face was disturbed. The remains were brought to Portsmouth on the 16th, by the bereaved husband and son, and temporarily deposited in the receiving tomb at the cemetery, where they will remain until arrangements are made for the final interment.

Married at the age of nineteen, Mrs. Towle had lived through those many years in loving accord with the husband who now so deeply mourns her loss. Of this marriage the only issue was one son, Col. George F. Towle, U. S. A., with whom she was residing at the time of her death.

Those who have been much in the company of Mrs. Towle, have been impressed with the gentleness of her manners. Whether in the privacy of the home circle, or in the society of her friends, or among strangers, she preserved an unruffled serenity, which was indeed but an index to her character. She lived constantly in an atmosphere of peace. Impatience, anger, and faultfinding, were wholly foreign to her disposition. Unselfish in her actions, thoughtful and considerate for others, self-sacrificing, seeking occasion to relieve the necessities of the poor, she followed in her life the principles of the divine Son of God, and left to those who knew her the legacy of a beautiful example. During the course of her life she met with trials and sorrows, but none of these ever for a moment availed to charge with bitterness the exceeding sweetness of her character. She lived as those should live who look "for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God."

Such a life, replete each day with faithful ministrations, and crowned with God's loving kindness and tender mercy, had its fitting close in her so peaceful death when the fullness of her years had come. And while we sorrow because of her passing away, we may not doubt that her freed spirit has found its eternal resting place in that home which her Lord had prepared for her from the foundation of the world.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

W. O. L.

HELENE ADELL.

Miss Helene Adell, with substantially the same company as last season, will commence an engagement of three nights at Music hall Monday evening, March 28th. This talented actress and her excellent company are well and favorably known in this city. Reserved seats can now be obtained at Goodrich's bookstore.

THE CRAZY TEA PARTY

By Storer Relief Corps on Thursday evening at G. A. R. hall was a very successful affair, being largely attended and highly entertaining. The young ladies who waited on the tables were dressed in fantastic costumes, the tables were arranged and set in a fashion out of the usual line, and there were a number of surprises in the dishes served, etc., which occasioned much merriment. The programme of musical and other exercises was pleasingly carried out, and consisted of a piano duet by Mrs. Geo. Philbrick and Miss Grace Hendersen; a dialogue, "The Gossips," by Misses Maud Entwistle, Lizzie Gardner, Mabel Rutledge and Gertie Wheaton; a duet, piano and clarionet, by Mrs. Philbrick and Mr. Seymour; reading, by Miss Horrocks; vocal duet, "The good old days of Adam and Eve," by Master Philbrick and Miss Cora Foote.

HE COULD HOWL.

Joe Mooney, formerly of Manchester, is now living in California. Mooney was well known to "horse men" in this city and vicinity as a very successful driver of trotting horses on the course at the Rockingham trotting park fifteen years or more ago, at the time when strength of lungs, and ability to emit long-continued and soul-harrowing howls were more important requisites in the driver of a racer than any special skill or nerve. In those days, to a much greater extent than at present, the race on a trotting course was by no means always to the swift, for the nervous and high spirited 2:26 trotter would often be "sent off his feet" by the startling and nerve-racking yell of the jockey who was driving a 2:50 "plug," the latter being thereby enabled to win. At this branch of the business Mooney's place was very near the top of his profession, for when a rival trotter was drawing by him during a race he would lean over in his sulky until his face was within about two feet of the gaining animal's ear, and the yowl he would give was so unearthly that it made the spectators in the grand stand sick at heart, and generally sent the rival trotter so far into the air that Mooney's horse would pass under the wire before he got down again. This "breaking" of racing horses by the yelling of drivers was finally stopped by a rule of the National Trotting Association, but not until the great majority of sport loving people had became so disgusted with it that they would not attend horse races at all, and the grand stand receipts at the minor race courses had fallen off to almost nothing.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Clara B. Kennard, Freeman master, from Rockland for this port with a cargo of lime, arrived at Boothbay on the 22d inst. The Grace K. Green, Seaward, from this port for Baltimore, and the Chilion, Whidden, from this port for Portland, both arrived out on the same date; the Grace K. Green lost an anchor and chain on the way.

The schooner Satellite, which has wintered at Call's wharf, inside the Noble's island bridge, was having her sails bent on Thursday last, and being otherwise put in readiness for an immediate start in the brick trade under command of Capt. John Davidson of Newcastle. At the opposite side of the channel, on the beach at Noble's island, the schooner Hattie Lewis was undergoing some slight repairs, including a new rudder brace, an addition to her fore-foot, and the hardening up of her seams here and there. Alongside the Hattie Lewis was Capt. Cheney's gondola Hard Chance, which was being widened about two feet by the bolting of a timber overhang to the outside of her plankshear on both sides, so that she will be enabled to carry her cargo a little lower, thereby making her stiffer when deep loaded. The schooner G. W. Raitt, at Call's wharf, and the Lizzie C. Rich, at the pier of Noble's island bridge, had not made a start at getting ready for the spring work.

The Canadian fishermen are now trying to buy unough clam bait in Maine to supply them the entire fishing season, so that retaliation, if decided on, will not harm them in this particular. Retaliation was long ago decided on by the people, and later by Congress; what Minister West and Secretary Bayard will decide on is yet to be made manifest.

The schooner S. A. Rudolph, from New York with a cargo of artificial fertilizer, was discharging at the Concord railroad wharf on Thursday last, and any person whose olfactory organs were in good condition could at once explain, on passing the vessel, how it is that crops come up so quickly when this fertilizer is applied. First they put a little of the fertilizer in a hole, and then put the seed above it; and the corn or potato, or whatever it may be, hastens to show above ground as quick as possible, so as to get a breath of fresh air.

The four-masted double-decked centreboard schooner T. A. Lambett, owned by the builders, B. W. & H. F. Morse of Bath, Me., was launched on the 22d inst. It is the largest schooner ever built in Maine; dimensions,—length 227 feet, breadth forty-six, depth twenty-two, tonnage 1630.17. Captain R. R. Baker of schooner Augustus Hunt will command her. The schooner's lower masts are each 112 feet long.

The Canadian government contemplates putting an embargo upon the American whale fishery and the seal hunting in Hudson bay.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

The boilers of the dry dock at the navy yard, having recently been fitted with new tubes, were satisfactorily tested on Thursday, the 24th inst.

The regular monthly alarm of fire was given on the navy yard Thursday, and the management and working of the apparatus were satisfactory. The marine contingent handled the ladders much better than at the last previous false alarm, the twice-a-week ladder drill having evidently effected a great improvement.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

The train from North Conway for this city did not get through on Wednesday, the 23d inst., being snowed up not far from North Conway. It arrived at Wolfeboro on Thursday morning.

The mail train from Boston due in this city at 9:50 o'clock Thursday morning was delayed about twenty minutes, on account of a car leaving the rails at Wenham, Mass.

The attention of investors in real estate is invited to the announcement by Mr. J. P. Morse in another column, of house, lot and store at the south part of the city for sale.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.
"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.
"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.
Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."
"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.
Purifies the Blood
"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.
"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.
"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.
"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors

Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

P. S. WHITLINGER, Leechburg, Pa.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, one cash says: "In 1876 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have due regard for our reputation in recommending them. We have never received from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA, six boxes of CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are positively cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other medicines utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

Superstition Among the Poles.

There is a venerable superstition among Polish people that when a crow alights on a house it portends death to one or more of the occupants. When, about 8 o'clock Thursday morning a couple of birds of this species were descried calmly perched on the roof of one of Poland's sons on Racine street, north of Brady, the neighborhood, which is inhabited almost entirely by Poles, was thrown into the greatest excitement. In less than half an hour the street was filled with people, the proportions of the crowd attracting the attention of the police. Hostile demonstrations caused the sable hued birds to fly to an adjoining roof. Up popped an upper story window in the next house, a woman's head appeared, and in evident alarm the woman waved an apron meaningly at the "birds of evil omen." Instead of being frightened away the crows took the waving of the apron as a mark of welcome and changed their position from the roof of her neighbor to her own housetop.

By this time the excitement of the crowd below had grown to fever pitch. Women were shedding tears or mumbling a prayer, while little children clung to their skirts, unable to make out what was the matter. Men and women were gathered in knots, all gesticulating and jabbering at once, but all keeping a weather eye open and a pocketful of stones ready in case the birds should steer for their own premises. Finally the crows began to fly from house to house, and then there was a shower of stones as thick as hail, men, women and boys being engaged in the fusillade amid the most indescribable excitement. The birds flew from house to house until they had had taken in the entire square. Finally they distanced their yelling pursuers.

As the people returned to their homes many offered prayers for themselves and families. One old man who believes in the superstition said in his broken English:

"It must be so, now, that we all die. You see, some terrible sickness spread among us."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

John A. Logan, son of the late Senator Logan, and Miss Edith Andrews, daughter of Chauncey M. Andrews of Youngstown, Ohio, were married at noon on the 22d inst. at the residence of the bride's father. A number of prominent people attended. The presents were very elaborate and costly. Among them was a check for $50,000 from the bride's father.

I am an Old Man.

Shall be 79 years of age next June, and for the last six years have suffered from general debility and old age. At times I could not get out of bed without help. I commenced to take Sulphuur Bitters. In a week I felt stronger and got a mighty fine appetite. I still continued their use, and to-day I walked over three miles without feeling tired, something I haven't done in five years before. Sulphur Bitters is a right smart medicine.—George Brown, Keokuk, Iowa.

At Bessemer, Mich., the boarding house of the Colby iron mine was burned March 22d, and many lives lost. Ten bodies were taken from the ruins, and many persons were fatally injured.

Extra Liability to Malarial Infection.

Persons whose blood is thin, digestion weak and liver sluggish, are extra-liable to the attacks of malarial disease. The most trifling exposure may, under such conditions, infect a system which, if healthy, would resist the miasmatic taint. The only way to secure immunity from malaria in localities where it is prevalent, is to tone and regulate the system by improving weakened digestion, enriching the blood, and giving a wholesome impetus to biliary secretion. These results are accomplished by nothing so effectively as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which long experience has proved to be the most reliable safeguard against fever and Ague and kindred disorders, as well as the best remedy for them. The Bitters are, moreover, an excellent invigorant of the organs of urination, and an active depurent, eliminating from the blood those acrid impurities which originate rheumatic ailments.

A Nashua man has invented a safety car stove that is very highly spoken of. Expert railroad men say it is the best thing yet suggested. It is thus described by the Telegraph: "Above the fire is a compartment containing water. A perfect sphere covers the aperture into the heater, and should the car swing, or turn on one side or over, the ball is displaced, letting the water upon the fire, extinguishing it at once."

I Had Faith.

About six months ago I was advised to consult Mr. Hall, the great Spiritualist doctor, to see if she could cure me of scrofula, a disease with which I had suffered greatly from childhood. She said if I would have faith in the medicines she gave me, that she could cure me. I took her medicine, and in less than three months I was cured. Why, the way the medicine worked was a miracle. I begged of her to tell me what the medicine was made of, but she said she could not do so. Finally she told me the medicine was Sulphur Bitters, and that she never knew it to fail in all such cases as mine.—Mrs. Clara Knowlton, 35 Hanover street, Boston, Mass.

Two Million Restored.

Brandreth's Pills are a certain cure for every disease; they purify the blood. During the last fifty years they have restored to perfect health and enjoyment two millions of persons. The secret of their success is their-fold effects, invigorating the digestion, stimulating the liver and bowels, and purging away the worn out particles of the body and all seeds of disease. One or two pills taken every night for a week or two will always cure.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had pooh-ed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquof that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

On the even skies of wonder
Rose dark unwelcome cloud,
And the dying day went under
In its purple shadowed shroud;

But the cloud rose higher, higher;
Blown across the paling blue;

Like the shadow in the west,
If the cloud of doubt arising

A COLORED CAMP MEETING.

Weird Scenes at a Religious Gathering in North Carolina.

All preliminaries having been settled, the first minister ordered all to falk in for the march "two by two, preachers in front, men together, women together." Instantly there was a stir among the people. The platform was vacated, its occupants moving by couples outside the arbor. The others followed, a promiscuous throng, old and young, all with preternaturally solemn visages. Old men leaning on sticks, girls with lithe forms arrayed in gay colors, tall, lank women, fat, saucy looking boys, muscular, large boned men. The preacher from "the land of the sky" handed a book to his stalwart brother, who gave out the hymn, "There's room enough in heaven." The singer started the tune, and with feet keeping time and bodies swaying in unison the long string of dusky worshipers began the farewell march. Passing the nearer tents, then retracing their steps for half the distance, then turning toward those on the right of the quadrangle, the procession twisting sinuously by all the huts in turn, receiving constant additions as it passed them, until nearly every colored person on the ground was in line. Long before the round was completed the sun emerged from the clouds and shone hotly upon the throng. The preachers, whose heads were bare, spread their handkerchiefs over them, keeping one hand on top all the time to prevent them from being blown away.

The procession finally halted on the hillside, a great circle of humanity. The preachers entered it; at their order all faced inward. Exhortations from several brethren were addressed to the impenitent, the ministers resumed their places, and then there was a countermarch in single file, a circle within a circle, until each had shaken hands with every other, all singing and swaying to the music as before. Finally the head of the procession emerged from the ring and started for the arbor, the directing minister and most of those who followed having fallen into a not ungraceful dancing step. They entered, the ministers and elders marched to the platform, their tune and steps growing livelier all the while. Some fifty of the women rushed into the open space, while the others hastened to the benches and mounted them.

Those dancing in front of the platform grew more and more excited; they glided back and forth, twirling themselves like tetotums, or leaped several feet from the ground, all keeping time to the music, which waxed louder and louder. The preachers were moving in every joint, patting their hands on their knees and stimulating the excitement. Some women dropped from exhaustion and were carried out; all were pallid, their breathing was labored and spasmodic; even the preachers showed signs of weakening, when suddenly one of them raised his hand. Almost immediately the singing ceased and he managed to say in a voice scarcely audible: "All kneel and pray." The request was obeyed. In the midst of a quiet and hush in strange contrast to the previous noise and whirl, a voice was heard, clear, calm and not overloud, asking God's blessing on their farewell. Then a sonorous benediction was pronounced, and the great McElroy camp meeting of 1886 was over.—Cor. New York Commercial Advertiser.

Drugging Criminals to Further Justice.

This study has become a passion among medical men, who say it may greatly help legal procedure, inasmuch as by sending criminals to sleep and dragging their secret from them while under hypnotic influence there would be little fear of judges condemning the innocent for the guilty. A theft in the hospital was found out in this way by Dr. Marie, for many years Dr. Charcot's assistant. The subject refused at first to tell where the stolen object was concealed. After a little diplomacy, however, on the part of the young doctor, who told the sleeping girl he was the young man from whom the card case had been taken and not to fear telling him where it was, she gave the detailed account of having stolen it, and told where the card case was to be found. Dr. Marie immediately went to the spot indicated, where, sure enough, the stolen article was found.—Cable to New York Herald.

When Poe Wanted a Clerkship.

The following letter, dated Philadelphia, July 19, 1838, written by that character which will ever be surrounded with the mysterious gloom of his own writing, has come to light recently: "Could I obtain the least important clerkship in your gift—by land or sea—to relieve me of the miserable life of literary drudgery to which I now, with a breaking heart, submit, and for which neither my temper nor my abilities have fitted me, I would never again repine at any dispensation of God. I feel that I could then (having something beyond mere literature as a profession) quickly elevate myself to the station which is my due. It is needless to say how fervent, how unbounded would be my gratitude to the one who would rescue me from ruin and put me in possession of happiness. I leave my fate in your hands. Most respectfully and gratefully, EDGAR A. POE."—The Current.

WORSE THAN SMALL-POX.

A Great Danger Which Menaces An Unsuspicious Public.

The Brompton Hospital for consumptives, in London, reports that over fifty people out of every hundred consumptives, are victims of constipated or inactive kidneys.

Consumption is one of our national diseases, and the above report goes to prove what has often been said in our columns during the last eight years, that kidney troubles are not only the cause of more than half of the cases of consumption, but of ninety out of every hundred other common diseases. They who have taken this position, made their claims after elaborate investigation, and their proof that they have discovered a specific for the terrible and stealthy kidney diseases, which have become so prevalent among us, is wise and convincing.

We have already received from them a fresh supply of their wonderful advertising. They have challenged the medical profession and science to investigate. They have investigated, and those who are frank have admitted the truth of their statements. They claim that ninety per cent. of diseases come originally from inactive kidneys; that these inactive kidneys allow the blood to become filled with uric acid poison; that this uric acid poison in the blood carries disease through every organ.

There is enough uric acid developed in the system within twenty-four hours to kill half a dozen men.

This being a scientific fact, it requires only ordinary wisdom to see the effect inactive kidneys must have upon the system.

If this poison is not removed, it ruins every organ. If the bowels, stomach or liver become inactive, we know it at once, but other organs help them out. If the kidneys become constipated and dormant, the warning comes later on, and often when it is too late, because the effects are remote from the kidneys and those organs are not suspected to be out of order.

Organs that are weak and diseased are unable to resist the attacks of this poison, and the disease often takes the form of and is treated as a local affliction, when in reality the real cause of the trouble was inactive kidneys.

Too many medical men of the present day hold what was a fact twenty years ago, that kidney disease is incurable, according to the medicines authorized by their code. Hence, they ignore the original cause of disease itself, and give their attention to useless treating of local effects.

They dose the patient with quinine, morphine, or with salts and other physics, hoping that thus nature may cure the disease, while the kidneys continue to waste away with inflammation, ulceration and decay, and the victim eventually perishes.

The same quantity of blood that passes through the heart, passes through the kidneys. If the kidneys are diseased, the blood soaks up this disease and takes it all through the system. Hence it is that the claim is made that Warner's safe cure, the only known specific for kidney diseases, which is sold so largely by all dealers, cures 90 per cent. of human ailments, because it, and it alone, is able to maintain the natural activity of the kidneys, and to neutralize and remove the uric acid, or kidney poison, as fast as it is formed.

If this acid is not removed, there is inactivity of the kidneys, and there will be produced in the system paralysis, apoplexy, dyspepsia, consumption, heart disease, headaches, rheumatism, pneumonia, impotency, and all the nameless diseases of delicate women. If the poisonous matter is separated from the blood, as fast as it is formed, these diseases, in a majority of cases, would not exist.

It only requires a particle of small-pox virus to produce that vile disease, and the poisonous matter from the kidneys, passing all through the system and becoming lodged in different weak points, is equally destructive, although more disguised.

If it were possible for us to see into the kidneys, and how quickly the blood passing through them goes to the heart and lungs and other parts of the system, carrying this deadly virus with it, all would believe without hesitation what has so often been stated in advertisements in these columns, that the kidneys are the most important organs in the body.

They may regard this article as an advertisement and refuse to believe it, but that is a matter over which we have no control. Careful investigation and science itself are proving beyond a doubt that this organ is, in fact, more important than any other in the system as a health regulator, and as such should be closely watched, for the least sign of disordered action.

An Imperative Necessity.

What pure air is an unhealthy locality, what spring cleaning is to the neat housekeeper, so is Hood's Sarsaparilla to everybody, at this season. The body needs to be thoroughly renovated, the blood purified and vitalized, the germs of disease destroyed. Scrofula, salt rheum, and all other blood disorders are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the most popular and successful spring medicine.

The Ocean Yacht Race.

A special to the Chronicle, received at five o'clock Friday afternoon, said "The Dauntless is reported as having arrived at Roche's point to-day, and won the race." The Coronet, a somewhat larger vessel than the Dauntless, was the favorite in the betting on the race.

A later despatch said: "Yacht Dauntless arrived at Cork harbor to-day, having been thirteen days in crossing. The Coronet has not been heard from since the 19th." The yachts sailed from Sandy Hook at one o'clock Saturday afternoon, March 12th.

The Race for the Queen's Cup.

Mr. Edward Burgess of Boston, who recently forwarded a challenge in behalf of the sloop Mayflower to the owner of the British cutter Arrow, for an international race for the Queen's cup, has received from Mr. Chamberlayne the following answer by cable:

I will race the Arrow against the Mayflower under conditions which have been fully written out and forwarded to you by mail.

Just what the conditions are cannot be told until Mr. Chamberlayne's letter is received; but Mr. Burgess says there is no doubt about the race taking place, unless the conditions which Mr. Chamberlayne imposes are so manifestly unfair to the American type of boat that he cannot conscientiously accept them. If the owner of the Arrow should insist that the Mayflower's centreboard should be fixed and sealed during the race, that condition would destroy the American type of craft, and of course could not be accepted.

A Wide Spread Swindle.

News comes from Detroit, Michigan, that a big bank swindle has been discovered there, which appears to have been almost national in the breadth of its operations. Some parties have had engraved drafts and checks of the "Mariette Exchange Bank of Mariette, Mich.," and these have been filled out for various sums, ranging from $50 to $75 each, and have been negotiated throughout the country. For two or three days past these fraudulent papers have been coming into the First National bank of Detroit from all parts of the union for collection. There is no such institution as the "Mariette Exchange Bank of Mariette." The village has but two banks, and they are the "Bank of Mariette" and the "First National Bank of Mariette." The extent of the fraud is not known, but it appears to have been of great magnitude.

Important Journalistic Gossip.

BOSTON, March 24th.—Base ball is now coming to the front, and the capture of Kelly leads Bostonians to hope that Boston will win the pennant this year. The best reports and largest gossip about base ball will be found as usual in The Boston Daily and Sunday Globe.

In Febuary, 1885, The Boston Globe's average circulation was 53,621. In February, this year, it was 126,405—more than doubled, in two years. It is still gaining in circulation every month.

"Why men smoke" will be the subject of a funny illustrated article in the next Boston Sunday Globe, which now has a circulation of 116,832.

The Boston Daily Globe and the Boston Sunday Globe have a larger circulation than the Daily or Sunday Herald. The Globe is prepared to prove this statement, and no man or paper dares to dispute it.

The following-named schooners were lying in York harbor on Friday of this week: At Marshall's wharf, the John & Frank, Perkins master; Guinare, and Rockaway. The latter two have been hauled up there for the winter; the John & Frank has been running between York and Boston all winter, and is now having her bottom cleaned and painted, and receiving whatever else in the way of a spring overhaul she requires. At Simpson's wharf, the Emily A. Staples, Goodwin, and the Karen Happuch, Philbrook, both having wintered there; the latter is loaded with bricks for Boston.

The work of driving piles for the bridge of the new railroad across York river is still going on, and gangs of men and teams are at work on the roadbed of the railroad at a number of points; but a gentleman of this city who drove through Kittery and York this week says the work seems to progress slowly, and he does not think the line can possibly be completed ready for the laying of the iron by the 20th of July, the time specified in the contracts.

Mr. Perley Putnam of York will this spring build a large two-story dwelling for his own occupancy, near the house of the late Hon. Nathaniel G. Marshall.

The voters of York at the late town meeting appropriated $600 for repairs and improvements on Sewall's bridge, including the lengthening of the draw piers to 100 feet each, which will be a great convenience to vessels hauling through the bridge. Quite extensive repairs are also to be made on Rice's bridge, where new stringers, etc., will be put in.

Rev. Miss Lizzie Haley, the revivalist, continues to hold meetings at York Corner; it is reported that much interest is manifested, that many new converts have been made, and that many old ones who had become cold have been revived.

Capt. Smith, master and half owner of the fishing schooner Guinevere, which foundered at her anchors off Odiorne's point on Wednesday, the 23d inst., on Thursday saw the schooner's topmasts above water, showing that her masts were still standing all right. On Friday morning he went to Kittery to endeavor to secure the services of Mr. James Sylvester, the submarine diver, and also the loan of the navy yard anchor-boy from the commandant of the yard, to try to raise the vessel. The heavy northwesterly gale of Friday it was thought would not harm her, being off shore.

At Detroit, Mich., on the evening of March 23d, the bodies of Charles Govin and wife, an aged couple, were found in their house on Napoleon street, the woman's body sitting in a chair, and the man's under the bed with a pillow over the face. They had been dead two or three days. An imbecile daughter, aged thirty-nine years, who lived with them, was taken to police headquarters. It is thought she suffocated them with the pillow.

In Brookfield, Mass., on the evening of the 24th inst., Mrs. Alber, employed in George H. Burt & Co.'s boot and shoe factory, was walking across the high school yard when a man stepped up to her, and, remarking, "Work, will you? you d—d scab!" struck her in the neck and shoulder, knocking her down. Numerous brutal and cowardly outrages have been committed in that town since the strike in Burt's shop commenced, the victims in all cases being "scabs," or in other words, working men and women who have not received permission from the labor unions to earn an honest living.

PORT OF PORTSMOUTH.

Schs C H Trickey, Kelley, and Lizzie J Call, Call, bound west, sld from the outer roads, Boston, 24th.

A GREAT MISTAKE

has heretofore been made in the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, and nervous or sick headache. This is evidenced by the failure on the part of thousands of sufferers to find relief, even though they have exhausted the skill of various physicians and tried numerous so-called remedies. To such Athlophoros is offered as a safe, sure, and quick cure. Its success has been phenomenal, and yet it is not surprising because it will do all that is claimed for it. The Athlophoros Co. will gladly refer any who desire to make an investigation to reliable parties who have been cured by it.

Concord, N. H., March 18, 1886.

My father, who is eighty years old, has for years been a great sufferer with rheumatism, also neuralgia, in the stomach. His case was a very severe one and worried not only the family but the doctors as well, who seemed utterly unable to do him any good, as they resorted to the most powerful remedies. My father grew worse and weaker daily, and, unknown to the doctor, we got him to try Athlophoros. Very soon there was an improvement, the pains almost immediately ceased, and there was no longer any cause to keep the doctor in ignorance of what he was using. We told him it was Athlophoros that he was taking, and the doctor told him to continue its use, as it was what he wanted, and so it proved, for he has never been troubled with rheumatism since. J. W. LANE.

Hudson, Mass., May 12, 1886.

This is to certify that I have sold more Athlophoros than all other so-called cures for rheumatism combined. It gives universal satisfaction to my many customers. Have sold Athlophoros for three years. W. L. WEST, Druggist.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

G. A. R. PRESENTATION.

Col. J. Horace Kent has again placed Storer Post, Grand Army of the Republic, under obligation to him, by the presentation on Friday evening, March 25th, of Odell's famous engraving of Andersonville prison, as it appeared Aug. 1st, 1864. This great picture, endorsed as being the most perfect representation of that terrible place ever placed before the public, is 40x60 inches in size, being a combination of twenty pictures representing numerous figures and incidents in the history of this famous prison. Besides the central scene which contains the stockade and vicinity, there are views on the top and side margins, representing among others, the cemetery, the famous "Providence spring," the manner of cooking rations, peddling, trading, fighting, etc., etc. The picture will be on exhibition in the window of Montgomery's music and art store for a few days. There are but two Andersonville survivors resident in this city, at this time, Messrs. M. M. Collis and Thomas Entwistle. Mr. Collis pronounces this picture excellent, giving an accurate sketch of the prison pen and its surroundings.

This striking picture was framed at Montgomery's by Mr. E. Washington Brown in Florentine and oak, and is the largest lithograph ever framed in Portsmouth.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

At a meeting of the trustees of the public library, held Thursday afternoon, it was voted to remove from the present quarters on the expiration of the lease of the rooms, April 1st. It was also voted to rent what is now Congress hall, and fit it up for the proper arrangement of the books belonging to the library and convenient reading room accommodations. We think the Congress hall will be better suited to the needs of the library and its patrons than the present rooms.

CAUCUS AT KITTERY.

The republicans of Kittery on Friday evening held their caucus for the nomination of candidates to be supported at the town meeting on Monday, the 28th inst.; it was held in Trefethen hall, and was very largely attended. The nominations were as follows:

Moderator, Alexander Dennett;
Clerk, Dennis M. Shapleigh;
Selectmen, etc., Franklin H. Bond, Frank Bartlett, Mark C. Fernald;
Treasurer, Jesse E. Frisbee;
Agent, J. H. Swett;
Sup. Sch. Com., E. E. Colburn;
Auditors, William A. Fernald, John Thaxter;
Board of Health, Dr. M. F. Wentworth, Dr. A. W. Johnson, Dr. L. O. Buzzell;
Collector, Irving I. Wilson;
Constables, Daniel H. Nason, Nicholas E. Spinney, Perry C. Moore, Thomas J. Billings, Cedric Laighton, Charles H. Bartlett, Daniel Parry, Robert Billings, Joseph H. Seaward, Irving I. Wilson.

THE RAINBOW SUPPER.

The rainbow supper and entertainment given by the Young People's association of the North church at the chapel on Middle street last Thursday evening was the first affair of the kind held in this city, and the most successful entertainment ever given by the association. The doors opened at 6:30 P. M., and long before seven the chapel was crowded to overflowing. The decorations consisted of Japanese lanterns, and ornaments of tissue paper in all the colors of the rainbow, the effect of the whole being very pleasing. At one end of the chapel were the tables where supper was served; the waiters were eight young ladies, members of the society, who were very prettily dressed in white and pink, with rainbow colored ribbons. The menu included lobster, salmon and turkey salads, sandwiches, oysters, ice cream, etc.

During the evening the following programme was pleasingly carried out: Selection by Music hall orchestra; piano solo, Miss Florence P. Whidden; flute solo, Samuel Kingsbury; banjo solo, Mr. Seymour; song, Charles W. Gray; cornet solo, George M. Ayers; selection, orchestra; clarionet solo, Mr. Seymour; piano duet, Mrs. Hazlett and Miss Dimick; piano solo, Miss Whidden.

The society netted quite a handsome sum by this entertainment, and will devote it to some worthy object.

EASTER MUSIC.

In the Unitarian church, at Easter, there will be a special service of music, the regular choir being reinforced by a quartette consisting of Miss Lizzie Blaisdell, soprano, Miss Susie F. Ham, alto, Mr. John F. Parsons, tenor, and Mr. Jerome C. Butler, bass; a piano will also be used, Miss Mabel Cotton officiating as pianist. Besides the singing by the double quartette, there will be organ and violin, and piano and violin, duets.

HELENE ADELL.

Tickets for the Helene Adell dramatic performances can now be obtained at Goodrich's. Monday evening she appears as Eugenia De Morney in "A Night in Rome"—a strong part in a very entertaining play.

QUICK TRIP.

The schooner Annie F. Conlon, Capt. Seaward, sailed from this port at noon on March 8th for Baltimore, on arriving there discharged 2000 barrels of apples and potatoes, loaded with 925 tons of coal, sailed from there on Monday, the 21st, for this port, and arrived here on Friday, the 25th, at noon, thus making the round trip in seventeen days.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

FRIDAY, March 25th.

Joseph J. Morrison, for drunkenness, was fined $5, costs being taxed at $6.90; county farm in default of payment.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Mr. Theodore Wells of Wells, Me., whose death on the 17th inst. at the age of nearly seventy-six years has been announced, was for a number of years between 1870 and 1880 in charge of the steam sawmill at the navy yard.

The Hartford Post says: "Hon. William E. Chandler will be counsel for Martin A. Haynes in his contest for a congressional seat. There will be a laying out of political methods at the Kittery navy yard that will be both interesting and instructive."

Dr. Gregory, a veterinary surgeon who came to this city some months ago with the expressed intention of settling here permanently in the practice of his profession, but who has been afflicted with rheumatism almost all the time since, left with his wife on Wednesday, March 23d, to return to England.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Proctor academy at Andover, held in the Phenix hotel at Concord on the 24th inst., the resignation of Wallace Hackett, Esq., of this city, as one of the trustees, was received and accepted, and Mr. Charles H. Mendum was elected to fill the vacancy. Among the trustees in attendance at the meeting were Gov. Currier, Hon. A. W. Sulloway, Rev. Calvin Stebbins of Worcester, Mass., Rev. S. C. Beane, Col. Solon A. Carter and Hon. J. W. Fellows.

The minor children of the late John Moore of this city have been granted pensions.

Barlow Bros. & Frost's Minstrels will perform in Music hall on Thursday evening, March 31st.

The annual inspection of Storer Post, G. A. R., was made Friday evening. The post was honored by the presence of Department Commander Otis C. Wyatt.

Miss Lizzie Evans will play in Music hall on Fast night, April 14th, in "Our Angel," a piece written expressly for her.

Those wool worsted suitings in plain and mixed colorings, are the very best. No. 6 Market street. J. W. Moses.

At Beatrice, Neb., on the 25th inst., John Marion was hanged for the murder of John Cameron in 1872. It was one year after the murder before the body was found and Marion suspected of the crime, and ten years more elapsed before the suspected criminal was arrested. The case has been in the courts for the past five years, and three times the prisoner has been sentenced to be hanged.

—A dear old mother in Israel always complimented the minister. One Sunday there seemed absolutely nothing good to say for him—the sermon was bad, the delivery worse. Her children tried to make her admit that it was a total failure, but she wouldn't. All she would say, all she could say, was: "Well, he had an excellent text."

—"Silver pitchers for presentation to bridal couples can be had of us as low as $2, and they will wear for three months," advertises a Chicago firm. That firm has tumbled to a long felt want, and those pitchers will soon be sold all over the United States. Can't they manage to get up a set of silver spoons or forks for about twenty-five cents?

—Talmage said in his lecture the other night that "the man who can sing and won't sing should be sent to Sing Sing." That would be too severe. It is the man who can't sing and will sing who should be sent to Sing Sing.

March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N. Y.

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors

Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquained with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and feel it my duty to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" from all medicinal soaps.

TAYLOR & TAYLOR, Druggists,
Frankfort, Kan.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED,

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, cured effectively only by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura remedies in our own family, and recommend them to every any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

PIMPLES, Blackheads, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, use CUTICURA SOAP.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing life breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

Intensity of Explosive Gases.

As a matter of precaution for the safety of employes, work is suspended in certain Austrian coal mines, in dangerous places, during a fall of the barometer, it having been proved by experiment that the quantity and intensity of explosive gases greatly increase as the atmospheric pressure diminishes.—New York Sun.

Rev. Sam Jones' Rebuke.

"Brethren," said Sam Jones to his Boston audience, "I think too much of cultured Boston to rebuke an audience, but down south the people don't leave the house until the benediction is pronounced." Few natives of the Hub could administer a rebuke in more gentlemanly terms.—Washington Post.

Tobacco in Borneo.

Borneo has come into the field of tobacco growing competitors. A recent shipment which arrived in London from that colony found ready sale, and was pronounced to be equal in all respects to the valuable cigar tobacco produced in the neighboring island of Sumatra.—New York Tribune.

Dependent for Support.

"I hope you will be lenient with me, judge," said the thief, as he stood up to be sentenced; "I have a good many dependent on me for their support."

"Children?" asked the judge.

"No. Police detectives."—Texas Siftings.

Sonny (after a pause)—Can't a pretty, nice carriage have two horses?—Boston Beacon.

An Inspiring Concerto.

Boston Hostess—Did you not think the allegro movement of that concerto by Beethoven most inspiring?

Friend from the West—Stunning! And wasn't Mr. Beethoven himself perfectly elegant! Such lovely whiskers. I do wish he'd play again!—Boston Beacon.

—Coon hunting seems to be a lucrative sport in some parts of Missouri. Two hunters recently chopped down an evident "coon tree" near Trenton and got three coons, 400 pounds of honey, and an oyster can in which was $280 in gold.

So the women don't care to vote, eh? The municipal registration lists in Kansas seem to indicate that if the new privilege is a burden, they bear it with remarkably cheerful fortune. No newspaper needs urge them to "Register! Register!" Their names are going on the voting lists by thousands.—Boston Globe.

It is said that women's voting would promote dissensions in families; that husband and wife would quarrel over every election. Is that the way men go to work now to get votes? No; we are very friendly with our uplifters and upholders, we are more polite to our "hands," even, on election day. Then why is it not a supposable case that the married pair may grow exceptionally kind when that occasion draws nigh? —Ex.

The "Society for the Collegiate Instruction of Women," familiarly known as the Harvard Annex, shows that during the past collegiate year thirty-two colleges and schools have sent women to the annex. The number has been seventy-three—eighteen more than for the previous year. A share in the increase is attributed to having a building for its sole use. There is an increasing demand for teachers trained in the Harvard methods.

Extra Liability to Malarial Infection.

Persons whose blood is thin, digestion weak and liver sluggish, are extra-liable to the attacks of malarial disease. The most trifling exposure may, under such conditions, infect a system which, if healthy, would resist the miasmatic taint. The only way to secure immunity from malaria in localities where it is prevalent, is to tone and regulate the system by improving weakened digestion, enriching the blood, and giving a wholesome impetus to biliary secretion. These results are accomplished by nothing so effectively as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which long experience has proved to be the most reliable safeguard against fever and ague and kindred disorders, as well as the best remedy for them. The Bitters are, moreover, an excellent invigorant of the organs of urination, and an active depurent, eliminating from the blood those acrid impurities which originate rheumatic ailments.

The evidence given in the case of fifteen anarchists on trial in Vienna, charged with being implicated in a conspiracy to burn the city, is causing a great sensation. It is becoming evident that only the failure of the plot saved the city from almost total destruction.

James Pyle's Pearline has indeed become an article of established value in domestic economy, and now is the time for every family to test it, for house-cleaning as well as for laundry purposes. A more useful article for housekeepers is not to be found, and they who neglect a trial of it deprive themselves of a great convenience. Sold by grocers generally, but see that counterfeits are not urged upon you.

A band of about 300 tramps made their appearance at the town, and the inhabitants inveigled the entire band into a large building and then set fire to it. All but forty of the tramps perished.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,
Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

JOHNSON'S FOR INTERNAL — AND — EXTERNAL USE.

THE CARE OF INFANTS.

Deformities Which May be Avoided—Defective Vision—Curious Cases.

Perhaps from no other unsuspected infirmity does such a variety and complication of diseases arise as from defective vision. This variety is almost infinite. It is the marvel of the many that spectacles are so prevalent in our day, and the wiseacres assign first one reason and then another—one laying it to tight lacing, another to high heeled shoes, forgetting that spectacles are as common among men as among women. All combine, however, to attack the oculists and declare that it is all nonsense anyway, and merely an effect of the imagination upon which the oculists are but too willing to play. But the truth never seems to strike this same general public (the truth for which the spectacled ones have need to be so thankful) that the scientists who, for love of their kind and their profession, have devoted their lives to the study of the subject in all its ramifications, have discovered a new way to treat old diseases, i. e., by way of the eye, instead of by way of the stomach.

George grows pale and thin and stoop-shouldered. As soon as he commences to study he becomes sick at the stomach. As this sickness seems to accompany the effort of studying only, his father rather fancies that it comes on because the boy is obliged to go to school, and he seems inclined to force matters with his son. But the mother knows the reality of the boy's suffering. So she doctors him for indigestion—a little soda, a little lime water, a little mint—all the harmless remedies in fact that are written in the mother's pharmacopœia, not forgetting to give him a liberal dose of warm water once in a while as an emetic. But all this care does him no permanent good. The moment George begins to study again or to read the old trouble is renewed. So often does this occur that his mother determines upon the advice of some one wiser than herself.

"Madame," says the physician, "your boy has no more dyspepsia than you have. He is simply so near sighted that he can hardly see beyond his nose. Get spectacles for him. He is growing round shouldered and hollow chested from nothing else but a continued effort to see. His sickness of stomach arises from the same cause. Take away his peppermint and give him glasses instead, or what is better, put him into the hands of some professional opthalmic surgeon. The nerves are all in sympathy, and what affects his eyes will likewise affect his brain and stomach." The advice followed, the boy is forthwith cured of his dyspepsia.

In one case, well known to the writer, a young girl was treated during three or four years for violent spells of headache. She took pounds of pills, pints of medicine, for her head, for her stomach, for her spine, for malarial disorders, for neuralgia, for bile. Her hair grew gray and she bade fair to sink into chronic invalidism. A brilliant idea struck her and in three months spectacles had done for her what dosing had not done for her in three years. There had been a constant strain of the nerves of eye and brain, while the poor girl had been trying to fit together two eyes of entirely dissimilar focus.—Emma C. Hewitt.

Chinese Meat Shops in San Francisco.

One cannot walk more than a block in any of the Chinese streets without coming upon a meat shop. Its odor greets the nostrils long before the eye has taken in the collection of dainties that appeal to the Chinese epicure. The most conspicuous article is fresh pork, cut up into small pieces. Then there is a great variety of dried and smoked poultry, imported from the Flowery Kingdom, the favorite being the domestic goose. Brains of sheep and beef, liver and unwholesome looking patties, which seem to be first cousins to the English meat dumpling, are artistically arranged on little counters.

The Chinaman is nothing if not epicurean. He pays the highest price for the early dainties in market, and he has the southern negro's fondness for chickens "fryin' size." In early days in the mines, when vegetables were a luxury, I have known Chinese miners to pay $1 a-piece for small cucumbers, of which they are excessively fond. They are liberal patrons of the hucksters that carry fruit and melons through the quarter, for, despite his economy in other ways, John Chinaman can seldom resist the temptation offered by a ripe watermelon or a luscious peach.—George H. Fitch in The Cosmopolitan.

France's War Pigeons.

Gen. Boulanger has recently given prizes to the best trainers of carrier pigeons in the department of the Seine. Pigeon training in France has become a branch of the military service, and plenty of well trained birds are to be found in the costly and beautiful little establishments that have been built for them. They are furnished with modern improvements and luxuries that vulgar and ignorant pigeons could never appreciate. Among the pigeons now in the possession of the government are several veterans of the siege of Paris, and one among them is a genuine old hero. In 1870 this bird was taken up in the Paris balloon called the Niepce, and was captured by the Prussians. Prince Frederick Charles sent him as a present to his mother, the Princess Charles of Prussia, who put him among her own collection of birds, where he was treated with all possible kindness. But he was a patriot. The bitter bread of exile did not agree with him. He flew away and reached his home in a pigeon house in the Boulevard Clichy. The owner of this establishment handed him over to the military authorities, and he is now once more in the service of his native country, and doubtless hopes to win additional glory in the future.—New York Sun.

HOP PLASTERS

For curative power and effectiveness, healing qualities, and quickness of action, they stand without an equal. Scientifically prepared from approved vegetable agents, virtues of Fresh Hops, Gums, Balsams and Hemlock, spread on white muslin. They promptly and thoroughly subdue all pains and aches that torment the human body, vitalize worn-out muscles and strengthen weak parts. Always ready for instant application. Clean, fragrant and never-failing. Hop Plasters sold by druggists and Country stores. 25 cts., 5 for $1.00. Mailed for price by proprietors,

Hop Plaster Company, Boston, Mass.

☞ Beware of Imitations. See what you buy. Look for hop-vine wreath and signature of HOP PLASTER COMPANY, on back of plaster and on circular around plaster.

Two charming little girls were dancing "the racket" in the streets. "What makes you so happy?" a gentleman asked. "Oh! our mas have thrown away all our horrid medicine, and we have only to take Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and that ain't bad at all."

German newspapers say that Degaieff, the alleged leader of the recently discovered plot to assassinate the czar of Russia, instead of having been caught and hung as reported is safe in America, and has appealed to his associates for money.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

The eldest son of the German crown prince is as strong a partisan as Bismarck himself. He refuses even to drink champagne, and will drink only German wines.

Good Whiskey

Has come to be a necessity with many people. The G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon and G. O. Taylor Pure Rye can be depended upon for both uniformity and purity. Either brand can be obtained of leading druggists or grocers. See that our firm name is on each label and over the cork in each bottle. Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston.

Great Fire in Claremont.

Early Saturday morning fire totally destroyed Brown's block in Claremont, which was occupied by nineteen different establishments, among which were the post office, telephone exchange, telegraph and express offices, and Masonic and other societies. The total loss was $50,000. The insurance is $28,000. George Taylor, a fireman, fell from a ladder and had one leg and one arm broken, and there were several narrow escapes.

The Coronet-Dauntless Race.

The report that the schooner yacht Dauntless had arrived in the Cove of Cork on Friday last was false, as nautical men in general supposed at the time it was made public; thirteen days from New York to Ireland would be remarkable time for a boat of that size to make at this season of the year, or any other, for that matter.

The steamship Saale, which arrived at New York on Saturday, the 26th, reported sighting a schooner yacht, supposed to be the Coronet, in lat. 46 9, lon. 34 49, and about a hundred miles astern another one, on Monday, the 21st; they were then very near the "safe route" laid down on the pilot chart of the North Atlantic ocean for March, issued by the hydrographic office, and were but little more than half-way across the ocean from New York.

Lieut. H. O. Rittenhouse is ordered from the naval academy to duty on the Pacific squadron.

Lieut. G. A. Merriam is ordered from the hydrographic office to the Pacific squadron.

Capt. Wm. A. Kirkland is detached from the New York navy yard, and placed on waiting orders. Capt. A. P. Cooke is ordered from command of the receiving ship Vermont to the New York yard.

Comdr. W. M. Folger is ordered from the bureau of ordnance to command of the Quinnebaug, European station.

Lieut. Comdr. S. W. Very is detached from duty as inspector of steel at Pittsburg, Pa., and placed on waiting orders.

Alfred Taylor Cowie, pay clerk, James Oakes, Jr., apothecary, and William Foster and Hugo H. Hesse, seamen of the U. S. S. Saratoga, were drowned at Trinidad Feb. 24th, by the capsizing of a boat.

The old frigate Richmond, which has been fitted out at New York as a flagship, had her sea trial last week. The result so far as the ship was concerned was not encouraging, but the officers and crew did their work well.

THE ORPHANS' HOME.

The following sums have been received by the executive committee of the New Hampshire Orphan's Home since their circular was issued in January: N. A. Livermore, Milford, $20; Freewill Baptist churches at New Durham Ridge and Lock's Corner, by Rev. C. W. Purington, $6.36; Freewill Baptist church at Laconia, Rev. L. Malvern, $24; Congregational church, Stratham, Rev. G. W. Savory, $14; Hon. Dexter Richards, Newport, $50; Mrs. Dexter Richards, $50; Ladies' Domestic Missionary society of Unitarian church, Portsmouth, $25; William H. Hackett, Portsmouth, $15; Congregational society of Lancaster, by Mrs. C. B. Jordan, $35; total $239.36.

An exchange says: "Rumor has it a new engine is to be built at the Rhode Island locomotive works for the Boston & Maine railroad for their summer express trains, which will be the fastest engine on the road. One who ought to know says that the cylinders will be eighteen inches in diameter with 24-inch stroke; the boiler will be fifty-four inches at the smoke stack. The fire will call for three tons of coal before the engine is pulled out of the round house, and five tons and a half will be carried on the tender. The tank of the latter will hold 4000 gallons of water, and the total weight of the engine proper is to be 95,000 pounds. The weight on the driving wheels will be 66,000 pounds, or 5000 more than the usual amount. Everything about it will be of steel. It is expected that this engine will run from Portland to Boston, making ten stops, in 145 minutes, or a little less than two hours and a half, pulling at the same time a train of six cars, three of which will be parlor cars; the others will be a baggage car, a smoker, and a passenger coach."

Mrs. Mary Osborne died in Portland, Me., March 25th, aged 100 years, nine months and twenty-seven days. Her maiden name was Mary Woods; her father's name was William Woods, who was a ship owner, and engaged in the East India trade in Boston. Mrs. Osborne was a native of Boston. She went to school in Kennbunk, and there married Samuel L. Osborne, who died in 1837.

Mr. Charles W. Cummings, formerly of Reading, Mass., died last week at Kennebunk, Me. He was for a number of years engaged in the express business between Reading and Boston, and removed from Reading to Kennebunk a short time ago. He was fifty-four years of age, and a prominent member of the Baptist church of Reading. Mr. Cummings leaves a widow and two daughters. One of his daughters, Fannie, is a missionary under the direction of Bishop Taylor in Africa.

Professor McGee of the geological survey, who visited Charleston, S. RUSHING TO DEATH

in the attempt to swim the Niagara Whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is specially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and nervous headache, which, though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer grip until at last the agony is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. MRS. A. H. VESEY.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. DUDLEY GILMAN.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros.

B. F. ARTHUR & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

CANTATAS FOR FLOWER TIME!

Teachers of Juvenile Singing Classes do not need to be told of the intense interest and enthusiasm which attends the bringing out of a new CANTATA. The following are new, bright, pretty and easily given. Commence in time to prepare them.

VOICES OF NATURE. Operetta. N. B. Sargent.

FOREST JUBILEE BAND. N. B. Sargent.

NEW FLORA'S FESTIVAL. Bradbury. Arranged by J. C. Johnson.

MERRY COMPANY, or Cadets' Picnic. Collin Coe.

Price of each book, 40 cts., or $3.60 per doz.

The first two books are by a nature and music-lover, who fills them with very sweet songs of birds, flowers, insects, etc. Flora's Festival, doubled in size, and with minute directions, will surely be a success, as will, in another way, the "MERRY COMPANY."

Our new edition of VOICES OF PRAISE (40 cts., $4.20 per doz.) by Rev. C. L. Hutchins, is cordially commended to all who wish a Sunday School Song Book of the highest character.

Schools, Academies and Seminaries are always safe in adopting the carefully compiled School Song Books of Ditson & Co. We recommend for the higher schools, SONG GREETING (50 cts.) and ROYAL SINGER (60 cts.), for grammar schools, SONG BELLS (50 cts.), and for primary schools, GEMS FOR LITTLE SINGERS (30 cts.)

Any book mailed for Retail Price. mch11

HELENE ADELL.

This evening at Music hall, the Helene Adell dramatic company will present "A Night in Rome," with Miss Adell as Eugenia De Morney, the cunning and unscrupulous adventuress, and Mr. Oscar Eagle in the leading male character. Miss Adell is an actress of much merit, and is strongly supported throughout; and the play is a very entertaining one. Popular prices; see advertisement.

REMINDERS OF THE WAR.

The immense lithograph comprising twenty pictures illustrative of the hell established at Andersonville, Ga., by the Confederate authorities, for the slow but sure murder of Union prisoners of war, attracted hundreds of spectators to the show window of Montgomery's music and art store on Sunday. Another object in the same window, which also attracted much attention, was a ballot-box made from wood of the famous Libby prison at Richmond, Va., which was received by Storer Post, G. A. R., of this city, Saturday evening, from the Grand Army post at Richmond. The old tobacco warehouse in the Virginia city was not by any means a desirable place of residence during the war, but its memories are those of a palace of delight when compared with the awful experiences of the martyrs of Andersonville, whose history is the foulest blot on our national honor.

A HORSE FALLS DEAD.

Saturday afternoon as one of E. F. Sise & Co.'s coal teams was going down Sagamore road, just after turning off from South street the horse fell in the road, apparently in a fit, and died in a few moments. The horse, which was a large, valuable animal, appeared to be perfectly well up to the time he dropped in the harness.

To watch the many passing teams while the horse's body lay in the road was quite an interesting study. A few horses were driven by with little or no difficulty, but the majority seemed as timorous at sight of their deceased equine confrere as the average man is at that of a human cadaver. Some were led by with great reluctance; more were blindfolded with robe or blanket, and thus passed the Rubicon easily; while there were a few drivers who gave it up, turned their backs to the danger, mounted Lincoln hill, and took Lafayette road as an easier way to obtain Old Rye.

A VALUABLE ACQUISITION.

Mr. S. A. Preble, the barber in Frye's block, Congress street, on Saturday evening received by express a cigar box carefully tied up, having a number of holes bored in the top, and marked (besides the address) "Live Stock—handle with care—this side up." On opening the box a young alligator was disclosed, which on being removed from its close quarters demonstrated its liveliness by hissing and snapping its jaws at everything which approached it. Where the creature came from, or who sent it, Mr. Preble does not know; and he feels a good deal like the man who bought the elephant at auction for $5, as he does not know what to feed the ill-looking and vicious-tempered reptile on, nor just what to do with him. Anybody who is an expert in alligators is requested to call around.

THE MINSTREL SHOW.

Barlow Bros. & Frost's Minstrels, (formerly Wheeler's Ideals,) which will appear in Music hall Thursday evening, March 31st, have recently been at Augusta, Me., and the Journal of that city said of them:

The entertainment given by the Ideal Minstrel Co. last evening was one of much mirth, and Granite hall was packed to receive the troupe. There was no end to funny features and laughter-provoking acts, and no minstrel company that has been seen here of late gave better satisfaction. The artists were all first-class, and skilled in presenting that which goes to make up a good minstrel performance.

Tickets on sale at Goodrich's to-morrow; see advertisement.

MARITIME NOTES.

The four-masted schooner Sarah W. Lawrence, Farrow master, which arrived in the lower harbor on Friday last from Norfolk, Va., with 2100 tons of coal, made the round trip from this port to Norfolk and back in eleven days.

Coal tonnage was reported in only moderate demand last week, with plenty offering at $1.30 per ton from Norfolk to Boston, and $1.40 from Norfolk to this port. Among the charters announced were a schooner with 750 tons coal from Norfolk to this port at $1.40, and a schooner (cargo not stated) from Wilmington, N. C., to this port, at $750 by the lump.

The Dover Democrat of March 25th says: "Navigation on the Chocheco river closed Dec. 3d last. On Dec. 11th, however, the tug Ann during a moderate spell of weather cut a channel through the ice, and with the lighter took up a cargo of coal from the schooner C. H. Trickey lying off Gage's brickyard. The tug with the lighter brought up 400 tons of coal also from Portsmouth on the 23d. The schooner Loella was towed up to Converse's wharf, where she was cleared in four hours of a cargo of lime, going out to sea the same afternoon. The river froze hard that night, and it is only this week that it is free for navigation again."

UNIVERSAL ATONEMENT.

The subject at the Pleasant street church yesterday forenoon was "the Universalist idea of Atonement," the following being the text:

Was it not necessary that the Christ should suffer these things and enter into his glory?—Luke 24: 26.

Man did not, and does not, understand God: Christ came to make them as one. The way in which this is done is the most natural and beautiful that an All-wise Father could devise. Man is essentially a just being. He felt himself to be a sinner. He did not see how he could ever come to be forgiven; that is, he could not, with his sense of justice, understand what God would do with him. He did not understand the nature of God, nor how it could adapt itself to man. Christ came and showed to man that the way to heaven, or to God, is love, joy, peace, and repose in holy spirit; and to impress forever upon the world this truth, Christ died in defending it. He died to illustrate it to the fullest extent.

Look at the great martyrs of history. What is a cause until a man dies for it? What of Socrates, Savonarola, Servetus, Joan of Arc, Lincoln? Death made them undying powers. Of them we can say exactly as of Christ, that when they died the hour came for them to be glorified. The Roman church burned Joan of Arc; twenty years afterward that infallible church reversed its decision. The worst pope that ever sat in Rome, Alexander Sixth, murdered Savonarola; in only twenty years Raphaelle was painting the monk's portrait on the walls of the Vatican, by the order of another pope. Lincoln was killed; he is now the most influential name in our history. Had not these people died for their cause, they would not have risen to such power. When they were lifted up they drew all men unto them. Christ died not to pay our debt, not to remove a difficulty from God's mind; but to enable man to see that the love of God will lift the world out of its sin. God gave the highest expression of his sympathy with human sinfulness and sorrow. God so loved the world.

Mrs. Augustus W. Odiorne is visiting her daughter, Mrs. George Evans, at Louisville, Ky.

Mr. Wm. B. Ogden and wife arrived in New York on Friday last from Bermuda.

The Boston Traveller of Saturday says: "Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton's pleasant drawing-rooms were thronged by her friends yesterday, among whom were Mr. Elihu Vedder, Mr. Wilson Barrett, Mrs. Anna Bowman Dodd of New York, and Mr. Hackett of Newcastle, N. H."

Judge Samuel Treat, of the United States district court for the eastern district of Missouri, has resigned his position, after thirty years' service on the bench. Judge Treat was a brother of the late Allen Treat of this city.

See advertisement of men wanted to take charge of branch stores—call at the Kearsarge house to-day.

The republicans of Eliot, at a caucus held last Friday evening to nominate candidates to be supported at the town election on Monday, unanimously made choice of the following-named gentlemen: For moderator, Timothy Dame; selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, Timothy Dame, Albert Lord, Augustus P. Shapleigh; town clerk, Frederick A. Staples; supervisor of schools, John D. Frost; agent, William Hill; collector of taxes, Martin P. Tobey; treasurer, Sylvester Bartlett; constable, Samuel A. Staples; auditors, Jonathan Worcester, Henry P. Abbott.

Messrs. Charles W. Robinson and James M. Haley went to Duck Island, Isles of Shoals, on Saturday last, to engage in the lobster fishery, and will set 300 pots; they also took out gear for trawl fishing.

Rev. Alfred Gooding, pastor of the Unitarian society, preached in Newcastle on Sunday afternoon, and the vesper service at the Unitarian church was omitted in consequence.

A freight car loaded with lumber was derailed Saturday morning at Agamenticus station—formerly South Berwick junction—and a wrecking train went from this city to replace it on the iron, and repair damages.

In Salem, Mass., on the evening of March 25th, fire totally destroyed the old round-house of the Boston & Maine railroad, with four locomotives, namely, the Boxford, No. 144; United States, No. 122; Saco, No. 73, and No. 192, not named, all old engines. The loss on the rolling stock is $25,000, and on the building $5000; fully insured.

Mr. Horace B. Wilbur, treasurer of the Boston & Maine railroad for seventeen years, died on the 23d inst. at his home in Boston, of pneumonia.

The Boston & Lowell railroad has leased the Passumpsic road for ninety-nine years, on terms which will net the stockholders five per cent for ten years, and six per cent thereafter.

The Portland Advertiser says the locomotive works of that city are very busy on orders for locomotives for the Maine Central and Boston & Maine roads, and are about closing a contract with New York parties for locomotives for a western road.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors

Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times I could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was perfectly cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any other medicines for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the shell with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

The Food of Man.

There is no doubt that man can exist on a vegetable diet. He can obtain from the plant world, digest and assimilate these materials which are needful for the repair of his own tissues. The arts concerned in the preparation of food will also undoubtedly aid him in his conversion of vegetable into animal equivalents and will supplement his powers by shortening considerably the period required for gastric digestion. Still, after all has been said, it must be allowed that the labor of the alimentary tract is better adjusted and the formation of sound tissues more assured, by the use of a mixed diet. If, on the one hand, we assert the proved value of hydrocarbons, but as sources of energy in support of our use of vegetables, we must also maintain that meat which yields us most easily the formative and stimulant proteids can hardly be discarded. Our internal physical formation, which is intermediate between that of the carnivora and herbivora, should afford at least a suggestive clew in our choice of a diet.—London Lancet.

The Father of Gambetta.

The father of Leon Gambetta, who is still living at Nice, 74 years old, bears a striking resemblance to his illustrious son. He has consented to the removal of the latter's dust to the Pantheon, at Paris, on condition that the three sons of his daughter be authorized to bear the name of Gambetta; "for," he says, "I am the only bearer of that name now, and I do not want it to die out." M. Gambetta has a small fortune of money saved while he was in business at Cahors, and eke out a comfortable income by selling the produce of his garden of oranges and lemons.—Boston Transcript.

New Kind of Apricot.

A new and hardy variety of apricot is now attracting the attention of fruit growers. It is said to have been brought to this country several years since by the Russian Mennonites, and planted throughout Kansas and Nebraska, where it has proved entirely hardy and healthy, quite productive, bearing a handsome, golden yellow fruit, of medium size, sweet and of good quality.—Chicago Times.

A railway accident occurred near Leetonia, Ohio, March 25th, by which one engineer was killed and a number of passengers injured.

Edward Walt Hubbard, aged twenty-three years, a member of the Springfield Republican's staff, has died of typhoid fever.

Charles E. Sellon, marine editor of the Boston Advertiser, was stricken with apoplexy Wednesday night of last week, and died Friday morning.

After being laid up six weeks with acute rheumatism, by taking two doses of Athlophoros I enjoyed a good night's rest. I can recommend it as a very valuable medicine, and always keep a bottle in the house. Mrs. Cordelia Marcotte, 8 Walnut St., Haverhill, Mass.

On Thursday morning of last week a freight train went through a bridge nine miles from Liberty, Va., on the Norfolk & Western railroad. The bridge was in process of repair, and eight or nine workmen were killed and several others wounded. None of them were train hands, as far as known.

I recommend Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for gravel. It cured me.—S. J. McCormick, United States Dep. Mineral Surveyor, Bliss Station, Idaho. My head and face was a mass of putrification. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy purified my blood and I am now well.—J. A. Parker, Sunderlinville, Pa. Price $1. Send two-cent stamp to Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for book on kidney, liver and blood disorders. Mention this paper.

At Rahway, N. J., on the morning of March 26th, the body of a well dressed unknown woman was found on Central street, with her throat cut from ear to ear. About 100 yards from where the body lay, a bloody knife and a satchel filled with woman's clothing were found. No clew.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself and superior to other preparations in strength, economy, and medicinal merit.

Scott Bryant, aged thirty-five years, of Gorham, N. H., a brakeman on the Grand Trunk railway, was fatally injured at Falmouth station, Me., Saturday, by being knocked under the wheels by a bridge.

I Had Faith.

About six months ago I was advised to consult Mr. Hall, the great Spiritualist doctor, to see if she could cure me of scrofula, a disease with which I had suffered greatly from childhood. She said if I would have faith in the medicines she gave me, that she could cure me. I took her medicine, and in less than three months I was cured. Why, the way the medicine worked was a miracle. I begged of her to tell me what the medicine was made of, but she said she could not do so. Finally she told me the medicine was Sulphur Bitters, and that she never knew it to fail in all such cases as mine.—Mrs. Clara Knowlton, 35 Hanover street, Boston, Mass.

At a Methodist Episcopal donation party held in a school house at Stillville, near Utica, N. Y., last week, the floor gave way and ten or fifteen persons were severely injured, being brused, burned and scalded, and sustaining fractures of the limbs. Several of the injured persons will die.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he cannot go into society and he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and, frequently, entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best, if not the only real cure, for hay fever, rose cold and catarrh.

Jacob Bread of Newark, Conn., died last week from the effects of a scalding received at the hands of his wife on Sunday, March 20th, during a quarrel. Since his death she has become a raving maniac.

Wanted. To let you know that the Hop Plaster is the best and strongest plaster ever known. Kills pain, soothes and strengthens weak parts and does it quickly too. Side ache, lame back, stitch, crick, severe pains, sore chest and all the pains and weaknesses so common are cured by applying the plasters on seat of pain.

James Anderson, a book-keeper at the "New York store" in Manchester, has been missing since Sunday, the 20th inst., and, as several hundred dollars are also missing, it is believed that he has absconded.

Extra Liability to Malarial Infection.

Persons whose blood is thin, digestion weak and liver sluggish, are extra-liable to the attacks of malarial disease. The most trifling exposure may, under such conditions, infect a system which, if healthy, would resist the miasmatic taint. The only way to secure immunity from malaria in localities where it is prevalent, is to tone and regulate the system by improving weakened digestion, enriching the blood, and giving a wholesome impetus to biliary secretion. These results are accomplished by nothing so effectively as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which long experience has proved to be the most reliable safeguard against fever and ague and kindred disorders, as well as the best remedy for them. The Bitters are, moreover, an excellent invigorant of the organs of urination, and an active depurent, eliminating from the blood those acrid impurities which originate rheumatic ailments.

Stanley Steele, a Nova Scotian, on the afternoon of March 26th entered the agency of the Merchants bank at Antigonish, N. S., and attempted to kill Agent Currie, who is but twenty-three years old, firing two shots at him, and wounding him in the temple and breast. The agent grappled the assassin, and a boy in the office ran for help, which arrived in time to secure him. There was about $50,000 in the bank at the time. Currie will probably recover.

Shall be 79 years of age next June, and for the last six years have suffered from general debility and old age. At times I could not get out of bed without help. I commenced to take Sulphuur Bitters. In a week I felt stronger and got a mighty fine appetite. I still continued their use, and to-day I walked over three miles without feeling tired, something I haven't done in five years before. Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 30 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

BARRELS FROM PAPER PULP.

The Inventors Say That Marsh Grass Can be Used to Manufacture Them.

The growing scarcity of the timber supply has given rise to the serious question of how to produce packages for oil, liquors and similar substances which will meet the demands of the market. This question has at different times during the last twenty years led to various attempts to produce a paper barrel which would answer all the purposes for which the wooden barrel is used. These attempts, however, have been attended with no practical success until recently, when a barrel was produced from paper pulp which seems destined to supersede the wooden article. Its general appearance is that of the common wooden barrel thickly varnished, while only five pieces are used in making it. It is bound with ordinary wooden hoops and the head is of one piece, so constructed that it fits into the barrel air tight and is held firmly in place by a hoop without the use of nails. The body is seamless and the interior and exterior are glazed with a substance which renders the barrel impervious to moisture so that liquids of all kinds can be transported in it without loss. It is also very strong and stiff, not easily broken and as the nature of the compressed paper is such that neither dry nor damp weather affects it the contents retain all their aromatic qualities. There are numerous other excellent qualities claimed for this barrel.

Not long ago the chief flour inspector of the New York Produce Exchange certified that he had inspected 150 barrels of flour which had been shipped from a distance in these paper barrels and had found them to be all sound. It generally happens when flour is shipped in wooden barrels that a quantity of it sifts through the cracks where the staves join and is lost. It was found by weighing the flour shipped in paper barrels that none of it had been lost in this manner.

The pulp used in the production of these barrels is obtainable from any fibrous substance, and as there is hardly a locality where some such substance does not grow the barrels can be manufactured almost anywhere. The bulk of the wood used for the manufacture of barrels, however, is now brought from western Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin and, as the supply is constantly decreasing there the difficulty and expense of obtaining the timber is increasing. The inventors of this process for making these barrels say that the weeds and rank grasses which grow on the meadows lying between Jersey City and Newark will produce an excellent pulp for this purpose and that thus practically waste lands may be made productive and profitable. The cost of manufacturing the paper barrels is no greater than that of making the wooden article and, with the patented machine, it is said that two men can produce 600 barrels in a day.—New York Tribune.

The Monkeys' Festival.

At the present time it is no longer possible to doubt that monkeys hold veritable and numerously attended festivals that resemble those that the negroes of Africa, the Hottentots and the Papuas of New Guinea celebrate to the sound of the tom-tom on moonlight nights, most frequently, however, at the time the new moon makes its appearance. The monkeys (cebicus) of South America assemble in the same manner when, having exhausted the resources of one place, they get ready to emigrate to another. They jump, gambol and shout with all their might, the males running on the trees and the mothers carrying their children on their backs or in their arms.

Duvancel witnessed near Deebund, in India, a grand reunion of sacred monkeys (semnopithecus entellus), which is repeated regularly, the inhabitants say, at a certain number of years. There were several thousand of them, which had come in large bands from different directions. Each marched with a stick in its hand; but when they arrived at the place of the festival they threw all the sticks on the same spot, and made of them an immense heap.

The festive gatherings of the black chimpanzees of Africa are still more closely related to those of the negroes. Sometimes fifty or so of them come together, and jump, yell, and using dry chunks of wood as tom-toms, beat on them with drum sticks, which they hold in their hands and feet.

This orchestra of quadrumanes is the first attempt at music, and what is remarkable, the music is of the rudimentary form of the drum, which everywhere among the most savage and inferior races of the human family, is the first musical instrument also, and the only one that many of them possess.—Henry Howard in The Cosmopolitan.

Heading Straight for India.

The monotony of life on the Afghan frontier was the other day pleasantly interrupted by the arrival of two strangers at the camp of the frontier commission. One of them was a native horseman, beside whom, in somewhat shabby European apparel, walked a stalwart pedestrian. A few questions brought out the story of the latter, which deserves to be preserved as an example of the endeavors of one of the great unemployed to find some work to do. The man, a German by birth, had walked from central Germany through Russia and Bokhara, heading straight for India, where he hoped to find permanent employment. Without money, without a passport, without speaking but his own tongue, he arrived at the Afghan frontier, having been compelled to abandon his straight line of march by the deep snow on the Hindoo Koosh. The commissioners, after providing the man with food and clothes, sent him on his way rejoicing, confident that, after going round Afghanistan, which is a closed door to travelers, he will reach his destination.—Boston Transcript.

Significant.

New York Correspondence Cleveland Leader.

One has a most excellent opportunity to study "man" as represented by the average New Yorkers. Among the wealthy classes, very many of them have the waxy skin, dropsical flesh, and "puffed eyes" that are indicative of serious kidney affection. "Bright's disease" is plainly written on their faces. Since General Logan's death the subject of rheumatism is being discussed by the medical profession.

Every intelligent person, with any knowledge of the human system, is well aware that if the kidneys are in good condition all unnecessary material is regularly carried off by them. If not, various acids, such as uric acid, one of the chief causes of rheumatism, are left in excess, creating deposits that cause all sorts of chronic organic diseases. It would seem, therefore, that rheumatism, like dropsy, is not a disease, but the result of a disease, and it is safe to say that if the stomach and kidneys are kept in healthful condition, there will be no deaths from rheumatism.

General Logan was well aware that his disease was of the kidneys, and once expressed himself in indignant terms at the folly of doctors treating him for rheumatism, when it was the kidneys that caused his attacks. The high living and the excesses in all things, prevalent among wealthy men in large cities, especially in New York, is the chief cause for Bright's disease, and the aristocratic trouble known as rheumatism, even as insufficient and improper food bring about the same results among the very poor.

The above article which we reproduce because of its general interest, is very significant. The public believes that rheumatism is an effect of diseased blood, this disease being caused by uric acid or kidney poison. Enough of this is developed daily to kill several men, and if it is not removed by the kidneys as fast as formed, it gradually ruins the health.

This fact is a scientific demonstration.

If doctors do not admit it, it is probably because they do not wish to attract attention to the menace deranged kidneys offers to the general health, since they have no authorized specific for these organs.

General Logan knew what his real trouble was, and he recognized the nonsence of treating the effects—the real seat of the disease was the kidneys. Senator Sittig, of Illinois, whose vote elected Logan senator after four months of balloting tells us that Logan often complained to him of great distress in his kidneys. Disease of the kidneys always produces rheumatism, and besides that, it causes paralysis, apoplexy, impotency, stomach and blood disorders, brain troubles, female complaints and countless other diseases which would almost never develop if the blood was kept free of uric acid or kidney poison.

These facts the public recognizes even though medical gentlemen for very evident reasons, will not publicly acknowledge them, lest, perchance, some proprietary medicine, like Warner's safe cure, which is sold by all dealers and is now admitted to be the only scientific specific, will get the benefit.

Fie on such bigotry! It has been authoritatively stated time and again that there can be no real sound health if there is any false action of the kidneys. Insurance companies refuse millions of risks on this ground alone, hence it is that there is such universal popularity given to the great preparation named—a popularity that is based upon intrinsic merit.

Too much dependence upon professional advice especially in matters over which medical men admit they have no power, too often results very disastrously, but of what use to the victim is experience gained by fatal disaster!

How much better it is to be guided by an unprejudiced public opinion in such matters.

Had Logan been so guided, he might have been spared many years.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

The Coronet Wins.

The schooner yacht Coronet arrived at Queenstown, Ireland, at 1:30 o'clock A. M. on the 27th inst., having passed the winning line (Roche's point) at 12:50. The actual time consumed on the passage was fourteen days, nineteen hours, three minutes and fourteen seconds. The passage was a tempestuous one throughout, but the vessel proved herself an excellent sea-boat. Her best day's run was 291 miles, and the shortest about thirty-nine miles. The Dauntless was not sighted from Roche's point up to dark on the 27th.

The Dauntless arrived off Rochs' point about five o'clock P. M. on the 28th.

Previous to this race there had been two across-ocean yacht races. In 1866, in the month of December, the Heartietta, Vesta and Fleetwing raced from Sandy Hook to Cowes for $30,000 a side. The Henrietta won the race. She was sailed by Captain Samuels, who had command of the Dauntless in this last race. The Henrietta made the trip in thirteen days, twenty-one hours and fifty-five minutes. The Vesta, which was the second yacht, was about an hour behind, and the Fleetwing an hour behind the Vesta. In the race of 1870 between the Cambria and the Dauntless, from Daunt's rock on the Irish coast to Sandy Hook, the time of the Cambria, which was the winner, was thirteen days, two hours and twenty-seven minutes. Again the closeness of the race was a matter of wonder, as the Dauntless arrived less than two hours later. The fastest passage ever made by a yacht across the Atlantic was made by the schooner yacht Sappho, which sailed from Sandy Hook to Cowes in less than thirteen days. She had, however, very favorable weather throughout.

Death of Hiram Barker of Farmington.

Hiram Barker, a prominent and very wealthy resident of Farmington, died at his home in that town last Saturday morning, after a long and painful illness. Mr. Barker was born in the town of Alton, Dec. 21st, 1815. He remained at home working on his father's farm till he was sixteen years old. In the spring of 1831 he came to this city, and entered a dry goods store as clerk. After a few months there he went to Wolfeboro, and later he worked in stores in Alton and Dover. During the years 1833 and '34, he was engaged in peddling tin ware and clocks in New Hampshire and Maine. In the spring of 1835 he opened a store at Alton. A year later he sold out and moved to Farmington, where he opened a general store, there continuing in the business until 1860. During those years he was extensively engaged in the real estate and lumber business, and for fifteen years he was president of the old state bank at Farmington. For forty years he was a heavy speculator in western timber lands and ranches. He owned large tracts of lands in Nebraska, and also had large real estate interests in Chicago, Iowa, Kansas and Minnesota; and he held stock in most every New England corporation. In politics he was a Jeffersonian democrat, and he held all the important town offices in Farmington. He was a member of the legislature in '49 and '50, and a member of the constitutional convention of '50 and '51, serving on the judiciary committee. He married Maria Hayes, daughter of Reuben and Patience Hayes of New Durham, July 29th, 1838. She died Feb. 29th, 1880.

Mr. Barker was a man well known in this part of the country, stood high as a citizen, and was noted for his remarkable financial success. His estate is said to be nearly or quite a million of dollars.

Mr. Herbert Welsh, corresponding secretary of the Indian Rights association, has been examining the condition of the Apaches imprisoned at St. Augustine, Fla., and finds that fully two-thirds of the adult males confined there have not been guilty of any recent misdoing, and many of them have for years been trusted and faithful scouts in the service of the government. Among them are the two scouts sent by Gen. Miles to visit Geronimo and his band, which they did at the peril of their lives, and after three days' pursuasion induced that bloodthirsty scoundrel to surrender. Another is the scout who was with Capt. Crawford of the army when that officer was murdered by the Mexicans about two years ago, and who instantly returned the assassins' fire, shooting dead the Mexican who killed Crawford.

The Boston Herald says that one of the most important matters to come before the military committee of the Massachusetts legislature is the question as to the completion of the naval records of the men who entered the navy from Massachusetts during the rebellion. The sum of $25,000 would complete and bind in substantial form these records, so necessary to establish just claims or to defeat improper cases. This sum will be asked, and it will be shown that the commonwealth of Massachusetts furnished almost one-half of the entire number of the naval officers, from master's mate to admiral, nearly one-third of the men, and more than one-half of the able seamen.

The recent fire in a boarding house at Bessemer, Mich., whereby twelve men perished, is thought to have been caused by two drunken boarders who went in after midnight and occupied the part of the building where the fire evidently started.

The United States circuit court, in session in Baltimore, last week adjudged the Pan-Electric Telephone company guilty of contempt of court, imposed a fine of $500, and demanded the surrender of their instruments.

Henry Gillette, thirty-three years old and unmarried, of Hartford, Vt., was fatally injured in his saw mill Saturday, while cutting laths. A piece of wood struck him in the face, and went nearly through his head. He lived but a short time.

Dr. E. G. Jones of Newark, N. J., who left a wife and children a short time ago and has been living at the Brock house, Rutland, Vt., two weeks with Jennie Gade, formerly his book-keeper, was arrested Saturday on a charge of adultery, and locked up in the county jail.

RUSHING TO DEATH

in the attempt to swim the Niagara Whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease, which each day secures a stronger hold, and hastens the end of life. This is especially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer grip until at last the agonies are unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. MRS. A. H. VESEY.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. DUDLEY GILMAN.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros. R. F. ARTHUR & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

CANTATAS FOR FLOWER TIME!

Teachers of Juvenile Singing Classes do not need to be told of the intense interest and enthusiasm which attends the bringing out of a new CANTATA. The following are new, bright, pretty and easily given. Commence in time to prepare them.

VOICES OF NATURE. Operetta. N. B. Sargent.

FOREST JUBILEE BAND. N. B. Sargent.

NEW FLORA'S FESTIVAL. Bradbury. Arranged by J. C. Johnson.

MERRY COMPANY, or Cadets' Picnic. Collin Coe.

Price of each book, 40 cts., or $3.60 per doz.

The first two books are by a nature and music-lover, who fills them with very sweet songs of birds, flowers, insects, etc. Flora's Festival, doubled in size, and with minute directions, will surely be a success, as will, in another way, the "MERRY COMPANY."

Our new edition of VOICES OF PRAISE (40 cts., or $4.20 per doz.) by Rev. C. L. Hutchins, is cordially commended to all who wish a Sunday School Song Book of the highest character.

Schools, Academies and Seminaries are always safe in adopting the carefully compiled School Song Books of Ditson & Co. We recommend for the higher schools, SONG GREETING (60 cts.) and ROYAL SINGER (60 cts.), for grammar schools, SONG BELLS (50 cts.), and for primary schools, GEMS FOR LITTLE SINGERS (50 cts.)

Any book mailed for Retail Price. mch11

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Rain or snow, colder, winds shifting to northwesterly.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 30 degrees above zero.

Cloudy.

FELINE INTELLIGENCE.

A gentleman of this city who owns a very highly prized cat called at the Chronicle office a few days since, and announcing that she had been either lost or stolen, said, "If I do not hear from her to-day I will advertise her loss in to-morrow's Chronicle." That afternoon the cat returned. The gentleman thinks his pet, who is of a very quiet and retiring disposition, returned to avoid the publicity which the advertisement would have given her absence from home.

HELENE ADELL.

Although the weather was not favorable on Monday evening, a large audience greeted the excellent Helene Adell dramatic company at Music hall, when "A night in Rome" was given with the close approach to pefection which characterizes this organization in all the plays presented by them. Miss Adell as the wily, daring and unscrupulous but finally baffled adventuress was admirable, and the support, as on previous occasions, was strong throughout.

Mr. Oscar Eagle was unable to appear, owing to an injury sustained last week in Lawrence, but the part of Sir Basil Wynne was ably and very satisfactorily taken by another member of the company. Mr. Eagle is expected to appear this evening.

To-night Ouida's "Moths" will be the attraction. Reserved seat tickets at Goodrich's; popular prices; see advertisement.

KITTERY TOWN MEETING.

The annual town meeting of Kittery was held Monday, March 28th. The cold rain-storm had a tendency to keep many from attending; however, a goodly number of our citizens were present, and all seemed to take an active interest in the business of the day. The meeting was the most harmonious in many years, and the entire republican ticket was elected by 135 majority, the democrats and mugwumps casting only 50 votes. Surely it cannot be the navy yard that stimulates the republicans now, but the old town is always true to her convictions, and we feel safe to presume that it will be many years yet before democracy will gain sway.

The following appropriations for the ensuing year were passed:

For support of schools	$2,700
Contingent expenses	1,300
Support of Poor	800
Free High School	500
Town Debt	1,090
Int. on Debt	700
Repairs on Highways
in summer	2,000
in winter	1,200

The motion to raise $2,500 to aid the parties who took the responsibility to bear the expences of the land damage incurred by the Y. H. & B. R. R. was defeated by ballot,—"No" 124, "Yes" 103,—the friends of the bill failing to get the required two-thirds vote.

The town voted to accept the new Gerrish island bridge, built last year by William H. Goodwin, Esq., of Boston, and to name the structure "Goodwin Bridge" in honor of the doner. Moses A. Safford, Esq., presented resolutions on the above, which were unanimously adopted.

For cutting down the hill near Daniel Bedell's at Kittery Point, $150 was appropriated; and $7.50 to purchase a small piece of land at the head of Goodwin bridge, to add to the highway.

The articles in the warrant to straighten the road from Joseph Jackson's house to Traip's corner, making it better about crossing the new railroad; to widen the piece of road near John Fernald's, to dispose of old Gerrish island bridge, and to abate a part of the taxes of persons who live remote from the highway, were left to the selectmen.

On account of the great influx of foreigners employed on the new railroad, the selectmen were authorized to qualify as many special constables as they deem proper for the welfare of our citizens and their property.

Thus closed at 1:15 P. M., the 240th annual meeting of our ancient town, as harmoniously as it began. SUB ROSA.

PERSONAL.

Messrs. John Sise, Robert C. Peirce and George E. French arrived home last Saturday night from their West Indian trip.

Mr. Robert C. Sides, Jr., assistant engineer in the United States revenue marine, left on Monday to rejoin his vessel, after a week's visit home.

Col. George F. Towle, U. S. A., will start this morning for Chicago to resume his duties on Gen. Terry's staff. He will be accompanied by his father, Capt. George W. Towle of Newcastle.

MARITIME NOTES.

The light-house steamer Iris was at Sise's wharf on Monday.

The schooner Clara B. Kennard, Freeman master, arrived at this port on the 25th inst. from Rockland, Me., with a cargo of lime for Dover. The river is open for her.

The American Fish Bureau's report states that the Western bank cod-fishing fleet, now leaving, will largely go hand-line fishing, using clam bait, instead of trawls and fresh bait, as formerly, thereby avoiding going into any provincial port for bait, or any other purpose except for wood, water or shelter. The provincial fishermen have purchased 300 barrels of clam bait at Portland, and 4000 barrels at other ports in Maine, this spring, but only a small portion has yet been delivered; price generally paid, $5 a barrel. Provincial fishermen are swarming into the New England ports for work, or an opportunity to ship on an American vessel; they report a large number of vessels at provincial ports hauled up from want of crews.

The new electric light at the corner of Chestnut and Warren streets spread its beneficent rays for the benefit of the patrons of Music hall Monday evening, and proved a great blessing.

There are twenty-seven speaking people in the cast of "Siberia." Most of the leading members of the company have been with this remarkable play four seasons. They ought to be pretty familiar with it by this time.

The United States circuit court has decided that the consent of Marcus P. Norton to a nonsuit in the Knibbs valve case, does not bind the other parties to the suit; so we are likely to have a little more of it.

The great picture of Andersonville prison now on exhibition at Montgomery's music and art store, is attracting very marked attention. A naval officer residing in this city who was on board one of the transports which carried the prisoners north when they were released from confinement, states that the emaciated, forlorn condition of the men as shown in the picture, is not exaggerated.

The 2:50 P. M. train from this city for Portland, and one from the eastward bound this way, were detained for several hours at the Noble's island bridge Monday afternoon, while the truss which swings to allow the passage of vessels was being strengthened, weak spots in some of the ironwork, caused by rust, having been discovered.

The Goodwin field on Islington street was sold at public auction last week for $5500. It was purchased by Mayor Eldredge, who will present it to the city for use as a park, if sufficient money can be raised to build a suitable monument.

The services of Sawyer's band of Dover have been secured by the Grand Army post of this city for Memorial day.

Miss Edith Wendell recently appeared in concert at the Philadelphia Academy of Music, and the Times of that city in its report of the concert said: "The aria 'Russian Nightingale' was sung by Miss Edith Wendell, who appeared for the first time before a Philadelphia audience. She has a rich soprano voice, and in the rendering of a difficult air gave evidence of having it thoroughly cultivated and under control. In responding to the persistent demand made by the audience, she sang 'Could you not wait one tiny moment?'" In the report of a concert given in Historical hall, New York, the following day, the World remarked: "Miss Edith Wendell was obviously suffering from a cold contracted the day previous during her trip to Philadelphia, where she sang at the Academy of Music. Nevertheless her singing of the 'Regnava nel Silenzio,' from 'Lucia,' introducing the aria of 'Quando rapita in estasi,' apart from a slight reediness of tone was marked by her usual truth of expression, admirable phrasing, and cleverness of vocalism in the bravura passages."

Rev. D. C. Knowles, D. D., president of the New Hampshire Conference Seminary and Female college, has accepted an invitation to deliver the Memorial day address in this city. He was a captain in the 48th regiment of New York infantry during the war.

Saco seems to be convalescent from the toboggan silliness. The toboggan chute was sold last week, and on Saturday, when workmen were engaged in taking it done, just after they had removed a few of the main supports a big puff of wind came along and capsized the whole concern, fortunately without injuring any person.

A line of Jersey Waists at $1.00 have just been received by Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market street.

Those wool worsted suitings in plain and mixed colorings, are the very best. No. 6 Market street. J. W. Moses.

Aeidrosis

Is no myth, but the trade-mark of the Compound Vapor Bath which is a simple thinning, or smoking process, by which the poison in the system, upon which all disease finds a basis, is either extracted or disinfected by these medical fumes entering into the circulation by way of the capillaries or veins which come to the skin, while the excretory work of the pores is prompted by full respiration. For positive evidence, read carefully the testimonials from your own neighbors, and preserve the little paper Aeidrosis until you learn the truth and become possessed of an outfit for domestic use or public practice. Call on Inventor at Kearsarge hotel, or address Dr. Conant, Skowhegan, Me.

The rumors current during the past two days of the discovery of a dynastic conspiracy in Madrid, Spain, has been confirmed by the arrest of many persons connected with the plot. Among the prisoners are several palace officials, palace armorer, and the relative of a well-known ministerialist deputy.

The struggle against "free shoe shops" in Worcester county, Mass., is not yet ended. The strikers are determined not to surrender.

The Lutherans are about to introduce into this country an order of deaconesses. John D. Lackemann, of Philadelphia, has given $1,000,000 to establish a German hospital in that city, in which these deaconesses shall be employed, and a school for their education.

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you nearly the whole of my business, in our line, and advise others to employ you.

Food Products of China.

In an interesting article on "The Food of China" The North China Herald says that the greatest part of the soil of the Celestial empire which is cultivated is devoted to the production of food. There are no flocks or herds, and the areas devoted to cotton and mulberry are very small compared to the extent of the empire. Of the 250,000,000 or 260,000,000 of China three-fifths live on rice and two-fifths on small millet and wheat. In the dry, dusty soil of the northern provinces millet and wheat grow well and form the food of the inhabitants; in the moist soil and hot climate of south China rice prospers and forms the chief produce and food of the people. Maize extends over a wider area every decade. Valuable, too, is the glutinous rice, from which the old undistilled wine is brewed, and which is itself an appetizing article of food. Cabbages and carrots, with the best turnips, onions, melons and radishes, have come into China from the west; the kind which are indigenous are interior.

Western gardening, which has improved so many vegetable productions, has done much for China in supplying her markets. Spinach was introduced 1,000 years ago from Persia, and the name pot-sin, by which it is known, means the Persian vegetable. Lately beet root has come in from Europe, for though the Chinese cannot make up their minds to make railways, they like new fruits and vegetables well enough. The introduction of European and American vegetables, seeds and fruit trees into China is improving and varying the food of the people, just as western arts and manufactures are increasing their luxuries and comforts. And in these ways many changes are being brought about quietly but effectively, which are to a considerable extent altering the old life of the Chinese and almost imperceptibly opening the way to further departures.—Chicago Times.

Balloons are to be introduced into China. The Pekin government has ordered two captive balloons from Paris, and have provided all the necessary funds for several practiced aeronauts to take over the latest inventions in this branch of science, including a special machine to manufacture hydrogen gas.—Boston Transcript.

—It is easy to ask a conundrum, but it is not always as easy to give an exact answer when your hearers "give it up." Some years since at a dinner party in Maine, Judge Shepley asked: "Why is woman like the ivy?" Into everybody's mind came Irving's beautiful comparison, but no one seemed able to put it into words. The answer, "The greater the ruin the closer she clings," is certainly a creditable sentiment, but the judge unfortunately got things mixed, and in his confusion said: "The closer she clings the greater the ruin," which set the table in a roar.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

The Graphic Account of a Most Wonderful Occurrence.

[Kingston Correspondence Boston Globe]

An event has taken place in this city so remarkable in its nature that I venture to describe it in full. The principal in the affair is Mr. Jere Smith, son of Mr. Cornelius B. Smith, of the State Insurance Department at Albany, who is well known, stands very high and is in every way reliable. I have had a long and most interesting interview with him, which I transcribed and send you in his own words, trusting it may prove valuable to your readers:

"During last year," he said, "I could not understand what was the trouble with me. I had always felt strong and hearty, but I gradually became aware that something was undermining me. I first began to feel drowsy and then in a day or two I would be unnaturally wide awake. Strange pains would come in different parts of my body. My food did not seem much but it usually felt heavy. I was sometimes hungry and sometimes I nated food, while my sleep was very irregular. I could not understand what it meant but thought it might pass away after a time; but it did not. I don't see how I could have been so blind but I suppose I was like most people who are troubled in the same way, and thought it nothing dangerous. After awhile I noticed a peculiar color and odor about the fluids I was passing; that they were dark at times and very light at others. Finally I began to gain flesh, but I knew it was unnatural and that I was sick. This frightened me, and I consulted physicians, who were very kind in their attentions, but did not help me in the least. My father then went with me to New York, and we consulted the eminent Dr. Keyes, who treated me for several weeks. At that time my condition was horrible. I was bloated from head to foot, it was almost impossible to breathe, and I could not sleep. In several places on my body the skin burst open, so great was the pressure from within. The agony I endured was indescribable. Then the doctor told me my case was hopeless, that I had Bright's disease in its worst form, and that I had only a few days to live."

PICTURE OF HEALTH.

"Portsmouth I had a friend who accompanied me and would not see me die without a struggle. He did not urge, he insisted on my making one more effort. I did and I did so. I noticed an improvement at once; in four days the swelling greatly decreased and the pain wholly ceased. I continued to improve and am a well man to-day, and owe my life to the marvelous effects of that wonderful preparation, Hunt's Remedy. I believe this is the greatest medicine that was ever discovered by man, and I only wish the whole world might know what it has done for me."

PICTURE OF MISERY.

"I know there are thousands of people troubled as I was and in just as great danger, but they do not realize it. Bright's disease is the most deceptive, the most horrible malady, the world has ever known. It has no settled symptoms, but assumes every imaginable form. I had no idea it was Bright's disease that was undermining me until I began to bloat, and now that I am well and enjoying life I feel like telling everybody about my miraculous escape. Is it any wonder this town is aroused over my resurrection?"

Such is the account of probably as narrow an escape from death as was ever known. The first symptoms which Mr. Smith felt were such as many others feel but do not consider worth noticing. It is plain, however, that the early indications of a dangerous disease cannot be trifled with, but must be met promptly, and by such a remedy as has been proven to be indeed a friend in time of need.

In New York one day last week James Hogan tried to kill his wife, fracturing her skull with a hatchet, after which he jumped out of a third story window and did kill himself.

I Had Faith.

About six months ago I was advised to consult Mr. Hall, the great Spiritualist doctor, to see if she could cure me of scrofula, a disease with which I had suffered greatly from childhood. She said if I would have faith in the medicines she gave me, that she could cure me. I took her medicine, and in less than three months I was cured. Why, the way the medicine worked was a miracle. I begged of her to tell me what the medicine was made of, but she said she could not do so. Finally she told me the medicine was Sulphur Bitters, and that she never knew it to fail in all such cases as mine.—Mrs. Clara Knowlton, 35 Hanover street, Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Louise T. Kendall of Portland, Me., aged seventy-two years, and her daughter, Miss Jessie Thurston, while returning from Florida were on a Shore Line train near Norwood, R. I., March 27th, when the younger woman jumped from the cars, and her mother, who attempted to hold her, was dragged off too. The train was running forty-five miles an hour, but neither of the women was dangerously hurt. Miss Thurston's mind is disordered.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he cannot go into society and he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and, frequently, entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best, if not the only real cure, for hay fever, rose cold and catarrh.

The necessary number of names has been secured by Boston's new athletic club, and steps will be at once taken to build a club house.

Wanted. To let you know that the Hop Plaster is the best and strongest plaster ever known. Kills pain, soothes and strengthens weak parts and does it quickly too. Side ache, lame back, stitch, crick, severe pains, sore chest and all the pains and weaknesses so common are cured by applying the plasters on seat of pain.

J. G. Haggett, owner of mining property in Arizona, while visiting his family in Almeda, Cal., last week, took his three sons and daughter out on the bay in a row boat fishing. Just as they were about to return Haggett stood up to put on his overcoat, upset the boat, and all but one of the boys were drowned.

Extra Liability to Malarial Infection.

Persons whose blood is thin, digestion weak and liver sluggish, are extra-liable to the attacks of malarial disease. The most trifling exposure may, under such conditions, infect a system which, if healthy, would resist the miasmatic taint. The only way to secure immunity from malaria in localities where it is prevalent, is to tone and regulate the system by improving weakened digestion, enriching the blood, and giving a wholesome impetus to biliary secretion. These results are accomplished by nothing so effectively as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which long experience has proved to be the most reliable safeguard against fever and ague and kindred disorders, as well as the best remedy for them. The Bitters are, moreover, an excellent invigorant of the organs of urination, and an active depurent, eliminating from the blood those acrid impurities which originate rheumatic ailments.

I am an Old Man.

Shall be 79 years of age next June, and for the last six years have suffered from general debility and old age. At times I could not get out of bed without help. I commenced to take Sulphuur Bitters. In a week I felt stronger and got a mighty fine appetite. I still continued their use, and to-day I walked over three miles without feeling tired, something I haven't done in five years before. A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

A Captive's Observations.

The Indian in presence of the white man or in presence of strangers is not the same as the Indian at home among his fellows. All taciturnity and stoicism disappear and they act more like overgrown children than anything else, laughing, playing practical jokes, teasing and romping, fond of feats of strength and agility, particularly in horsemanship. Here I was with members of a tribe known among white men as the most treacherous, cruel and barbarous on the plains, and yet I must say that whatever laws and customs governed them were, as far as I could understand, strictly adhered to. No one meddled with another's wives, horses or arms. No one laid claim to a woman or a horse that he did not pay, spot trade, the price demanded. I was going to say spot cash, but this they had little use for. Provisions were always in common. I do not know how it would be in time of scarcity, for while I was with them provisions were very plenty. The young bucks were always riding helter skelter over the hills and prairies for miles around, and kept a supply of meats in great abundance. The squaws did all camp and field work. Their corn fields were all between jutting points of the hills, and by a stranger would be found with great difficulty; so that if they had from any cause to break camp hurriedly their fields would be safe.

Perfection of the Phonograph.

By the way, shortly before Edison left he reverted to his old toy, the phonograph, and said that he had not the slightest doubt that the perfected phonograph of, say 500 years from now, will do away with every sort of writing and printing. People who want to write a letter will say what they want to say into their phonograph, take out the little slip of foil or paper, and send it off, while the person who receives it will put it into his instrument and listen to what his friend has to say. The printer's occupation will be gone, because newspapers will consist of sheets of tin foil, to be put into each person's phonograph, when the news will be read out to the phonograph in a clear, interesting and effective manner, some device being adopted by which the reader will be enabled to have read exactly what interests him or her, and skip all the rest. Probably the advertiser who takes a whole column for five words will pay extra to have the phonograph shout out that his soap is the best and was used by Cleopatra, Mrs. Langtry, and other beauties of past ages.—New York Cor. Brooklyn Eagle.

To Buy or Not to Buy.

The liveliest time I remember in the stock market," said a broker recently, "was when the Confederates were moving into Pennsylvania. The day before the Gettysburg fight begun we all felt sure that Philadelphia was doomed, and our merchants were terribly alarmed, some even shipping their goods to New York. The day previous I had been ordered by a customer to buy 1,000 shares of Reading railroad stock. When I saw how things looked I hesitated. I tried to get my customer, but he had suddenly left town and could not be reached. If I bought perhaps he would blame me if there was a loss, while on the other hand if the Confederates were beaten back the shares would surely rise in value, and then I would be censured for not acting according to orders. I went up to the board room and found they were offering reams of the stocks for almost nothing. I risked the chances and bought all that was offered. I loaded up with it. How much did I make? Well, about $500,000."—Philadelphia Call.

Soldiers at Columbia, S. C.

"Come, boys," cried a blue clad hero, "bring your spades. I've found a pile of treasure," and with his bayonet he stuck it deep into a new made mound in the garden adjoining a residence. "See! the rebs have buried gold and silver here. Be quiet or a crowd will come to divide our spoils," and in a few minutes four men were at work digging up the box in which the supposed treasures were hid. It was hard work to go four feet down and lift up a heavy box from the damp earth. Eagerly they worked, and in due time their reward came. Greedily they broke the top from the box, and quickly, with oaths in their mouths, they drew back as the half decayed carcass of a dead dog met their gaze. It was the body of a pet Newfoundland dog that some children had wept over and had caused to be buried beneath the shade of a laurel, little dreaming that their Carlo would suffer such ignoble a resurrection.—Atlanta Constitution.

Fungi as Plant Allies.

While some forms of fungus are most destructive to vegetation, it is now believed that there are others which render assistance to the plants on which they live. Frank found that the fungus covering the young root points of certain forest trees, as the beech and oak, seems to help in the nutrition of those trees. Another interesting case has lately been studied in Germany by Wahrlich, who finds that a yellow, bladder-like fungus of the root tissue of orchids works no perceptible harm to the plants, but on the contrary probably aids them by changing woody matters into a form that they may more readily absorb.—Arkansas Traveler.

The poet Longfellow received few letters in his long life which gave him more amusement than one from an impassioned lover, requesting him to write an ardent valentine for him to send to his beloved.

"Imagine yourself young again," wrote the swain, "and deeply in love with a young lady, who returns your passion, and who has promised to be your wife. Then write me such a poem as you would write for yourself."

The letter concluded thus: "P. S.—Send bill."—Youth's Companion.

MARVELOUS CHANGES.

What the Future Will be to Those who Refuse to Believe.

Is this country unconsciously undergoing a wonderful change, is the change to take place before we are aware of the fact, and when it has taken place will we wonder why we did not see it before it was too late?

Those that see the changes early avail themselves early, and thereby receive benefit.

The shrewd iron man sees the iron interest transferred from Pittsburg and Pennsylvania to Birmingham, Alabama, and in his far-sightedness sees the furnaces in Pennsylvania torn down and deserted for this new and prolific field. It is claimed by the iron men of Alabama that the low price at which iron can be produced there will revolutionize the iron interest of the world.

We have seen the grain-growing centers of this country shifted to the west. We have seen the pork-packing industry flit from Cincinnati to Chicago, and from thence to Kansas City and Omaha. Southern cotton mills undersell New England and American markets, and challenge the world.

We have seen and are seeing all this take place before our eyes, and know that other changes are taking place equally as prominent, and we wonder as we behold them. Ten years ago the insurance companies only required an analysis of the fluids when they were taking insurance for very large amounts. To-day no first-class company will insure any amount unless they have a rigid analysis of the fluids passed, and if any traces of certain disorders are apparent, the application is rejected. In their reports they show that the death of sixty of every 100 people in this country, is due either directly or indirectly to such disorders. The Brompton Hospital for Consumptives, London, England, reports that sixty of every 100 victims of consumption also have serious disorders of the kidneys.

Among scientists for the treatment of this dread malady the question is being discussed:

"Is not this disorder the real cause of consumption?"

Ten years ago the microscope was something seldom found in a physician's office; now every physician of standing has one, and seldom visits his patients without calling for a sample of fluids for examination.

Why is all this? Is it possible that we of the present generation are to die of diseases caused by kidney disorders, or shall we master the cause by Warner's safe cure, the only recognized specific, and thus remove the effects? All dealers keep it. It is within the reach of all. It is established beyond a doubt that a very large percentage of deaths in this country are traceable to diseased kidneys. For years the proprietors of Warner's safe cure have been insisting that there is no sound health when the kidneys are diseased, and they enthusiastically press their specific for this terrible disorder upon public attention. We are continually hearing its praises sounded.

This means wonders!

Cannot the proprietors of this great remedy, who have been warning us of the danger, tell us how to avoid a disease that at first is so unimportant, and is so fatal in its termination? Are we to hope against hope, and wait without our reward?

The most significant of all changes, however, that we of to-day can note is this radical change of view to which the public has been educated: It was formerly thought that the kidneys were of very small importance; to-day, we believe, it is generally admitted that there can be no such thing as sound health in any organ if they are in the least degree deranged.

Sarah Ruran, aged thirteen, stood by the kitchen stove at her home in New York last Saturday, with her baby brother in her arms. A gust of wind through the open window blew her gown to the fire, and soon she was ablaze. She threw the babe from her, saving its life. The little girl was taken to the Gouverneur hospital, terribly burned.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

Yachting Notes.

The Dauntless, in her late run across the Atlantic, experienced such heavy weather as to burst her water tank and spring a bad leak; had two men washed from the wheel, and saved from going overboard only by the lashings with which they were secured; and yet made the best day's run ever recorded for a yacht, 328 miles, and another day's run of 325 miles.

Richard K. Fox has notified Messrs. Bush and Colt, owners of the yachts Coronet and Dauntless, that he will give a cup of the value of $5000 for a return ocean race from Fastnet, Ireland, to Sandy Hook, under conditions similar to those which governed the recent race which was won by the Coronet. If Messrs. Bush and Colt reply favorably, the race will be arranged. We hardly think the two yachting gentlemen named will lend themselves to an advertising dodge for the disreputable New York Police Gazette.

An Oyster Stew.

A Maryland oyster pungy was fired upon while dredging oysters in Chesapeake bay on the night of March 26th, by a Virginia oyster-police boat. Capt. Thomas Gibbons of the oyster boat was shot in the arm, and one of the crew got a bullet in his shoulder. The pungy escaped, and arrived at Baltimore, where the wounded men were taken to the hospital.

A Half-Starved Throng.

The immigrant officials at Castle Garden, New York, say they never saw a sight to equal that presented by the Italian emigrants who arrived there last Sunday on tugs and barges from the wrecked French steamship Scotia. The people seemed crazed with joy upon reaching solid ground, but as soon as they caught sight of the counters where food had been piled up ready to supply them they forgot everything else, and made a mad rush for the spot. They fought like wild beasts in their struggle to get within reach of the provisions. The clerks quickly saw that it was no time for ceremony. After a brief attempt to hand the food out in some kind of order, the word was given, "Throw it out," and in an instant hundreds of loaves of bread and pieces of sausage were flying over the heads of those nearest to the counter, and the famished emigrants on the edge of the crowd went tumbling over one another in their frantic scramble for the toothsome morsels. Loaves were seized by two or three pairs of hands at once, and torn apart. Fights took place, and one man unable to snatch a loaf from another, bit savagely at it and sank his teeth deep into the fingers of the man who held it. The people, besides being half starved, were in a very destitute condition. Many were without shoes, others had no coats, and few had retained any head covering; they were made as comfortable as possible in the garden.

The latest news from the steamer indicates that she may be floated and saved.

Tragedy in Boston.

David Lannahan and Edward Flanigan, two professional gamblers, were shot in the notorious gambling den run by them at No. 10 Avery street, Boston, about four o'clock Monday afternoon, Lannahan being instantly killed, and his partner in crime mortally wounded. The murderer was Adolph A. Albrecht, a Swiss, who owns an apothecary shop on Broadway, but has long been known to the police as a gambler. A dispute over a game of faro was the cause of the murder. Flanigan has one son a clerk in the office of Mayor O'Brien of Boston, and another who is a member of the Boston police force. There is little cause for wonder that this gambling hell had not long ago been suppressed.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

HAMPTON, March 28th.

Since the milk route started at Portsmouth, cans are scarce in this vicinity; it is hard for the people not being able to sell more than one-half the milk they have, but being obliged to make butter in winter.

A second piece of land has been purchased and the foundation is being laid for the shoe factory, which will not be an ornament to the street. The old ice-house has just been cleared away, and another unsightly building comes where handsome dwellings should be. Mr. S. P. Towle, who owned the land on both sides of the street, has been offered high prices for house lots heretofore, but refused to sell, yet has been influenced to do so for this purpose. The land is high, commands fine views, and it is too bad to sell such for manufactories.

One of the most successful farmers in the county is Mr. Samuel A. Towle. He recently felled an old landmark, estimated to be 250 years old, which stood on a ledge opposite his new residence; he hauled the logs to the mill of W. L. Drake, Esq. The butt log was 8 1-2 feet long, and was sawed into 2 1-2 inch plank, of which there were sixteen in all, fourteen of which were fifty-four inches wide at the large end, and forty-five inches at the other; it measured 720 feet. The second log, 12 1-2 feet long, made 700 feet of square-edged lumber twenty inches wide; the third log was as large in proportion.

Mr. Charles Towle of Exeter is erecting a fine dwelling at the beach; as a carpenter his work is considered equal to the finest in the state; his work done at that place last year gave good satisfaction, and warrants him much patronage.

The Congregational society are still without a settled pastor; probably they never will get one to fill the place of the young but eloquent Rev. W. W. Fay; he is highly appreciated in his new field of labor, and his earnest efforts are crowned with success.

Mr. Curtis De Lancey is hauling some very fine logs to the steam mill from his wood lot; the ice business takes the greater part of his time during the winter, leaving little time for other work.

Much sickness prevails in this vicinity, and we think all will be glad when the month of March is gone. The old lady said she never wanted to see a calendar that had March on it; something like the old man who said while looking over the new almanac (when it spoke of little rain during the summer,) "throw away the book; it is good for nothing this year."

The wintry days will soon be o'er,
Then we shall greet sweet spring once more;
Song birds will fly from southern lands,
We'll pluck sweet flowers with our hands.

For the week ending March 25th, the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York paid death claims amounting to $120,180.31, and endowments amounting to $31,306.51. This company returned $2.71 for every $1.00 paid in premiums.

Anidrosis

Is no myth, but the trade-mark of the Compound Vapor Bath which is a simple fuming, or smoking process, by which the poison in the system, upon which all disease finds a basis, is either extracted or disinfected by these medical fumes entering into the circulation by way of the capillaries or veins which come to the skin, while the excretory work of the pores is prompted by full prespiration. RUSHING TO DEATH in the attempt to swim the Niagara Whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is specially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer grip upon the last thread of life is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. MRS. A. H. VESEY.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. DUDLEY GILMAN.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros.

B. F. ARTHUR & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 25c. for Pills.

HELENE ADELL.

Another good audience assembled in Music hall last evening, when the great society play, "Moths," was presented with Miss Adell as Vere Herbert. It was as meritorious a performance as that of Monday evening, which is saying it was excellent. To-night this fine company closes the present engagement here, with the new and rollicking comedy-drama, "The Rainbow."

A SUGGESTION.

Mr. Editor: I am not very enthusiastic concerning the soldiers' monument. I am in favor of a public building for the free library, and a memorial gallery. But I have seen that in some places there have been published the records of the soldiers and sailors of the rebellion, who have gone from towns and cities which have shown interest enough to perpetuate the noble deeds of their heroes in proper historic form. It seems as if this would be a grateful service,—a well written sketch of our heroes on land and sea. The work might be the collected labor of several writers, who would be able to do justice to the subjects, while it would perpetuate in a substantial and enduring mode, facts and data which will be regarded with the greatest interest by those who come after us.

ONE OF THE HOME GUARD.

MARITIME NOTES.

A Gloucester paper says the schooner William H. Cross of that port, which has been fishing in Ipswich bay all winter, has shared out to her crew $370 per man since Christmas. The schooner landed a number of fares at this port, including the largest one by weight brought in here this season, and a fare for which a larger sum was paid than for any fare of fresh fish ever landed here before.

The schooner Lizzie J. Call, Call master, arrived at Greenpoint, Long Island, Sunday morning, the 27th, having left Boston on the previous Thursday. She will go from Greenpoint to New York.

The schooner Comet, Capt. Orin Caswell, has fitted for spring fishing, and will start as soon as the weather is favorable.

The schooner J. Chester Wood, Sanders masters, was towed across the river to Kittery on the 28th inst., to go on the marine railway.

The mosquito fleet of fishing boats are being painted and otherwise put in readiness for an early start, and some of them are already afloat.

The wholesale fish buyers of this city have on hand about 250 barrels of fish spawn, which they are beginning to barrel in readiness for shipping to France, where it is used for sardine bait.

The four-masted schooner Sarah W. Lawrence was towed up to the Concord railroad wharf from the lower harbor on Tuesday morning, by the tugs Clara Batemen and Ann.

There was brought into this port during the twenty-four hours ending Tuesday evening, the 29th inst., over 150,000 lbs. of fish, much the largest amount ever landed here in a single day at so late a period of the fishing season. The fares in round numbers were as follows: Schooner Joseph Garland, 18,000 lbs.; Storm King, 25,000; Alabama, 8,000; Eliza, 9,000; Faragat, 4,000; Hattie N. Reed, 14,000; Anna H. Mason, 3,000; Rover's Bride, 2,700; Mary E. Smith, 3,500; Franklin S. Schenck, 19,000; Albert Woodbury, 2,500; Agnes E. Downs, 2,500; Nellie T. Gaskill, 7,000; Grace Choate, 1,500; Fannie H. Reed, 4,000; Emerald, 15,000; Light Wing, 3,000; Frank Foster, 9,000. The prices were from $1.75 to $3 per hundred pounds, Daniel Clark, Edw. Jameson and E. Newton & Co. being the largest buyers, the latter firm taking about 45,000 lbs. This big catch arrived in good time, the markets of the large cities being bare of fresh fish on Tuesday; the telegraph was in active use during the day, the number of despaches received and sent by the several fish dealers being nearly two hundred, Newton & Co. receiving seventy-one; and one Boston firm sent a man to this city to endeavor to buy fish.

Capt. Smith of the schooner Guinevere, sunk off Odiorne's point, on Tuesday afternoon reported her as being still on the bottom where she went down, and with her masts yet showing above water. He says he was given no encouragement by the government officials to whom he applied for aid in saving his vessel, which was all the property he possessed.

UNKNOWN AND UNAPPRECIATED.

KITTERY, ME., March 28th.

Messrs. Editors: I read in the Portsmouth Journal of last week an article that took my colors down a peg or two. The statement was that Gerrish island and thereabouts "has long been unknown and unappreciated."

It is less than seldom that an old codger, in the whirl and the rush of to-day, gets an opportunity to free his mind. The question pops into my brain, "Who are you? and who were, are, and will be, your neighbors?" Will somebody tell me? Boon island appears to be where it was anchored in prehistoric times; the Shoals are but a few miles away, as usual; forts Constitution and McClary continue to indicate the possibilities of 1812. Let us step across the iron bridge, (for which my best tarpaulin shall be doffed when I meet the generous giver,) and go to the ocean-side where many remnants remain to remind me of the large-hearted men and women who lived here in my boyhood.

What man past middle life cannot remember "Old Father Seaward?" How many times Elder Mark Fernald, with the older members of his church, rode down to the peaceful farm cottage to hold their monthly conference meetings; the large family of stalwart sons have many descendants who cherish kindly memories of this spot. And farther round to the east, the Gerrish house and its walled garden, where, no doubt, the mother of one of the noblest governors New Hampshire ever had played in her childhood.

I might weary you by even the briefest outline of the noble men and women who have lived on this old island. I have no objection to all the improvements purchasers choose to make here, whether they come from Boston or Halifax; but the silly things regarding the island written of late are not to the taste of any descendant of those once dwelling here. I shall expect to hear yet that some enterprising man from the west has discovered Agamenticus!

It is very rare that a play has more than one or two strong characters nowadays. "Siberia" furnishes no less than seven: Sara, Nicholai, Marie, Jarakoff, Vera, Trolsky and Sparta.

Rockingham Lodge of Good Templars gave a very successful Box Party at their hall on Pleasant street Tuesday evening, it was largely attended, and all had a pleasant time, about $18.00 were realized from the sale of boxes.

Miss Bessie Tapley of Dover is visiting the family of Hon. John Laighton on Richards' avenue.

Mr. Henry A. Joy, who has for some time been in the employ of Frye & Co.'s express, has left that company and entered the service of the American express company as messenger between this city and Boston.

Pensions have been granted to the minor children of the late Christopher J. Marshall of this city.

The "lactart-champagne" advertised by Mr. John Laighton, No. 1 Market square, is a very pleasant temperance beverage manufactured by the Avery Lactate Co. of Boston, its basis being the acid of milk. It is a refreshing and palatable drink, the taste being not very dissimilar to that of "really" champagne—or what passes for such—and is guaranteed to be absolutely non-alcoholic.

Mrs. James D. Ackerman, a former resident of Portsmouth, died in Everett, Mass., on the evening of the 28th inst., after a long and painful illness. She will be remembered by many here as the oldest daughter of the late Hon. Jonathan Dearborn.

Mrs. Fanny Palmer Turner, widow of Rear Admiral Thomas Turner, U. S. N., died suddenly on Sunday, March 20th, at the residence of her son-in-law, H. W. Biddle of Paoli, Pa. Mrs. Turner was a resident of this city for several years, about thirty years ago, moving into a house on Daniel street from the navy yard, where her husband was on duty for three years previously.

Quite a considerable number of men were taken on in the department of construction and repair at the navy yard on Tuesday.

It was for a good many years asserted—and very loudly asserted, too—by the democrats of this region, that Kittery was really a democratic town at heart, and was only kept in the republican column by navy yard tyranny and corruption. The democracy have been running the navy yard in their own way for two years past, but the overwhelmingly democratic sentiment of Kittery, which was so long repressed by the unscrupulous republicans who managed the navy yard, does not seem to materialize to any marked degree, judging from the result of last Monday's election.

The Biddeford Journal in its Kittery items says: "Benjamin Keen is making repairs upon the schooner Traitor. The Traitor is to be commanded by Capt. Amee, and will soon be ready for the brick business."

"All's well that ends well." If you call to see the new gloves that are now offered by M. C. Foye you will probably see that it will benefit you to make a purchase. If they do not meet your expectations he will not urge you to buy, and you will be nothing out. There can be no harm in investigating this offer in any event. See advertisement.

A grocer in Dexter, Me., has hit upon a good scheme. He sells ten pounds of granulated sugar for fifty cents, but everybody to whom he gives this rare bargain, must buy a pound of fifty cent tea. It goes from one month to another, all through that part of the county, that "Blank is selling ten pounds of granulated sugar for fifty cents." What he loses on the sugar he more than gains on the tea. He clears about eleven cents in the joint transaction.

Rum-crazed Mary Condon attempted to kill her drunken husband in Lynn, Mass., on the night of March 26th.

The King of Sweden has written a drama in one act, which, it is believed, will do more to prevent the drinking of intoxicating liquors than all the performances of "Ten Nights in a Bar-room." Having only one act, scores of young men cannot run out two or three times during the performance to get a drink.

John Knepper, a resident of Ransom, Pa., for many years a conspicuous character in Luzerne county, died on the 23d inst., aged 108 years, one month and seventeen days. He was a native of Austria, and fought in the army of that country against Napoleon in the wars of 1797 and 1805.

March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N. Y.

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. All knew could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. H. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

TAYLOR & TAYLOR, Druggists, Frankfort, Kan.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED,

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, were positively cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

Choking Catarrh.

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your tightened chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the effort to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and filling the head with pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus all can testify who are afflicted with catarrh. How difficult to protect the system against its further progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all physicians will admit. It is a terrible disease, and cries out for relief and cure.

The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references.

Each packet contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRH SNUFF, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.00.

Exercising the "Demon of Pride."

A miller woman named Jallu had four children, two sons and two daughters. The elder daughter, Esther Jallu, was pretty and conscious of the fact. She had also some education, and was a great favorite in the village, where the other inmates of the mill were disliked and feared. One day her family began to assume that she was possessed of the demon of pride. There was an evil spirit in Esther's body, and the brothers Jallu declared to everybody that they would in some way drive it out. After ruminating upon the matter for some time they barred the doors of the mill, and, seizing their sister, threw her on the floor. One of them held her down while the other bored holes in her with an augur. The demon was to escape out of her body by these openings.

While the screams of the tortured girl were half drowned by the noise of millstones turning rapidly, two women—the mother and sister—were actually kneeling beside her praying for the success of the operation. Four holes were bored—one in the forehead, one in the body and one in each leg. Whether these ignorant peasants really imagined that they could thus drive the demon of pride out of their sister, or whether they premeditated the murder they committed, mattered very little for Esther, who, of course, died under the operation. The gendarmes were at once informed of the occurrence, and, the inmates of the mill having been seized, they were sent to a madhouse.—Paris Cor. London Standard.

American Dyed Sealskins.

It may be interesting to know that American art now excels foreign skill in the communication of the quality so essential to a handsome sealskin, namely, the dye. What was known as the London dye held the vantage ground for years, until a furrier in Albany elaborated a superior process. Of course he made an immense fortune. He kept the secret to himself so closely that he maintained a monopoly of the market. He died in the ordinary course, but the secret was imparted to his son a few years before his death, and is still exclusively employed by him.—Brooklyn Citizen.

I Had Faith.

About six months ago I was advised to consult Mr. Hall, the great Spiritualist doctor, to see if she could cure me of scrofula, a disease with which I had suffered greatly from childhood. She said if I would have faith in the medicines she gave me, that she could cure me. I took her medicine, and in less than three months I was cured. Why, the way the medicine worked was a miracle. I begged of her to tell me what the medicine was made of, but she said she could not do so. Finally she told me the medicine was Sulphur Bitters, and that she never knew it to fail in all such cases as mine.—Mrs. Clara Knowlton, 35 Hanover street, Boston, Mass.

It is proposed to hold an international conference of boards of trade at Montreal in June next, to discuss the commercial differences now existing between Canada and the United States.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he cannot go into society and he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and, frequently, entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best, if not the only real cure, for hay fever, rose cold and catarrh.

Extra Liability to Malarial Infection.

Persons whose blood is thin, digestion weak and liver sluggish, are extra-liable to the attacks of malarial disease. The most trifling exposure may, under such conditions, infect a system which, if healthy, would resist the miasmatic taint. The only way to secure immunity from malaria in localities where it is prevalent, is to tone and regulate the system by improving weakened digestion, enriching the blood, and giving a wholesome impetus to biliary secretion. These results are accomplished by nothing so effectively as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which long experience has proved to be the most reliable safeguard against fever and ague and kindred disorders, as well as the best remedy for them. The Bitters are, moreover, an excellent invigorant of the organs of urination, and an active depurent, eliminating from the blood those acrid impurities which originate rheumatic ailments.

Mrs. James Brown Potter made her debut as a professional actress at the Haymarket theatre, London, on the evening of March 29th, and was well received.

James Fyle's Pearline has indeed become an article of established value in domestic economy, and now is the time for every family to test it, for house-cleaning as well as for laundry purposes. A more useful article for housekeepers is not to be found, and they who neglect a trial of it deprive themselves of a great convenience. Sold by grocers generally, but see that counterfeits are not urged upon you.

Capt. Paul Boyton was recently rescued from a dangerous position by a passing steamer when taking a swim off Cape Henlopen in his rubber suit, adverse winds and an erratic compass making his attempts to reach shore of uncertain issue. He left a schooner at sea, intending to swim ashore, and was about twenty hours in the water before being picked up.

A Remedy for Chills and Fever.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 16, 1885.

Four years ago I contracted a hard cold that settled on my lungs. I had a severe chill, followed by high fever, raging headache, pain on my left side over the lung, and every time a fit of coughing came on, which was every few minutes, it was terrible to bear the pain. I thought it meant an attack of pneumonia, as I went through a two-month siege of that disease, and it came on just the same way. As it was night I thought I would wait until morning before sending for a doctor. Fortunately, a half-box of Allcock's Porous Plasters was found in the possession of a friend, who boarded with us. One of these was put on my throat; two on my chest, and one on my back over the left shoulder blade. I then had a hot foot bath. After again getting into bed, it seemed but a few minutes when all my symptoms were relieved; the skin became quickly moist; I coughed only at intervals, and then with very little effort, and in about an hour I was in a sound sleep, from which I did not awake until morning. I resumed business in two days. H. F. FLETCHER.

The members of the firm of Edmiston & Waddel, large dealers in carriages and agricultural implements at Williamsburg, New York, with their confidential clerk, Miss Howard, and all their books, have disappeared, leaving liabilities estimated at $800,000. I am an Old Man.

Shall be 79 years of age next June, and for the last six years have suffered from general debility and old age. At times I could not get out of bed without help. I commenced to take Sulphur Bitters. In a week I felt stronger and got a mighty fine appetite. I still continued their use, and to-day I walked over three miles without feeling tired, something I haven't done in five years before. Sulphur Bitters is a right smart medicine.—George Brown, Keokuk, Iowa.

CANTATAS FOR FLOWER TIME!

Teachers of Juvenile Singing Classes do not need to be told of the intense interest and enthusiasm which attends the bringing out of a new CANTATA. The following are new, bright, pretty and easily given. Commence in time to prepare them.

VOICES OF NATURE. Operetta. N. B. Sargent.

FOREST JUBILEE BAND. N. B. Sargent.

NEW FLORA'S FESTIVAL. Bradbury. Arranged by J. C. Johnson.

MERRY COMPANY, or Cadets' Picnic. Collin Coe.

Price of each book, 40 cts., or $3.60 per doz.

The first two books are by a nature and music-lover, who fills them with very sweet songs of birds, flowers, insects, etc. Flora's Festival, doubled in size, and with minute directions, will surely be a success, as will, in another way, the "MERRY COMPANY."

Our new edition of VOICES OF PRAISE (40 cts., or $4.20 per doz.) by Rev. C. L. Hutchins, is cordially commended to all who wish a Sunday School Song Book of the highest character.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

ST. JAMES' SUNDAY MORNING.

The solemn church bell pealing on the ear,
In brazen accents seem to say,
"Come stricken heart and find your solace here,
Come, sinner; come and pray."

And fast they come arrayed in fashion's pride,
In silks and satins shimmering gorgeously;
To lay the burdens of the week aside
And bow the suppliant knee.

If one could for the moment stand aloof
Impersonal, with power to read the stream
Of thoughts uprising toward that lofty roof,
How wondrous strange 't would seem.

Fair Nellie, hoping she won't get too stout,
Her father scheming to increase his hoard,
While over all the preacher's voice rings out,
"Hear us, good Lord."

While Charlie prays the tailor will give time,
Maud sighs for gowns she knows she can't afford
And Helen hopes that flirting is no sin.
"Hear us, good Lord."

Some wish for luxuries and some for love,
Some for revenge, some only sigh for rest,
Some fix their souls upon the realms above,
Some laugh and jest.

I often wonder does the preacher know
What lies behind that mask of seriousness
Upturned before him, placid, row on row.
I wonder does he guess?

Well, I myself have little cause for pride,
For following aimlessly this idle dream
Instead of listening, rapt and eager eyed,
Unto the preacher's theme.

The benediction finished, we arise.
Let's vow while going to our several dinners
To try to be, so far as in us lies,
A decent lot of miserable sinners.

WOMEN SOLDIERS CAPTURE A SPY.

The Exploit of a Band of Female Mexicans During Maximilian's Regime.

Aside from the class of females commonly known as camp followers, who share the fortunes of war without leave or license, the Mexican government permits a limited number of respectable married women to accompany each regiment to cook and wash for the soldiers. These women are regularly enrolled as soldaderas (female soldiers), and admirably they bear the fatigues of camp life and long marches. That they are not bad warriors in their way the following story is proof:

During Maximilian's regime, when European forces were in possession of the Mexican capital, and President Juarez, with his cabinet and guard, were trying to make their way to Paso del Norte, he and his counselors had halted one day in a wayside grove to hold an important conference. Juarez was seated on a rock with the statesmen grouped around him and the military escort on guard. The old poet, Guilormo Prieto, who was a member of the cabinet, had just arisen to state his opinion on a momentous subject, when the solemn conclave was interrupted by shouts of laughter, mingled with oaths and threats in French and Spanish.

All sprang to their feet, and the captain of the guard, followed by his men, rushed to the quarter whence the sounds proceeded. Presently they returned bringing four soldaderas, who bore upon their shoulders a Frenchman whom they had captured. Believing him to be a spy they first enticed him with cunning flattery, and then hastily binding him hand and foot with their rebosas, had carried him over three miles despite his kicks and struggles. When the women deposited their prisoner at the feet of the president the elder soldadera excused herself for the failure of her proposed foraging expedition, saying:

"Senor Presidente, we thought this Frenchman might have papers which your excellency would prize more than a fat turkey or a young pig."

True enough, on the person of the spy was found a communication from the commander-in-chief of the imperial forces to the commander of the neighboring garrison, stating that Juarez and his cabinet would probably pass in that vicinity, and accompanying this intelligence was the formal order: "Shoot every Mexican rebel taken in arms against the imperial government of his majesty Maximilian I."—Mexico Cor. Philadelphia Record.

Bears in Alaska.

The bears around Icy bay live off of berries and roots, supplemented on the meat side of the diet with an occasional seal that they find "hauled up" on the sandy beach, sunning himself and whose retreat they strategically cut off by a well arranged plan of bear tactics. The river emptying into this Icy bay (the whole western shore of which is the frowning front of an immense glacier), debouching as they do from the ice, contains but few fish, and this deprives the bears of this region of one of their main and steadfast supplies, during the spring and summer season, in all other parts of Alaska. The bears, black and brown, then seek the rivers and streams, up which the lucious fish ascend to spawn, and readily gain a living, without the trouble of much effort.

Their great protection at this season of the year is found in the poor and even tainted quality of their meat, owing to the fact that they are not overly delicate in choosing between fresh fish just caught from the stream and those that have died on their way up the creeks and rivers, and have been thrown out on the bank for a number of days, until they take up that odor so peculiar to decaying fish. The huge brown bear is a less active animal, and consequently a poorer fisherman than his smaller brother of the black species. He is, therefore, more content to live on the fish he finds so conveniently strewn along the shores of the stream that he prospects, and this accounts to a great extent for the greater offensiveness of his meat, whenever a hunter is lucky enough in securing him.—Lieut. Schwatka in American Field.

No less than 135 tons of amber have been dug up in Prussia the past year. The Fahrenicken mines produced nearly half.

The Late Dr. J. G. Holland's Opinion.

A Physician Climbing the Editorial Stairs.

The columns of the newspapers appear to be flooded with proprietary medicine advertisements. As we cast our eye over them, it brings to mind an article that was published by the late Dr. Holland in Scribner's Monthly. He says: "Nevertheless, it is a fact that many of the best proprietary medicines of the day were more successful than many physicians, and most of them, it should be remembered, where at first discovered or used in actual medicial practice. When, however, any shrewd person, knowing their virtue, and foreseeing their popularity, secures and advertises them, then, in the opinion of the bigoted, all virtue went out of them."

Is not this absurd? This great man appreciated the real merits of popular remedies, and the absurdity of those that derided them because public attention was called to the article and the evidence of their cure. If the most noted physician should announce that he had made a study of any certain organ or disease of the body, or make his sign larger than the code size, though he may have practised medicine and been a leader in all medical counsels, notwithstanding all this, if he should presume to advertise and decline to give his discovery to the public, he would be pronounced a quack and a humbug, although he may have spent his entire life and all his available funds in perfecting his investigations. Again we say "absurd."

If an ulcer is found upon one's arm, and is cured by some dear soul of a grandmother, outside of the code, it will be pronounced by the medical profession an ulcer of little importance. But if treated under the code, causing sleepless nights for a month, with the scientific treatment, viz., plasters, washes, dosing with morphine, arsenic and other vile substances, given to prevent blood poisoning or deaden pain, and yet the ulcer becomes malignant, and amputation is made necessary at last, to save life, yet all done according to the "isms" of the medical code, this is much more gratifying to the medical profession, and adds more dignity to that distinguished order than to be cured by the dear old grandmother's remedy.

This appears like a severe arraignment, yet we believe that it expresses the true standing of the medical profession in regard to remedies discovered outside of their special "isms." One of the most perplexing things of the day is the popularity of certain remedies, especially Warner's safe cure, which we find for sale everywhere. The physician of the highest standing is ready to concede its merits and sustain the theories the proprietors have made—that is, that it benefits in most of the ailments of the human system because it assists in putting the kidneys in proper condition, thereby aiding in throwing off the impurities of the blood, while others with less honesty and experience deride, and are willing to see their patient die scientifically, and according to the code, rather than have him cured by this great remedy. Yet we notice that the popularity of the medicine continues to grow year by year. The discoverer comes boldly before the people with its merits, and proclaims them from door to door in our opinion much more honorably than the physicians who, perchance, may secure a patient from some catastrophe, and is permitted to set a bone of an arm or a finger, which he does with great dignity, yet very soon after takes the liberty to climb the editor's back stairs at 2 o'clock in the morning to have it anounced in the morning paper that "Dr. So-and-so was in attendance," and thus secures for his benefit a beautiful and free advertisment. We shall leave it to our readers to say which is the wisest and most honorable.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Reform with a Big "R."

A Washington organ of the administration announces as the reason for the delay in appointing a secretary of the treasury, the president's desire to give Mr. Manning an opportunity to draw the salary attached to the office as long as possible. It is well known that Mr. Manning is not a man of large means, but it will be a surprise to most people to hear that a "Reform" president, who is so conscientious when it comes to vetoing a pension bill which proposes to give a pittance of $8 a month to some poor fellow, should consent to see his secretary of the treasury draw for weeks the salary of his office after his resignation has virtually gone into effect and he is off on a pleasure trip to Europe. What a howl of indignation would have arisen if such a thing had happened in the days when the republican party was in power! And it occurs, too, at a time when the president is constantly enjoining upon the auditors and comptrollers of the treasury department the necessity of a closer scrutiny of the public accounts. Verily, this is the age of true "reform," —of the democratic brand.

The Coming Cutter.

The New York yacht club has formally accepted the challenge of the owner of the Scotch cutter Thistle for the America's cup, but without acceding to his suggestion that the championship shall be decided by five races instead of the customary three trials. It is therefore determined that the coming season will see a series of contests fully equal in interest to those of 1885 and 1886, and even with a greater spice of uncertainty, for the measurements of the Scotch yacht, which have just been received, indicate a far more powerful boat than either the Genesta or the Galatea, and one, moreover, which has dangerous points of resemblance to our best American models. The Thistle will be the largest racing cutter afloat, and it is no slight compliment to the progress of American ideas to find in the proportions of this craft a distinct concession to the theories upon which our fast yachts are constructed. This latest product of the Clyde shipyards is, in fact, a compromise cutter, in waterline length equal to the Mayflower, yet only three feet less in beam and only four feet greater depth. She is a tribute to the excellence of American models, and seems built for better luck than the typical cutters that have preceded her in the quest for the cup.

The following are among the recent real estate transfers in York county, as left for record in the office of the register of deeds: Kittery—Reuben Randall to Henry F. Marden, real estate for $5; Porter R. Emery to Abbey A. Call, real estate for $400; John Seaward (by admx.) of Kittery to John S. Rand of Portsmouth, N. H., land on Gerrish island for $200; John S. Hodsdon of South Boston, Mass., real estate in Wells for $125; Samuel Parsons to Lincoln L. Maxwell, real estate for $70; William G. Eaton et al., of Wells, to Frank M. Clement of Portland, real estate in Wells for $100.

At the late election in Eliot the following-named gentlemen were elected town officers: Clerk, George E. Ireland; selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, Timothy Dame, John L. Jencks and Andrew P. Fernald; treasurer, Frank E. Liebman; collector, Andrew P. Brooks; supervisor of schools, Dr. John L. M. Willis; agent, George A. Hammond; constable, James M. Raitt; auditors, Horace Parker and Leonard P. Foster. Three hundred dollars were appropriated for a free high school.

Dr. Andrew Jackson Grant, the alleged swindler and bigamist, whose matrimonial exploits at Old Orchard, Dover, Rye beach and the White mountains made him famous, and who is now in the East Cambridge, Mass., jail awaiting trial, recently wrote to a citizen of Clayton, N. J., named Turner, whom he requested to come to Cambridge. Grant during the interview that followed, begged Turner to aid him in obtaining bail. He said that he was broken down in spirit and in body, and could not much longer endure the confinement to which he is now subject. He did not hesitate to say that he would commit suicide should an opportunity offer.

A very handsome monument is being made at the marble works of Hon. John S. Treat, for the lot of the late C. C. Jackson in the south cemetery.

The schooner Triumph, 105 tons register, which is to engage in the provincial fishery protection service, was launched at Shelburne, Nova Scotia, March 29th. She will be commanded by Captain Sorway of the cruiser Houlette, which goes out of commission. The Houlette has been on duty along the coast of Nova Scotia for several months past. The Triumph will be substituted for her at once.

A fire-proof hotel is to be built on the site of the burned Richmond hotel in Buffalo, N. Y. This will not restore to life the fifteen victims of the old fire-trap.

RUSHING TO DEATH

in the attempt to swim the Niagara Whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is specially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer grip until at last the agony is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. MRS. A. H. VESEY.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. DUDLEY GILMAN.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros.

B. F. ARTHUR & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary M. Hanscom, wife of Alpheus A. Hanscom, Esq., editor of the Times, passed to her rest on Tuesday evening, March 29th, in the 67th year of her age. Mrs. Hanscom, whose maiden name was Hayes, was married when twenty-three years old, in September, 1843, to Mr. Hanscom, who was then editor of the Maine Democrat, of Saco. Four children, two sons and two daughters, were born to them; the daughters are both living, Julia, the elder, being the wife of Mr. O. J. Corson of Manchester, and Mary, the youngest of the family, residing with her father; the sons died in infancy. For many years Mrs. Hanscom has been in feeble health, but her naturally cheerful disposition and an abiding faith in the goodness of God not only enabled her to bear it with uncomplaing patience, but to be the centre of happiness in her home circle—to enjoy life, and aid others to enjoy it.

To our brother editor, deprived by death of the present companionship of one who for more than an average lifespan has been his loving and beloved partner, we can only extend our sincere sympathy.

THE MINSTREL SHOW TO-NIGHT.

This evening, at Music hall, Barlow Bros. & Frost's minstrels will give an entertainment which will delight all lovers of minstrelsy. The Barlow brothers are able to give a good show all by themselves, and besides them the company includes a large number of specialists who are unsurpassed in their respective lines. Reserved seat tickets can be secured at Goodrich's.

TWO MORE EVENINGS.

There was another good audience at Music hall Wednesday evening, when the Helene Adell company performed the new comedy-drama "The Rainbow." The piece was very well received, though we do not consider it by any means the best the company produces, Miss Adell's part not giving the scope for her abilities afforded by the characters of Eugenia De Morney or Vere Herbert. By special arrangement, the company will remain here Friday and Saturday, the attraction for Friday evening being the great Irish comedy "The Colleen Bawn."

SIBERIA.

The company belonging to "Siberia," notwithstanding the fact that they have been playing in it for four years, are required to rehearse the whole play every two weeks. A careless rendering is thus corrected or averted. At Music hall next Monday evening; tickets on sale to-day at Goodrich's.

MARITIME NOTES.

The fishing schooner Franklin S. Schenck, in the four days ending Tuesday, March 29th, stocked $660. This vessel, after paying all bills the present season, has shared among her crew very nearly $340 per man. She has been one of the most successful schooners fishing out of this port this winter.

The first schooner to arrive at Dover this season was the Clara B. Kennard, Freeman master, which went up on Tuesday, March 29th, with a cargo of lime from Rockland for Converse & Hammond.

The Fall River Line between Boston and New York announces the resumption of Sunday trips, beginning on April 3d. The steamers will leave New York at five P. M., as on week days. From Boston the connecting boat train will leave at seven P. M., an hour later than on week days.

It is reported that E. Newton & Co. will buy fish here this summer for splitting, occupying the old railroad wharf.

Commodore Smith of the New York yacht club has received the official challenge of James Bell of the Royal Cork yacht club, in favor of the new Scotch cutter Thistle to compete for the America cup. Mr. Bell requests the racing committee to agree upon a date as early in October as possible. The Thistle is said to be a cutter of the first class. Her dimensions are quoted as being 93 feet over all, 80 feet on the water line, 20 feet 3 1-10 inches beam, and a depth of 14 feet 1-10 inch. Her lines are unusually fine, and she is built entirely of steel.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., March 29th.

The ladies of the 2d Methodist society will give an "Orange tea party" in Trefethen hall on Friday evening, April 8th. The entertainment will consist of singing, reading, piano solos, and selections by the "Glee quartette;" a laughable farce entitled "Dolly Varden" will be presented; and the whole will close with a tableau. Oranges will be served in all ways during the evening.

Rev. Eugene E. Colburn has commenced a course of nine Sunday evening lectures; subject, "Joseph."

Edward G. Parker Post 99, G. A. R., will hold a grand fair in Trefethen hall on Thursday and Friday evenings, April 14th and 15th. The attractions will be a drama entitled "Comrades," accompanied with instrumental music; and a quartette who will sing some of the war songs of '61 and '64. Refreshments will be served at the tables.

The annual meeting of district No. 7 (the Austin district) was held Monday evening last. Ethan Locke was chosen agent, and William Locke clerk, for the ensuing year.

Geo. M. Shannon, son of Geo. H. Shannon, foreman teamster at the navy yard, died in Portsmouth on Sunday, the 27th inst., after a short illness of hemorarhge of the lungs, aged thirty-three years.

SUB ROSA.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

The Boston & Maine railroad bridge over the Salmon Falls river, between Salmon Falls and South Berwick, Me., is to be replaced by a new one, either of stone or iron, as soon as the work can be done.

In the lower house of the Massachusetts legislature, on March 29th, a bill was reported to authorize the Eastern railroad to issue $900,000 of twenty-year six per cent bonds.

The Boston & Maine railroad will at once put in a new draw at the Noble's island bridge.

Both branches of the city government meet this evening. Stand from under.

See advertisement of house, lot and store for sale by Mr. Joseph P. Morse, to be disposed of before April 1st.

The old house on the corner of Atkinson and Charles streets was sold at auction on the 30th inst. for $300, the purchaser being a Mrs. Dunphy.

Nine carpenters were "taken on" the navy yard Wednesday, March 30th. Eight of them were republicans, and the ninth half and half.

Depositions in the case of Benjaman Moulton, of York, vs. the Boston & Maine corporation, for injury to a horse, caused by a defect in the Portsmouth bridge, in November, 1885, were taken Wednesday, March 30th, by George E. Hodgdon, Esq., at the office of S. W. Emery, Esq., counsel for the plaintiff. J. S. H. Frink, Esq., for defendant.

Steam fire engine No. 4 has been sent to Manchester to have a new boiler put in.

Machinery was being moved into the new building of the Portsmouth Shoe company on Wednesday.

Mr. Henry L. Harlow has re-organized his orchestra for the coming season at the hotel Wentworth. It will consist of the usual number of performers, but they will be selected with unusual care. There will be five special soloists.

Fifty Frenchmen from Sherbrooke, Canada, came down over the Concord & Portsmouth railroad Wednesday morning, March 30th, and an equal or larger number of Italians arrived by the eleven o'clock train from Boston, all being under engagement to go to work on the York Harbor & Beach railroad.

The St. Mary's Benevolent association will give their regular annual ball on the evening of Easter Monday, April 11th, in Franklin hall.

The rather dilapidated-looking building on the corner of Charles and Atkinson streets, which was sold by auction on the 30th inst. by Mr. Joseph P. Morse, the oldest auctioneer in the city in length of service, is one of the oldest buildings in the city, having been erected 151 years ago. It is lined from the foundation up, between the outer boarding and the inner walls, with bricks, which, as well as those of which the chimney is composed, were brought from England.

James W. Sowersby, baker, of this city, has engaged to supply several of the contractors for the construction of the York Harbor & Beach railroad with bread for their gangs of workmen.

The Portsmouth Athletic club have engaged every hall and every available room in Franklin block for the accommodation and convenience of those who attend their concert and ball on the evening of Fast day, April 14th.

There was a lively footrace Tuesday afternoon, the 29th inst., near Water street, between the captain of a fishing schooner and a bailiff who desired to collect a bill from him. The sailor-man gave an exhibition of speed which would have shamed the Dauntless when she was making 338 miles in a day, and got on board his vessel; but he was followed aboard by the officer, who succeeded in collecting the bill before he came ashore.

A flock of about twenty wild geese alighted in the lower harbor above Fort point on Monday afternoon of this week. A number of shootists started out from the Newcastle and Kittery shores in boats to give the feathered visitors a cordial reception, but they declined the proposed attention and flew away toward Great bay, not leaving behind the making of even a single pot-pie.

Gus Lundstrom of New York will accept a challenge from Beckwith, the English swimmer, for a long distance swimming match for $1000 a side. Beckwith is the professional swimmer who, with his sister, another professional, gave very interesting natatorial exhibitions in the dock at Commercial wharf several years ago, at the time the swift excursion steamers Sirius and Taurus were making daily trips between Boston and this city.

March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N. Y.

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors

Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

P. S. WHITLINGER, Leechburg, Pa.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1876 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. My limbs could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. H. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

TAYLOR & TAYLOR, Druggists, Frankfort, Kan.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED,

And Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are positively cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them because of their prompt remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

Do Birds Fly Down?

I see, in a back number of St. Nicholas, that one of your young correspondents appeals partly to me in regard to birds flying down. But all who have written seem so well posted that I doubt if I can add anything to their knowledge.

However, I have seen California quail, a wood dove and a humming bird flying downward; but in slow flyers, with large wings and heavy bodies, the wings are used more or less as parachutes in going down; in other words, the birds spread their wings and rely upon gravity. This I have noticed in the sand hill cranes in their migrations along the Sierra Madres. A flock of my 100 will mount upward in a beautiful spiral, flashing in the sunlight, all the while uttering loud, discordant notes, until they attain an altitude of nearly a mile above the sea level. Then they form in regular lines, and soar away at an angle that in five miles or so will bring them within 1,000 feet of the earth. Then they stop, and begin the spiral upward movement again until a high elevation is reached, when away they go again, sliding down hill in the air, toward their winter home. It is very evident that a vast amount of muscular exertion is saved in this way. In some of these slides that I have watched through a glass, birds would pass from three to four miles, I should judge, without flapping the wings.—St. Nicholas.

The Englishman and His Bath.

The Englishman's conception of a bath is to have a gallon of ice cold water covering the bottom of a huge circular pan, six feet or so in circumference and about eight inches high. He stands or squats in this after he gets out of bed in the morning and splashes and rubs himself with a prodigious puffing and blowing. This is a rite as sacred to him as are his ablutions to a Mussulman. All other kinds of washing he regards with haughty contempt. Wherever he goes he demands his cold water and his round flat tub, and if they are not forthcoming he sees at once that it will be impossible for him to respect these people or refrain from abusing them when he gets home. Here in London it is as much as your social life is worth to confess that you don't splash yourself with ice water every morning.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he cannot go into society and he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and, frequently, entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best, if not the only real cure, for hay fever, rose cold and catarrh.

I Had Faith.

About six months ago I was advised to consult Mr. Hall, the great Spiritualist doctor, to see if she could cure me of scrofula, a disease with which I had suffered greatly from childhood. She said if I would have faith in the medicines she gave me, that she could cure me. I took her medicine, and in less than three months I was cured. Why, the way the medicine worked was a miracle. I begged of her to tell me what the medicine was made of, but she said she could not do so. Finally she told me the medicine was Sulphur Bitters, and that she never knew it to fail in all such cases as mine.—Mrs. Clara Knowlton, 35 Hanover street, Boston, Mass.

Extra Liability to Malarial Infection.

Persons whose blood is thin, digestion weak and liver sluggish, are extra-liable to the attacks of malarial disease. The most trifling exposure may, under such conditions, infect a system which, if healthy, would resist the miasmatic taint. The only way to secure immunity from malaria in localities where it is prevalent, is to tone and regulate the system by improving weakened digestion, enriching the blood, and giving a wholesome impetus to biliary secretion. These results are accomplished by nothing so effectively as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which long experience has proved to be the most reliable safeguard against fever and ague and kindred disorders, as well as the best remedy for them. The Bitters are, moreover, an excellent invigorant of the organs of urination, and an active depurent, eliminating from the blood those acrid impurities which originate rheumatic ailments.

A dispatch from Lebanon says that section of the state is excited over the elopement of a prosperous young physician, Dr. Frank C. Manchester, of Enfield, with Miss May Marvin, who for some months has resided in the town. The young doctor is well connected, a graduate from Dartmouth, and leaves a wife who for some time would not believe the stories told of her husband, although the evidence against him was of a confirming character.

James Pyle's Pearline has indeed become an article of established value in domestic economy, and now is the time for every family to test it, for house-cleaning as well as for laundry purposes. A more useful article for housekeepers is not to be found, and they who neglect a trial of it deprive themselves of a great convenience. Sold by grocers generally, but see that counterfeits are not urged upon you.

A despatch from Lawrence, Mass., says: "Lawrence O'Connor, a bright young man nineteen years of age, died at Lawrence yesterday morning from blood poisoning caused by smoking cigarettes. He smoked excessively, and his system became impregnated with the poisonous matter of the wrappers." A mighty bright young man he must have been, indeed, to smoke cigarettes; if he had to smoke, he had much better have smoked tobacco.

Four hundred of the masons, bricklayers, carpenters, plumbers and other laborers employed in the erection of the extensive addition to the Equitable building in New York, went on strike March 30th. The strike was caused by the employment of two non-union men to put up electric wires. Walking delegates went through the building ordering the rest to quit work.

I am an Old Man.

Shall be 79 years of age next June, and for the last six years have suffered from general debility and old age. At times I could not get out of bed without help. I commenced to take Sulphuur Bitters. In a week I felt stronger and got a mighty fine appetite. I still continued their use, and to-day I walked over three miles without feeling tired, something I haven't done in five years before. Sulphur Bitters is a right smart medicine.—George Brown, Keokuk, Iowa.

CANTATAS FOR FLOWER TIME!

Teachers of Juvenile Singing Classes do not need to be told of the intense interest and enthusiasm which attends the bringing out of a new CANTATA. The following are new, bright, pretty and easily given. Commence in time to prepare them.

VOICES OF NATURE. Operetta. N. B. Sargent.
FOREST JUBILEE BAND. N. B. Sargent.
NEW FLORA'S FESTIVAL. Bradbury. Arranged by J. C. Johnson.
MERRY COMPANY, or Cadets' Picnic. Collin Coe.

Price of each book, 40 cts., or $3.60 per doz.

The first two books are by a nature and music lover, who fills them with very sweet songs of birds, flowers, insects, etc. Flora's Festival, doubled in size, and with minute directions, will surely be a success, as will, in another way, the "MERRY COMPANY."

Our new edition of VOICES OF PRAISE (40 cts., or $4.20 per doz.) by Rev. C. L. Hutchins, is cordially commended to all who wish a Sunday School Song Book of the highest character.

Schools, Academies and Seminaries are always safe in adopting the carefully compiled School Song Books of Ditson & Co. We recommend for the higher schools, SONG GREETING (60 cts.) and ROYAL SINGER (60 cts.), for grammar schools, SONG BELLS (60 cts.), and for primary schools, GEMS FOR LITTLE SINGERS (30 cts.)

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

A Bicycle Rider's Training.

When asked what course of training a bicycle rider undergoes a prominent bicyclist said:

"In our training we take plenty of hard exercise and eat nothing but light food. It is not safe to eat any kind of vegetables or to drink coffee. Rare beef, beef tea, oatmeal gruel, raw oysters and rare eggs constitute most of our diet. In a long race the second and third days are the hardest. Then the muscles of the ankles and legs are all contracting with the continued short leg motion. At the last of a race we ride a much shorter wheel than when we began. Warm baths and dry rubbing, followed by liniment baths, keep us up during the race. A crowd and the excitement has much to do with the speed. People and applause make fast riding.

"After the race our legs are short and stiff and it takes at least two weeks to get back to one's natural condition and shape. The exercise is all in the lower parts of the legs and back. Our arms are used, but not strengthened much. A fifty mile race is more tiresome, but not as lasting in its effects."—New York Journal.

Natural Gas a Nuisance in 1827.

In 1827 there lived in Washington county a farmer by the name of McCook, an uncle of the famous Gen. Anson G. McCook, the present secretary of the United States senate. McCook's farm was situated on the old national pike, eight or ten miles out of Brownsville. In attempting to dig a well a short distance back from the pike, he struck a large flow of natural gas. This by accident became ignited, and the flame it gave forth scared the horses passing on the pike and many runaways occurred. This went on for some time until the authorities in that section passed an ordinance stigmatizing it as a nuisance and compelling McCook to suppress it as such, which he did. Thus what the citizens of Pittsburg now consider the greatest discovery of the Nineteenth century, just half a century ago the citizens of Washington county considered the greatest nuisance.—Pittsburg Times.

A Mother's Love Illustrated.

Ours is always a wonderful baby. I confess to a sensation of chagrin when a young mother does not confess this directly or indirectly. In some one particular, if not in all, he resembles no other child ever born, and surpasses the rest of the infant creation.

Many years ago I witnessed an illustration of this vicarious vanity that shocked my girlish sense of fitness, but which I recall now with reverence. A neighbor's child was, as the old wives insisted, "marked" by a snake on which the mother trod in the garden one day before it was born. The recollection of the deformed baby lent an awful fascination to "Elsie Verner" when I read it twenty years afterward. She was an idiot girl, and had never walked when she died at the age of 6. Her skin was covered with scales, her head was flat, her eyes were narrow and black. Chancing to call at the house one day. I saw the poor little thing—usually screened from curious eyes—roll and wiggle across the floor to the mother's feet, and grasping her dress, laugh up in her face. Such a laugh! The cleft tongue shot out with a hiss; the forehead receded entirely under the low forelock; the eyes gleamed—the whole effect was indiscribably revolting. And the mother, a handsome woman in her prime, caught up the animate horror, covered her with kisses, and called her the "dearest, loveliest rose bud ever made!"—Marion Harland in Inter Ocean.

The London Old Lady.

I came away from the great city with the feeling that this most complex product of civilization was nowhere else developed in such perfection. The octogenarian Londoner has been in society—let us say the highest society—all her days. She is as tough as an old macaw, or she would not have lasted so long. She has seen and talked with all the celebrities of three generations, all the beauties of at least half a dozen decades. Her wits have been kept bright by constant use, and as she is free of speech it requires some courage to face her. Yet nobody can be more agreeable, even to young persons, than one of these precious old dowagers. A young beauty is almost certainly thinking how she looks when one is talking with her; an authoress is waiting to have one praise her book; but a grand old lady, who loves London society, who lives in it, who understands young people and all sorts of people, with her high colored recollections of the past and her grand maternal interests in the new generation, is the best of companions, especially over a cup of tea just strong enough to stir up her talking ganglions.—Dr. Holmes in Atlantic Monthly.

Wealth in Nickel.

With the mother's consent I tempted the child with a shining coin, whose intrinsic value was in no way commensurate with its attractive exterior. She was but a mite of a thing, three or four years old; but she knew to the fraction of a cent the purchasing value of the token.

"What will you buy with it, Mary?" the mother asked.

"One cent—milk; one cent—rolls; two cent—lasses!"——

She paused, not so much for breath—though she was panting with pleased anticipation—but because she had already compassed all the objects of her desire. Her imagination did not rise to the full measure of a nickel. You, sir, say that you have a daughter of this tender age. Is the horoscope of her fancy limited to five such tiny stars as these?—Chicago Herald.

There are fifty-one active volcanoes in Japan. This accounts for the multitude of hot springs in that country.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

An Interesting Experiment.

Stockton, the county seat of Books county, Kansas, a wide-awake city of the second class, is carving its way to national fame by the novel manner in which it is treating the new municipal suffrage law. The men have agreed to give the women a chance to make a supreme test of their ability to deal with public affairs; and in order to do this have stepped aside, and will simply watch the result of the trial. The entire city ticket—mayor, councilmen, etc., is composed of ladies, who were unanimously nominated to the position.

Stockton is on the south fork of Solomon river, and has lately voted to build waterworks. The handling of this important matter will be left to the women, who will have to let all contracts, see that contractors perform their work properly, pay off the men and supervise things generally. The city is on the central branch of a Missouri Pacific line that is likely to be extended this year, and they will have an opportunity to grapple with the railroad question among other things. In short, the municipal government is to be handed entirely over to the ladies, and everybody will watch with eager interest the result of an experiment that is without parallel in the history of modern times, or ancient times either.

The Stockton ladies may prove to be not able to run the affairs of their city well; but let them do their worst they can never so misgovern Stockton as the men have New York and Chicago, and many minor cities.

The Massachusetts S. P. C. A.

At the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, March 29th, President Angell's report showed that 4897 complaints of cruelty had been dealt with during the year. The whole number of branches is 5516, with over 400,000 members. The annual income of the society from invested funds is less than $2500, and its work can be indefinitely extended when larger funds are given. The officers of last year were unanimously re-elected. It was voted that the president be authorized to offer $200 in prizes for evidence to convict of violation of laws for the protection of birds, and a similar amount for evidence to convict for dog fighting or cock fighting.

New Hampshire Patents.

The following list of patents granted March 29th, to citizens of New Hampshire, is specially reported by Franklin H. Hough, solicitor of American and foreign patents, 925 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C.:

Geo. D. Burton, New Ipswich, Stockcar.

Thos. F. Carroll, Laconia, and S. J. Gilley, Gonic, Check-rein holder.

W. E. Clough, Concord, Cutting apparatus for mowers.

F. M. Edmunds, Franklin Falls, Screen g'eaner for paper-machines.

The whole number of patents granted to citizens of the United States for the week ending March 29th was 410.

How to be Happy the Rest of the Year.

BOSTON, March 31.—A new month begins to-day, and in order to pass the balance of the year happily you should begin to read the Boston Globe daily if you do not do so at present. A new story, "The Yoke of the Thorah," by Sidney Luska, begins in the Boston Daily Globe Saturday next, and will run seven or eight weeks. This new story is to be the literary event of the season, and all Boston, is anxiously awaiting it. The Boston Globe is the best paper in the world for the ladies and young people.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

The truss of the railroad bridge at Noble's island which swings to allow the passage of vessels, and which was recently discovered to have become weakened by age and the rusting of some of its iron work, has been strengthened, pending the making of a new truss, by driving piles at each side, and placing cap timbers across from side to side under the lower chord of the truss, so as to take the major part of the weight of a passing train.

The Boston & Maine railroad, since leasing the Eastern and its connections, has overhauled and renumbered 110 of the 115 locomotives used on what is now the "Eastern division," and has given each one a name as well as a new number, the Eastern road having abolished the use of names for engines some years before the virtual consolidation was accomplished. The other five engines have been condemned, and will be tossed on the scrap heap.

Joshua Bradley, for more than thirty years baggage master at the Boston & Maine railroad station at Exeter, and for more than fifty years a faithful employe of the road, died at Exeter Thursday morning, March 30th, aged seventy years. He leaves a wife.

At Lewiston, Me., March 29th, a little boy six years old, named Honaire Bergeron, while on his way to school was run over by a Maine Central train at a street crossing, and killed.

The interstate commerce law threatens to contract the development of railways in the west, and cattle raisers in that section are bitterly complaining of the new live stock rates, which will, they claim, take away all margin of profit. The main support of the law came from the west and south, but the result of its passage seems likely to be of the most benefit to the grain and cattle raisers, and the manufacturers, of the east.

"Spalding's Official Base Ball Guide for 1887" has been issued by A. G. Spalding & Bros. of New York and Chicago; price ten cents; for sale by newsdealers. It contains an immense amount of information interesting to lovers of the national game, including the complete official league record for 1886, the new code of playing rules, etc.

Jefferson Yoke, eighteen years old, was murdered near Shenandoah, Pa., May 27th, 1870. Charles Fredericks of Nescopee has just confessed on his death-bed that Michael Hertzol shot Yoke, and that he, Fredericks, robbed the unfortunate young man of $16. They supposed he had a large amount of money. Hertzol was arrested on the 30th ult.

The evidence introduced at Sioux City, Ia., leaves but little doubt that it was John Arensdorf who murdered Rev. Mr. Haddock, because the latter had made himself obnoxious to roughs and rum-sellers.

The gold brick swindlers are beginning to find victims even in the land of gold. Two of them recently did a Los Angeles real estate agent out of $1,700 by the threadbare scheme.

The governor and council of Maine on Wednesday, March 30th, voted to commute the punishment of Mrs. Thomas Barrows of Kittery, sentenced to be hung this month, to imprisonment for life.

At a recent entertainment in Dover five boys made themselves "fresh" by slinging around among the audience small nails discharged from catapults. They were arrested, and after a long examination two of them were discharged, one sent to jail for twenty days, and two sent to jail for thirty days. The catapult will not be a popular toy in Dover hereafter.

The stocking and yarn factory managers of Manchester have agreed to manufacture the stockings and one cardigan jocket for each member of Manager Leonard's base-ball nine, free of expense to the club.

RUSHING TO DEATH

in the attempt to swim the Niagara Whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is specially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer grip until at last the agony is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. MRS. A. H. VESEY.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. DUDLEY GILMAN.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros. B. F. ARTHUR & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, March 31st, Mayor Eldredge in the chair:

Present the full board.

Petition for a street light on Broad street was referred to the committee on streets lights.

Request of the New Hampshire Telephone & Telegraph Co. for permission to erect poles on the streets, was referred to the committee on streets, with the mayor added.

Petition of E. S. Fay to have proper numbers designated for his new block on Penhallow street, was referred to the committee on streets.

Petition of Wm. Keefe and others, asking the board to instruct the Western Union Telegraph Co. to remove from Penhallow street three telegraph poles which obstruct the highway, was granted, and the city clerk directed to request their removal by the company.

The widening of Water street on its northerly side, below the south bridge, was referred to the committee on streets, to report.

Dog ordinance passed, and sent down for concurrence.

A. Sydney Wentworth was granted leave to withdraw his claim for damages to a sleigh.

John H. Childs was granted leave to withdraw his claim for compensation for an accident to his wife, from alleged defective sidewalk; and on the claim of Mrs. Ann Childs, for damages for injuries, the mayor was empowered to settle for $150.

In convention: Dr. A. B. Sherburne, Joseph W. Bell and George E. Grover were elected fish and game wardens. The convention then rose.

In aldermen, resumed: Bill in relation to pay of city laborers was amended to fix the pay at $1.75 to $2 per day, and as amended was passed and sent down.

Bills amounting to $5237 were ordered paid.

A joint resolution authorizing that $5,000 be first appropriated to provide a suitable building for the city poor, and that then the city farm be advertised for sale by proposal, such proposal to be accepted by a joint committee of the councils, the $5000 not to be used unless the farm was sold, was passed.

The bill increasing the pay of the police was amended to give the city marshal $750 per annum, the assistant marshals $650 each, and the police officers $2 per night, and as amended was passed and sent down.

The committee on police, with the mayor and Ald. Hodgdon added, were directed to investigate and report to the board what revision of the police regulations is needed, and if an increase of the force is required.

Voted, that the board of aldermen respectfully request the board of assessors to appoint the city clerk as their agent to procure the return of the railroad shares owned in this city for taxable purposes.

Voted, that Aldermen Urch, Billings and Locke be a committee to report the cost and expediency of an illuminated dial on the North church clock.

The city clerk was instruced to bid in on behalf of the city real estate sold for non-payment of taxes, not otherwise disposed of.

Message was received from the Common Council asking concurrence in a joint vote exempting from taxation for ten years the real and personal estate of Job Meads used in the manufacture of hosiery; referred to committee on bills on their second reading.

The committee on school-houses were granted two weeks further time to report on the condition of the buildings.

Voted to pay the city messenger his salary in full, for the time he was sick.

City clerk was directed to send to each member of the legislature from this city, a copy of a vote passed by the city of Concord in regard to legislative action concerning the claims for damages against cities and towns, for alleged defects in highways.

The mayor called the attention of the several committees to the preparation of their estimates of sums to be placed in the annual appropriation bill, and recommended as follows: That providing the city farm is sold, the money be used to build a new engine house; that a reasonable amount be raised by school bonds, for the building of a new schoolhouse; that steam heat and ventilation be put into the Haven schoolhouse; that $4000 be appropriated to pay for the improvement of Creek street, this sum to include the expenditure already made; that $2149 be appropriated for Newcastle avenue and Sagamore road; that a special apropriation of $2000 be made to remove the cobble stones on Market street, and replace them with crushed stone; and that the committee on street lights provide for the erection of a limited number of electric lights, in consideration of the many applications that are being made.

Adjourned for two weeks.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, March 31st.

Elmer Clark, for assault on John Burton, was fined $1, costs $6.90, and paid up.

MUSIC HALL, TO-NIGHT.

This evening, at Music hall, "The Colleen Bawn," the most pleasing and dramatically powerful of Dion Boucicault's romantic Irish dramas, will be presented by the Helene Adell company; the play affords fine scope for the abilities of the members of the company to find expression, and the performance will be a treat to all who attend. To-morrow evening the company will play "Monte Christo."

SIBERIA.

The play of "Siberia" has had a very remarkable career. It was produced four years ago, and the very integrity of its performances has retained for it a popularity that is unique. It stands at the head of modern dramas. No number two company has cheapened its value.

Tickets for the performance on Monday evening in Music hall can now be procured at Goodrich's.

AN OFFICIAL REFUTATION.

There has been a good deal of cheap talk on the part of envious papers in other places, and "ramrod" temperance people here and elsewhere, about Portsmouth being a rum city, it being alleged that liquors were openly sold in scores if not in hundreds of places. We are glad to be able to publish an official refutation of this slander, which is given in the city book for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1886, over the signature of "Charles W. Norton, city marshal," who of course is unquestionable authority, he being sworn to enforce the laws of the state and city, and the prohibitory law being still in force. In the marshal's report of arrests for the year 1886, we find that there was only one person arrested during the year for violating the liquor law, and he for the minor offence of selling beer; and it is said that even this one blot on the temperance fame of our fair city was not due to the act of any local law-breaker, the one person who in 1886 violated the liquor law having been a fellow who started in to sell beer on the circus ground, thereby rousing the prohibitory wrath of our public guardians, who at once scooped him in. When was there a year, under the republican administration of municipal affairs, that our city could show such a temperance record as this? and where is the other New Hampshire city to-day, under republican rule, which can match it? Not an open rum shop in the city, as is incontestibly proved by the fact that the democratic administration, backed by their allies the third-party prohibitionists, have not been able to make a single arrest, for violation of the prohibitory law, excepting that of the beer peddler, during a whole year! After this, let the republicans never again sneer at the third-party men when they endeavor to advance the cause of temperance by working for the success of the democratic party.

ANOTHER CHIME.

A patent single-bell chime steam whistle, the only whistle of the kind in the city, has been put on the new building of the Portsmouth shoe company. The "bell," as it is technically called, is ten inches in diameter and over two feet in height, and it requires a steam pipe 2 1-2 inches in diameter to supply it with the required amount of steam. The peculiar merit claimed for this whistle is that while it can be heard at a far greater distance and under vastly more adverse circumstances than the ordinary whistle or gong, it has none of the harsh or ear-piercing qualities of either, it producing three distinct tones, pitched to the first, third and fifth of the common musical scale, thus giving a musical chord instead of a shriek, a howl or a roar. This triple-chime whistle is rapidly coming into use on locomotives, and is warmly endorsed by railroad men and the traveling public wherever used, and especially by persons resident along the lines of railroad; it obviates one of the greatest annoyances of railway travel, and enables the railroad men to instantly distinguish the signals of passenger trains from those of freight trains.

HE FILLED THE ORDER.

A "society note" now going the rounds of the papers says: "To be up with the times the society woman must now abandon the spider-track penmanship, and adopt the fine Italian hand which ladies of long ago delighted in." We are acquainted with a lady of this city who will unquestionably stick to the spider tracks, at which she is unrivalled. A few mornings since she gave her husband a memorandum of things he was to get, and it was only after long and earnest study of the document that the husband was able to send home three pairs of boots (wrong size) instead of two lbs. of butter, a peck of carrots instead of a yeast cake, a bottle of stove blacking instead of a bunch of celery, and a barrel of flour instead of a box of baby's food. The fine Italian hand has no terrors for that man.

Thursday morning, March 31st, the north pond was skimmed over with fresh ice, formed during the night; as was also the water from Mason's saw-mill out to the old mouldloft-wharf of the Raynes shipyard. Hail, gentle Spring!

Ayers & Locke announce through our advertising columns a great sale of kid gloves, commencing this day, April 1st. Their stock is immense, their assortment full, and their prices low. This is a special offering, and also embraces a full line of fabric gloves.

Hutchinson has a new stock of gold and silver goods at low prices. Call at his old established stand, on Market square, and examine his beautiful wares.

Attention is called to the advertisement of a small farm for sale. This is an excellent opportunity to purchase a delightful situation, within a mile of Market square, on one of the best and pleasantest roads leading out of the city. The ill health of the owner is the reason for selling.

A line of Jersey Waists at $1.00 have just been recived by Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market street.

March April May

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." E. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PEELPS, Rochester, N. Y.

VITIATED BLOOD

Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors Cured by Cuticura.

THROUGH the medium of one of your books I received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, Druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial.

P. S. WHITLINGER, Leechburg, Pa.

SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. All limbs could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them, and was perfectly cured."

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. CRAWFORD.

ONE OF THE WORST CASES.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by the use of five bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP. The Soap takes the "cake" here as a medicinal soap.

TAYLOR & TAYLOR, Druggists, Frankfort, Kan.

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED.

All Contagious Humors, with Loss of Hair, and Eruptions of the Skin, are positively cured by CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, when all other medicines fail. Send for Pamphlet.

DRUGGISTS USE THEM.

We have obtained satisfactory results from the use of the Cuticura Remedies in our own family, and recommend them beyond any other remedies for diseases of the skin and blood. The demand for them grows as their merits become known.

MACMILLAN & CO., Druggists, Latrobe, Pa.

CUTICURA REMEDIES

Rome Viewed from a Housetop.

The pleasantest thing in Rome, the thing which no creature, however great his power, has been able to touch, is the sunshine. To live on a Roman housetop, as I do, is in itself a great happiness. It is a long climb, but who minds that once up? The roof is a terrace where plants and ivy grow, and leaning over the outer wall you can watch the busy life far in the street below, or wait while the day dies behind the Mons Janiculus. The ragged pines that crown the hill stand back against the sky, and one knows that below is the old convent where Tasso died. The statue of St. Paul, on top of the pillar of Marcus Aurelius, is silhouetted very clear; and nearer the black tower of St. Andrea del Fatte, where in the evening hundreds of birds come to rest. The pigeons do not stop there; instead they wheel and circle, shining like silver, then settle down about the fountain of Trevi—nestle close about the water gods grouped there. It is pleasant, too, to stand upon the bridges and watch the passing crowd—to listen to the ripple of the water and know the voice is that of Father Tiber; to take a sun bath on the Pincio, with Rome lying at your feet; to pause and watch the orange sellers and match sellers, and models, and beggars on the Spanish steps; to journey to the Campo de Fiyel; to the fair on Wednesday morning, where all the old odds and ends of the continent seem collected for sale. So much there is to see in Rome; so much to do.—Cor. Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Stewart Collection.

How this old world does travel, to be sure! Here is the Stewart collection, believed to be the finest private gallery in the country, pronounced by Munkacsy as containing few great pictures, and even those by the great artists not good examples of their work. So much for fashion, and more for critical knowledge.—Chicago Herald.

Driving the Wolves.

The whistle of the locomotive is driving the wolves to the neighborhood of Scott River valley, Cal., in force. They travel in gangs of three to five, and attack the dogs viciously.—Chicago Herald.

Capt. Samuels and five of the crew of the schooner Dauntless left the vessel at Queenstown, Ireland, March 30th, to return home. Capt. Samuels, it is alleged, says that from the time the yacht started from Sandy Hook the owner, Caldwell H. Colt, behaved in the most abusive and ungentlemanly manner, constantly interfering with the management of the schooner, and being wholly responsible for her defeat. It is further asserted that members of the New York yacht club who are on intimate terms with Colt, express themselves as thinking it very probable that he did act as charged by Capt. Samuels.

I Had Faith.

About six months ago I was advised to consult Mr. Hall, the great Spiritualist doctor, to see if she could cure me of scrofula, a disease with which I had suffered greatly from childhood. She said if I would have faith in the medicines she gave me, that she could cure me. I took her medicine, and in less than three months I was cured. Why, the way the medicine worked was a miracle. I begged of her to tell me what the medicine was made of, but she said she could not do so. Finally she told me the medicine was Sulphur Bitters, and that she never knew it to fail in all such cases as mine.—Mrs. Clara Knowlton, 35 Hanover street, Boston, Mass.

Extra Liability to Malarial Infection.

Persons whose blood is thin, digestion weak and liver sluggish, are extra-liable to the attacks of malarial disease. The most trifling exposure may, under such conditions, infect a system which, if healthy, would resist the miasmatic taint. The only way to secure immunity from malaria in localities where it is prevalent, is to tone and regulate the system by improving weakened digestion, enriching the blood, and giving a wholesome impetus to biliary secretion. These results are accomplished by nothing so effectively as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which long experience has proved to be the most reliable safeguard against fever and ague and kindred disorders, as well as the best remedy for them. The Bitters are, moreover, an excellent invigorant of the organs of urination, and an active depurent, eliminating from the blood those acrid impurities which originate rheumatic ailments.

A couple of unfriendly dogs had a mill in a mill at Cuthbert, Ga., and in the course of the fight knocked down a gun leaning against the wall, and when it fell it went off and killed one of the dogs instantly. The survivor was intensely surprised at his victory.

How to Get Rid of Side-Ache.

Who has not suffered from side-ache? We all had it when we ran races at school—we have it when we overwork ourselves at any age. It comes on, as everybody knows, suddenly. By using one of Allcock's Porous Plasters it goes away nearly as quickly. F. Roessner, of No. 556 West 58th street, New York, says:

"It is with pleasure I write these lines in testimony to the powers of Allcock's Porous Plasters. I have been somewhat annoyed with serious pains in my sides, for which several medicines have been prescribed, but to no avail, and through the advice of a friend I tried two Allcock's Porous Plasters, and the relief they have given me is both satisfactory and astonishing. To any one annoyed with pains these plasters are a certain remedy."

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.
High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had pooched at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

Houses in Rio Janeiro.

Is Rio built of wood, or brick, or of marble? Neither, it is, however, massively built. The walls of the buildings are concrete, formed of split stone, mortar, and an occasional layer of brick, are usually two feet thick; and in some of the older buildings are even thicker. The color of the walls is frequently white, sometimes a brilliant blue, olive green, or a light red. The roofs, four sided, of the hip style, are all covered with thick, red, oval tiles, and, there being no chimneys, their aspect is dull. To relieve this, the more genteel houses have either a balustrade or stuccoed wall around the roofs, with statues, vases or other figures on the corners. The stories and windows are high. Balconies are common, with smooth granite bottoms, sculptured underneath, being composed of large blocks extending through the thickness of the wall, and lending strength as well as ornament to the edifice.

The windows in the modern buildings open door fashion, and are well adapted to the climate. They are very securely fastened at top and bottom by simply the turn of the handle of an iron bolt. Windows in the lower stories have strong wooden folding shutters inside. In chamber windows the glass part opens inward on hinges, with blinds opening outward. The trimmings, such as window caps, door and window facings, are of smooth granite—the handsome black and white granite so abundant at Rio—often perfectly arched, and lend an aspect of durability as well as of ornament to the building. The foundation walls to the height of two feet or more are of granite. In some of the stuccoed buildings almost too much expense seems to have been devoted to outside show. Many houses are in imitation of reddish marble, and very handsome. Some of the inside shutters, of black walnut, or or those painted white, with gilt borders, show to advantage through windows of plate glass. There is not much display of curtains. The front sides of some of the older buildings are wholly or partly covered with flat porcelain tiles, generally of blue color, also like what may be seen in Lisbon.—Andrews' Brazil.

How We Taste.

Strictly speaking, with the tip of the tongue, one can't really taste at all. If you put a small drop of honey or oil of bitter almonds on that part of the mouth, you will find, no doubt to your surprise, that it produces no effect of any sort; you only taste it when it begins slowly to diffuse itself, and reaches the true tasting region in the middle distance. But if you put a little cayenne or mustard on the same part you will find that it bites you immediately—the experiment should be tried sparingly—while if you put it lower down in the mouth you will swallow it almost without noticing the pungency of the stimulant. The reason is that the tip of the tongue is supplied only with the nerves, which are really nerves of touch, not nerves of taste proper; they belong to a totally different main branch, and they go to a different center in the brain, together with the very similar threads which supply the nerve of smell for mustard and pepper. That is why the smell and taste of these pungent substances are so much alike as everybody must have noticed, a good sniff at a mustard pot producing almost the same irritating effects as an incautious mouthful. —Journal of Commerce.

The Paradise of the Poor.

We had been told that there was not a poor person in Costa Rica, and had, of course, received this with mental reservations; but we were convinced of the possible truth of the statement in a somewhat amusing manner. The governor, expressing some dissatisfaction at the slow progress of the works, was answered by the chief master workman with an easy flow of words and many emphatic gestures. The matter was simply that the men were unable to do more without over exerting themselves, nearly every one of them owning a bit of ground, a horse, a wagon and a mule, and also a carefully secreted stocking with a handful of bright pesos.—Cor. Detroit Free Press.

What a Miner Has Noticed.

An old Ruby Hill miner, who has had fifteen years' experience underground, says that he has observed one peculiar fact, that between 12 and 2 o'clock at night, if there is a loose stone or a bit of earth in the mine it is sure to fall. About this time it seems that everything begins to stir; and immediately after 12, although the mine has been still as a tomb before, you will hear particles of rock and earth come tumbling down, and if there is a caving piece of ground in the mine it is sure to give way.—Home Journal.

A Cure for Insomnia.

Sleeping without the head covered is said to be one of the causes of insomnia, which has of late years become a very general malady. Some find a cure by tying a large handkerchief tightly around the temples under the ears in a small knot at the back of the head. The knot may be adopted or not according to the wearer's comfort or fancy. The bandage gives the required pressure on the outer surface of the head, the lack of which is one cause of sleeplessness.—Public Opinion.

SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

"Thou troublest me—I am not in the vein," he said when invited to make a Fourth of July oration. But he bought a bottle of Salvation Oil, and the National Holiday heard from the Eagle.

A wealthy merchant in San Francisco, Cal., has sent a request to an agent in Yokohama to engage four gardeners in order to lay out his garden in Japanese style. The term of service is for two years, the annual salary being $600.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

The news received from Afghanistan through native sources shows that the ameer is making strenuous efforts to raise a new army. He has issued a circular to his subjects, telling them to prepare for a holy war. It is believed that he contemplates war against Russia.

Good Whiskey

Has come to be a necessity with many people. The G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon and G. O. Taylor Pure Rye can be depended upon for both uniformity and purity. Either brand can be obtained of leading druggists or grocers. See that our firm name is on each label and over the cork in each bottle. Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston.

OUR NEW YORK FASHION LETTER.

OUT-DOOR GARMENTS — MATERIALS — TRIMMINGS—PARASOLS—HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

The small wrap of colored velvet illustrates how much ornament a limited quantity of goods can bear. Here and there some bit of plain surface looks out, but when extended front pieces meet piled-on shoulder pieces, and shoulder pieces join in fellowship with an all-pervading back piece, one can see that much cannot be left for any one to see. What consequent glitter, since each colored bead gives out its special sparkle; what uncomfortableness too, since one must sit bolt upright for fear of friction; and what expenditure of money. Less jaunty but handsome wraps are of black velvet illumined by jet, but the colored beads are newest and therefore best beloved. In shape these wraps are very short at the back, coming well over the arms, and with long ends in front. Passementerie and grenadine wraps serve like-wise as foundations for all-pervading glitter, while jackets, Newmarkets and ragians of light mixed cloth complete the list of spring out-door garments. Continue the picture and one can imagine the silk costume likewise a shining spectacle, where long beaded side pieces keep company with plastrons, epaulets, collars, passementeries and independent ornaments. Open-work galoons are brought out for trimming wools; combination costumes come up this season with special prestige, thus obviating a necessity for trimming, while tailor-made dresses have a special style of their own, but beads are the craze. Buttons are chiefly of metal and do not command unusual attention.

STRIPES, PLAIDS AND CHECKS

Travel on from cottons and wools to silks. All the light summer varieties are strongly affected by the mania for lines, and costumes of thick surah diagonally woven and with hair lines, are tailor made. Lace dresses are in great favor, chiefly of point d'esprit, imitation Chantilly and Florentine guipure, and with lace parasol to match, will be conspicuous at summer resorts. Parasols are either of lace or in checks, the latter in immense variety, and suiting everybody whether grave or gay; the former in soft ecru tints or in black. Sizes are almost equal to sun umbrellas, with long ferule and large curved or twisted handles of light wood. Eight ribs are most stylish. When closed and with jaunty ribbon bow on the handle, one becomes a pretty walking stick.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Mothers everywhere should know that Carnrick's Soluble Food for infants is really a substitute for nature's nourishment, since while largely composed of cow's milk, the cheesy part is partially digested to render it as digestible as human milk. Professor Stutzer, food analyst for Rhenish Prussia, pronounces it greatly superior to all other foods for infants, as well also as Marion Harland, the editor of Babyhood, who saved her grand-child's life with it, after trying all the principal foods in the market. Some other well-known foods are simply bread baked and powdered, while others are composed of malt sugar, quite as apt to produce fermentation as ordinary cane sugar.

Owing to the use of a silver dinner service on state occasions, none of the three sets at the Stewart sale were specially handsome. One was medallion, one royal blue, and a third was gold band. Fashion runs to color in china, and stylish dealers do not keep the white, but as a set of the French, prettily decorated, costs only fifty dollars, such moderate price for complete dinner and tea service brings something nice within the limit of moderate means.

Nowhere has the advance of science been more marked than in the various table preparations, where keen competition brings excellence and lower prices. The various cereals, preserved vegetables, fruits, desserts, meats, crackers, etc., of to-day, would have seemed like a dream not so many years ago, and render house-keeping in New York a pastime compared with many other places.

LUCY CARTER.

A Judicious Drummer.

The following, which we copy from a Colorado paper, is applicable to all latitudes and longitudes:

Travelling men—"drummers" as they are called—pick up a large amount of worldly wisdom. They know a snide thing when they see it. To illustrate, an exchange tells it in this way: A printer recently walked into a certain business house on his rounds to see who wanted anything in the way of advertising, and noticed a drummer standing by the counter with a sample case ready. "Anything you desire in the paper this week?" queried the newspaper man. "No," said the business (?) man, "I don't believe in advertising. I don't give a blank for all the advertising." The drummer waited until the printer was halfway to the door, then slowly taking up his sample valise remarked: "Well, that lets me out. I don't care to sell on time to any man who in this enlightened age does not believe in advertising. I prefer to deal with live men. When I strike up a trade with dead men I'll go to the graveyard and swap tombstones. Good day, sir."

Mrs. Logan Will Not Ask a Pension.

Mrs. Logan's friends say she will not permit another pension bill to be introduced in Congress in her behalf. The rental from her Chicago house, and the interest on the fund recently subscribed for her, aggregate a considerable sum, and a pension would only be an additional increase to an income now sufficiently large for her maintenance. Mrs. Logan, it is understood, has so advised the gentlemen having the matter in charge, and no further steps will be taken in that direction.

What's Your Hobby?

BOSTON, April 1.—The announcement is made to-day that the next Boston Sunday Globe will contain an illustrated article on "Hobbies" by that popular writer J. W. Clarke, whose recent sketches in the Boston Sunday Globe have been so widely read. Every man and woman, boy and girl who has a hobby or has a friend with a hobby will enjoy this article.

Owing to the passage of the interstate commerce bill the Southern Pacific railroad company is discharging all its baggage masters, and imposing their duties on the express messengers.

Fraudulent advertisements have been the means of filling Chattanooga, Tenn., full of idle carpenters.

An Englishman of fifty-five recently sued a lady of forty-six for breach of promise, and the jury awarded him £27.

It is a present craze to have in one's house as many different kinds of ornamental lamps as possible.

To a small cupful of MOLASSES or strained HONEY add 2 teaspoonfuls of PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER and take after 1/4 teaspoonful of the mixture & you WILL CURE your COUGH or COLD. Pain Killer also cures Sore Throat and Diphtheria.

RUSHING TO DEATH

in the attempt to swim the Niagara Whirlpool Rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is specially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and steadily secure a firmer grip until at last the agony is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

I used one bottle of Athlophoros and my rheumatism left me. I have never been troubled with it since nor do I expect ever to be again, for the medicine cured me entirely of the painful disease. I recommend Athlophoros for I have faith in its curative powers. MRS. A. H. VESEY.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

This certifies that two bottles of Athlophoros cured my wife of her neuralgia after trying all other remedies with no avail. DUDLEY GILMAN.

Holyoke, Mass., May 31, 1886.

We have sold more Athlophoros since it appeared in the field of medicine than any other rheumatic remedy. If we could describe in detail all of the cases that have been cured by it, that have come under our notice, it would astonish you. We will say that no other medicine that has ever come under our notice has performed so many cures as Athlophoros.

B. F. ARTHUR & Co.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send (either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

MUSIC HALL, TO-NIGHT.

The closing entertainment by the Helene Adell dramatic company at Music hall will be given this evening, when "Monte Christo," a dramatization of Dumas' great romance of that name, will be presented. The play is a deeply interesting one, affording many strong situations, and is admirably performed by this company. Prices 10, 20 and 30 cts.

NO MORE SCHOLARS' TICKETS.

Mr. D. J. Flanders, general passenger and ticket agent of the Boston & Maine railroad, on March 30th issued the following circular to all ticket agents of the road:

On account of the requirements of the interstate commerce law, and to prevent discrimination between residents of different states, the sale of copartnership and interstate scholars' tickets will be discontinued April 1, 1887. Scholars who are now residing in the same state in which they attend school will be furnished scholars' tickets until the end of the term, if not later than June 30.

For many years scholars have attended schools and commercial colleges in Salem and Boston, from this city, Dover, Exeter and other New Hampshire cities and towns, going up in the morning and returning at night, at special rates; and many young people from North Hampton, Hampton, Hampton Falls and Seabrook have attended the Putnam free school at Newburyport, travelling on the railroad at a low charge. By this order of Mr. Flanders, necessitated by the interstate commerce law, the special privileges heretofore enjoyed by such students have now ceased, and they must pay full fare the same as other passengers.

POOR FELLOWS.

The interstate commerce commissioners are sufficiently punished in advance for any sins of omission or commission of which they may be guilty, or any errors of judgement which may occur, in their endeavors to perform the vast duty they have assumed. Their alleged likenesses have been published in the "illustrated" columns of the papers which are now running that kind of "attraction," and to judge from the pictures presented we should say that three of them were Plug Uglies, one a pickpocket of low grade, and the remaining one a confidence man of large experience. We hereby extend to President Cleveland our thanks, in that he did not appoint us on the commission.

SIBERIA.

Miss Adele Belgarde, who spent her vacation in Europe this summer, told a reporter the other day that she saw nothing abroad superior in dramatic interest to "Siberia," and that she returns to her original role of the heroine in that play with renewed interest.

This play will be performed in Music hall on Monday evening; reserved seat tickets now on sale at Goodrich's.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner John Lenthall, at Union wharf, is being fitted for sea. She will be commanded this season by Capt. Parker of Belfast, Me.

The schooner Chilion, Whidden master, from a Maine port for Hingham, Mass., with a load of lumber, arrived in the lower harbor April 1st.

The schooner Delhi, Green master, from Perth Amboy with coal to O. F. Philbrick & Co., arrived in the lower harbor Friday morning, the 1st inst.

The Eastern Weir Co. of Provincetown, Mass., have fitted a large boat used by them for tending their traps at Wood End light with a propeller and a three-horse engine, which drives the boat along at a speed of five or six miles an hour, kerosene being used for fuel. This is probably the first use made of steam in the weir business in New England.

The Titania, a new sloop yacht designed by Henry Burgess, designer of the Puritan and Mayflower, is nearly ready for launching in New York, and Mr. Burgess is confident that for seagoing and sail-carrying qualities, speed in all weathers, and stability, she will prove superior to any sloop ever constructed. She is 69 feet long on the water line, and 80 feet over all; 21 feet 8 inches wide, 12 feet deep, and draws 8 feet 6 inches of water. Her decks are flush fore and aft, there being neither trunk cabin or skylight above deck to catch wind. Possibly this may be the boat to contest with the Thistle for the America's cup.

The superintendent of the fire alarm was not trying to "April fool" the department when he kept sounding the North church bell and the steam gong on Friday forenoon; he was only making the monthly test of the apparatus.

The present moon—we presume it is the same old moon we have always had—is running very high in the heavens, appearing almost overhead when at its highest point; the weather experts call it a "cold moon." They can call it anything they like, if it is responsible for the weather we are having.

John E. McLellan has bought the fittings and goodwill of the boarding house on Market street kept for several years past by Capt. Daniel C. Rich.

The Portsmouth correspondent of the Manchester Union says: "It has been rumored during the past week that the city teamsters were contemplating quitting their jobs. It is said the men are dissatisfied at being required to sleep several nights in each month at the engine house on Court street or in the court house basement." The correspondent does not intimate that perhaps this rumor is only a derrick rigged to hoist the compensation a peg higher. Two of the teamsters have already resigned their municipal positions and returned to private life, Mr. James Broughton, Jr., resuming the reins of the Portsmouth Brewing Co.'s team, and Mr. George Ramsdell taking charge of one of Perkins & Gardner's ice-carts.

The Electric Light Co. are putting up a wooden frame building a short distance east of their present one at the Portsmouth Machine works, to receive the larger plant which the steady increase of their business demands. It is entirely detached from the other buildings, is 75x36 feet on the ground and two stories high, and has a flat roof.

There is no room to doubt the total loss of the Newfoundland sealing steamer Eagle on the rocks near Funk island, with her crew of 250 men, all of whom were in the prime of life, and most of whom were married and resided in St. John's, N. F.

M. Eyrolles, a trusted clerk of the French war office, has been dismissed for imparting official secrets to agents of Germany.

In the current number of the "Atlantic Monthly" Edmund Kirke discloses an interesting passage of war history. It was understood during the civil war that advances looking toward peace were made by the Union government to the Confederacy, but the terms offered by President Lincoln were not then made public. Mr. Kirke was one of the Union commissioners, and sees no longer any reason for silence. In substance the terms were that the seceded states should return to their former allegiance, with slavery abolished and representation in proportion to their voting population; the United States to pay the slaveholders 400 millions for their losses. But no; Jefferson Davis would not listen to it. His motto was, "Independence or extermination." This was in 1864. Early in 1865 Lee surrendered. The south neither acquired independence nor suffered extermination; but the slave property was absolutely lost. Had the terms been accepted it would have been much better for both sides, as the cost of prosecuting the war to the end exceeded the amount offered in compensation for the slaves, to say nothing of the lives that were sacrificed. Perhaps Jefferson Davis, as he looks back, regrets his unwise decision; but that is a matter of no consequence to anybody but himself. It was a magnanimous offer, worthy of the heart and brain that conceived it.

Spring Medicine

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N. Y.

Methods of a Society Man.

"I can't understand," remarked a reporter to a gay young society friend, "how it is that while I never saw you with a book in your hand in my life except 'Don ts,' that at Miss Blank's party the other evening I overheard you in a high literary conversation. Why, you seemed to be conversant with every work of all the prominent authors, even some I never heard of myself." "If you won't give it away I'll tell you," rejoined the social success, drawing the reporter into a corner and producing a publisher's catalogue from his pocket. "Now, name any author you'll find marked." The reporter selected Black, when he rattled off like a schoolboy "Princess of Thule," "Daughter of Heth," "Madcap Violet," "Yolande," "Julith Shakespeare," "Macleod of Dare," etc. It was just the same with most of the other leading authors. "And don't you ever get beyond the titles?" inquired the reporter. "Not myself; they'd all rather give their opinion of a book than hear one, and when I get into a tight place I just switch off upon another author or title."—Buffalo Express.

The Fate of Society.

When we think of the immense potentialities and capabilities of society, of all that it might accomplish, and behold the monotony of insipid folly, of apelike imitation, of consummate hypocrisy in which it is content to roll on through the course of the years, one cannot but feel that, if its ultimate doom is to be swallowed up and vomited forth again, lifeless and shapeless, by the dragon of socialism, it will have no more than its due; that it will fall through its own sloth and vileness, as the empire of Rome fell under the hordes of the barbarians.—"Ouida" in North American Review.

A Slang Dictionary.

Readers of modern French realistic novels will shortly be able to pursue their studies with the assistance of a French and English argot and slang dictionary, which Professor Barrere proposes to issue by subscription. The moving spirit in these educational projects is the princess, who has long been steadily striving for the advancement of her people.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he cannot go into society and he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and, frequently, entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in turn may become the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best, if not the only real cure, for hay fever, rose cold and catarrh.

The Nowd, Russian organ, says that all attempts to found a Franco-Russian alliance will be absolutely hopeless.

I Had Faith.

About six months ago I was advised to consult Mr. Hall, the great Spiritualist doctor, to see if she could cure me of scrofula, a disease with which I had suffered greatly from childhood. She said if I would have faith in the medicines she gave me, that she could cure me. I took her medicine, and in less than three months I was cured. Why, the way the medicine worked was a miracle. I begged of her to tell me what the medicine was made of, but she said she could not do so. Finally she told me the medicine was Sulphur Bitters, and that she never knew it to fail in all such cases as mine.—Mrs. Clara Knowlton, 35 Hanover street, Boston, Mass.

The Era of Good Feeling.

The Chronicle, a paper published at Birmingham, Ala., illustrates the southern idea of fraternity in the following comment on the death of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher:

With Greeley and Sumner and Garrison he has gone from among men. To-day the venerable old man at his quiet home on the Gulf coast will read the notices of the death of this, the last of the great minds which conspired to bring on that civil war with all its horrors. God has spared Jefferson Davis to read these obituary notices as some recompense for what he has suffered.

James Pyle's Pearline is not a soap, but a Washing compound—a great invention for saving toil and expense without injury to the texture, color, or hands. Pearline is the champion of all compounds for washing in hard or soft, hot or cold water, and without soap, soda or other preparations. In the families of miners, machinists, plumbers, painters, printers, farmers and laborers, Pearline is a blessing. It is equally efficacious in washing dishes, clothes or begrimmed hands.

A Washington correspondent writes as follows: "Chief Constructor Wilson, who is now at Chester inspecting the cruiser Chicago, is expected to return to this city to give formal instructions to the board appointed to consider and report upon the additional machinery and plant necessary to enable the department to undertake the construction at the Brooklyn navy yard of one of the new 6000-ton vessels authorized to be built. The board is composed of Naval Constructor Pook and Assistant Constructors Hoover and Wilson. The bureau of naval intelligence has collected a mass of information that will be submitted to the board relative to the latest discoveries in naval construction, and in addition there will be placed before it the results of Naval Constructor Hichborn's close inquiries into the plant and various appliances used in the largest European dockyards. Some of these devices are understood to be of great value, and are as yet practically unknown to the shipwrights of America."

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.
High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups; and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

SICKNESS IN THE TENEMENTS.

The Great Foe of the Poor—Some Startling Facts and Figures.

Sickness next to enforced idleness is the great foe of the poor. It is far worse than intemperance because it assails the thrifty as well as the debased, and prostrates the bread winner and the mother upon whom depend the support and care of the whole family. Death finds his richest harvest among children; sickness most afflicts their elders. The records of the Demilt dispensary for twenty-five years show that 261,515 children were treated against 331,402 adults. Of the second total the females were 50 per cent. in excess of the males, which well illustrates how unsanitary influences tell most upon women, who are constantly at home or who work at unwholesome trades.

The report of the New York Orthopoedic dispensary and hospital for 1883 shows that 147 patients treated were "cured," and 203 were discharged as "relieved." But where are such patients to go? They are too weak to work, and the noisy tenement, with its cramped quarters, is not a fit place for them. One can scarcely imagine greater discomfort than that of the convalescent amid the noise, foulness and disorder of the average tenement rooms, where cooking, washing and other domestic duties must be carried on, and where quiet, pure air, repose, careful nursing and nourishing food, all so indispensable to the patient's recovery, are entirely wanting. Only those who have visited the sick in tenements and found them listless, weak and wretched, often with no company or the companionship of noisy, fretful children or drunken husbands, with all the tumult of the street, the cries of peddlers, the roar of the elevated railroad, the clatter of sewing machines, the uproar of noisy children at play and the sounds of quarreling and fighting from neighboring rooms, and has seen the coarse and tasteless and ill prepared food which is their only choice, can appreciate their misery.

One of the greatest needs in all our large cities is a home for convalescents, where the worthy poor who leave the hospital weakened by long illness, with no immediate prospect of earning bread, if indeed work can be found, can obtain quiet, comfort and proper food and nursing. Such an institution should be located in the country or at the seaside, and would be a vast benefit to the community.

The following circumstance illustrates the ill effects of tenement house life upon health: A dispensary physician of large experience expressed his surprise that women recover from confinements so easily in tenements. A mother will be able to sit up in a day or two after a birth, and they rarely rest abed longer than a week. A woman nurse, however, told a different story. Necessity, she said, forced mothers to forego proper rest, and a large proportion suffered permanent injury in consequence. No male physician could truly know the real state of the poor, because he could not gain their confidence as a woman would. Patients frequently complained of the harshness and want of consideration of dispensary physicians. In one case a doctor made a woman get out of bed and come into the front room, so that he could examine her tongue instead of calling for a light. The poor are specially sensitive to any lack of consideration of their feelings.

Many families become destitute because the mothers cannot go to work from having to nurse sick children. Another common cause of distress is the sickness of mothers who in health could easily support their families. The saddest of cases belong to the latter class, where poor mothers are found sick in bed, some of the children also sick and all suffering for the necessaries of life. During seasons of depression many parents are compelled to seek employment for very young children. In thirty-nine cases investigated in an industrial school the $3 or $5 thus earned weekly by the children was the sole support of a whole family.—New York Journal.

There is said to be a great increase in the number of butcher shops in Tokio, with upper rooms in which the meat is cooked for customers. The Japanese have a strong belief that the superiority of foreigners in energy and physique is entirely due to a meat diet, hence a large number of the residents are training to become Sullivans by eating liberally of the once neglected flesh.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The nose, we all know, forms a prominent feature in everybody's career, but it has been left to M. Sophus Schack, a Danish disciple of Lavater, to find out that it is an infallible index to human character. He tells us in a book just published that his discovery is the result of a long and patient study of this facial organ among people of all nations. According to his experience, the moral and physical nature of a person can be gathered from the formation of his nose. A well developed nose, he says, denotes strength and courage; a little turn up nose indicates cunning and artfulness; a delicate, straight nose, taste and refinement; a curved nose, judgement and egotism; and a thick, misshapen nose, dullness and want of tact. But this is not all. "The nose," proceeds our physiognomist, "discloses to the intelligent observers the faculties possessed by the owner. It also indicates the intensity of his intellectual activity and the delicacy of his moral sentiments. Finally, the nose, which belongs both to the mobile and immobile parts of our visage, reflects faithfully the fugitive movements of our inclinations." If all this be true, it is evident that people who desire to disguise their character or dissemble their passions must in future beware of their noses, or, rather, they must wear false ones.—Pall Mall Gazette.

SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other Inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. HELLE WADE, Richmond, Va. Reference, G. W. Latimer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured. E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs. Henry Hinks, who had letter on her hands to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered greatly, was completely cured by the use of your medicines. C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.

For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA. MRS. ISAAC PHELPS, Ravenna, O.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction. C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere: Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; RESOLVENT, $1.00; SOAP, 25 cents. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have so weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

KIDNEY PAINS

And that weary, lifeless, all-gone sensation ever present with those of inflamed kidneys, weak back and loins, aching hips and sides, overworked or worn out by disease, debility or dissipation, are relieved in one minute and speedily cured by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster, a new, original, elegant and infallible antidote to pain and inflammation. At all druggists, 25c.; five for $1.00; or of Potter Drug Co., Boston.

Industrial Training For Girls.

If I were able, I would change the public sentiment so radically that no girl should be considered well educated, no matter what her accomplishments, until she had learned a trade, a business, or a profession. There would then be fewer fathers and brothers toiling like galley-slaves to support healthy and vigorous human beings in stagnating idleness—idle for no earthly reason save that God has made them women.

Lack of technical and industrial training not only makes dependent and inefficient women of our daughters, it puts them in fearful peril morally. Indolence is always demoralizing. It ruins health, destroys beauty, and enfeebles the will. "Out of 2,000 fallen women in the city of New York, 1880 had been brought up to do nothing; 625 pleaded destitution as the cause of their ill life." In view of these facts, which might be multiplied indefinitely, ought we not to rid ourselves of the inherited social idea that it is a shameful thing for young women to be taught to support themselves by honorable industry?

In an early stage of the late war, before the government had organized its various departments, I saw a body of soldiers march from the St. Louis camp of rendezvous, and embark on boats to go down the Mississippi. Among them were companies without uniforms and without equipments. The men wore the citizen's dress in which they had enlisted. It was explained they had been ordered in advance of the arrival of their uniforms and guns, to maintain the morale of the army, which was unfavorably affected by the mustering out of large numbers who had enlisted on short terms of service. Uniforms, guns, and the all-important drill would be given these raw recruits, we were told, when they reached their destination.

Two or three weeks later, I met some of these very unequipped men, still without uniforms, on board a hospital boat, steaming slowly up the river en route for the superb general hospitals of St. Louis. Some of the poor fellows were so rent with shot and shell that their own mothers would not have recognized them. I heard their pitiful story from many lips, but it was always the same story. Hardly had these green boys in the clothing of civilians reached their regiments, when they were surprised by the enemy; and without guns or an hour's drill, they were plunged into a sharp, disastrous engagement. Shot at, shot down, they could make no defence; for they had not been supplied with the munitions of war, nor taught how to use them.

It as wasteful, as unwise, as inhuman, to send our delicately-nurtured and tenderly-reared young daughters out from the home to fight the battle of life without a preparation for it, without an equipment in the form of an industrial and business education, as it was to send these hapless young fellows to fight the enemy without drill, and without guns. The results are more disastrous, and reach farther. Our daughters are not shot down, like the untrained military recruit; they live, but with no individual grasp on life. They become anxious concerning the future, with no power to provide for it. At the mercy of circumstances which the know not how to control; victims of petty beliefs, old abuses, and respectable tyrannies, they drop into mental ill-health, and bodily disease comes with it.

Or they marry, and make faithful, loving, lovely wives to admiring husbands. But the husband dies. He was living on a salary, which ceases with his life. His young widow has one or more children. What is she to do? Or the husband may drop into permanent invalidism, or into bankruptcy, or into dissolute habits. If the young wife has not been in part prepared for such emergencies by previous training, her lot is hard indeed.

"Oh, you can't prepare girls to meet such emergencies!" said an eminent clergyman, in whose parlors this topic was being earnestly discussed. "You must prepare them to be good wives and mothers, and risk the rest. There you will have to leave them, and trust in God."

Our trust must be in God, to be sure. No one disputes that. And yet I have the deepest respect for the advice that Oliver Cromwell gave his soldiers, "Trust in God, and keep your powder dry!"

MARY A. LIVERMORE.

Barnacles will Cling to the Cruisers.

The navy department has been experimenting for some time with numbers of patented paints and compositions intended to prevent the fouling of the bottoms of vessels. Several thousand dollars have been expended in these experiments during the last two years, but up to this time no method of protecting vessels from fouling has been discovered equal in efficiency to the old system of sheathing.

Naval officers generally express regret at the failure of Congress to provide for sheathing with copper the new steel vessels authorized to be built. The first cost of applying the sheathing would be considerable—as much as $50,000 in the case of the new 1,700-ton gunboat—but the ultimate economy of the sheathing is said to be beyond question, as it not only adds much to the strength of the vessel, but relieves the department from the necessity of docking ships every six months at great expense. In southern waters the naval vessels suffer more severely than on the northern coast. Sample barnacles four inches in length have been received at the department from the superintendent of the Pacific Mail Steamship company at Aspinwall, with the statement that they were taken from the City of Para after four months' exposure.

The construction officers estimate that a like exposure of one of the new swift ironclads would result in a loss of speed of three knots an hour, rendering her totally unfit for the purposes for which she was intended.

The lighthouse board has completed the plans for lighting the Bartholdi statue of Liberty on Bedloe's island, New York harbor. A strong lens will be placed in the torch, five additional electric lights will be placed around the base, making thirteen of such lights in all, and a number of incandescent lights will be placed in the interior of the statue. The light to be placed in the torch will be one of most powerful fixed lights in the world.

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and find no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The statement of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

On the 18th of August, 1885, I suffered very badly from an attack of rheumatism and was recommended to try Athlophoros. On taking one-half a bottle my rheumatism left me and I have not suffered any from it since. Would recommend this medicine to all suffering with rheumatism.

FRANK E. PUTNEY, 220 Walnut St.

Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1886.

A man suffering with sciatic rheumatism is liable to do most anything to rid himself of that complaint. By exposure, I contracted the disease, and although being doctored, I grew worse in spite of all that could apparently be done to relieve intense pain. I was obliged to stand while eating, and unless completely exhausted I was unable to get any sleep; at times I would have to get out of bed in the dead of night, go into the street and tire myself out by walking to get sleep. Still the pain and its cause hung to me. I commenced to use Athlophoros. After a few doses there was a change for the better, and in good time came the cure so much hoped for and found at last only in Athlophoros. C. P. JORDAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Local rains or snows, warmer, variable winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 39 degrees above zero.

Raining.

AN APRIL STORM.

One of the heaviest storms we have had for months set in on Saturday morning, dry, mealy snow commencing to fall thickly at an early hour and keeping it up all day, and being whisked and whirled about by a driving northeasterly wind, which gradually hauled around to the northward along in the afternoon. The temperature was not very low, but the day was raw and uncomfortable enough without it.

A number of vessels came into the lower harbor in the forenoon, and reported the gale as being a howler outside, the sea very heavy, and the snow so thick that it was impossible to see any considerable distance. One of these vessels was the steamer Katahdin, Pierce master, of the Boston & Bangor steamboat line, bound from a Maine port to Boston with freight and about ninety passengers, most of whom were ladies; the passengers were landed at Newcastle and came to this city, the ladies being brought up by the steamer James Sampson and the gentlemen walking, and went to Boston by rail, Capt. Pierce not proposing to leave a safe anchorage in such weather as was prevailing.

The evening was one of the most unpleasant of the season to be out in, and people generally showed their appreciation of this fact by not being out in it. Whichever way a man turned he would receive a drift of snow in his face, and it was difficult to breathe and impossible to see, most of the time. The store windows were so dimmed with snow that they gave but a feeble illumination, reminding the stumbling wayfarer of the "light of other days"—the tallow candle. It is probable that the snowfall would have amounted to a foot on a level, if any of it had fallen that way, which it did not do.

The surf along the shore to the westward of our harbor on Saturday night was of a grandeur rarely equalled. Seldom have the residents of South road been treated to so majestic and continuous a roar from Old Neptune's domain, while the pitch of his music, to an uneducated ear, seemed half an octave higher than usual; perhaps the extreme activity of his Brother Boreas will account for that.

Sunday morning was bright and clear, and the heaviest snow-shovelling of the year was done by the sidewalk clearers to make the way easy for the church goers, who were out in fair numbers. The milkmen reported the roads outside the city to be in a worse condition with drifts than at any time since winter set in. The forenoon train from Boston came in very nearly on time, there being no blockade to the westward; but the Bangor express, which should have arrived at four o'clock Sunday morning did not arrive until nearly seven in the evening, owing to bad blockades on the Maine Central road.

CHURCH BURGLARIES.

Some time during last Thursday night, entrance into the vestry of the Methodist church was effected through a window, the thief or thieves ransacking all the rooms and closets in the basement as well as the audience room, bursting open with a jimmy doors that were found locked. Nothing is reported as being missed, the thieves failing to find the communion service, which they were probably after; but considerable damage was done to the woodwork.

On the same night a window of the Catholic church was forced open, but the thieves were frightened away before they had a chance to steal anything.

On Sunday it was discovered that the Universalist vestry had been broken into during the previous week, and knives and forks, plate ware, and a box of bills and papers, carried off.

A window in the residence of Mr. Zebulon Sanborn on Austin street was pried open on Saturday night, but the thief or thieves were frightened away without entering.

St. Paul's Episcopal church in Newburyport was entered Friday night, and the communion service and other articles stolen, including one piece of silver presented to King's chapel in Boston in 1694 by William & Mary, then king and queen of England. The Catholic church in Newburyport was entered the same night, and an attempt made to open the safe, but the thieves departed after breaking the lock, leaving the room in great confusion.

"THE PRICE OF PUBLIC FAVOR."

The text taken in the Universalist church yesterday was John 12: 13, 27; "Hosanna, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord." "Now is my soul troubled."

No man can be the favorite of all men, nor of all times. For as men differ in their estimations of a character, so do the ages change, and thus differ in their ideas of a man. The man who would live the longest cannot always live the easiest, and he who is applauded by his age for gaining one victory, may be condemned by the following age for that victory, and applauded for another.

Christ was received into Jerusalem with loud acclaim as a prophet and worker of miracles. He smote the sins of his age with flashes of Divine wrath, and was crucified. His triumphal entry into the world to-day is not so much by miracle and power of distant foresight as by his power to hit hard and strike high, the very same qualities for which he was slain. A man who meets Christ to-day does not wave palm branches, but feels that he is face to face with spiritual qualities, which shine by their own light and warm by their own heat. No mere religious feelings, much less mere religious sensations, will suffice.

The Son of God to-day must be organized in sentiment, in faculty, and in will, in man. Given this reality of religious life and there is no need of trick or spasm to make it efficient. In all ages Christ was true to himself, and suffered no self-contempt, nor self-deception. He thus will sometime have public favor. The price is long in being paid; but it will be paid. "Death falls heavily upon him, who too well known of all men, dies unacquainted with himself."

SIBERIA.

This evening, at Music hall, the great romantic drama "Siberia" will be presented, by the only company having a right to play it, and which has been playing it continuously for four years. A very large number of seats have already been taken, and a large audience is a certainty. Tickets on sale at Goodrich's.

The last prosperous play poor Bartley Campbell wrote netted him the foundation of a fortune; but the success of "Siberia" no doubt turned his head. His subsequent plays were carelessly written. Failure resulted. His mind became unsettled, and the famous playwright is now the inmate of an asylum. The hope of his recovery is slender. The history of the drama in America could not be written without giving Bartley Campbell a prominent place.

TAKING THE ENROLLMENT.

Messrs. Leonard Manson and Warrington Moulton have been appointed to take the enrollment of the militia in this city, and also the number of children between the ages of five and fifteen years. Our citizens should aid these gentlemen all in their power, especially that a correct enumeration of the children may be had, for the amount of the literary fund which we receive from the state for our schools is dependent on the number of children between these ages. Messrs. Manson and Moulton commence canvassing the city this morning.

Mr. Charles H. Tucker left his peanut roaster outside the door of his place of business on Congress street, Friday night. Mr. J. F. Berry's swinging sign being down for repainting, somebody thought its iron support would be a good place to hang the peanut roaster, and on Saturday morning persons passing along the sidewalk saw suspended over their heads the machine for cooking the delicious and indigestible nuts, with placards attached proclaiming as follows: "Ten cts. qt., all hot." The city marshal was seen going into and out of several places of business in the neighborhood during Saturday forenoon, but it is not known that the criminals were discovered.

Spring played us a rather mean April fool joke on Saturday, with her old snowstorm and gale.

Mr. Charles S. Drowne has sold the wreck of the schooner Flying Dart, ashore on Rye beach, for $15, to a resident of Rye.

The Advertiser of Portland, Me., says: "Dr. F. J. Bonney, dentist, of Portsmouth, N. H., a former resident of this state, has opened an office for the practice of dentistry in the suite of rooms over L. A. Gould's store corner of Congress and Brown streets. This office is one of the most commodious and best equipped in the state."

Two militia companies, one in Exeter and another in Great Falls, were recently disbanded. Authority has been given to organize a company in Newmarket, to take the place of the Exeter company, and fifty-eight young men signed the roll on Saturday. Officers will be elected in a few days.

A two-year-old child of police officer Jerry Sullivan, of South Berwick, Me., playfully put a common bean in its mouth on Wednesday of last week, and it slipped down the throat, probably into the windpipe, and before relief could be obtained the child strangled to death. It lived only fifteen minutes after putting the bean in its mouth.

The Cape Ann yacht club has issued a challenge to any yacht club in Massachusetts interested in sailing races to sail a race in Gloucester harbor for stakes amounting to $500, the race to be between six boats challenging and six of the accepting club, three classes, two boats of each class from each club.

It is thought that the Newfoundland bill to prohibit the selling of bait to American and French fishermen will fail, a change having occurred in the popular sentiment regarding it.

Much interest was aroused in this city on Sunday by the report in a Boston Sunday paper that the Cunard steamer Scythia, with 800 passengers, went ashore about three miles from Scituate, Mass., at a late hour Saturday evening, in a bad position, with the wind blowing sixty-five miles an hour—a furious gale—and a thick snowstorm prevailing; and that at the latest advices a terrible loss of life was feared. No confirmatory reports of any serious disaster were received by telegraph during the day.

W. F. Whitcher, ex-commissioner of fisheries of the Dominion of Canada, publishes a letter endorsing the opinion of Hon. William McDougall in regard to the construction to be placed on that part of the treaty of 1818 covering the rights of American fishermen in Canadian ports. Mr. Whitcher says that such a thing as preventing people from selling bait to Americans, or preventing the latter from purchasing it, was never contemplated; what the formers of the treaty designed to do was to prevent American fishermen from fishing for bait with seines or otherwise within the three-mile limit.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEEK, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

Improvement of the Nose.

It is a misfortune for any girl's face to have a mannish nose. The next time you are in an assemblage of maidens improve the opportunity to see how many of them are not pretty, but would be if their noses were nicely feminine. I wouldn't distress the hump nosed by mentioning the subject were it not that the days of their necessary oppression are numbered. Dr. J. is an eminent physician. I desire to make that point clear, so as to avoid the suspicion that I am foisting a humbug or an advertisement upon my readers. He is president of the high and professionally mighty academy of medicine, which is a strictly orthodox and conventional body. At the last meeting over which he presided another surgical magnum, Dr. B., exhibited a saw with which to improve noses. Doctors forfeit their professional standing and get turned out of their medical associations, you know, if they patent or keep secret any discovery. So Dr. B. divulged his instrument for reconstructing nasal deformities. It was simply a very fine, thin saw, so fixed in a handle that it could be inserted in the nose and there operated. With it, he explained, he could saw out portions of the septum, which is the gristle part of the nose, and thus reduce the protuberance. Of course his idea was to thus use it for the cure of cases where the malformation interfered with the natural functions of the organ, and he had operated with it successfully in numerous instances. I asked him if he wouldn't apply it for the mere sake of improving the shape.

"I hardly think that would be professional," he answered.

"But it would be practical!"

"Undoubtedly."

"And no disfiguring scar would mark the result?"

"Not any."

"Would you perform this operation if you deemed it necessary as a prevention of madness?"

"Yes."

"All right, then. Every girl with a big, crooked nose will go crazy if refused an operation that would transform her from ugliness to beauty."—Clara Belle's Letter.

A Spanish Gunpowder Plot.

During the sitting of the Spanish chamber of deputies at Madrid on the 2d inst., a parchment case containing gunpowder within which was a metallic cartridge with a fuse attached, was found inside the door of the president's bureau. Later in the evening a petard was exploded in the vestibule adjoining the office of the minister of finance, and windows were broken by the concussion. Nobody was injured, but the two events have caused much alarm.

LOST.—"I don't know where, I can't tell when, I don't see how—something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz.; a good appetite."

FOUND.—"Health and strength, pure blood, an appetite like that of a wolf, regular digestion, all by taking that popular and peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I want everybody to try it this season." It is sold by all druggists. One hundred does one dollar.

A large two-masted schooner, name unknown, ran on the shoals several miles off Cotuit, between Nantucket and Hyannis, Mass., during the storm Saturday night, and sunk, only the mastheads being visible from the shore. A boat was sent to her aid Sunday afternoon, but the vessel's crew were not found, and they are supposed to have been lost.

The report that the Cunard steamer Scythia was ashore at Scituate, Mass., Saturday night, published in a Boston Sunday paper, was a canard of the rankest sort. The Scythia arrived at her dock in East Boston at 6:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, not having been any nearer the shore than she chose to go; and no vessel of any kind went ashore at or near Scituate during the storm.

Always Keep The Upper Hand Of Disease.

Changes of temperature are apt to cause dangerous sickness; in the full-blooded apoplexy is to be feared. When you have a pain in the head, feel dizzy, feverish, rheumatic or sick at the stomach take at once three to ten of Brandreth's Pills. Such slight affections are only the harbingers of disease or sudden prostration, and the thing to do is to master the trouble at once. Never let a little sickness get the better of you. Drive it out of doors immediately. Let there be no compromise, always have with you a box of Brandreth's Pills, and you are prepared to fight the worst form of sickness in its incipiency.

A despatch of April 3d from Berlin says: "Three persons who were concerned in the attempt to assassinate the czar by means of bombs in St. Petersburg on March 13th, were hanged last Thursday morning. Twenty more officers in various branches of the service have been arrested in connection with the attempt against the life of the czar in the park of the Gatschina palace on Tuesday last."

The Hotel Del Monte Burned.

The immense Hotel Del Monte at Monterey, Cal., owned by the Southern Pacific railroad, was totally destroyed by fire on the night of April 1st, with all the furniture and the effects of about 300 guests, most of whom were from the east; loss $1,500,000; no lives were lost. The fire is believed to have been incendiary, the costly and powerful water works provided for fire purposes having been tampered with so that they were useless when needed.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Geo. B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

Delights of Army Life.

Notwithstanding what few to the contrary there would be on such a subject, there is no entertainment which can compare to that of an army post. No hop room can be so fascinating as one draped in the long, heavy flags which always form the chief decoration. There is no music as delightful as that of a trained military band, and no citizen's dress suit ever made could hold its own against the blue uniform and white stripes of the officers' full dress. No woman in the army is ever a wall flower. No matter how old she is, whether married or single, she always has the best dancers in the room ask her for one dance at least, and if she is pretty and attractive she is as much of a belle as in the palmiest days of her girlhood. That is said to be one of the compensations of army life, and a delightful one it is to be sure. One hears a great deal about the drawbacks and privations of army life, but I fail to sympathize with the croakers. I looked around the pretty parlor of one of the most charming women I have ever met, the wife of the adjutant, at her card party last week, and I wondered how a room could be made any more delightful in civil life. To be sure, taste goes a long way, and all may not have it in such a degree, but her dainty little cabinets, her rugs, her pictures and books, her guitar, her exquisite vases and bric-a-brac, made that room a most attractive background for the gay, homelike company assembled there, with herself for a fascinating centerpiece.—El Paso Cor. Chicago News.

Wolves Near Rome.

It is a long time since the reward for killing a wolf in the plain has been claimed at the capitol in Rome, but the custom of bestowing such reward is, it appears, in full force when it can be legitimately claimed. A shepherd in the neighborhood of the Tre Fontane, the well known Trappist monastery, a very short distance from Rome, saw several wolves the other day prowling near his flock, having been driven down, undoubtedly, by the immense quantities of snow that have fallen on the hills surrounding the Campagna. Although alone, he bravely gave chase to the animals, and succeeded in killing one, which he afterward brought in to the capital, where the usual reward of 100f. was at once paid him. Had it been a female he would have received 150f. It is many years since such an incident has taken place.—Rome Cor. London Standard.

Strong Meat, but Juiceless.

As a rule, there is as little zest in the perusal in printed sermons as there is in the mere recollection of last summer's peaches. Their luscious flavor may not be canned. It takes the momentous occasion, the sympathetic audience, the roused attention, the pealing, pulsating voice, the animated form, the fire and soulpower of the speaker—all to make the powerfully impressive discourse, and often to print a sermon, no matter how popular it may have been upon delivery, is but to give it a black coffin, in which it will be hurried, with all other dead things, to dust and ashes. It is a curious fact that, in all time, hardly a dozen pulpit orators have succeeded in producing sermons which any considerable number of people would read. No wonder, for, indeed, they are generally rather dry dishes; strong meat, may be, but juiceless and without any gravy.—Globe-Democrat.

The Pilots of New York.

The pilots of New York bay and Boston harbor are sometimes met with from 100 to 200 miles from the land. They are cruising about in the track of incoming steamers, and almost always appear in ample season to offer their services. But if no pilot comes, the ship lies outside the harbor and signals for one. The corps on the pilot boat have regular turns, and the pilot to whose lot this vessel falls is rowed out to her.

He is bound to answer the signal by day or by night, in sunshine or in the fiercest storm. Nothing but the absolute certainty that the boat cannot live in the sea running between him and the vessel will release him from his obligation.—Youth's Companion.

How a Rat Sleeps.

When sleeping a rat rolls himself up into a ball and places his nose down between his hind legs; he curls his tail around the outside of his body; no part of him projecting but his two delicate ears, which are adapted for catching every sound.—Chicago Times.

Departure in Paper Manufacture.

It is understood that a very important new departure has been made in the paper manufacture, by the erection of works in the neighborhood of London for the utilization for that purpose of stable manure, etc. The results obtained in this process are said to be so satisfactory that, after due provision has been made for the value of the chemical products of the materials employed, the cost of producing the paper is next to nothing.—Industries.

Farmers and Farm Products.

Only 20 per cent. of the population of Pennsylvania are farmers, and her lands were returned in 1880 at $49 per acre, and the average general product of each farm worker was $400. Georgia has 75 per cent. of her population on the farms, and her farming lands average $4 per acre, and the average of farm labor is $140 per annum.—Chicago Times.

The World's Way.

While a man lives in this world he seldom gets credit for all he does and says. When he dies he gets credit for three times as much as he ever did or said.—Baltimore American.

THE BRINK OF THE PRECIPICE.

The Slight Step that has Proven Fatal to So Many Men and Women.

Recently Senator Pike, of New Hampshire, while talking with a friend suddenly threw up his head, gasped, and without a word fell to the ground dead. Gen. McClellan went out for a drive, came home and died in his chair. Wm. H. Vanderbilt is conversing with Mr. Garrett of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in his own house, and suddenly falls to the floor dead. A prominent citizen of Boston hastens to catch a train at the depot, and dies before the train leaves the station. A well-known society lady of Hartford while dancing at a reception, suddenly becomes faint, and before she can be conveyed from the room has ceased to breathe. These are a few of the sudden deaths of which we hear, but the vast number of which we do not hear is thousands. Are they all caused by heart disease? Do the mysterious beatings of that delicate instrument, that works day and night without ceasing, stop of their own accord, and thus bring death at once?

FELL DEAD.

Mr. Henry T. Dodge resides at East Providence, R. I. About six months ago he felt a shortness of breath, a peculiar faintness and occasional shooting pains at his heart. He noticed that his pulse was irregular and would once in a while skip a beat. These symptoms were not continuous and some days he would feel as well as usual, but at other times he would be painfully aware that he had a heart and that it was diseased. Finally his body began to bloat, and he consulted a number of doctors. They all pronounced his trouble heart disease, but would not prescribe for him, because they said it was beyond their reach. Mr. Dodge then went to Dr. George D. Wilcox, one of the best physicians in New England. After a careful examination Dr. Wilcox told him there was but one thing that could cure him, and to try that as a last resort. With but little hope, Mr. Dodge consented. In two days the bloating disappeared, the pain departed, the pulse became full and regular, and Mr. Dodge is well and in perfect health to-day because Hunt's Remedy saved him from death.

THE DOCTOR'S CALL.

Dr. Wilcox, in conversation with the writer on this subject said: "In a careful observation extending over twenty years, I have found Hunt's Remedy in vast numbers of cases of an organic nature exceedingly efficient and acting very promptly. Its power is best illustrated in valvular heart lesions with dropsy, also in simple enlargement of the heart without valvular disease. When the heart becomes weakened and unable to circulate the blood, Hunt's Remedy is so very efficient that I have been in the habit of naming it 'Heart Tonic.'"

ONE OUT OF FIVE.

This is what one of the ablest physicians in this country says about this wonderful remedy, which has won its way to such popularity solely on its merits. One out of every five men, women and children has functional disease of the heart and one out of every eight organic disease of the heart! This is a terrible fact, but a solemn fact, nevertheless, and it is cause for gratitude that a remedy has been found which will not only check this disease in time, but prevent its increase after the first symptoms are observed.

"A word to the wise is sufficient."

FACT AND FANCY--THE "BULL" STORY.

The Portsmouth correspondent of a Boston paper mentions the recent visit of Rev. L. F. McKinney of Manchester to this city, and the measures taken to see if a sufficient number of suitable young men are willing to enrol themselves as a military company here, and adds:

This is a different method of recruiting from that employed by the late Captain Theodore F. Rowe of this city, when he raised the company which went to Mexico under his command. Captain Rowe, who had previously been captain of the Portsmouth artillery, a state militia company, on receiving proper authority from the national government opened a recruiting office in the sky parlor of the brick building on Daniel street, which fifteen of twenty years later was the locality of a real war, when the office of the States and Union was gutted by a mob, the forms pied, the press smashed and the cases of type pitched into the street. At the door and from the windows of the recruiting office were displayed flags bearing patriotic mottoes and urging enterprising young men to go in for fame by enlisting in the new company, and a drummer and fifer were engaged to parade around the ball and discourse soul-stirring music. Pretty soon two recruits signed the roll, and then came street parades, the drum and fife calling aloud on all who loved their country to hasten to enlist, and all the little boys and girls who dared to play hooky from school followed the pageant on its semi-daily rounds. At length the company was filled, and left here with a total of seventy-eight men as Company C, Ninth Regiment, United States Infantry. Captain Theodore F. Rowe was in command. Colonel John H. Jackson, now in the Boston custom house, and who, during the war of secession, so gallantly led one of the New Hampshire regiments, was first lieutenant. Major Alfred J. Hill, now of this city, was first sergeant, and Havilah Downing of this city, now deceased, was third sergeant. Three laundresses, regularly enlisted, left this city with the company; two of them sent home from Vera Cruz, but Mrs. Ann Downing, wife of Havilah Downing, and now a resident of Portsmouth, remained with the company, entered the city of Mexico with the rest of the soldiers, and returned and was honorably mustered out at the close of the war. She and Major Hill are the only survivors of the company now living here.

From Major Hill we learn that the company started from Portsmouth with seventy-eight men all told, of whom eighteen were enlisted in this city, twenty were from Manchester, twenty-seven from Dover, one each from Rye, Durham and Nashua, and the remainder from other places. The company arrived in Mexico with seventy-two men and returned with twenty-eight, one having deserted in Mexico, two having been transferred to another company, and forty having been returned as killed or missing during the campaign.

Previous to taking part in the Mexican war, where his conduct throughout was marked by undaunted courage and every soldierly quality, Captain Rowe, as commander of the Portsmouth Artillery, had been engaged in one lively skirmish, which created more sport than military encounters usually do. According to tradition, the company had been out one beautiful autumn afternoon for their annual half-day company muster and target shoot, and were returning via South road when they met a bull.

Now, this bull, unless the local historians are mistaken, was the most even-tempered of his genus and sex, and could be relied upon with the most absolute confidence; like the young man in the old sentimental song, who was advised by his friends to seek in foreign lands forgetfulness of the sweetheart whom his friends would not allow him to marry—noble young man he must have been—there was no change in him; he was mad all the time, under all circumstances, and way through. The artillerymen had considerable red on their uniform, and were headed by a brass band. The appearance of a body of men moving with measured step would have been regarded by this bull as a personal insult; but when they wore red and had a brass band, the insult became unbearable.

As the company neared him he lowered his head, pawed the dust, and way in his interior produced a series of noises which sounded like dumping a load of potatoes down the cellarway; but at length one grand crash from the band, with cymbals and bass drum on top, proved the final back-breaking straw, and he shot himself endwise at the company like a bolt from a catapult.

For a few brief moments a cloud of dust, with the tufted end of a bull's tail waving above it, swept along the road; then came a tremendous bang of the bass drum, a wild squawk of all the other instruments, and then for a half minute there was such an exhibition of wall scaling as no military company ever succeeded in emulating before or since. It is related that one of the bandsmen went up a tree after getting over the wall, and in his excitement failed to notice when he reached the top of the tree, and climbed nearly thirty feet higher before he stopped. When the dust cleared away the only person in sight was the bull, who was prancing around in the road with the bass drum for a belt, he having gone into one end and half-way out through the other.

Just how the soldiers got home is not related, history leaving the bull in the middle of the road with the bass drum around his waist; but when the company went on their next target shoot they bore aloft a banner on which was painted a good portrait of the bull, minus the drum attachment, to serve as a target. There may be some inaccuracies in this account; the occurrence took place half a century ago, and tradition is not always reliable; but it is certain there was a bull, and that he did rout the artillery a long time ago.

The historian of this pre-historic "battle of bull run" seems to have taken the same poetic liberty with facts which has characterized the writings of many authors of magazine articles concerning the secession war. The true story of the collision between the bull and the Portsmouth artillery, as related to us by Hon. John Dame, who was orderly sergeant of the company at the time, is as follows:

Along toward the autumn of 1838, the democrats of Portsmouth, in honor of some victory their party had won or was intending to win, resolved to fire a salute of 100 guns, and engaged the artillery to do it. The salute was commenced to be fired on the Noble's island bridge, but at the third discharge Mr. Meshach T. Muchmore was terribly injured; the salute was stopped and the guns taken back to the arsenal at the south end, where they belonged, and the ninety-seven unused cartridges were also stored there, which was against the law regarding the storage of gunpowder.

Some weeks later, when the autumn company drill was taking place on Marden's hill, between what is now Langdon park and the premises of Mr. James R. Yeaton, one of the democratic committee told Capt. Rowe that the powder had got to be removed from the gun house, and if the company would go and get it they might have it to burn in the guns. This was at once agreed to, and in a short time the company, formed in hollow square with the men carrying the ammunition boxes in the centre, was on the return from the gun house. When about abreast of where Capt. J. Albert Sanborn's new house now stands, a young man was met, leading a small bull about two years old. The animal appeared much excited on passing the company, and when the band struck up, just after he got by, he became uncontrollable, broke away from the man who was leading him, and started on a rush back toward his regular stamping grounds.

As the bull approached the company some of the men broke ranks, while others were not aware of his approach, and he raced by on the right flank so close that he could easily have been killed, then turning to the right and jumping over a wall into a field where a large number of children had gathered to "see the sogers." A man who got in his way was knocked end over end, but the incident caused a diversion of route, and after running around a barn the bull fell to the ground, totally exhausted with fright and exertion. The company proceeded to the muster ground, burned the unlucky powder, and returned to the arsenal without casualty.

This affair of course created a good deal of sport among the people of the town, and not a little fun was poked at the company about the "South road bull-fight." Some of the boys felt rather sore about it, but the rest shared in the general mirth, and at the next company meeting the captain suggested that as the public had got the laugh on the company the only thing to do was to fall in with it good humoredly; so when they started out, a short time after, on their annual target shoot, they paraded the streets with a target on which was painted a bull, the display drawing forth hearty applause and laughter from the spectators.

Mr. Albert Magee and wife have arrived in this city from their home in California, and will spend a portion of the coming summer here.

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and find no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The statement of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

On the 18th of August, 1885, I suffered very badly from an attack of rheumatism and was recommended to try Athlophoros. On taking one-half a bottle my rheumatism left me and I have not suffered any from it since. Would recommend this medicine to all suffering with rheumatism.

FRANK E. PUTNEY, 220 Walnut St.

Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1886.

A man suffering with sciatic rheumatism is liable to do most anything to rid himself of that complaint. By exposure, I contracted the disease, and although being doctored, I grew worse in spite of all that could apparently be done to relieve intense pain. I was obliged to stand while eating, and unless completely exhausted I was unable to get any sleep; at times I would have to get out of bed in the dead of night, go into the street and tire myself out by walking to get sleep. Still the pain and its cause hung to me. I commenced to use Athlophoros. After a few doses there was a change for the better, and in good time came the cure so much hoped for and found at last only in Athlophoros. C. P. JORDAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 39 degrees above zero.

STILL ANOTHER.

The Congregational chapel on Middle street was also entered last week, probably on Friday night, as there was a meeting in the building on Friday evening, and everything was all right then so far as is known; it is thought likely that the marauder concealed himself in the cellar at the time of the meeting, and ransacked the chapel after the meeting dissolved. The library and banquet hall were invaded, books scattered about, desks and closets forced open and their contents overhauled, some damage done and much confusion created; but it is not known if anything was stolen. There was no trace discovered of how the burglar entered or left the building.

AND ONE MORE.

Some time between midnight on Saturday and opening time Monday morning, a rear window of Freeman Pearson's provision store on Market street was tampered with, the outside casing having been pried off, and a square of glass in the window broken so that an arm could be reached in to throw back the catch. Nothing is reported as missing from the store, and it is not positive that the store-breaker entered.

CONCERT PROGRAMME.

The following is the programme of the concert to be given by Blaisdell's orchestra on the occasion of the Athletic Club's ball in Franklin hall on the evening of the 14th inst.

1. Overture, Oberon, Weber
2. Paraphrase, Die Lorley, Nesvadba
3. Cornet Solo, Carnival de Venice, Hartmann
   Mr. A. F. Nevers.
4. Humorous Selection, Yankee Patrol, Anderson
5. String Quartette, Andante from op 11. Tschaikowsky
   Messrs. Blaisdell, Everett, Straw, Stockbridge
6. Grand Selection, Erminie Jacobowski.

IS IT A CONSPIRACY?

Circumstances give a strong color of certainty to the suspicion that the Portsmouth heodlums are carrying out a deep-laid conspiracy to prevent the police from getting their pay raised. Some months ago, when the good seed planted by the municipal-reform correspondent of the Manchester Union was about to fructify in the shape of an ordinance to increase the compensation of the force from the marshal down, Messrs. Callahan and Blute organized their famous raid. This untoward affair caused the shelving of the pay-raising ordinance for a time, and it ramained on the shelf until last Thursday evening, when it was taken down by the aldermen, the dust brushed off, some amendments made, and the measure passed. But again, Fate—or conspiracy. The bill as amended has only passed one board of the city councils, and must be agreed to by the other before the signatures of the mayor and the president of the council will make it operative; and on the very night when it passed the first board there was another burglarious raid, the churches of the city this time receiving the attentions of the thieves, three or four consecrated edifices having been entered and ransacked, with returns from several wards yet to come in. These burglars probably did more church-going last week than ever before in all their lives put together; and it might not be considered too severe a punishment for them, if caught, to make them listen attentively to the very longest possible sermon in each of the churches they have so improperly patronized. And it would seem to be advisable for the city government to get through the consideration of the police ordinance as quick as possible, and also to notify the public beforehand whenever the bill is to be brought up, so that bull dogs could be turned loose and shot guns loaded in readiness for the regular business of the occasion.

SIBERIA.

There was a large and fashionable audience at Music hall on Monday evening, when "Siberia," the most successful of Bartley Campbell's plays, was performed for the first time in this city, though the company presenting it have been performing it for four years past in other parts of the country. The special scenery is very fine and the performers perfect in their several parts, and the entertainment gave the highest satisfaction in all points.

Meeting of Storer Post, G. A. R., Wednesday evening, 6th inst.

Can it be possible that Andy Callahan has again taken up his residence in this city?

E. P. Kimball, Esq., president of the First national bank, has gone to Texas on a business tour.

Messrs. Jenness & Dowd are making a handsome monument for Boatswain John McCaffery, U. S. N., to be erected in the Catholic cemetery near the Plains this spring.

Messrs. Levi Marden and James McCarthy, formerly members of the police force, are now driving the city teams recently in charge of James Broughton, Jr., and George Ramsdell, and resigned by them to take private positions.

The audience at Francis P. Quinlan's temperance lecture in Music hall on Sunday afternoon was but a handful—less than thirty—and the attendance in the evening was less than 200; but some of those who were there thought the attendance quite as good as the discourse.

John Kelly was ordered to recognize in $1500, before United States Commissioner Hackett on Saturday, for his appearance at the May term of the United States circuit court to answer to a charge of unlawfully receiving from a marine from the barracks at the navy yard certain clothing, the property of the United States. Bail was furnished. The government will proceed against Kelly in a civil suit.

The unseasonable snowstorm of last Saturday almost wholly ruined the extra-good trade usually enjoyed by our business people on that day of the week. As an illustration of the damaging effects of the storm it is related that in one of the longest established and most popular barber shops in the city the first "shave" to enter the place arrived at eleven o'clock, and after having his needs attended to told the barber to "chalk it up."

A despatch of April 4th from Washington says: "The U. S. S. Kearsarge, which has been lying at the Portsmouth navy yard for some months, awaiting the action of Secretary Whitney upon the report of the board of survey, is to be repaired and again put in active service. An order to that effect will be issued in a day or two."

The steamer Katahdin, which put into the lower harbor April 2d for shelter while on the passage from Winterport for Boston, sailed for her destination on Sunday, the 3d, and arrived there all right.

The violent northeast gale of Saturday, April 2d, was the most severely felt at Vineyard Haven of any for several years, and a number of disasters resulted. Schooner Maggie J. Chadwick, from Portland for Bridgeport with a cargo of paper pulp, parted one chain, broke windlass, drifted foul of several vessels, and to prevent further damage slipped the remaining chain and went ashore on the west side of the harbor, where she filled. Schooner Charter Oak, of Wiscasset, slipped both cables, went ashore on Cannel flats, at the east side of the harbor, and filled. Schooner Lugano, Clark, with pig iron from New York for Boston, had her jibboom broken by collision with schooner Eric, parted both chains, fouled the schooner Margaret, of Cherryfield, Me., carrying away the latter's jibboom and headgear, and then went ashore at the head of the harbor. Schooner Isaac Burpee, from St. John, N. B., for New York with spiles, slipped her chains and ran ashore in a nice place. Schooner Union, lumber laden, dragged two anchors ashore, and filled. Schooner Alpine, of Deer Isle, Me., Marshall master, bound from Port Johnson for this port with coal, lost one cathead, main and quarter rail, one davit, and had three timbers broken, by collision with schooner Providence; slipped both anchors, and ran hard ashore at the head of the harbor; she is a small craft, registering but little over a hundred tons, and was built in 1839. The schooner Edward H. Furber, Wentworth master, from Boston for New York with a load of empty barrels, parted a hawser and one anchor chain, slipped the remaining chain, and went well up on the beach at the east side of the harbor; this schooner is a two-master of over 300 tons register, and was built at this port in 1864. A number of minor accidents are also reported as resulting from the gale.

The Boston & Maine railroad bridge over Salmon Falls river, connecting Salmon Falls and South Berwick, which is to be pulled down in a few weeks and replaced by a new one, is a wooden five-span bridge. Orrin S. Ross, bridge engineer of the road, has drawn plans for a stone bridge of six arches, a total length of 400 feet, to cost $150,000; an iron bridge to cost $40,000 is also spoken of, but it is not decided which kind will be built.

Those wool worsted suitings in plain and mixed colorings, are the very best. No. 6 Market street. J. W. Moses.

The Gloucester fishing schooner Abbie F. Morris reports the loss of two of her crew by the capsizing of a dory on the Grand banks.

Vessels arriving at Gloucester from the banks report the storm of April 2d the severest for several years, and serious damage is feared.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass. 100 Doses One Dollar.

SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA Soap, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va. Reference, G. W. Latimer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. All tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured.

E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs. Henry Klotz, who had letter on her hands to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for nearly two years she suffered great[ly], was completely cured by the use of your medicines.

C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.

In the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success; and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA.

MRS. ISAAC PHELPS, Ravenna, O.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction.

C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere: Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; RESOLVENT, $1.00; SOAP, 25 cents. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one Box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

Not That Kind of a Toy.

A despatch from Hartford, Conn., of April 3d, says:

Joseph Toy, head of the firm of Toy, Beckford & Co., of Simsbury, the oldest manufacturers of safety fuse in this country, died suddenly on Saturday, aged seventy-nine years.

To a correspondent who asks, "Is this the inventor of the Toy pistol?" we answer emphatically no! The toy pistol has no safety fuse at either end, and the long life of the deceased proves conclusively that he never toyed with it.

LOST.—"I don't know where, I can't tell when, I don't see how—something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz.: a good appetite."

FOUND.—"Health and strength, pure blood, an appetite like that of a wolf, regular digestion, all by taking that popular and peerless medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I want everybody to try it this season." It is sold by all druggists. One hundred does one dollar.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com't Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 188

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquof that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

CURIOUS METHODS OF PUNISHMENT.

The Roman Twelve Tables—Treason in England—In Persia—At Grand Cairo.

There are many curious things in the history of punishment. In the Roman twelve tables it is ordained that whoever shall not be able to bring in a witness to prove his pretensions before the judge may go and make a clamor for three days before his adversary's dwelling. A debtor refusing to pay his debt could be taken home by his creditor, where he could be tied by the neck or have irons put on his feet to the weight of fifteen pounds. "If the debtor be insolvent to several creditors let his body be cut in pieces on the third market day. It may be cut into more or fewer pieces; or, if the creditors consent, let him be sold to foreigners beyond the Tiber." An incendiary was punished with scourging and burning to death. False witnesses were thrown headlong from the Capitol. Those who stole what belonged to the gods were thrown into the Tiber. Slaves who stole were thrown from the Capitol. Treason, always considered the odious crime in England, was punished by death, the criminal being drawn to the place of execution by tying the culprit's feet to the tail of a horse and so dragging him to the scaffold. Arrived at the place of execution he was hanged by the neck for a few minutes, and then, while alive, taken down, bound to a stake, his heart and viscera cut out and burned before his face. His head was then cut off with a butcher's knife and his body divided into four parts. Sir Edward Coke justified this punishment on the ground of the scriptural punishment of Bightan, Joab and Judas. Pirates were hung at low water at the east side of the tower. When it was found that the burns made in the hand could be obliterated, during the reign of Edward III, it was ordered that criminals should be burned in the cheek. As the English laws became less bloody the crimes for the punishment of which they were intended became less frequent. In the decennial periods ending 1820, 1830, 1840 and 1850 the number of executions were respectively 212, 178, 62 and 37.

The Persians considered parricide so awful that they could not believe any one could be guilty of it, and, therefore, they had no punishment for it. But the Egyptians punished the crime by sticking pointed reeds into every portion of the criminal and then burning his body upon a fire of thorns. The Druids punished parricide by burning alive and the Romans by drowning.

Some curious punishments are reported as existing at Grand Cairo about 100 years ago. If a baker sold short weight, or bad bread, for the first offense all the bread found in the shop was given to the poor; and then the offender nailed to his door, sometimes by one ear and sometimes by both for the space of twelve hours. For the second offense, his bread was distributed as aforesaid, and he received the punishment of the bastinado, 200 or 300 blows on his feet or back. After this a large bread board, heavily loaded with lead, was put on his shoulders, his head sticking through a hole in the middle. Then he was marched through the streets until he felt ready to drop. If he committed a third offense he was beheaded. If a butcher sold short weight, or bad meat, for the first offense he was tied to a post where the sun could shine upon him all day, then some putrid flesh was hung close to his face and he had to pay a money fine. For a second offense he suffered severe corporal punishment, for the third, death. Thieves and housebreakers were put to death after suffering torture. Pickpockets and thieves taken in the act were beheaded without trial. A professional housebreaker suffered the most. He was put naked on a camel, his feet being tied beneath the animal, then lighted candles were thrown over his shoulders, the wicks down, so that they would burn upward. The criminal was marched through the principal streets, and when the candles were all burned out he was taken to "the black square" and there beheaded.—The Earth.

Sharks in the Bahamas.

The sharks are not inviting, but there is a tradition that they do not take kindly to black flesh. Indeed, it is hard to find a proof that they meddle with human flesh of any color, in spite of such veracious stories as that with which the Duke of Edinburgh was entertained when here. According to this account a boat carrying five men was upset off the coast and nothing more was seen of its occupants until a shark was captured, within whose proper receptacle were stowed away five human skeletons, neatly arranged in a row. Clinging to the breast bone of the man eater was the silver watch carried by the former occupant of one of these skeletons—still going. Without vouching for this story in all of its details, I can testify that I saw an unpleasantly suggestive looking fin gleaming above the water near the spot where I had taken my boy of 10 in the day before. One of the favorite pastimes of this land, which affords so little game of any size, is the hunting of sharks.—The Century.

London's Unburied Poor.

One of the harrowing features of London life is the keeping of dead bodies—sometimes cases of contagious disease—for days and even weeks unburied in houses because their friends were too poor to bury them or the parish had no morgue. The English newspapers have contained shocking recitals of cases of this kind. Recently a man was discovered in Birmingham who had kept the body of his sister for twenty years because he could not pay for a decent burial.—New York Journal.

In Spain 113 mills are continually running to supply the Spaniards with paper for their cigarettes.

SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va.
Reference, G. W. Latimer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured
E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs. Henry Kinis, who had letter on her hands to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered great y, was completely cured by the use of your medicines.
C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.

For the last year I have had a species of Itching, scaly and pimply humor on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA.
MRS. ISAAC PHELPS, Ravenna, O.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction.
C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

CRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge are wholesale victims by the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Internal in relieving, permanent in curing; safe, economical and never-failing.

Presidential Talk.

The gossip contributor of the New York Tribune writes:

The kindly face of Senator Cheney, of New Hampshire, was to be seen at the Fifth Avenue hotel on Thursday. With his family he was en his way to Boston from Washington, to remain until the snow is off the hills at their home. They will spend the summer at their summer home at Rye beach. The senator, when asked about national politics, said: "I am in favor of the nomination of the strongest man. We are all trying to find out who that man is, and very few persons care to express their opinion as yet. There is less talk in Washington for Blaine than there appears to be over the country. Sherman is more talked about, and there is also talk about Allison or some new man. Lincoln would sweep the country. No power on earth could stop his election. But he has no state at his back to promote his nomination, and consequently is hardly to be considered as a candidate."

Mrs. Cheney, among the perquisites of her husband's senatorship, seems to have acquired a Washington malaria which will require the entire season's pure air at Straw's point to eradicate.

The Last Revolutionary Pensioner.

Mrs. Abigail S. Tilton of Woodstock, N. H., who died Feb. 19th at the age of ninety-seven years, enjoyed the distinction of being the last person to receive a pension from the United States on account of the revolutionary war. She was the widow of Benjamin Stevens, who according to the musty records of the pension office, participated in the battle of Bennington as a member of Captain McConnell's company, under command of General Stark. Mrs. Tilton was married a second time in 1831, but was divorced and resumed her maiden name. Her second marriage invalidated her right to a pension as the widow of Benjamin Stevens, but the state of New Hampshire subsequently granted her an allowance of $2 a week for the remainder of her natural life. About eight years ago Congress further increased this by the addition of $16 a month, to be paid to her as a special revolutionary pension, it having been alleged that she was "houseless, homeless and childless." The old lady is represented as having enjoyed good health and been in the full possession of all her mental and physical faculties, up to within a short period of her death. Until a year ago three other relicts of revolutionary heirs drew similar pensions through the Knoxville agency. But they have all died within the past twelve months, and Mrs. Tilton was the last link left connecting the government of to-day with the stormy scenes of 1776.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., April 5th.

Mr. Joshua Moore has been employed to take charge of the Boston & Maine railroad flag station at Butler's crossing. Mr. Thomas Williams, who has filled the position so acceptably for several years past, has been obliged to resign on account of failing health, and is now very sick at his home on Noble's island, Portsmouth. We trust however that he will soon be able to take charge again, with renewed vigor, as the warm, pleasant days of spring advance.

James W. Brown has contracted to build a large two-story frame dwelling at the old Haven farm in Portsmouth, to take the place of one that was burned there a short time ago.

The work of driving the piles for the York railroad bridge across Spruce creek was commenced last week, and will be pushed forward rapidly.

Miss Lizzie Grovener of Hallowell, Me., and Miss Bertha Grovener of Great Falls, N. H., were visiting their father, Rev. Francis Grovener, in this town on Sunday last.

Morrill Lodge of Good Templars, of North Kittery, will have a box party at their hall in the vestry of the first Methodist church on Friday evening, the 8th inst.; admission ten cents.

An occurrence savoring somewhat of the untamed west is reported as having taken place one evening last week in a house at Kittery Point where a number of the Italian and French Canadian railroad laborers board. The story is that at supper one of the men asked one of the table girls to bring him a cup of hot water, and on her handing it to him, dashed it in her face. Two York men, leaders of gangs, were at the table, and one of them instantly resented the insult offered the girl; and the assailant's countrymen commencing to assume a threatening attitude, the Yorker whipped out a very serious-looking revolver and drove them all out of the house, and refused to allow one of them to re-enter until the boarding-master returned, he having been absent when the trouble occurred.

The annual session of the grand lodge of Maine Good Templars will be held in city small hall, Lewiston, on Wednesday and Thursday, the 13th and 14th insts., Grand Chief Templar M. J. Dow presiding; it is expected to be a large and interesting meeting.

Edward G. Parker Post, G. A. R., will have their fair in Trefethen hall on Thursday and Friday of next week; seventy-three prizes will be awarded, the highest one being a lady's gold watch.

At the annual meeting of school district No. 2, held Monday evening last, William A. Fernald was elected agent, and Isaac H. Lambert clerk. As the school is likely to be made up mostly of small scholars the coming year, in consideration of this fact a movement was made to get a vote to employ a female teacher for the year, but the powers that be—or would be—ruled to the contrary, and the measure was defeated.

The heavy storm of Saturday last so completely blocked the roads with snow that in several sections of the town men were obliged to turn out and shovel on Sunday to make the roads passable.

Miss Betsey Picoat of North Kittery, for many years the efficient matron of the almshouse, died Saturday morning, the 2d inst., after a short illness with pneumonia, aged sixty-four years.

SUB ROSA.

KITTERY, ME., April 4th.

Messrs. Editors: I am encouraged to try my old pen once more. It does seem to me that my old shipmates, and the rest, do not look this matter of abolishing school districts square in the face as they should, for if no other good was to come of it, it would do away with the small "reign of terror" which prevails during the interregnum that follows our annual town meeting, viz., the conniving and engineering for school agents. Every neighborhood is closely canvassed, and the greatest sympathy manifested for every one old enough to vote——some of whom the same parties would at any other time "pass by on the other side." What is the chief end in view of these temporary missionaries? It is in most cases to choose an agent who will keep some friend in place, or who will make a vacancy for some one seeking a place, by deposing one just as good or better. Talk about politicians! Shiver my timbers (old formula) if some of them would not turn pale if asked to do such small jobs. "Fly swift around, ye wheels of time," and grant us something better than these officials with dull axes to grind, most of whom are committed to some petty interest before they take the oath of office,—which is sailing altogether too near the wind. JOE.

It having been announced in a New York paper that a boycott had been placed by the Knights of Labor district assemblies upon the New York Sun, Typographical Union No. 6 of New York on the 3d inst. adopted resolutions denouncing any such attempt to muzzle the press of that city or of the country, and declaring for the expression of honest opinion by the press upon all matters touching the public welfare. This is the action of common sense; any organization whose principles and practices cannot stand free discussion should go down, and will.

Chicago had a city election on Tuesday, the 5th inst., and a heavy vote was being polled up to noon. For mayor, Roche, republican, was well ahead, the better class of democrats voting for him in large numbers. Carter Harrison, who has disgraced the city for several years by being its mayor, and the gambling hells, rum holes and brothels which made and kept him mayor, with some considerable aid from the able counters and forgers of his party, were all in favor of Neil, the socialist candidate.

At the Cincinnati city election, April 4th, the board of elections at first announced a democratic victory, but on revision of their figures discovered a mistake which elected the other ticket by 600 majority.

Michigan had an election on the 4th inst.; the republican state ticket was successful by 10,000 majority.

The democratic city ticket, including the mayor, was elected in Cleveland, Ohio, April 4th, by 3000 majority.

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and find no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The testimonial of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

On the 18th of August, 1885, I suffered very badly from an attack of rheumatism and was recommended to try Athlophoros. On taking one-half a bottle my rheumatism left me and I have not suffered any from it since. Would recommend this medicine to all suffering with rheumatism.

FRANK E. PUTNEY, 220 Walnut St.

Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1886.

A man suffering with sciatic rheumatism is liable to do most anything to rid himself of that complaint. By exposure, I contracted the disease, and although being doctored, I grew worse in spite of all that could apparently be done to relieve intense pain. I was obliged to stand while eating, and unless completely exhausted I was unable to get any sleep; at times I would have to get out of bed in the dead of night, go into the street and tire myself out by walking to get sleep. Still the pain and its cause hung to me. I commenced to use Athlophoros. After a few doses there was a change for the better, and in good time came the cure so much hoped for and found at last only in Athlophoros. C. P. JORDAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Fair weather, lower, followed by rising temperature, westerly winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 26 degrees above zero.

Sky Clear.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

At a special meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen, held Monday evening for the purpose of taking some action in regard to a proposition by the Boston & Maine railroad in regard to the overhead bridge at the Creek, there were present Mayor Eldredge, and Aldermen Littlefield, Locke, Magraw, Hodgdon and Conlon. After a few minutes discussion the matter was referred to the committee on streets and the mayor, with power to act. This committee met at the Creek Tuesday forenoon at 10:30 o'clock, and after some investigation concluded to communicate with the authorities of the railroad, stating that the city would be willing to extend the street ten feet farther eastward, making the span forty feet instead of thirty feet, as at present.

The aldermanic committee to whom was referred the question of changes in the police force and rules for its government met on Monday evening, and without action adjourned to Thursday.

WE ARE GETTING TIRED.

The store of Albert E. Rand on Middle street was broken into on Saturday night last, entrance being gained from the rear through a window, and a lot of cigars and tobacco, etc., stolen. The burglary must have occurred after the storm had ceased, as the foot prints of the thieves were plainly defined in the snow.

JURORS DRAWN.

Edwin W. Cochrane, Benjamin F. Canney and Benjamin J. Lake have been drawn as petit jurors from ward one, and Enoch J. Conner, John L. Frisbee and William Y. Evans from ward two, to serve at the April term of the supreme court for Rockingham county, commencing at Exeter on Tuesday, the 12th. Charles H. Downs has been drawn as grand juror from ward two, for the same term of court.

CHURCH MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Second Advent church and society was held on Monday evening; the reports showed the church to be in a flourishing condition, with bills all paid and money in the treasury, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Joseph Berry, Leonard Manson, elders; Ira C. Seymour, secretary and collector; Lawrence K. Lydston, treasurer.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Mr. George W. Bailey, who has been employed on the Eastern railroad wharf, Noble's island, for twenty years past as driver of stationary engines, has gone to work on the navy yard as engineer in the boat shop.

On Tuesday forenoon Mr. Daniel Trefethen, foreman joiner at the navy yard, was seriously injured while in the shop by being struck near the right ankle by a knife which flew from a planing machine, the flesh being torn and gashed to the bone, and several tendons injured or separated. The wound was dressed at the yard hospital, after which Mr. Trefethen was taken to his residence on Noble's island. It is hoped the foot may be saved.

It was reported on Tuesday evening that four block-makers had been notified to report at the navy yard block shop Wednesday morning to go to work, and that three of the four were democrats. That is an unusually large and very objectionable percentage of democrats; civil service reform can't stand any such division as that; three republicans to one democrat is the proper proportion,—unless the fourth republican can be raked up somewhere, in which case the democratic contingent can be dispensed with.

MARITIME NOTES.

The first of the brick fleet to make a start this season is the smallest of the fleet—the sloop Rosewood, Capt. Parker, which sailed on Tuesday for Boston with a load; she is forty-two feet long, and registers about eighteen tons. The schooners G. W. Raitt, Coleman master, Triton, Freeman master, and Hattie Lewis, Lowe master, were reported as at the draw-pier of Portsmouth bridge Tuesday afternoon, loaded and ready to sail.

The tug Ann, looking very nice in a new coat of paint, and all ready for work, was lying at Sise's wharf on Tuesday.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., April 4th.

Rev. Miss Lizzie Haley, the revivalist, has been preaching here for three weeks, holding meetings every afternoon and evening, and is to remain another week, or probably as long as the shekels are forthcoming. She is said to be a very pleasing speaker. Several conversions have been the result thus far.

The storm of last Saturday was a hard one, snow falling to the depth of a foot or more,—but the wind twisted it very much out of level, square or plumb.

The assessors of taxes are to be in session Friday and Saturday, the 8th and 9th days of April, to make an inventory of the estates, etc.

The Gorgeana Histrionic Club are to give a drama at S. S. S. hall on Tuesday evening, the 5th inst. They gave a good entertainment last year, and doubtless will this time.

John H. Roberts is agent in school district No. 13, and Frank P. Woodward is agent in district No. 12.

Our friend Lemuel Mitchell is again confined to the house by a trouble in one of his legs.

About sixty Frenchmen have arrived at J. P. Norton's, to work on the railroad, but as they cannot be utilized there at present, Mr. Norton has set them chopping wood. "J. P.," as he is familiarly known, is busy as some person (heard the name, but have forgotten it) in a gale of wind.

Henry Moulton's ladder teams are about starting out for the season.

Barrett, the harness maker at the village, is to remove his business from the Golden Cross building to the old store opposite W. M. Walker's store. Henry E. Evans, as vice president of the York Harbor & Beach railroad, will occupy one of the rooms vacated by Barrett, and Dr. J. C. Stewart will occupy the other as a drug store. Dr. Stewart intends, we learn, putting in a first-class drug establishment, with modern appliances, and a fine line of drugs and all that goes therewith, and will devote his talents to office practice and obstetrics only.

The bids for carrying the United States mails between York post-office and the York Beach (summer) office, were opened at the department on Saturday last. Have not heard the result.

Mr. Joseph L. Grant, his wife and his daughter, have been on the sick list for the past two weeks,—but are now convalescent. Dr. Hazen attends them.

Dr. Hazen on Friday last took from Mr. Eastman twelve pounds more water, making in all ninety-seven pounds at five tappings.

John L. Hatch, the painter, is engaged at Albert Junkins', Scotland parish, in decorating his house. The outlook for painting and papering is good. Buy your Room Papers and Paints, of all kinds, at Plaisted's. P.

Mr. Wm. B. Ogden and wife have engaged the Haven cottage at Newcastle for the coming summer.

It is rumored that the Laighton brothers, of Appledore, propose purchasing the DeNormandie property on State street.

At Christ church on Thursday evening, April 7th, the holy communion service will be celebrated. This is an anniversary service and is celebrated only on one night in the year—that before Good Friday.

We are reliably informed that Mr. James Farrell, formerly of this city, has settled the breach of promise suit brought against him some time ago, in a manner entirely satisfactory to the young lady who brought the suit.

Mr. Timothy Lane, familiarly known as "Tade" Lane, formerly of this city, who went away some five or six years ago as master-at-arms of the U. S. S. Hartford, and at the close of his term of service settled in Honolulu, Sandwich islands, and went into the express business, died there on the 5th of March last from injuries received through falling from a wagon.

A man named Sullivan on Sunday afternoon last attempted to get around the end of a fence recently put across the coal wharf of E. F. Sise & Co. to keep people off the premises on Sunday. In the attempt he lost his balance and fell into the dock, and the tide being out at the time he plumped into about four feet of highly odoriferous mud, the deposits of the sewers in years past. It took the united exertions of several men to pull him out of the mud.

A QUEER AFFAIR.

The Knights of Labor of Dover recently got up an immense fair. It was called a fair, but from what has been printed about it we should say it was a lottery pure and simple, with some 15,000 tickets at a dollar apiece, and many thousands of prizes, mostly cheap handkerchiefs, neckties, pocketbooks, cream pitchers, salt cellars, photograph frames, and such like, it being said that 6000 of the prizes were handkerchiefs. The drawing of these prizes is of course a work taking much time, and there has been plenty of "kicking" between the committee appointed to superintend the drawing, and the managers of the fair. The committee-men being required to work thirteen hours a day—five hours longer than the regulation Knights-of-Labor day — demanded that their day should be only ten hours, compensation $3, and that for all overtime they should receive thirty cents per hour; this the managers agreed to, and the first strike was thus ended, the drawing committee returning to work. But some of the managers, it is alleged, went about the city proclaiming that the seeming victory of the strikers was in seeming only, as the managers, when it came to settling up, would refuse to approve the bills of the committee for $3 per day of ten hours and thirty cents an hour extra, so they would only get $3 for a day of thirteen hours after all. This occasioned another strike on Saturday, the committee positively refusing to go on with the drawing until the managers signed an agreement guaranteeing their pay; and after a good deal of growling all around, the managers had to come to terms and sign. The Knights of Labor may be able to run all the manufacturing and other business of the country much better than the capitalists who furnish the money, but in running a lottery they are nowhere alongside the Louisiana chaps; nobody ever heard of Early and Beauregard "kicking" about their hours or their pay.

There was a sharp contest in school district number seven of Eliot (Eliot neck) on the evening of the 4th inst., over the election of an agent for the district. The candidates were Timothy Dame, late the chief clerk in the department of construction and repair at the navy yard, and Mr. Cole, son of Ichabod Cole, the present chief clerk in the construction department at the yard. Mr. Cole (the elder) held the clerkship mentioned for a number of years under former republican administrations, and was superceded by Mr. Dame, who was in turn superceded by Mr. Cole after the democrats secured control of the national government. These circumstances gave zest to the contest of Monday evening, and the navy yard cohorts of Eliot, under the able leadership of Admiral Cole, did gallant battle for the regular navy yard candidate; but it was n. g., which being interpreted means in this case "no go," for Mr. Dame was elected by one majority.

Miss Catherine L. Wolfe, long known as one of the wealthiest and most charitable women in the country, died at her home in New York on the 4th inst.

Spring Medicine

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N. Y.

It Was a Slander.

When it was reported last winter that two army ladies had presented themselves uninvited at a musicale given by Miss West, the daughter of the English minister at Washington, we questioned the accuracy of the statement. We see it now stated that on being asked by Mrs. Sheridan the names of the ladies, Miss West declined to reveal them. Finally Mrs. Sheridan addressed a letter to Miss West, begging the ladies' names, and saying that as the wife of the general of the army, and the social head of army society in Washington, she thought she was entitled to the information. Miss West reluctantly gave the names, and Mrs. Sheridan took the "Army Register," and hunted the officers' roster to identify the offenders. Her search was in vain, and she sent the register to Miss West, with a note vindicating the wives of army officers from any such charges of imperti-nence and ill-breeding as the story told by the mistress of the legation implied. But what is to be thought of the foreign courtesy which permitted the circulation of such a slander—the refutation of which was at hand in every "Army Register?"—Army & Navy Journal.

A Letter from a Conductor.

Owego, Tioga Co., N. Y., Dec. 17, 1885.—In 1879 I was taken suddenly with lumbago, while running my train through to Buffalo. I was completely floored, and utterly incapacitated from attending to my duties as conductor. Shortly after I was taken, every passenger knew of it, and one gentlemen, I can't remember his name now, came up with a box of Allcock's Porous Plasters and told me he would put two of them on. They had hardly been put on before I was relieved somewhat, and in fifteen or twenty minutes at most I was able to sit up straight, and in an hour was enough better to attend to my official work, and I kept on gaining and feeling better until I was entirely well. From that time to the present I have time and again used these plasters, and have yet to find them fail in relieving cough, or pain, or ache. My wife says she has not known what it is to have a backache for more than a few hours since Allcock's Porous Plasters were kept in the house.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum, U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had pooh-ed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters.

Respectfully, Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

LONDON'S TENEMENT CHILDREN.

A Host of Unwashed, Scantily Dressed, Juvenile Humanity at Play.

At all hours of the day, and but too often far into the night, there may be seen disporting itself in the roadway of the street—including its gutters—a good deal of unwashed, scantily dressed, juvenile humanity. These juveniles range from babes of 3 or four weeks old up to the boys and girls of 10 or 12 years of age, who have charge of them. For, where is not a girl in the family, boys are pressed into the service as babyminders, which is so much the worse for the individual babies concerned. Not that the boys are willfully careless or cruel, but they are not the born nurses that the girls are. With girls of the gutter children class, the role of "little mother" to "real live" babies seems to come as natural as does doll nursing to the little girls of the better off classes of society.

To the casual observer the children of Tenement street look a miserable set of little wretches, but, as a matter of fact, they are happy enough in their way. They are sharp, active, self-reliant, easily pleased, and especially capable in the matter of pleasing themselves. Their games are for the most part toyless ones, so far at any rate as "bought" toys are concerned, and that is perhaps why they have a tendency toward the form of dramatic representation. They play at—and in wonderfully realistic fashion—fathers and mothers, keeping house, keeping shops and keeping school. It is perhaps worth remark that the latter game, as played by gutter children, does not embrace the idea of the abolition of corporal punishment. The cane—or the stick, strap or rope's end, used as a substitute for it—is regarded not merely as the emblem, but also as the practical instrument of authority. With it discipline is maintained and attention to studies secured. The mimic pedagogues of the gutter apply it freely, and with a vigor that is not always sufficiently restrained, even by the fear of reprisals—the recollection that the teacher of one round of the game will be the scholar of the next. The privilege of "larruping" the pupils is evidently regarded as the highest prerogative of the teacher, and the one thing that makes the office enviable.

In some of the outdoor games of the gutter youths there is a good deal of chanting of doggerel rhymes, and it may well be that the idea of the "action songs," which now form so popular a part of the kindergarten system, was originally taken from these street games. —All the Year Round.

Not a New Theory.

Everybody is now more or less familiar with the latest theory of epidemic disease, which is now known to be propagated by germs that may, under certain circumstances, be disseminated by the winds, and are taken into the system through the lungs or the stomach. Here is a remarkable anticipation of this germ theory. Thevenot, who died in 1667, in his account of his Asiatic travels, tells us of a hot pestilential wind prevailing in summer from northwest India up to the western frontier of Persia. He thinks he has identified this wind with one mentioned in the Book of Job, and he says that they who breathe it turn black and fall dead—not, however, everybody who inhales this wind, but, he explains, there are streaks of fire in it as small as a hair, which, have been seen by some, and they who breathe in those rays of fire die of them, the rest receiving no prejudice.

"If it be so," continues Thevenot, "it may be the thought that these fires volant proceed from sulphurous exhalations that rise out of the earth, which being tossed by the wind kindle (for they are inflammable), and being with the air sucked in by respiration, consume the entrails in a moment." Thus, in their mere wild guessing about the influence of Asiatic winds, more than two centuries ago, we have, mixed up with much that is fantastic, the distinct hypothesis of the germ origin of disease, the possibility of these germs being distributed by the air, and the mode of introduction into the human system, all of which is now entirely corroborated by the latest science.—New York Home Journal.

About a Lucky Star.

The "Brandenburg Lucky Star"—so called because it appeared the night in which Elector Johann Sigismund, of Brandenburg, was born—is, by German astronomers, expected to make its appearance again within the next four years. In 945, during the reign of Emperor Otho I, say the German papers, a new and brilliant fixed star was seen in the constellation Cassiopeia, which has the shape of a W. In 1264 a similar star was seen in the same place; and again on Nov. 11, 1572, when Tycho Brahe noticed a brilliant star of unusual magnitude in a spot where he had only seen small ones until then. It had no tail, nor was it surrounded by a haze, that might lead observers to take it for a comet; it resembled, on the contrary, the other fixed stars, and shed a more brilliant light than the stars of the first magnitude, excelling in this respect Sirius, Jupiter and Vega. It could only be compared to Venus, and was visible also in the daytime, even at noon. At night, with a covered sky, while all the other stars are invisible, it was repeatedly distinguishable through the clouds. Tycho was convinced of its complete immovability. Its light began to fade in November, 1572, and after having shone for nearly seventeen months it disappeared entirely in 1574. In vain the astronomers have looked for it in its wonted place since; but now, after the usual period of about 300 years, it is expected to show itself again.—Exchange.

SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va. Reference, G. W. Latimer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured. E. T. PARKER, 370 Northampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, a lady of Florida, who had letter on her hands to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered great; was completely cured by the use of your medicines. C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.

For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly and pimply humor on my face for which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA. MRS. ISAAC PHELPS, Ravenna, O.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction. C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere: Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; RESOLVENT, $1.00; SOAP, 25 cents. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met as every state and condition of disease with which it is in many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of the mouth are affected as to be useless, the nyuls so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple heat cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

The Socialists Beaten.

In the city election at Chicago on the 5th inst., the "United labor" or socialist party threw just about half as many votes as they expected to, and John A. Roche, the republican candidate for mayor, was elected by a majority of 28,-000, he having 51,000 votes to 22,000 for Robert Nelson, the socialist candidate. It was a contest of the reputable element of the city against the socialistic and ruffianly, the democrats voting in thousands for Roche, or not voting at all, though Carter Harrison, the unscrupulous and disreputable demagogue who for eight years past has been the local leader of the democratic forces, advised his party friends to vote for Nelson. Nelson a few days before the election declared plainly for the red flag, and the socialist leaders boasted that they would not only carry the city, but that the Haymarket murderers would be granted a new trial, and get clear. Nelson also said that Chicago would get along without policemen when he became mayor and had an anarchist assembly to support him. Only two "union labor" men were elected, and they in the worst section of the city.

Rhode Island Election.

The state election of Rhode Island took place on Wednesday, the 6th inst. There was almost unlimited scratching of tickets nearly all over the state, and the indications at a late hour in the afternoon were that the democrats had carried the legislature and elected their candidate for governor.

Hiram Barker's Will.

There is a contest threatened over the will of Hiram Barker, the wealthy Farmington man who died a short time since, and whose will, disposing—or seeking to dispose—of property estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, was presented for probate in Dover on the 5th inst. The principal bequests are as follows: To Lizzie M. Bickford, Farmington, $10,000; Fannie S. Cooper, $3000; Frank P. Barker, $3000; to his only daughter, Clara Barker, $30,000 cash and an annuity of $2000. The rest of the estate is placed in the hands of the following trustees: Dr. Henry R. Parker of Dover, Nathaniel Stevens of Alton, Charles W. Talpey, Hosea B. Edgerly, James B. Edgerly and Charles W. Wingate of Farmington. They are to pay out of the trust $1000 annually to Hiram H. Barker, the only son of deceased, and they have control of the estate until the youngest child of the son or daughter is forty years old, and then it is to be equally divided among the heirs. The son is to be added to the trustees, if of good behavior, five years from the date of the will. The trustees are empowered to increase the allowances of the son and daughter if circumstances require. As the youngest child of testator's son is only a few months old, it is going to be a long job for the trustees, except the will be broken. The daughter is only nineteen years old, and unmarried. When the will was offered for probate the son, with counsel, (George E. Cochrane of Rochester and John S. H. Frink of this city,) was present and gave notice of a contest, making allegations of undue influence, etc. They were reticent, however, as to the exact grounds of the objections. The son and daughter have pooled their issues, and the contest promises to be long and exciting. A hearing on the admission of the will to probate will take place within two weeks.

A Mining Horror.

By an explosion in a coal mine at Vinita, Indian territory, April 5th, six men, all that were in the mine at the time, were killed. Two parties of miners who went to the rescue suffered terribly, five of one party and eight of the other being overcome by the after-damp, and suffocated.

A Nice Point of Law.

There is a nice question of law, never before raised, for the Maine courts to grapple with—nothing less than to decide the exact time at which an "act" becomes a "law." The legislature at its late session passed a bill providing for the registration of physicians; this bill the governor vetoed, and the veto was sustained by the legislature. But it seems that the governor at first signed the bill, and it was sent through the proper channels to the secretary of state, being afterward recalled by the governor, when he had concluded to veto it. The medical board of censors of the state, who strongly approved the bill, now insist that it became a law as soon as the governor signed it, and that he once having affixed his name, had no further power in the premises, his veto being as powerless as it would have been if directed against a statute in force for ten years. The question is to be tested in the courts.

Wright & Potter, printers, O. J. Rand & Co., bookbinders, and many other business firms and individuals, were burned out or drowned out on the 6th inst. by a fire which started in the large triangular building on Milk street, Boston, owned by Moses Williams. Wright & Potter's loss was $160,000, Rand & Co.'s $10,-000, and the damage to buildings and other firms will bring the total above $200,000.

Although the pension payments during the month of March were nearly seven millions, still the public debt was reduced by about $12,000,000.

Four negroes were taken from jail at Yorkville, S. C., April 5th, by a mob, and hanged. They were awaiting trial on a charge of having killed a young white boy who detected them in stealing cotton last December.

An extensive strike of the stone masons and their laborers and mortar mixers in the eastern portions of Massachusetts is begun. It is claimed that this is the largest strike of stone masons which has occurred in that section for a number of years. It includes the stone masons and their tenders in Boston, Newton Center and South Framingham, quite a large body of men being involved. The object of the strike is to obtain nine hours per day, with the same rate of wages as paid for ten hours.

Queen Victoria has promised to knight twenty-five Canadian mayors in honor of her jubilee. All the "honors" in the dominion are now practicing imperious airs suitable to the dignity. As each mayor's wife will become "my lady" the anxiety burning in the hearts of scores of civil dames can well be imagined.

The steamer Spokenaw, with twenty-four passengers, capsized on the Cœur d'Alene river, Idaho, April 5th, and five men are reported lost—Col. Higgins of Bangor, Me., I. Pike of Portland, Oregon, J. C. Hanna of Spokenaw Falls, Jerome Lewis, and a deck hand.

The British steamship Carmona, from Barrow, England, Feb. 23d, for New York, with a cargo of steel blooms and a crew of thirty-three men, is missing, and is supposed to have gone down with all hands.

Scalds, Sprains, Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Frost-bite, need prompt care. Perry Davis' Pain Killer is the best remedy for such Troubles. Take a bottle home Today. You will find it useful. All druggists sell it.

A despatch of the 5th inst. from Worcester, Mass., says that the foreman of one of the largest shoe shops that day ordered the striking employes to remove their kits from the factory at once, which they did, marching to the factory in a body. The despatch adds: "It is becoming more evident day by day that there will be no concession on the part of the manufacturers, and the impression is gaining ground that the strike will avail nothing. The men may not go back in a body, but their numbers will be gradually thinned out by desertions and by removals from the city, and meanwhile work at the shops will go on practically without interruption."

President McCosh declares that since he abolished secret societies at Princeton there has been better order, less drinking and less opposition to the faculty.

Manager J. H. Holliday, of the Holliday minstrels, was seriously injured in a railroad accident at Junction City, Kansas, on the 5th inst.

Thirty cattle, suspected of being tainted with pleuro-pneumonia, have been put under quarantine in New Bedford, Mass.

W. A. Clark, the New York postoffice clerk who was arrested for stealing $10,-000 from a registered package, has jumped his bail of $2500, and gone to Canada. He bailed himself—probably with a part of the stolen money.

It has just been made public that the assembly of the McKay sewers of Brockton, Mass., surrendered their charter as a branch of the Knights of Labor several weeks ago.

The great permanent infantry barracks at Aldershot, the great military depot of England, was burned April 6th.

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and find no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The statement of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

On the 18th of August, 1885, I suffered very badly from an attack of rheumatism and was recommended to try Athlophoros. On taking one-half a bottle my rheumatism left me and I have not suffered any from it since. Would recommend this medicine to all suffering with rheumatism.

FRANK E. PUTNEY, 220 Walnut St.

Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1886.

A man suffering with sciatic rheumatism is liable to do most anything to rid himself of that complaint. By exposure, I contracted the disease, and although being doctored, I grew worse in spite of all that could apparently be done to relieve intense pain. I was obliged to stand while eating, and unless completely exhausted I was unable to get any sleep; at times I would have to get out of bed in the dead of night, go into the street and tire myself out by walking to get sleep. Still the pain and its cause hung to me. I commenced to use Athlophoros. After a few doses there was a change for the better, and in good time came the cure so much hoped for and found at last only in Athlophoros. C. P. JORDAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

VETERANS' REUNION.

The survivors of the 13th New Hampshire regiment of war volunteers on Tuesday, April 5th, celebrated the 22d anniversary of their entry into the Confederate capital, at the Revere house, Boston, where an elaborate dinner was served. The souvenir bills of fare were elegant affairs, being printed on a large size folder, on one page of which was the dinner served this year, and on the opposite page an illustration of that partaken of twenty-two years before, and the manner of its preparation. Mr. Frank B. Johnson of this city was one of the veterans present.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

In Boston on the 6th inst. Boston & Maine railroad stock sold at 233 1-2; Boston & Lowell, 168; Portland, Saco & Portsmouth, 130 1-2; Eastern, 138 and 140; Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway, 125 1-2; Portsmouth & Dover, 123 1-4.

Forepaugh has sued the Maine Central railroad for $30,000, for damages done to his circus in the accident at Vassalboro last summer.

The Boston & Maine railroad has made its season-ticket rate to points east of Dover uniformly $50 per quarter. From Portland and North Conway this is a reduction from $68, and from other points in proportion. All employes have been placed on the free list. The new rules recently issued by General Manager Furber declare that trains must not speed over bridges at a rate of more than fifteen miles an hour. All the bridges on the Eastern division have been inspected and carefully tested.

PERSONAL.

Hon. Frank Jones arrived at Washington on the 5th inst., on his way back from Florida, and had an interview with the president. He is expected home about the 15th inst.

Messrs. Stavers, Montgomery, Hoyt, Hutchinson, Beacham, Locke, Cunningham, Safford and Humphreys, "our Dartmouth students," returned home Wednesday, April 6th, to spend the spring recess.

Mr. Joseph Trefethen and wife, of Rye, celebrated their golden wedding on Wednesday, April 6th. Many members of their immediate families were present, and some valuable gifts were received by the elderly couple.

MARITIME NOTES.

The sloop Rosewood, which sailed for Boston on the 5th inst. with bricks, was not the pioneer of the brick fleet this season as reported, the schooner Clara B. Kennard, Freeman, having sailed with a cargo on the previous Sunday, and arrived in Boston on Monday, the 4th; the Clara B. Kennard had previously made a trip to Rockland, Me., after her winter lie-up, and brought to this port a cargo of lime.

The owner of the British cutter Arrow it is said puts conditions and restrictions upon the Mayflower that practically change the Yankee type of boat; she may not now cross the Atlantic.

The fishing schooner Conductor arrived at Gloucester on the evening of April 5th, having in tow the schooner Ann Louisa, which she found at sea with no one on board and no cargo. The Ann Louisa drifted from Yarmouth, Mass., harbor in the gale of Saturday night, April 2d.

Lieut. Henn, owner of the cutter Galatea, thinks that the man who undertakes to build a yacht to beat the Mayflower has a heavy contract on his hands. He says the Mayflower will beat the British cutter Arrow with all ease, if they race with each other. Mr. Burgess says he would not for one moment consider any racing proposition which did not leave him entirely at liberty to use the sloop's centreboard as he thought fit.

It is stated at Washington that some very active cable correspondence between the state department and the British government on the fishery question has been in progress for several days, and that an agreement has nearly been reached which will obviate any necessity for the president's proclaiming the retaliatory law.

Mr. George Foss, carpenter, while engaged in hanging blinds on a house in Deer street on Wednesday, the 6th inst., fell from a ladder and had one leg broken.

The following recent real estate transfers are reported in Kittery: Abner Collins to Jane Collins, land and buildings for $600; Abner Collins to Almeda F. Collins, seven and one-half acres of land for $300; Joseph L. Marden to Reuben Randall, real estate for $1; Abner Collins of Kittery to George W. Collins of Exeter, N. H., three and one-half acres of land in Kittery for $150.

Charles E. Leach and Charles E. Grover were on the 6th inst. drawn in ward four to serve as petit jurors at the April term of the supreme court, to report on the 25th.

The requisite number of names (fifty-eight) for the new military company in Newmarket having been procured, the petition for authority to organize was on the 4th inst. sent to the adjutant general; there is no question but what it will at once be granted, and Newmarket expects to shortly have one of the finest militia companies in the state, the leading young men of the town having enrolled themselves.

Ellen McDonald of Newmarket had a disagreement with a relative, Mrs. Hannah McDermott of Dover, and swore out a search and seizure warrant against her; the officers making the raid captured a barrel of ale and some bottles of liquor, and Mrs. McDermott was fined $50 and costs, which she paid. The family jar will probably now be quieted, as the McDonald woman, as complainant, pocketed $25, half the fine imposed and paid.

The directors of the Dover base-ball association have elected Thomas W. Woodman chairman, and George W. Varney secretary. The Hough field has been leased for three years, and will be fenced right off. All the stock, $1000, has been taken.

At Bradford, Sutton and other towns in that vicinity, an earthquake was distinctly felt by many persons about seven o'clock A. M. on the 4th inst.

The stockholders of the Strafford national bank of Dover have voted to increase the capital stock from $150,000 to $200,000.

Levi L. Elder, a prominent citizen of Dover, and proprietor of the granite stone yard, died suddenly on Tuesday night, 5th inst.

James Carter, aged nineteen years, and Bert Stickney, aged sixteen, of Nashua, broke into the depot and store at Townsend harbor, Mass., on the night of April 4th, taking a small amount of money and three pistols. They were arrested next day, and Carter is held at Ayer Junction for trial.

Capt. T. O. Selfridge, late in command of the U. S. S. Omaha, Asiatic station, has arrived at San Francisco under suspension, having been ordered home by Rear Adm. Chandler to report to the department, in consequence of an accident by which four Japanese were killed and seven others wounded.

A colored gentleman named Charles H. Taylor, of Pittsburg, announced as his opinion on April 1st that President Cleveland has been a second coming of Christ to the negroes. It may be well to add that the president had just appointed Mr. Taylor minister to Liberia.

William S. Peirce, associate judge of the court of common pleas at Philadelphia, is dead. He was an earnest advocate of the emancipation of the slaves, and acted as counsel in nearly every fugitive slave case in the state of Pennsylvania after the passage of the fugitive slave law of 1850.

Delegates representing the milling interests of Scotland met at Glasgow and passed resolutions demanding of the government the imposition of a duty upon foreign flour.

The New York Commercial Bulletin estimates the fire losses in the United States and Canada in March at $10,450,000, or about $3,000,000 above the March average for the past ten or twelve years.

The body of the young woman found murdered at Rahway, N. J., has been identified with more or less positiveness several times, but in each case the identification has been disproved. There is no hope of discovering the murderers until the identity of the victim is known.

Rufus Brett, a prominent citizen of Farmington, Me., is dead. He was a member of the famous convention at Strong that formed the republican party in Maine, and was a lineal descendant from John Alden, the first Pilgrim to step on Plymouth rock in 1620.

Frank W. Foster, ex-treasurer of Greenfield, Mass., has been sentenced to five years in the house of correction.

Col. William C. Beecher, son of Henry Ward Beecher, says that his father did not write the poem "If I Should Die To-Night," which appeared in Haggard's novel, "Jess," and has been credited to him.

Spring Medicine

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N. Y.

BAKER'S

Breakfast Cocoa.

Warranted absolutely pure cocoa, from which the excess of Oil has been removed. It has three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is therefore far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, strengthening, easily digested, and admirably adapted for invalids as well as for persons in health.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass.

—Mistress (to servant)—"Did you tell those ladies at the door that I was not at home?" Servant—"Yis, mum." Mistress—"What did they say?" Servant—"How fortinit!"

—Jay Gould, Russell Sage and Cyrus W. Field do not use tobacco in any form. This may be construed as an argument for or against tobacco, as you regard the men.

—"You put your foot in it nicely tonight," said Mrs. Sweetspeech. "How is that?" asked her husband. "When you told Mrs. Fourthly that you were sure that her husband would never go the way he sent other people." "Well, and what of that?" "Why, her husband is a preacher." "Thunder! I thought he was a sportin."

—"I am now holding communion with myself, and trust I will not be disturbed," remarked the burglar who had broken into a church and got at the sacramental wine.

—The production of maple sugar in Vermont, this year, promises to be much less than the average yield of former seasons, owing to the lateness of the season and the great quantity of snow in the woods. This is invariably the case every spring. But the Vermonters manage to make maple sugar somehow, if they have to tap the fence posts for sap.

—Don't call a large, strong, sinewy man a prevaricator. If you are sure he is a prevaricator, hire another man to break the news to him.

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position, close relation to principal lines East, West and Southwest, connections at terminal points West, Northwest and Southwest, is the only true through link in that transcontinental system which invites and facilitates travel and traffic in either direction between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Rock Island main line and branches include Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Streator, La Salle, Peoria, Geneseo, Moline and Rock Island, in Illinois; Davenport, Muscatine, Washington, Fairfield, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, West Liberty, Iowa City, Des Moines, Indianola, Winterset, Atlantic, Knoxville, Audubon, Harlan, Guthrie Centre and Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, St. Joseph, Cameron and Kansas City, in Missouri; Leavenworth and Atchison, in Kansas; Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul, in Minnesota; Watertown, in Dakota, and hundreds of intermediate cities, towns and villages.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees Speed, Comfort and Safety to those who travel over it. Its roadbed is thoroughly ballasted. Its track is of heavy steel. Its bridges are solid structures of stone and iron. Its rolling stock is perfect as human skill can make it. It has all the safety appliances that mechanical genius has invented and experience proved valuable. Its practical operation is conservative and methodical—its discipline strict and exacting. The luxury of its passenger accommodation is unequaled in the West—unsurpassed in the world.

All Express Trains between Chicago and the Missouri River consist of Comfortable Day Coaches, magnificent Palace Parlor and Reclining Chair Cars, elegant Dining Cars providing excellent meals, and—between Chicago, St. Joseph, Atchison and Kansas City—restful Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

is the direct, favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. Over this route solid Fast Express Trains run daily to the summer resorts, picturesque localities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. The rich wheat fields and grazing lands of Interior Dakota are reached via Watertown. A short, desirable route, via Scenic and Kankakee, offers superior inducements to travelers between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul and intermediate points. All classes of patrons, especially families, ladies and children, receive from Rock Island employees of Rock Island Lines protection, respectful courtesy and kindly treatment.

WATERTOWN AND BRIGHTON LIVE STOCK MARKET.

For week ending Tuesday, April 5th.

Amount of Live Stock at Market: Cattle, 271; Sheep and Lambs, 2,580; Calves, 1,054; Horses, 720; Swine, 10,025.

Prices of Market Beef—A few choice, $7 00 @ $7 25; extra, $6 50 @ $6 75; first quality, $6 00 @ $6 25; second quality, $5 00 @ $5 50; third quality, $4 00 @ $4 50.

Prices of Store Cattle—Working oxen ⅋ pair, from $100 @ $175; farrow cows, $15 @ $32; fancy cows, $50 @ $80; milch cows and calves, $25 @ $48; yearlings, $8 50 @ $18; two years old, $14 @ $28; three years old, $24 @ $40.

Prices of Sheep and Lambs—In lots, $2 50, $3 00 @ $4 00 each; extra, $5 00 @ $5 75, or from 2½ @ 5¼c ⅋ lb; lambs, 5¼ @ 6¼c ⅋ lb.

Veal Calves, 2½ @ 6¼c ⅋ lb.

Prices of Hides, Tallow and Skins—Brighton hides, 7c ⅋ lb; Brighton tallow, 2¼ @ 3c ⅋ lb; country hides, 6 @ 6½c ⅋ lb; country tallow, 1½ @ 3c ⅋ lb; calf skins, 7c ⅋ lb; pelts, $1 35 @ $1 75 each; dairy skins, 10c each.

The cattle market is largely confined to western stock; few northern beef cattle changed hands. Prices rule a strong ¼c lower than last week. The embargo on the movement of store cattle and milch cows at Watertown yards has kept a great lot of that stock at home. What the outcome of the business in cattle for the future is to be remains in the hands of the cattle commissioners.

Milch Cows—We learn of no sales being made this morning.

The Sheep Call—Rather more on the market than last week from the northern states. Unless the offerings proved to be of a good quality dealers found a difficulty to obtain full prices. Fine old sheep are firm in price. Lambs fairly plenty.

Fat Hogs—The market steady in price and arrivals liberal. Western live at 6 @ 6¼c; northern dressed 7 @ 7¾c ⅋ lb.

Veal Calves—Supply is heavy, and prices rule from ½ @ ¾c lower on all grades.

Live Poultry—Scarcely 500 lbs, and price unchanged at 10 @ 12c ⅋ lb.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters.

Respectfully,
Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

CROSS QUESTIONING A WITNESS.

A Reasonable Way and an Unreasonable One—A Nervous Man's Experience.

I have a nervous friend who was once unlucky enough to be called as a witness in a law suit in this city. He was quite an important witness. He was, moreover, a decent, sober man, who had never harmed or wronged any one in his quiet life. When he went on the stand he was nearly crazy from nervousness, and when the defense began to cross examine him he probably imagined himself in a much lower and less reputable region than New York. In order to deprive his testimony of value the lawyers tried to blacken his character. They turned him over and twisted him inside out and gave him altogether a shocking shaking up, without damaging his veracity. But they did damage his nerves, and they took advantage of his evident agitation to bully, abuse and threaten him, till the judge came to his rescue and sent him home to keep his bed for a week. He says that if he is ever summoned to give testimony again he will commit a murder, for he would rather be the guilty prisoner in the dock than the innocent witness on the stand.

There is a good deal of justice in his conclusion, for a witness in court has no rights the lawyers feel themselves called on to respect. If he preserves his nerve, keeps a cool head, or knows enough to demand the protection of the court when the bullying goes too far, he may pull through fairly well. But the chances are that if he is of sufficient importance to be worth discrediting there will be very little of his character left when he escapes, and he will crawl home feeling like a thief and cursing the law with futile rage. In the cases of women I have known the experience of an hour on the witness stand to produce most serious effects, for many of the gallants of the bar have no respect for sex when there is a fee to earn. It is only a year back that the wife of a man I know was baited into a miscarriage by the police court counsel of a servant who had been arrested for theft, with the stolen objects in her pockets.

Considering the great liberties they take with the public, the gentlemen of bar should certainly not object to having the public take a few little liberties with them. Yet on two occasions, I remember, well known criminal lawyers, who had irritated decent witnesses beyond endurance, to have demanded the commitment of their victims for contempt when their annoyance led them to make a sharp reply to an impertinent and abusive question. It is easy to understand the necessity of close questioning in the formation of evidence, and the refutation of charges, but there is a reasonable way of cross-questioning a witness and an unreasonable one. The privilege of abuse ought to be limited.—Alfred Trumble in New York News.

Little "Lord Fauntleroy's" Coolness.

In the excitement occasioned by the discovery of fire in Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's house the other day, little "Lord Fauntleroy," the author's son, never lost his self possession—at least, he thinks he didn't. After all, this young gentleman, whom his mother's book has made famous, did do more, perhaps, than a hundred grown men would have done under similar circumstances. While the excitement was at its height my lord procured a step ladder, took it into the parlor and removed a blue glass globe from one of the chandeliers, regardless of the many valuable pieces of bric a brac strewn about the room, and bore it to a place of safety. The intention was all right, of course; it was only the judgment that was at fault. The mother's rescue was accomplished, not without difficulty, by a newspaper correspondent and a colored man living in the neighborhood. Mrs. Burnett was found lying on a bed in her room, utterly prostrated. Wrapped in a piano cover, and with the correspondent's overcoat thrown around her shoulders, she was lifted and carried to a neighbor's house, where she remained until all danger was past. The house was damaged more by the water than the fire. It had only recently been completed.—Washington Cor. New York Tribune.

Henry Ward Beecher's Property.

Mr. Beecher's property is said to be worth $110,000, most of it being personal property. For the past four years he has received a salary of $15,000 a year from Plymouth church. For years before that $20,000 a year had been allotted him, and during the famous Tilton controversy $100,000 a year was granted him as a mark of confidence in his integrity and to enable him to meet the expenses of his suit. In the lecture field he received never less than $250 a night nor more than $500. This would net him about $14,000 a year. Then he received a royalty of about $4,000 upon some books written in his earlier days, prominent among which was "Lectures to Young Men." His syndicate newspaper letter, which he continued up to the time of his illness, netted him $75 a week. This income, though almost princely, was spent by Mr. Beecher in ornamenting his household and in charity. His house was a perfect cabinet of curiosities.—Boston Transcript.

Electricity in the Workshop.

Professor Thomson claims that where quick heating is required electricity may be relied upon, and results are cited where, in welding, broken iron bars may be securely joined with great rapidity and strength. In forging, the electric current, according to the reports given, will prove of interest, and when better understood will place this new principle in every workshop. Metal workers and iron mongers will prefer elastic force to flame, for it is said the chief essentials of the apparatus are the direct means of getting heavy currents through metal without loss.—Boston Budget.

SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief until, by the advice of a fellow friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs. Henry Kintz, who had letter on her hands so much as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered greatly, was completely cured by the use of your medicines.
C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.

For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was specially and entirely cured by CUTICURA.
Mrs. ISAAC PHILLIPS, Ravenna, O.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere. Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; RESOLVENT, $1.00; SOAP, 25 cents. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive nostrums concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive case. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Rhode Island Election.

The democrats made a clean sweep of Rhode Island at the election on the 6th inst., so far as the state ticket is concerned, their candidate for governor, John W. Davis, having between 1000 and 1100 majority over Wetmore, the republican candidate, and the other candidates having from 800 to 1200 majority, according to their popularity. The senate, so far as decided, stands: Republicans twenty, democrats twelve; house, republicans forty, democrats twenty-two—a republican majority of twenty-six on joint ballot, which is a republican loss of about twenty-five from the last legislature. The proposition for a woman suffrage amendment to the constitution was defeated by a vote of at least three to one.

The "Boycott" a Criminal Conspiracy.

The decision that the boycott is an unlawful conspiracy, punishable under the law, has at last been affirmed by the supreme court of Connecticut, and the question is therefore definitely settled for that state. The case in which this opinion has been rendered is that of the difficulty between the Carrington Publishing Co., publishers of the New Haven Courier, and the Typographical Union, the union having declared a boycott against the company because the latter employed a number of compositors who did not belong to the union and refused to submit to its dictation. Two of the prominent boycotters were prosecuted for illegal conspiracy, and convicted; the case was carried to the supreme court on exceptions, and that court has affirmed the rulings of the lower court, and dismissed the appeal.

The opinion of the court, which was concurred in unanimously, was written by Judge Carpenter; it expresses the opinion of the court in very emphatic and comprehensive language, brushing aside the plea that the boycott was undertaken for a lawful purpose, "to better their condition," and declares it to be an unlawful conspiracy, for whatever purpose undertaken. One of the illustrations is very pertinent:

The defendants and their associates said to the Carrington Publishing company: "You shall discharge the men you have in your employ, and you shall hereafter employ only such men as we shall name. It is true we have no interest in your business: we have no capital invested therein; we are in no wise responsible for its success, and we do not participate in its profits or losses, yet we have a right to control its management and compel you to submit to our direction." If the defendants have the right which they claim, then all business enterprises are alike subject to their direction.

Suppose the government should assert the right in the same manner to regulate and control the business affairs of the Carrington Publishing Co. and other business enterprises, how long would the people submit to it? And yet the exercise of such a power by the government would be far more tolerable than its exercise would be by secret organizations, however wise and intelligent such organization may be, for the government is established by the people and is responsible to all the people.

The court not only affirms the unqualified right of the company to conduct its business in its own way, without dictation from any outside source, but squarely maintains the right of the workingman, as a workingman, to earn his living in his own way, even though he may not belong to any "union." It says:

It is further alleged that another purpose of the defendants was to injure and oppress John E. Skinner and seven other workmen of the Carrington Publishing company, by depriving them of their employment. What we have already said applies equally well to this purpose of the defendants. The workmen named have just as good a right to work for the corporation as the defendants have, and their right is entitled to the same consideration and the same protection. No one can lawfully and rightfully drive these workmen from their situations; numbers, if allowed their will, may do it. The intention by one man, so long as he does nothing, is not a crime which the law will take cognizance of; and so too of any number of men acting separately. But when several men form the intent and come together and agree to carry it into execution, the case is changed; the agreement is a step in the direction of accomplishing the purpose, the combination becomes dangerous and subversive of the rights of others, and the law wisely says it is a crime. The defendants had a right to request the Carrington Publishing company to discharge its workingmen and employ themselves, and to use all proper argument in support of their request; but they had not the right to say "you shall do this or we will ruin your business."

Another Cup Defender.

It has at last been decided that Boston will have a new sloop to defend the America's cup against the cutter Thistle in the races next fall. General Charles J. Paine has decided to build a yacht, and it has been designed by Mr. Edward Burgess, the designer of the defenders of the cup during the past two seasons. She will be built of steel, and the contract has already been awarded to the firm of Pusey & Jones of Wilmington, Del. She will be a centreboard sloop, eighty-five feet long on the water line. The lines will be finer, though in other respects about the same as the Mayflower's, excepting that she will be slightly narrower and longer on deck. The new sloop will have an overhanging stern and a clipper bow. She will have about the same power as the Mayflower, and will also carry about the same amount of sail. This action will in no wise affect the Mayflower, as the latter will go to Europe if the conditions can consistently be accepted. While New York has been talking syndicates, with little effect, Boston's foremost yachtsman has come forward and offered to take the whole burden upon himself.

Talked About by Every One.

BOSTON, April 7.—The chief subject of conversation in and about Boston this week is the wonderful growth of the Boston Daily and Sunday Globe. In March two years ago the Boston Daily Globe had an average circulation of 56,-673; last month its average circulation was 128,908, a gain of 72,235 in two years. Nothing like it was ever known in Boston journalism. The growth of the Boston Sunday Globe has been alike remarkable. In March, '85, its circulation was 62,500; last month it was 115, 762, an increase of 53,262 in two years. The Boston Daily Globe has a larger paid-for circulation than any other daily published in Boston, and the Boston Sunday Globe leads its nearest rival by nearly 30,000.

The Massachusetts bicycle club of Boston has voted to levy an assessment of $5 on each of its members. The sum thus realized will, it is believed, tide the club over its present financial difficulties.

Mr. Stokeley, the new director of public safety at Philadelphia, has informed the police that they must enforce the laws about liquor selling, etc., and at the same time has given the contrary command that they are not to act as spies. Mr. Stokeley may be a very worthy man, but if he has any common sense he should put some of it in his official orders.

Arrangements have been made at Boston for a fair in the fall in aid of a free home for Protestant shop girls.

In England, single women and widows have had full municipal suffrage for eighteen years. Mr. Gladstone says they exercise it "without detriment, and with great advantage."

The Fitchburg railroad has adopted the apparatus of the Sewall Safety Car Heating Co. of Portland, Me., a device for heating cars with steam from the locomotive, and the first trial of a train supplied with it was made on the 6th inst., and was entirely satisfactory. This invention has been in practical operation for the past year on the Maine Central railroad, and Vice President Tucker speaks of the results obtained as follows: "We have used the Sewall heating system for a year past with the highest success and satisfaction. There has been no difficulty in maintaining a uniform temperature at any desired point during the mildest and the coldest weather. The heating of the longest trains has not in the least detracted from the power of the locomotive, and the extra consumption of fuel has been insignificant. Many of our trains average twelve cars to an engine, and some of our runs have aggregated 120 miles. We have found the apparatus to be absolutely under control at all times, and have found it easy at any time to vary the temperature of the cars from 70 deg. to 95 deg. Farenheit."

It is said that the paintings owned by the late Miss Catherine Wolfe, of New York city, a collection valued at $350,-000, may go to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The will has not been made public yet.

The colored companies whose entry in the Washington drill has made so much fuss in the south belong to Gen. Anderson's First Virginia brigade, which will be present entire. Gen. Fitzhugh Lee will review them.

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and find no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The statement of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

On the 18th of August, 1885, I suffered very badly from an attack of rheumatism and was recommended to try Athlophoros. On taking one-half a bottle my rheumatism left me and I have not suffered any from it since. Would recommend this medicine to all suffering with rheumatism.

FRANK E. PUTNEY, 220 Walnut St.

Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1886.

A man suffering with sciatic rheumatism is liable to do most anything to rid himself of that complaint. By exposure, I contracted the disease, and although being doctored, I grew worse in spite of all that could apparently be done to relieve intense pain. I was obliged to stand while eating, and unless completely exhausted I was unable to get any sleep; at times I would have to get out of bed in the dead of night, go into the street and tire myself out by walking to get sleep. Still the pain and its cause hung to me. I commenced to use Athlophoros. After a few doses there was a change for the better, and in good time came the cure so much hoped for and found at last only in Athlophoros. C. P. JORDAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

At the home of Mr. Joseph P. Trefethen and wife, in Rye, have been many pleasant family gatherings, but none more so than the one assembled on Wednesday afternoon and evening, April 6th, to celebrate with them their golden wedding. The event had long been looked forward to by relatives and friends, who resolved to make it a day long to be remembered by all who were present. The greatly respected couple were married fifty years ago in the same house in which they now reside, by Elder Ephriam Philbrick, a minister well remembered by the older citizens of Rye. Ninety-five invitations were issued for the anniversary celebration, seventy of which were responded to personally, many relatives comming from Boston, Chelsea, Everett and Danvers, Mass., and also from Newington and Portsmouth, to offer their congraulations and spend a social time with the worthy pair. Among those present at the wedding fifty years ago were Mr. John Trefethen, Mrs. Hannah J. Gustin, Mr. Charles F. Trefethen and wife, and Mr. James Seavey, who were present on the 6th to renew their congratulations after a lapse of half a century. Their family of children, consisting of two sons and a daughter, all married, were present. They have sixteen grand-children, and two great-grand-children, in all representing four generations. A bountiful supper was served, and among the many varieties of cake was a fiftieth-anniversary wedding-cake, made by the bride of fifty years, who has lost none of the noted skill in the art of fine cooking which she possessed when so long ago she trustingly placed her life's happiness in the keeping of him who for a half century has been her loving and beloved partner. The material tokens of esteem and affection brought by the participants in the festival were very numerous, and (aside from the kindly sentiments they represented) intrinsically very valuable, the precious metal which is considered as especially appropriate at a fiftieth wedding anniversary being prominently noticeable. E.

NEWSPAPER MEN MUST WALK.

A railroad circular just issued says that at a meeting of the representatives of railroads terminating in Boston, held at the office of the president of the Old Colony railroad March 28th, 1887, there were present officers of the Fitchburg railroad, Boston & Maine, Boston & Lowell, Old Colony, New York & New England, Boston & Albany, and Boston & Providence railroad, Mr. Choate of the Old Colony acting as chairman. The question under consideration was to what extent the railroads could agree upon a common policy regarding the issue of free passes, commencing April 4th, 1887, the date on which the interstate commerce bill went into effect, and it was agreed to give free passes within the several states traversed by the roads, at discretion, to state officials, clergymen, members of the legislature, certain municipal and county officers, including police officers and deputy sheriffs, camp-meeting managers, hotel proprietors, and families of railroad officials, but to withhold them from members of the press. Why this particular discrimination against the fourth estate is made, while campmeeting managers and hotel men are favored, is not explained.

MARBLE WORK.

Mr. John S. Treat, marble worker, whose shop is at the corner of Deer and Vaughan streets, which site has been occupied by a marble shop for upwards of a century, appears in our columns to-day with a spring announcement, which will doubtless be of interest to persons desiring such work as he does. Mr. Treat has more than two hundred monuments and tablets on hand, and is prepared to show photographs and original designs and drawings at any time. Particular attention is also paid to fencing cemetery lots. Inasmuch as brimstone, commonly used in setting up stones, has a tendency to discolor marble or granite, Mr. Treat will hereafter use nothing but lead in setting up stones, using which he guarantees satisfaction in every case. Mr. Treat is thoroughly conversant with every detail of his business, and a most competent man to entrust with marble work of any kind.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Lizzie J. Call, Call master, of this port, has been chartered to take a cargo of coal from New York to Hallowell, Me., at $1.10 per ton.

The schooner Clara B. Kennard on the 7th inst. completed the first round trip made by any of the Piscataqua brick fleet this season, arriving from Boston and proceeding up river to load.

A large amount of rockweed is being landed on Gurney's wharf at the south end, for Hon. Frank Jones, who has four men at work gathering it from the rocky shores of the harbor islands.

Capt. Cheney, of the gondola Hard Chance, lying at the Concord railroad wharf on the 7th inst., offered a gang of coal shovellers $5 to load his craft with coal. This offer was refused, but the men offered to work at twenty cents an hour, to which the skipper said "All right," and the job was commenced; but after toiling a few minutes the gang struck for thirty cents an hour, and the captain refusing to accede to their terms, they marched out under the leadership of Master Workman Sam Flanigan. We have not heard of this strike being declared off.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. William Powers and Mrs. John A. Swett of Maplewood, Mass., are visiting the family of Mr. John W. Johnson on Rye road.

At the recent annual meeting of the New Hampshire Fish & Game League, Commodore Charles W. Pickering, U. S. N., of this city, was elected as the Rockingham county vice president of the league.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Fannie Elwyn, daughter of Rev. Alfred Elwyn of Philadelphia, to Mr. Gordon Wendell of New York city. The date of the ceremony is set for April 20th, and the couple will take a trip to Europe, returning in July.

The funeral services of the late James Moses were held in the Court street Christian church on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. John A. Gass of Haverhill, Mass., formerly pastor of the church, officiating.

Sergeant Belden of the United States marine corps, who was recently tried by court martial at this navy yard on a charge of stealing clothing from the government, was convicted, and left this city by the 8:20 A. M. train on the 7th inst. for Boston, on his way to the Weathersfield, Conn., state prison, where he will reside for a time, but just how long is not stated.

The Boston Post of April 7th says: "The Laighton Bros., of the famous Appledore and Oceanic hotels, ever mindful of the pleasures and comforts of their guests, have engaged as steward for the Appledore house Mr. Robert F. Ford, for many years chef de cuisine at Young's hotel."

The returns continue to come in, but do not alter the general result. The Times of Thursday evening, the 7th inst., says: "It is thought that the Unitarian chapel on Court street may have been entered by burglars some time Sunday night. Two windows were open Monday morning, nearly the bigness of one sash, and remained so until late Wednesday, when a church gathering occupied the chapel. We do not learn that anything was taken away, or even missed."

Messrs. H. E. Chamberlin, superintendent of the Concord railroad, J. T. Gordon, master mechanic, S. F. Patterson, superintendent of bridges and buildings, and Samuel Barrett, general freight agent, were in this city on Thursday, the 7th inst., and inspected the property of the road here, and particularly the improvements on and about the wharf. The Concord railroad pay car was also on an official visit here on Thursday.

It is reported that the superintendent of the Portsmouth shoe company, hearing a rumor that as soon as work in the new part of the factory got fairly under way the union lasters intended to go out on a strike, sent for all the lasters in the company's employ, and told them that any who intended striking had better leave at once, as they would gain nothing by a strike, he proposing to conduct the business without any outside aid. Seven or eight of them left, but there is no lack of non-union men to take their former jobs.

Spring Medicine

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." E. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N. Y.

It is stated that the presidency of Iowa college will be offered to Professor Hardy of Dartmouth.

The Spring Months

Are undoubtedly the best in which to purify the blood and strengthen the system, because at this time the body is most susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla. The feeling of debility, languor, and lassitude, caused by the changing season, is entirely overcome, and scrofula and all humors are expelled from the blood by the powerful reviving and purifying influences of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Do not delay—Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now. It is made by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists. 100 doses one dollar.

d(p)17,37

After trying every rheumatic cure I could hear of without relief, some five weeks ago I bought a bottle of Athlophoros and began taking it, and in less than twenty-four hours I suffered no pain from the rheumatism. E. J. Flood, Oxford, Maine.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

A Monastic Navy.

According to a Russian newspaper, an engineer had just arrived at Motala, in Sweden, to take over a steamer that is being built for the monks of Solovetsk. This vessel will make the sixth steamer belonging to the monks, who use them to convey to their monastery the 30,000 pilgrims that annually repair to the place. The monastery is situated on the largest of the three islands forming the Solovetsk group. The island measures fifteen miles in length by ten in breadth, and is only accessible from the middle of May until the middle of September. During this period steamers owned by the monks run regularly to Archangel and back, charging very little for the double voyage, and, in the case of very poor pilgrims, nothing at all. Each pilgrim, moreover, according to ancient custom, is boarded and lodged for nothing at an inn belonging to the monastery. Besides its shrine, Solovetsk is famous for its mines of talc, large quantities of which are exported to Russia and abroad.

A peculiar feature about the Solovetsk steamers is that they are all manned by monks and commanded by monastic captains. The mainmast of each steamer is surmounted by a golden cross. In the time of Peter the Great the walls of the monastery were defended by ninety cannon, and during a rebellion against the government sustained a siege of two years. During the Crimean war the monks claim to have driven off the English fleet by firing some of the old cannon remaining, and marching in procession round the monastery walls. Although the fleet owned by the monk does not pay expenses, the offerings of the pilgrims make up for the loss, the monastery being one of the wealthiest in Russia. At present the number of monks exceeds 200.—Chicago Herald.

What Makes a Soldier.

When the Confederate army was organized, it was compesed largely of southern gentlemen, courageous, and, in their way, patriotic, but without the first idea of military discipline. A southern author declares: "They were as ignorant of the alphabet of obedience as their officers were of the art of commanding.

"I remember very well," he says, "the extreme coolness with which, in one of the valley skirmishes, a few days before the first battle of Bull Run, a gentleman private in my own company rode out of the ranks for the purpose of suggesting to Gen. J. E. B. Stuart the propriety of charging a gun which was shelling us, and which seemed nearer to us than to its supporting infantry.

"I heard another gentleman without rank, who had brought a dispatch to Stonewall Jackson, request that officer to 'cut the answer short,' on the ground that his horse was a little lame, and he feared his inability to deliver it as promptly as was desirable. These men and their comrades lost none of this personal solicitude for the proper conduct of the war, in process of becoming soldiers, but they learned not to question or advise, when their duty was to listen and obey.

"Their very errors, as Gen. Stuart once said in my hearing, proved them the best of material out of which to make soldiers. 'They are pretty good officers now,' he said, 'and after a while they will make excellent soldiers, too. They only need reducing to the ranks.'"—Youth's Companion.

Nilsson's Two Great Dangers.

Desbarolles, the great palmist, on looking at Nilsson's hand, said to her: "Mademoiselle, you will have trouble from two causes, fire and maniacs." Sure enough. During the Chicago fire she lost $20,000, and in the Boston fire $200,000. When in New York a crazy man followed her for a week, believing that the words addressed by Marguerite to Faust were intended for himself. In Chicago a poor student decided to marry her, and wrote passionate letters, to which he received no answer. One day he came in a superb sleigh, drawn by four horses, to take his affianced bride to church. Mr. Jarrett greeted him by saying: "You are late; Mlle. Nilsson has gone there to wait for you." The third insane person was her husband, M. Rouzeaud, who died in an asylum.—Exchange.

Supply of Phosphates.

The slags produced in making the 1,313,613 tons of basic steel in Europe last year amounted to 394,000 tons, and contained from 30 to 35 per cent. of phosphate of lime. In 1885 South Carolina yielded of phosphate rock 277,739 tons, and Canada of apatite 24,290 tons, the combined quantity of material, though not of contained phosphate of lime, being, therefore, less than that obtained as a by product from the steel works of Europe. If the basic process gains a footing in Alabama and Tennessee the south itself will offer a market for one of its own most valuable products; but no old or new sources of phosphoric acid are likely to outstrip in production the demands of our western wheat fields, which are being so rapidly depleted.—Engineering Journal.

An Orchestra of Convicts.

The island of Noumia has what is acknowledged to be the best orchestra in the southern hemisphere, and is composed entirely of convicts. Its complement averages about 120 pieces, and the whole is under the direction of a former leader in the Grand opera, who is "doing lifetime" for murder. Twice a week—on Thursdays and Sundays—the band plays three hours in the public square, and all the officials and business element of the capital make use of the time and place as a sort of clearing house for their social obligations. The band plays music of a high class, and as, in 1884, Noumia was the only place in the southern world where Wagner's music could be heard, many music lovers came from Australia expressly to hear it.—Boston Transcript.

SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va.
Reference, G. W. Ladmer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured. E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs Henry Kintz, who had taken on her hands to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered greatly, was completely cured by the use of your medicines. C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.

For the last year I have had a species of Itching, scaly and pimply humors on my face so vile that I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA. MRS. ISAAC PHELPS, Ravenna, O.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction. C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere: Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; RESOLVENT, $1.00; SOAP, 35 cents. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore similar that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting are affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

How It Works at the Start.

The new freight rates in Maine, under the interstate commerce act, are causing a good deal of complaint. From Bangor to Boston, in almost every case, they are higher than under the old schedule, while local rates are slightly reduced. First class freights that were thirty cents per 100 pounds are forty-eight cents. The second class rate has been increased from twenty-five to forty cents; the third class from twenty to thirty-two cents; the fourth class from seventeen to twenty-eight cents. Lumber rates to Boston are $33 per car against $32.50 before. Hay rate, $31 against $27.50. The increase in the long haul evidently will more than counterbalance the decrease in the short hauls. The foregoing may be taken as an indication of the changes on the entire Maine Central system. Much dissatisfaction is already being developed in Bangor and other places, as indeed there well may be. While it was expected that the new law would call for some changes of rates, it was not generally believed that it contemplated a permanent raise in nearly all freight charges. The sharp raise of freights will transfer nearly all the freight business of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia from the European & North American railway, to the Intercolonial line of steamers, which are not affected by the interstate law.

That the very first act of importance on the part of the interstate commerce commission should be to suspend the provisions of the long and short haul of the law for ninety days, in the case of certain southern railroads which have to compete with lines of water carriage, and which set forth to the commission that their compulsory raising of long haul rates would be disastrous to the roads by turning the freight traffic toward the water, is significant of the difficulties the commission will meet before they can get things running smoothly. Several quite important iron industries in Pittsburg and Harrisburg, Pa., and other places, have suspended business, owing to their being unable to make the necessary calculations for contracts while freight rates are so unsettled.

It is feared that the law will totally unhinge trade in the far west. Canned goods on which the freight tariff was sixty-five cents have been increased to $3 50, and box herring that were ninety cents are now $4.00. The tariff on wool from California to the east has been put up so far that it is nearly out of sight, and the wool will be absolutely so, as no eastern manufacturer could afford to buy it at what it would cost to lay it down on the Atlantic coast.

Such radical changes promise to make the new law so odious that a speedy demand will arise from the public for its repeal or extensive modification. Possibly this is what the railroads are aiming to bring about; but the bill passed both houses of congress with great majorities, and further legislation, with a view to make the law more effective and less embarrassing to the public, is as likely to take place as the repeal of the law.

There can be no question that the first apparent effect of the interstate commerce law is just the opposite of what the law makers anticipated. It was expected that while rates in some instances would be raised, the general result would be an evening-down—a sort of horizontal reduction, as it were; but instead of this the railroads have preferred to even things up—instead of reducing short haul charges to the average of the long haul, raising the long haul charges to the aggregate of the short hauls. There are more ways than one to kill a cat, and if all the big railroads of the country are determined that the interstate law must go, they can make a lively fight for it.

MATTERS IN YORK.

AGAMENTICUS DISTRICT,
YORK, ME., April 6th.

About three feet of snow remains around the mountains; it don't seem much like spring yet. Although we have seen some few blue birds and robins, we think they must have made a mistake in coming so soon.

Business is dull around the hills this winter; not much wood-chopping or lumbering going on, as the prices of wood and lumber have been so low. We hope the York Harbor & Beach railroad will be a benefit to this section of the town, as we have quite a lot of wood and lumber left yet in the vicinity of the hills. The rumor is that instead of running from York beach to Wells and connecting with the Boston & Maine at Wells Branch, it is going from York beach thorough between the mountains, and connect at North Berwick with the B. & M.

The basket business has been very good here this winter; there have been a great many made, and the peddlers have started out for Massachusetts. In 1886, J. F. Plaisted bought and sent to other markets 10,000 baskets, which was about one-half the entire number made in this section. Mr. Plaisted lost a valuable cow last week, she dying from lung fever after being sick a few days.

School meeting in district nine was held March 22d; Howard F. Plaisted was chosen agent, and Willis L. Downs clerk. It was voted to have three terms of school—spring, fall and winter—of about ten weeks each.

Lewis brothers, near Agamenticus, are making arrangements to have a new house put up near the mountain by Henry Whitten, master builder of Clinton, Me. Alonzo Lewis has been laid up for two months with a carbuncle on his neck, but is much improved, and will soon be out again.

J. F. Plaisted thinks of opening his house to summer boarders the coming season, as he has had many applications for accommodation.

We are glad to see Charley H. Fitzgerald out again on the road with his trotter. It is rumored that he is soon to be married to a young lady of this place, and has purchased the house formerly occupied by Samuel Plaisted, now deceased, and more recently by Mrs. Johnson as a lodging house.

Mr. S. A. Whittle and family, who left this place four years ago for Vinton, Benton county, Iowa, are much pleased with their new home, and prospering finely; and Mr. Whittle says he wishes he had gone west when he was a young man.

The red squirrels have been very numerous and bold in this region the latter part of the winter; one farmer found they were raiding his corn house, stealing the corn and lugging it off into the woods, and has shot about thirty of the little imps.

On the road from York to Berwick, near the Dixon place, so-called, is a little coffin almost perfect in form in a ledge which is smooth all around, and with no other mark to be seen; it is quite a curiosity.

We have had quite a revival of religion in and around Ground Root hill for the past year, and it still seems to be progressing. As we have no church edifice, we hold our meetings in the school house; Rev. J. A. Corey of the Methodist church at York village conducts them, and has been very happily successful in bringing souls to Christ. And as he is about to leave York for some other field of labor, that he may have the same or better success in bringing others into the fold is our sincere wish. P.

RULED BY PREJUDICE.

Few persons realize how thoroughly they are controlled by prejudice even to their own disadvantage. For many years the treatment of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and headache has been by some outward application, and, therefore, without stopping to think that the origin of these troubles must, from necessity, be internal, the weary sufferer continues to rub, rub and find no relief. Athlophoros is taken internally, and as a proof that this is the correct principle, it cures surely and quickly. The statement of those who have been cured ought to convince the incredulous.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

On the 18th of August, 1885, I suffered very badly from an attack of rheumatism and was recommended to try Athlophoros. On taking one-half a bottle my rheumatism left me and I have not suffered any from it since. Would recommend this medicine to all suffering with rheumatism.

FRANK E. PUTNEY, 220 Walnut St.

Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1886.

A man suffering with scintic rheumatism is liable to do most anything to rid himself of that complaint. By exposure, I contracted the disease, and although being doctored, I grew worse in spite of all that could apparently be done to relieve intense pain. I was obliged to stand while eating, and unless completely exhausted I was unable to get any sleep; at times I would have to get out of bed in the dead of night, go into the street and tire myself out by walking to get sleep. Still the pain and its cause hung to me. I commenced to use Athlophoros. After a few doses there was a change for the better, and in good time came the cure so much hoped for and found at last only in Athlophoros. C. P. JORDAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Fair weather, winds west to south, slight changes in temperature.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 30 degrees above zero.

Sky Clear.

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' MONUMENT.

A meeting of the subscribers to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, and all others interested, will be held on Monday, 11th inst., at the Common Council room, at 7:30 P. M. Sub-committees are requested to be prepared to make their reports. M. ELDREDGE, Chairman.

EASTER SERVICES.

Services appropriate to Easter will be held at the Unitarian church on Sunday at 10:30 A. M. and three and 7:30 P. M. The afternoon service will consist of Easter Carols sung by the children of the Sunday school, and a sermon for children by the pastor. Subject of the morning sermon, "Christ's Definition of Eternal Life." The public are cordially invited to these services.

The following is the programme of vocal and instrumental music for morning and evening, the usual quartette being assisted by an efficient chorus:

Carol, "Easter Bells," Howard. Double quartette and chimes.

Response, "Chime softly, bells of Easter," Howard. Voices alone.

"Ave Maria," adapted to J. S. Bach's first Prelude by Ch. Gounod; Soprano solo by Mrs. Frank Williams, with violin solo, organ and piano.

Easter Anthem, "Christ the Lord," Wilson.

Anthem, "This is the Day," Wallace.

Response, "Departed Days," Violin and organ.

Anthem, "Christ our Passover," Danks.

"Priests' War March," Mendelssohn. Violin, piano and organ.

The Easter-tide services of the Episcopal church will be as follows:

Easter day, at 10:30 A. M., service in St. John's church, with address, and holy communion; offertory for diocesan mission; the choir chapter will form a chorus with St. John's choir. At 3:30 P. M., Sunday school celebration in St. John's church, with Easter carols by the schools; Easter offerings by the two schools. At 7:30 P. M., evening prayer and sermon at Christ church; choral service adapted to the season, by full choir.

Easter Monday, 10:30 A. M., service at St. John's church.

Easter Tuesday, 10:30 A. M., service at St. John's church.

At the Universalist church the music selected for performance on Easter Sunday is as follows:

ANTHEMS—

"Christ the Redeemer is King," Sargent.

"Why seek ye the living among the dead?" Greene.

"Christ the Lord is risen to-day," Emerson.

"Thanks be to God," Sudds.

Hymns suited to the day, "Trumpet" and "Rock of Ages."

The regular choir at this church is composed of Mrs. George W. Hall and Miss A. M. Sides, sopranos, Miss Annie Freeman and Miss Carrie Foss, altos, Mr. N. H. Shannon, bass, and Mr. G. W. Hall, tenor and director; Miss Fanny Tilton, organist. The choir will be assisted during the services of the day by Mrs. Henry Huntress and Miss Lillie Shannon, sopranos, Mrs. J. C. Tilton, alto, and Mr. J. C. Tilton, bass.

The subject in the Universalist church tomorrow morning will be, "Embalming the Living." Easter concert at 7:30 P. M.

There will be an interesting Easter service at the Middle street Baptist church on Sunday morning by the Sunday school, assisted by the choir, with an address by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Alden. Easter sermon in the evening by the pastor.

An Easter concert will be given in the Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening, by the Sunday school; all are welcome.

There will be a children's Easter service in the North parish chapel on Middle street, Sunday evening at the usual hour.

Rev. O. H. Jasper, D. D., will preach in the Court street Christian church on Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

DEATH OF JOHN E. KNOWLTON.

Mr. John Edward Knowlton died in Malden, Mass., on the night of the 7th inst., at the age of forty years. Mr. Knowlton was a son of Mr. John Knowlton of this city, but has lived in Malden many years, holding a responsible position in the extensive China and glassware store of Richard Briggs on School street, Boston. He leaves a wife, daughter of Mr. A. A. Payne, formerly of this city, and four sons.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENTS.

Early on Friday morning, the 8th inst., as Mrs. John Williams of Spruce creek, Kittery, was driving to this city, the horse took fright while being led by a young man across the Dover railroad crossing on Noble's island, and breaking away from the young man ran at a high rate of speed as far as the gate on Noble's island bridge, which he struck with such force that he tumbled clear over it, and the gate and a piece of the bridge rail were cracked. Mrs. Williams was thrown from the wagon and somewhat injured, but it was thought not seriously.

As one of the livery stable keepers was driving near the railroad station, Friday forenoon, towing a horse behind, the wagon capsized, and the led horse broke adrift and went to his stable. No harm was done.

MARITIME NOTES.

It was not on Capt. Cheney's gondola Hard Chance that the coal handlers' strike occurred, as previously reported, but on the hundred-ton scow owned at Dover, which is always towed both ways on the river.

The gondola Fearless, of Newmarket, Capt. Harry Watson, was being caulked on Friday last, to put her in readiness to open navigation to Exeter on Monday, the 11th, by taking a cargo of coal there, the ice having all left the river.

The brick schooner Estella, Capt. Burns, came off the marine railway at Kittery on Thursday, the 7th inst., and on Friday sailed up river to load for Boston.

The schooner D. K. Ham, Garland master, was towed up the river on Friday, April 8th, to load bricks for Boston. We are informed that Mr. James S. Brewster, of Cape Neddick, is with Capt. Garland as mate this season.

The schooner Mary Willey, Capt. Williams, was taken on the railway at Kittery on Friday.

The Gloucester fishing schooner Everett Steele put into Halifax, N. S., April 6th, to get new dories and ground tackle, having lost hers on the western banks; the collector of the port telegraphed to Ottawa, and received a reply that the distressed vessel could replace her gear.

The Canadian fishery cruiser Vigilant on the 5th inst. ran out of Beaver harbor, Nova Scotia, to look for Yankee poachers, and soon saw a schooner well within the three-mile limit, and with boats down, evidently preparing to put out nets. The cruiser went for her, but she made all sail, and refusing to stop for either blank cartridges or solid shot, distanced the pursuer. The name of the American vessel was not discovered.

Sawyer Post, of Dover, G. A. R., Col. Daniel Hall commander, was inspected Thursday evening, April 7th, by Assistant Inspector Abel Jackson of this city. Over one hundred of the comrades were present, and the services were very impressive. Among the visitors were Dept. Comdr. O. C. Wyatt, of Tilton, and Past Dept. Comdr. Collis, Judge Advocate Gen'l George E. Hodgdon, and Comrade Isaac T. Choate of this city.

Among the graduating themes of the Chandler Scientific school, Dartmouth college, "The Canada Fishery Question" is assigned to J. T. Cunningham of this city.

When Lizzie Evans first read the manuscript of her new play, "Our Angel," she said: "Well! that just suits me, and if I can't be an angel now, I'll be one bye and bye." Miss Evans will appear at Music hall next Thursday (Fast) night in "Our Angel;" as the little lady is a great favorite here, we have no doubt she will be greeted with a crowded house.

The Dover Democrat of last Thursday says: "At the instance of Hon. T. E. O. Marvin of Portsmouth, John Clements of Berwick, Me., was arrested this afternoon in Rollinsford, for cruelty to a horse in Rollinsford a few days ago."

Fun in everything, if you will only see it. An irate customer visited one of our local dealers a few days since, from whom he had purchased a quarter of a ton of small coal, bearing in his hands a sable monolith which would well represent one of the stone axes exhumed from the prehistoric tumuli of the west, seen through a powerful lens. "I thought I bought nut coal," said he; "phwat do you call that?" Calmly the dealer replied, "I call it a mighty good piece of superior coal. Why didn't you break it up?" "Break it up! I want you to understand that when I buy fine coal I'll be blanked if I will cut it with an axe,"—and he departed in high wrath, leaving the big lump of coal behind.

A large flock of wild geese, flying unusually low down, passed over South road, moving between Great bay and the harbor, early Good Friday morning.

Capt. James O. Kane has been ordered to duty at the Portsmouth navy yard.

Daniel Webster of this city has been granted a pension.

The neat and pretty little Advent church just erected at Eliot neck was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies on Thursday afternoon last, and although the travelling was execrable, the edifice was packed with an interested and highly pleased congregation.

The new marble works of Jenness & Dowd wish to state to the public that owing to doing their own work they are under no expense, and can sell work for prices that cannot be outdone by any firm in New England. First class work guaranteed. Nothing but the best Italian marble used, and no work set in brimstone, as formerly done by other shops; all set in lead.

Those wool worsted suitings in plain and mixed colorings, are the very best. No. 6 Market street. J. W. Moses.

Henry W. Burgess of Boston has been licensed by the Dover board of aldermen to introduce the Thomson-Houston electric lights into that city, and guaranteed the sole privilege of furnishing such light there for five years.

The debt of $25,000 of the American Home Missionary society has been more than raised by contributions in response to circulars sent to churches throughout the country a few weeks ago.

Mr. Blaine Ill.

Hon. James G. Blaine was on the 8th inst. reported to be seriously ill at Fort Gibson, Indian territory, and threatened with pneumonia.

The bill for an elevated railroad in Philadelphia was killed in the state legislature.

Father Anderly, the new general of the Jesuits, is an American priest.

The steamship Salerno, which was spoken on March 27th with her propeller broken, has not been heard from since, and is supposed to have sunk with all hands.

—Judge (exhibiting a saw-edged razor)—"Is that the weapon with which the prisoner assaulted you?" Complainant—"Yas, boss, dat's de same razzer." Judge—"Prisoner is discharged. Don't come here again unless he trys to shave you with it."

—Omaha man: "Well, those Frenchmen just beat the Dutch. They are bound to have revenge, I see." Omaha dame: "Why, have they declared war on Germany?" "No, but they are selling the Germans Panama Canal stock."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are so much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

New Food Preservative.

The American Inventor says a new process has been discovered by which every variety of meats, fruits, vegetables, etc., can be preserved as long as desired without heating or sealing, in such a manner as to retain all their original flavor and plumpness. It is stated that by this process 100 lbs. of ham or sausage or 100 dozen of eggs can be preserved for an indefinite time by ten hours' treatment, at an outlay of five cents. Such a discovery as this seems almost too good to be true. If it is practical and healthful it will work a revolution in the food line.—Exchange.

Prince Bismarck's Popularity.

Prince Bismarck said in his interview with M. de Lesseps, as an illustration of the fickleness of popular favor: "I was speaking to you just now of my popularity. This is almost as awkward as antipathy. This pavement of Berlin, which formerly I could not tread without the people I met spitting as I passed to show their disgust for me, is now so crowded with friends when I set foot out of doors that I am reduced to showing myself as little as possible. The day may come when there will again be spitting on my path."—Chicago Tribune.

Salt on Snowy Streets.

Dr. John C. Peters advocates the use of salt on snowy streets, in which opinion he is in accord with many other doctors of standing. He claims that the salt is not injurious to horses feet, as is popularly supposed, but that it cures scratches and sore heels. Moreover, it is one of the best disinfectants known, and will prevent the formation of sewer gas.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The "Irremovable" to be Removed.

It is reported in Roman Catholic circles in New York that Archbishop Corrigan has received from Rome authority to suspend pastors who by the Baltimore council were made "irremovable." The extraordinary power thus granted is expected to be used in strengthening the archbishop's hands in his conflict with Dr. McGlynn's supporters. The Catholic paper, the Freeman's Journal, heretofore independent, came out last week with a strong editorial condemning what it calls the "McGlynn Protestant clique."

That Baby of Mine,

Auntie, three months ago had the salt rheum so bad that his head was a mass of sores, and I had begun to lose all hopes of raising him, but my druggist recommended Sulphur Bitters, and to-day he is as fat and chipper as any baby you ever saw, and he has not a sore on his head, and just think that after paying out so much, that a few dollars worth of Sulphur Bitters should cure him.—Mrs. J. C. Hall, Lowell.

Two boys, George and Thomas Sheehan, aged eleven and fourteen years, were arrested at Newton Junction on the 7th inst. while in the act of breaking into a freight car on the Boston & Maine railroad. In default of bail one was committed to Exeter jail, and the other was placed in the house of correction at Brentwood.

Shade Scarbrough, who murdered Madison Caesar in July last, was hanged in the jail yard at Clayton, Ala., April 8th.

Boils, pimples, hives, ringworm, tetter, and all other manifestations of impure blood are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

In the action at Concord of Mary A. Dearborn, administratrix, against the Boston & Lowell railroad, brought to recover $25,000 damages for causing the death of her husband, Engineer W. W. Dearborn, of Plymouth, Nov. 4th, 1885, the jury returned a verdict, awarding the plaintiff $5000.

The complete novel in the May number of "Lippincott's Magazine" will be furnished by Captain Charles King, U. S. A., the popular author of "The Colonel's Daughter," "Marion's Faith," and other tales of army life. It is entitled "The Deserter," and is equal in interest to any of its predecessors. An entertaining article on "Social Life at Vassar," by an undergraduate now taking the course, will also appear in Lippincott's for May.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.
High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had pooched at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren, M.D.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

THE BEEFSTEAK TEST.

Perfecting One's Self in Common Tasks. The Study of Children.

It is one to ten that a girl who can properly broil a beefsteak or make a good loaf of bread can do anything else within the range of her opportunities. We are quite as much the creatures of our conditions as our circumstances. Those who do not master the useful accomplishments because they are not compelled to do so are not likely to be deeply versed in polite accomplishments. They are either sluggish of mind or slow and slothful bodily, or both slow and sluggish in mind and body. As wives they will follow the bent of previous inclination. They will make poor housekeepers. As a rule the slow boy will turn out a shiftless, plodding, unambitious man, satisfied if he may eat, drink, and sleep without too much labor if he must earn his living, and without care of mind if his living have been stored up for him by thrifty progenitors. If a husband, he will be quite willing that the wife of his bosom shall wait upon him to the full measure of her inclination. As members of society, such men and women add nothing to the common stock of enjoyment contributed by others. They are cuckoos, minus the cuckoo enterprise in providing alien nurture for the broods they may help to bring into the world.

The philosophy of the beefsteak test rests on the theory that those who perfect themselves in a common task, rather esteemed as a drudgery than as an evidence of merit, will also perfect themselves in other and more showy proficiencies. They have alert minds, looking beyond the frying pan or the tea kettle to achieve results, and willing and dexterous hands that do not find labor distasteful when it brings knowledge along with it. The patience of the girl who evolves a loaf of bread from its constituent substances fit for a queen to eat may be expected, given the requisite materials, to construct a robe fit for a queen to wear, or, "of imagination all compact," to write a poem it would delight a queen to read. A good loaf of bread is in itself a homely poem, and the girl who makes it a home delight.

All this preamble leads up to the observation that all the children of whatever condition in life should be studied for their appetites and inclinations. The bright ones—the inquisitive, restless, active youngsters—are apt to push themselves in well doing. The dull and obtuse children need more careful handling; first, to nurse their physical strength, and then to brighten and awaken their minds. It can be done. Sometimes, as every one must have observed, the dull youngster grows into a bright woman, or a quick witted, go ahead man. But not one half the girls are born with the innate capacity or the grown up desire to broil a beefsteak properly. Nor do the boys come into the world any better prepared to wrestle with the problem of life. Out of this great army—who marry and are given in marriage—comes the listlessness, the ennui, the inertia that arrest the progress and eclipse the gayety of nations.

The worst possible thing that can happen a child is that restraint which results from entire idleness and absence of direction. Active children sometimes play wrong. They acquire habits that warp them and turn them awry. Weaklings and children who are "born tired," on the contrary, aggravate their natal tendencies by becoming constitutionally weak and tired, when proper care might have them strong and pushing. If it be true that those who learn to do what they may are also those who may be trusted to learn to do what they can, an understanding of the fact should be of great advantage in life, not only in choosing life partners, but partners in business and associates and employes in positions of trust or works of dexterity.

The development of the pushing propensity where it exists, of pushing it where it is not, and of fostering aptitudes and inclinations which are so feeble as to need the magnifying power of the great Lick telescope to discover them are duties that rest largely upon the mothers of the land. Few of them have ever thought of their obligations to their offspring in this light; many have never considered them at all. But it is clear that even when a child's body and morals are well looked after the work of fitting him for life is but just begun. He must be taught, if he does not intuitively know, how to broil his beefsteak.—Philadelphia Record.

Most All the Same.

"Hello!" called a female voice through the telephone at police headquarters.

"Yes, who is it?"

"Same woman who has telephoned you before."

"Well."

"That same husband of mine has taken that same jewelry and gone to the same saloon to pawn it for whisky."

"Well."

"Well, this same woman is going over and raise the same row about it."

"And what do you want of us?"

"Nothing, except that you notify the officer on the beat to keep his hands off. He may not be the same man."—Detroit Free Press.

New Uses for Pine Needles.

Another use for pine needles beside that of spreading an aromatic odor through the fancy covering of a pine pillow has been developed by a new southern industry. One product of the pine needles is a remarkably strong oil that possesses many medicinal virtues. Another is pine wool, which is bleached, dyed and woven. The wool is a fleecy brown mass, possessing a pleasant odor, which gives it value as a moth destroyer when used as a carpet lining. A strong, cheap matting is made from the wool, useful for halls, stairways and offices.—Chicago Times.

SKIN AND SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va. Reference, G. W. Ladmer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured.

E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs. Henry Klotz, who had tetter on her hands to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered greatly, was completely cured by the use of your medicines.

C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.

For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which has speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA.

MRS. ISAAC PHELPS, Ravenna, O.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction.

C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere: Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; RESOLVENT, $1.00; SOAP, 25 cents. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never failing.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

Blakely, the nineteen-year-old ruffian who murderously assaulted John J. Callahan and Stephen Littleton with a hatchet and revolver while they were asleep in their beds in a stable at Taunton, Mass., some weeks ago, was caught last week, having been arrested in Boston as a tramp, and on Friday was held in $3000 for the grand jury on each of two charges of attempted murder. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

THE PROPOSED MONUMENT.

This evening, at the city rooms, there will be a meeting of the subscribers to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument fund, in response to the call of Hon. M. Eldredge, chairman of the monument committeee. It is not creditable to the patriotism of our city that the required amount has not long since been subscribed. The following in relation to this matter we take from the Times of last Saturday evening:

A call for a meeting of the subscribers to the proposed Soldiers' and Sailors' monument fund, the committee, and all citizens interested in the project, has been published in this paper. The meeting is to be held at the Common Council room next Monday evening, at half-past seven o'clock, when it is hoped there will be a large attendance. It is now important that the committee, and citizens, too, should take some definite and decided action in regard to the matter, for, as has been stated in this paper two or three weeks ago, Mayor Eldredge and family, offering in good faith with generous hearted magnanimity, the Goodwin field as a site for the proposed monument, can but feel that their donation is meeting with a not very hearty response from our citizens. The dilatory manner in which subscriptions come in, certainly does not create a very good impression on their minds on this point. This inactivity is liable to prove dangerous, and may not only lose to the city the valuable gift of the Eldredge heirs, but the monument itself. This would indeed be a deplorable state of things—one which no good citizen can fail to deprecate, and we trust it will never exist. We are of the opinion that the seeming inactivity by our citizens is not due to a lack of interest in the project. All do appreciate the generosity of our worthy mayor and family, but all seem to be waiting for someone else to move in the matter—as a military company waits for its executive officer.

Gunners on Great bay are now getting large numbers of geese and black ducks.

New desks and seats are being put in two of the rooms of the Cabot street schoolhouse.

We would invite especial attention to the attractively arranged windows of C. E. Laighton & Son's store, and advise our readers to personally inspect those pretty fancy baskets of tea; they are beauties.

Paymaster Frank H. Hinman, attached to the U. S. S. Vandalia, has been condemned by a medical board of survey, and ordered home. Pay Clerk Roach has been appointed acting paymaster, and ordered to assume charge of Hinman's accounts. The Vandalia is attached to the Pacific squadron, and was at Panama on the 28th of March, bound north after a short stay.

The Tucker house on State street has been leased to Mr. Charles P. Garvin, and will be used as a club boarding house by twelve young men; Mrs. Camp, mother of Mr. D. M. Camp, manager of the restaurant at the Boston & Maine railroad station, will be the housekeeper, and an experienced young colored man will be the porter.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Rockingham county held their quarterly conference in South Newmarket on Wednesday of last week. Delegates were present from Exeter, Epping, Portsmouth, Greenland and Newmarket; a fair-sized local audience gathered, and the day was pleasantly and profitably spent.

It was reported on Saturday that Messrs. Charles E. Littlefield, William A. Ashe and John E. Colcord, clerks in the office of Paymaster Cosby, the general storekeeper at the navy yard, had been notified that their resignations would be accepted if handed in at any time before May 1st. Prior to the consolidation of the several department stores on the yard under one head, Col. Littlefield had been many years chief clerk and store clerk in the department of navigation, and Mr. Colcord for nearly twenty years store clerk in the department of construction and repair; while Mr. Ashe had been employed in various capacities — as draughtsman in the department of yards and docks, clerk in the office of the captain of the yard, and store clerk in the department of yards and docks. On the consolidation, all were transferred to the office of the general storekeeper, and their retirement will leave of the clerical force in that office the chief clerk, who is Paymaster Cosby's son, Mr. J. Ed. Chase of Kittery, formerly store clerk in the department of steam engineering, and Mr. Freeman F. Sanborn of this city, formerly store clerk in the ordnance department. Who will take the places of the retiring clerks is not stated.

The Penny Post says the Elm street ward room is to be pressed into service as a temporary school room, there not being proper accommodations for the number of children now attending the schools.

William Wells, of Wells, had one of his hands taken off by a circular saw while at work in Bragdon's mill in that town on Tuesday of last week.

Fordyce P. Cleaves and S. G. Emerson of Kennebunkport, the latter a son of Rev. J. D. Emerson have been chosen upon the list of senior prize speakers at Dartmouth.

Frank Russell of Farmington and Patrick Kelly of Exeter have been granted pensions.

Lucius Lathrop, who disappeared from Newport several months ago, has been arrested in St. Augustine, Fla., charged with forgery, and will be brought back. His forgeries are said to amount to fully $15,000.

Upon complaint of thirteen voters of Croydon, that in their belief the law against bribery at elections was violated in connection with the annual March meeting, legal proceedings have been instituted.

In Exeter, on the afternoon of the 7th inst., the four-years-old son of Frederic Bostelle was reported as missing, not having been seen by his parents since noon. The little fellow not showing up at night, although diligent search was made, the river was dragged next day, and about the middle of the afternoon his body was brought up.

Rev. J. W. Kingsbury of the Congregational church at Deerfield Centre, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday, March 27th. The church will be closed for three months, while undergoing extensive repairs.

A. F. Keyes of Raymond was taken sick very suddenly, a few days since, and his family supposed he was dead, sending for the doctor and for parties to lay him out for burial, but he is alive and is getting better.

Mrs. Elbridge Young of Deerfield, who had an arm broken and was otherwise injured by being thrown from her sleigh a short time ago, has entered suit against the town for $1300 damages.

Deputy Sheriff Tilton of Exeter visited Amesbury, Mass., last Thursday, and recovered from William Tattersall a diamond ring valued at $400, and another valuable stone ring. The property was lost some weeks ago by Mrs. Van Schaack on the street in Exeter, and was found by Tattersall, who also found at the same time a pocketbook containing $7 and some valuable papers, belonging to the same lady. Tattersall spent the money, and lost the pocketbook and papers, or says he did.

Captain Samuels, late of the yacht Dauntless, denies that he had any trouble with Mr. Colt, her owner.

A STARTLING FACT.

It is not commonly known that a large proportion of the rheumatism and neuralgia extant is traceable directly to the diseased condition or imperfect action of the kidneys and liver; therefore a remedy which cures the resulting disease must have found and smitten the first cause. Many persons using Athlophoros for rheumatism and neuralgia have been surprised to find that chronic disorders of the liver and kidneys have also been greatly relieved and they have written for an explanation. The fact is, that the remedy acts directly on these organs, cleansing them from all irritating substances and regulating their action. Taken in connection with Athlophoros Pills this is, without exception, the most valuable kidney and liver remedy in the world, and will cure a large proportion of those who have these diseases.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

Allow me to say a few words in favor of Athlophoros. Having been troubled with rheumatism for several years I had tried many remedies but with no satisfactory results. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Athlophoros and I was surprised at the immediate relief it afforded. I would highly recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatic trouble.

T. D. PHELPS.

Leominster, Mass., May 13, 1886.

I think Athlophoros is a grand, good medicine. I used not quite one bottle for neuralgia in the shoulders and neck, and experienced great relief, the pain subsided and in twenty-four hours disappeared altogether. I recommend Athlophoros to any and everybody afflicted with neuralgia, for it will kill that disease. MRS. FREEMAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

SURPRISED WORKMEN.

While one of the city teams was standing in front of the "Welcome" house on Deer street, Saturday morning, to receive a barrel of ashes, the men engaged in the work were surprised to see the cart suddenly settle until the axle was on the ground, the cause of the phenomenon being the caving-in of an old unused sewer. The cart, which was nearly filled with ashes and rubbish, had to be unloaded before it could be extricated.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary Jane Greenough, widow of Wm. A. Greenough, formerly of this city, died in Charlestown, Mass., April 7th, at the age of seventy-two years. She was sister to Mr. William H. Foster of this city, and daughter of the late Robert Foster, who for several years printed for Elias Smith the Christian Herald, said to have been the pioneer religious newspaper of the world. Her son, the late William A. Greenough, Jr., founded the firm of Wm. A. Greenough & Co., of Boston, widely known as compilers, publishers and printers of city directories, the business being still conducted under the same firm name.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

SATURDAY, April 9th.

John Bohen, who has been at work in one of the York Harbor & Beach railroad construction gangs, will not work there any more at present, having gone to Brentwood to board out $9.90, the amount of fine and costs assessed against him for being found drunk.

William Falvey, charged with drunkenness, did not deny the charge, but promised that if allowed he would get out of town right away, and stay out for a year. The bargain offered was so advantageous for the city that the magistrate closed with it at once, and Mr. Falvey was allowed to retire.

NOTICE TO PARENTS.

The attention of parents is called to the following extract from Chap. 91, General Laws of New Hampshire: "Sec. 2. No child, unless he has been duly vaccinated, or had the small-pox, is entitled to attend any public school; and the prudential committees of the several districts, and those who exercise the power of such committees, shall not allow any child to be admitted to, or connected with, any such school."

EASTER SUNDAY.

The weather on Easter Sunday was all that could be asked, and the attendance at all the churches was very large. At nearly all, the sermons had especial reference to the season; and at the Unitarian, Episcopal and Universalist churches the regular choirs were strongly reinforced. The children's services, at the Baptist church in the forenoon, at the Episcopal and Unitarian churches in the afternoon, and at the Methodist and Universalist churches in the evening, were all largely attended and very interesting. The Unitarian church at the vesper service was packed.

SLIGHT FIRE.

There was a good deal of excitement in the vicinity of the Globe Grocery store on Saturday evening about seven o'clock, clouds of smoke in the store causing the rapid gathering of a crowd of persons, who were prevented by the police from entering the store. The cause of the smoke was discovered to be a blaze in the back office, where a bracket lamp had been swung around from its proper position so that it was nearly under a shelf on which were some rubber boots, the heat of the lamp setting the boots on fire, causing the smoke mentioned, and also an odor by no means like that of Araby the blest. Mr. Rider extinguished the fire with two or three well directed hand grenades. Damage trifling.

"EMBALMING THE LIVING."

Such was the subject in the Universalist church yesterday; text, John xx, 1; "Now on the first day of the week cometh Mary Magdalene early, while it was yet dark, unto the tomb, and seeth the stone taken away from the tomb."

Mary came to embalm the body of Jesus. She came in accordance with her idea of Christ. She supposed her Lord was dead; but she was not needed. Her small office for a small life was not required. There were larger plans ripening. There was an infinite purpose to be fulfilled. Mary was mistaken in trying to dispose of Christ, for in so doing she was trying to assist God in his omnipotence. Men are constantly offering needless services to immortal principles, instead of offering immortal principles to men. As a writer says they are "anxious to do something for the honor of our Lord's eternal Godhead." Now God will live forever. His spirit has once for all broken the tomb of material things, and turned the tide of materialistic talk in the church and out.

Out of man's joy and sorrow the Supreme Disposer will work spiritual ends. We may come while it is yet dark, to embalm the living church, the living Christianity, the living universal doctrine; but they have risen, and have gone forth into the world; and we moan over the old shell of a tomb where we expected to find them. Life is God's plan. For ages has he wrought in the world for it. Out of rocky tombs has he brought it, and he through Christ intends to keep it. Often on the ruins of our visionary hopes rises the kingdom of our substantial possession and true peace, and under the shadow of earthly disappointment, all unconsciously to ourselves, our Divine Redeemer is walking by our side.

WHO SHOULD LOOK AFTER IT?

Messrs. Editors:—Hot days may be looked for now at almost any time, and many people, especially those living along Court and Middle streets, would like to know if there is any department in our city whose duty it is to do aught in the way of protection to the health of its people—to say nothing of common decency.

Protection from the stenches of the south pond is, it would appear, past praying for, and is not referred to in this; but another if possible more disgusting nuisance is that of the filthy scattering of the contents of carts loaded with garbage of fish, which every forenoon pass through Court and Middle streets from the river to the city limits, leaving at almost every rod fish heads and entrails, to the danger of health and the utter disgust of every person of common perception of decency—or sense of smell.

It may be said without exception that those living along these streets—and nearly all others in our town—take great pains and pride in keeping their sidewalks and crossings neat and clean; but to what purpose, if such practices as above noted are to be permitted?

In short, have those appointed (we suppose there are such, from the cost) performed their full duty by drawing their pay? or are they men without eyes or noses? If the police are to be looked to, to correct this, why it may as well be borne uncomplainingly—as perfect protection at night is all that can reasonably be asked of them. COURT STREET.

FAST DAY SERVICES.

Union services will be held on Fast day, April 14th, in the Universalist church, with sermon by the pastor, Rev. Lee H. Fisher. All are cordially invited.

This evening, at Franklin hall, the St. Mary's Benevolent society will give their annual ball.

Reserved seat tickets for the performance of "Our Angel" at Music hall next Thursday evening, by Miss Lizzie Evans and her dramatic company, go on sale at Goodrich's to-day. This new piece is not a one-part play, there being a good number of strong and well-drawn characters in it.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The new marble works of Jenness & Dowd wish to state to the public that owing to doing their own work they are under no expense, and can sell work for prices that cannot be outdone by any firm in New England. First class work guaranteed. Nothing but the best Italian marble used, and no work set in brimstone, as formerly done by other shops; all set in lead.

MARITIME NOTICS.

The barque Harvard, Capt. Pray, arrived in New York on Sunday from Cebu.

The schooner Alphine, from Port Johnson for this port with coal, which was driven ashore in Vineyard Haven by the gale of April 2d, was floated on the night of the 7th inst., and would reload her cargo and proceed.

A large amount of wreck stuff was last week reported as washing ashore in Lynnhaven, N. J., bay, from some unknown craft, which after several days was discovered to be a large three-master sunk near Cobb's island, with the water just over her deck. The vessel is supposed to be the Mair & Cranmer, Capt. John W. Budd, from New York for Washington with a load of stone; all hands no doubt perished.

Miss Alice May Estey, soprano of the choir of the Middle street Baptist church, will sing here but two more Sundays, having been engaged as soprano of the Universalist church at Malden, Mass.

Spring Medicine

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Gshoes, N. Y.

A Rare Autograph.

Collectors of books and rare articles do not always care to let it become known to the general public that they possess them, for often such things come into their possession in a surreptitious manner. There is a most pointed case to exemplify this. A collector of books and autographs, John Allen, died, and his executor sold the collection at auction. The sale realized many thousand dollars, but that which particularly interested the curious was an autograph letter—Gen. Washington's answer to the address of the corporation of New York conferring on him the freedom of the city, May 2, 1785. It occupied two folio pages. Two collectors bid for it, and became so excited that they went beyond all reason, and one of them, Mr. Lent, bid $2,050 for it. It was knocked down to him. He was appalled at what he had done and declined to pay. A lawsuit was the result. Before it came to judgment the city attorney of New York brought a suit of replevin to recover possession of the letter on the ground that it formed part of the city archives. The city recovered it, showing that it had been extracted from the archives forty years before. Some of the most famous archives have thus been robbed by collectors, and if a search were made in the old records of St. Louis similar thefts would be traced. Nothing, in fact, is safe from the collector.—St. Louis Republican.

Statue of Ex-Governor Allen.

Mr. Niehaus' statue of ex-Governor Allen, of Ohio, which is to be placed in the Capitol at Washington, is finished at Rome. It is seven feet high and represents its subject standing, his right hand nervously clutching his coat lapel and his left grasping a roll of manuscript.—Chicago Tribune.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position, controls the principal lines East of Chicago, and continuous lines at terminal points West, Northwest and Southwest, is the only true middle link in that transcontinental system which furnishes the shortest, most direct traffic in either direction between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Main Line and branches include Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, La Salle, Peoria, Geneseo, Moline and Rock Island, in Illinois; Davenport, Muscatine, Washington, Fairfield, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Winterset, Atlantic, Knoxville, Audubon, Harlan, Guthrie, Winterset, Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, St. Joseph, Cameron and Kansas City, in Missouri; Leavenworth and Atchison, in Kansas; Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul, in Minnesota; Watertown, in Dakota, and hundreds of intermediate cities, towns and villages.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees Speed, Comfort and Safety to those who travel over it. Its roadbed is thoroughly ballasted. Its track is of heavy steel. Its bridges are solid structures of stone and iron. Its rolling stock is perfect as human skill can make it. It has all the safety appliances that mechanical genius has invented and experience proved valuable. Its practical operation is conducted on a methodical—its discipline is strict and exacting. The luxury of its passenger accommodation is unequaled in the Western country.

All Express Trains between Chicago and the Missouri River consist of Convertable Day Coaches, magnificent Pullman Palace Parlor and Sleeping Cars, elegant Dining Cars providing excellent meals, and—between Kansas City and Denver—Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct, favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. Over this route only Fast Express Trains run daily to the summer resorts, picturesque localities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. The rich wheat fields and grazing lands of Inland Dakota are reached via Watertown. A short, desirable route, via Seneca and Kankakee, for travel between Chicago and Indianapolis, Lafayette and Council Bluffs. Kansas City, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul and intermediate points. All the modern conveniences for the comfort of passengers, including Dining Cars, are furnished by the Company. Its officials and employes of Rock Island, from the President down, are courteous, obliging and attentive.

MAKING SMOKE PICTURES.

A New and Suggestive Method of Making Black and White Work.

Painters are proverbial inventors. There were more so in old times than at present, for at that time nothing was established and every painter had to make his own colors, canvases, and sometimes the implements he used. Nowadays they are still an inventive class, for to secure a method of painting which shall be distinctive of his own work only a painter is obliged to try new processes and combinations of processes until he reaches one which thoroughly satisfies his desires. The results of such researches are sometimes seen in our exhibitions, especially in black and white work. The monotype, a painting made with printers' ink on a waxed paper, is one of the more recent inventions of the kind. The peculiarity of the monotype was its facility of handling and a certain rich quality of color which compared well with the etching. The first monotype was made on a copper plate, and then was transferred to paper, having been apparently suggested to the author by the "rubbing" process in etching. Only one impression of such a plate could be made, and the experiment has proved practically useless to the arts.

A still more recent invention, and with more novel and valuable effects, is Mr. W. Hamilton Gibson's "smoke picture." Several of these smoke pictures were recently shown in the rooms of the Authors' club, where they received very general commendation for their broad and striking effects.

The "smoke picture" appears to be something entirely new. It may be briefly described as a black and white made by a gas flame upon a cardboard or paper ground. In Mr. Gibson's first experiments he held the paper before a horizontal flame, and by passing one part after another across the flame secured masses of lampblack, which he found he could manipulate afterward to great pictorial advantange. In this awkward manner he was able to evolve a landscape of decided suggestiveness. Later he attached a rubber tube to his gas fixture, and with a suitable nozzle at the end was able to sit before his easel and manipulate the gas pipe as he would a brush. After this innovation he was able to obtain greater accuracy and to study better his effects.

After the paper has been coated well with varying shades of gray and black it presents perhaps the suggestion only of a landscape or figure. Detail may then be put in with a brush, with the finger, or with any desired implement. Where the removal of the black by this means leaves too white a surface the gas flame passed quickly over it will subdue it as gradually as may be wished to a deeper tone. In its present state the smoke picture is in its infancy, but it is certainly a promising one. Led to it by a desire to secure some relief from the excessive detail of his ordinary method, Mr. Gibson was astonished and charmed with the results of his experiment. Every touch of the flame seemed to suggest a new theme. The whole was broad, yet marked with graduations so delicate as to be inimitable by any ordinary method of black and white work. Meanwhile the bold and intense blacks assumed a rich, velvety texture and depth which seemed remarkable. Unfortunately, the quality disappears under a spray of fixitive, the liquid apparently forming a solution with the lampblack, which loses its character by the displacement of its particles. Could some other method of preserving it be found it would add to the sum of our knowledge in art a new black by the side of which the ordinary ivory and lampblacks would appear light.

The pictures which have thus far resulted from Mr. Gibson's experiments are above all broad and suggestive. The process is so rapid that its value for sketching purposes is already assured. It shows itself furthermore capable of giving remarkable "qualities," being capable of the softest and smoothest of even surface or of the most bold and broken, according to the implements used to manipulate it, the texture of the underground, or peculiarities of application.

Mr. Gibson hopes to carry his experiments still further and to test the value of his smoke picture for illustrative purposes. Meanwhile the process is so easy and material so cheap that numbers will doubtless try it for themselves.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Color of the Canary.

With regard to the yellow color of the canary bird and its testimony to Mr. Darwin's theory, it is said that, after domestication in Belgium, Germany and England (a point with which temperature or climate may have had something to do), the birds threw up on the feathers small patches of yellow of lighter color, and by carefully matching those birds that had the greatest number of patches the breeders at length, and after a considerable period, succeeded in obtaining bright and uniform yellow color, more closely resembling what are called the "clear" birds of to-day. But the application of the phrase, "canary color," to indicate a special shade of yellow, though general, is not justified by the facts. Canaries of pure breed are to be found of many colors. Whole breeds are green; and, by feeding on pepper and other seeds, canaries have been produced of cinnamon and coffee color, and even of red; and, in the lizard variety, the bird, though yellow in the crown, is elsewhere shaded and spangled in the most lovely manner. —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Artesian Well Power.

In many parts of France heavy machinery is run by artesian well power. The deeper the well the greater the pressure. A well at Grenelle has a pressure of sixty pounds to the square inch, and the water is so hot that it is used for heating the hospitals in the vicinity.—Chicago Times.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper digestion.

For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r International Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

RIVAL SCHOOLS OF BURGLARY.

A Row Among Parisian Robbers—They Make a Treaty of Peace.

Some recent burglaries which were committed in the suburbs, and the perpetrators of which were arrested, have led to the discovery of two bands of midnight marauders, whose exploits are worthy of record by a Sue. Two leading representatives of Parisian rascaldom, respectively named Poussin and Boutonne, had founded two rival schools of burglary. The Poussinists broke into an isolated villa, the ordinary occupant of which (an officer) was absent. Being unable to carry away all their plunder during the night, they returned to the charge toward morning, only to find their rivals, the Boutonnists, installed in their places. Thereupon a row ensued among the robbers. The disused arms which were hung up as monuments in the officer's museum were taken down from their pegs, and the combatants attacked each other energetically with sabers, the butts of muskets, and old fashioned arms, such as halberts and battle axes.

The sight of flowing blood, however, soon dampened the ardor of the antagonistic thieves, and they also feared that the noise of the struggle would be heard by the police. A treaty of peace was accordingly entered into, and the whole gang cemented their union by a grand banquet in the villa at the expense, of course, of its owner, whose larder and wine cellar were requisitioned to some purpose. Boutonne, one of the chiefs, drank six bottles of champagne and one of cognac, after which, being no doubt unable to oblige the company with a song or a recitation, he amused his companions by turning somersaults over the chairs and tables, and doing the Gallic equivalent for a double shuffle on the top of an Erard piano.

After this the amalgamated band worked with the utmost boldness and energy in different suburbs of Paris. They did successful strokes of business in lonely houses, invariably ransacked the meat and wine departments, and left grateful notes of acknowledgment on the dining room tables for the disconsolate proprietors. In one instance Poussin and Boutonne congratulated a despoiled house owner on the excellence of his poultry and promised to return in order to render the customary visite de digestion. The whole of this audacious band, numbering about twenty-five men, has been arrested. Poussin is an old zouave and Boutonne is a good for nothing dare devil of highly respectable origin, who was educated in the school of art and manufactures.—Paris Cor. London Telegraph.

The Language of Horticulture.

What droll things are to be met with in Gardners' Gazettes, or in Half hours with Horticulture, or in Conservatory Chronicles, or in whatever other lake apron and and pruning knife journal falls under the non-technical eye! Here is a peep into one of them, just to show its fruits of learning and flowers of speech. In it we read of an orchard house in full swing; of a stage in a conservatory; of melons having a collar; of a primula getting a habit; of gloxinias wanting a shift; of all plants requiring to be dressed; of peaches forming elbows; of potatoes having well ripened eyes; of currants having spurs; of pines wanting hot water pipes under their beds; of specimens being starved to rest; of roses being impatient; of sap being inclined to rush away; of azaleas not liking tobacco smoke; of figs running riot; of grapes that can stand sulphur fumes, that are well out of the way, that are no end of trouble, that may not be left to themselves, that will not be hurried, that can get rusty, that are grass habited, that dislike to be buried, that refuse to be finished off, that rob one another stone themselves, have warts, and can color, and swell, and bleed, and start!

Gardners, also, are directed to do dreadful deeds. They are to pinch the bines, to stake the carnations, to strike veronicas, to behead winter greens, to turn out bouvardias, to reinvest climbers, put cuttings into cold pits, prick out celery, and stick peas! The territories in which all this is to be done are as uninviting as possible. They are full, so we read, of red spiders, greenfly, earwigs, mealy bugs, wireworms, caterpillars, carrot grubs, onion maggots, mildew, snails, ants, slugs, scale, club and cats. Nor are the weapons with which war is to be waged against these any sweeter to the imagination. Gardeners are to arm themselves with clay, tar, chalk, soot, lime, bran, sulphur, sweet oil, wood ashes, gas lime, rosin, soapsuds, softsoap, nicotine soap, tobacco dust, tobacco paper, guano, quassia, paraffine, hellebore powder, fir tree oil, brewers' grains, and red lead. In such perpetual battle against garden pests—as they are called—the one pleasant thought is that all seems to be greatly in favor of the gardener.—Chambers' Journal.

One Kingdom in Nature.

While it may seem singular that the division line between animals and plants cannot be clearly traced—some forms appearing to belong to either or both kingdoms—it is still more remarkable that mineral substances should seem to be living creatures. One of the most interesting finds in the ocean depths is Huxley's Bathybius, made of shapeless, motionless slime. It has been supposed to be the common origin of the animal and vegetable kingdom, but its organic character has lately been questioned, and many naturalists now consider it only gelatinous gypsum. In Roxom Canadensis we have another animal of a few years ago which is now regarded as a mineral substance.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Young Clergymen.

The Churchman says that in general the clergy marry younger and with scantier prospect of being able decently to fulfill the obligations thus entailed than do either lawyers, doctors or merchants.

A SCIENTIST'S WARNING.

Synopsis of a Remarkable Lecture Delivered by Dr. H. E. Hammond Before the National Scientist's Convention.

"We call this an 'age of progress,' and so in very many respects it is, but I do not hesitate to declare most emphatically, that in many things that constitute TRUE happiness we are simply children. Let us see: We are startled constantly by the sudden death of some man who seemed the picture of health. He thought he was well. Occasionally his appetite was poor, but then in a few days afterward it was ravenous. He felt strange pains shooting through his body, but as they did not remain he forgot them. His sleep refreshed him periodically, he was somewhat paler than common, and was unaccountably tired, but he felt comparatively well and vigorous. And yet he suddenly died! It is a shame to our boasted civilization."

THE SUDDEN DEATH

Dr. Hammond then instanced a number of cases of persons well-known to him who had died in great agony although they had experienced few symptoms and little pain, and continued:

"Why is it that so many little children are to-day stunted, and apparently blighted for life? Because those early and inevitable diseases, measels, scarlatina, etc., have so weakened certain organs that nature cannot do her work, and the child languishes perhaps dies. Look at the list of women who die in childbirth, and why is it? Simply because their maternal organs have been so weakened by the most terrible of all diseases that they cannot withstand the fearful sudden strain that is brought to bear upon them. How many women escape monthly agonies? And yet nature never intended that pain or inconvenience should attend the operation of her natural laws. The solemn and terrible fact is that men and women drag along, die and are buried, and their friends and the doctors say heart disease, apoplexy, pneumonia, congestion, convulsions, when the cause lay far back of these things, and was Bright's disease of the kidneys. That was the inward cause: these are the outward manifestations. Every disease must have a root, just as certainly as every plant. Kidney disease is the great root from which most modern diseases, no matter what their name may be, actually spring.

"But because the kidneys are so important, so delicate and so powerful, they require the greatest care in treatment. Ever since the day when Dr. Bright discovered the connection between morbid outward symptoms and internal decay, physicians, scientists and chemists have sought for a pure and powerful relief. It has been a difficult, often a fruitless search. Many remedies are now before the public, but so far as I have been able to learn by chemical analysis and actual test, only one possesses absolute merit and power. I have seen a number of cases, and learned from unquestionable sources of many others, where the preparation Hunt's Remedy has been almost remarkable in its results. One case in particular was that of a prominent banker residing in New York, whose family physicians, assisted by the best counsel that city could produce, declared his case to be hopeless, and who was afterward restored to perfect health by the remedy I have named. I have not hesitated to use it freely among my patients, and from the results I have secured, I shall continue to do so."

THAT PUNY CHILD.

The doctor explained how men and women should live in order to meet this terrible malady, and instanced several additional cures which had followed the use of the remedy before referred to. In concluding he said.

"If men and women could only be aroused to a realization of their actual danger: to a sense of what is before them unless they take prompt and proper action, and then by a correct course of life and the use of just the right means seek to prolong their lives, most of the present suffering and untimely deaths might and would be avoided."

Miss Kate Devine, aged twenty-six years, an operative in the Amoskeag mills at Manchester, attempted to drown herself on the 7th inst. by jumping into the canal, but was rescued before life was extinct. She is a young woman of excellent reputation, noted for her industry and faithfulness; she is a very devout Catholic, being extremely constant in her attendance at church and in her devotions, especially in her observance of fasts, which apparently weakened her physically, and she has also felt much depressed of late because of her belief that she is unworthy of salvation.

Miss Susan Wood, B. Sc., has obtained the teacher's diploma in the art, theory, and history of education, at London university. Only eight men and two women have obtained this diploma since the examination was instituted.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., April 11th.

On Sunday, 3d inst., Mr. William H. Woodward received a present from his wife. The present weighed nine and one-half pounds, and will be a voter at the presidential election in November, 1908; probably will vote the republican ticket. He has been yclped William Henry.

On Thursday, the 7th, a man named John Brennard fell dead while at work on the railroad. He was about thirty-three years old, and belonged in Lynn, Mass. Some trouble arose about his burial in the cemetery at the village, certain parties objecting thereto, but under certain conditions permission was granted, and the remains were interred on Saturday afternoon, his comrades defraying the expenses.

The correct statement, as given by Mr. Eastman, as to the amount of water taken from him in just eight weeks is, at nine tappings, 119 pounds. He weighed only about 100 pounds when taken sick, and weighs about the same now. It is a fact that he has not taken that amount of fluids and solids combined during that time. The query is, whence the 119 pounds? Perhaps some medical man can explain it.

The meetings at the Christian church the past week under the daily preaching by Rev. Miss Haley have been well attended, considering the travel and weather, but no conversions have been made. The day yesterday was beautiful, and the writer attended in the afternoon, something which he is very seldom known to do. The house was crowded and very warm. Miss Haley is a very easy and careful speaker.

The past week has been somewhat exciting among the Methodist church people, one of their number having, upon a hearing before the pastor and a committee, been expelled from the church. The charges against her, as we are reliably informed, were immorality and unbecoming conduct. She has been a member of the church for fifteen or more years. It is very unfortunate to have such an occurrence, as it reflects badly and is a stain upon the cause of religion. We believe she should have been advised to "Go, and sin no more."

Mr. Herman Manson, of the firm of W. J. Sampson & Co., of Portsmouth, has been at work recently for Mr. John R. McIntire, Rufus A. Moody and W. M. Walker. He has done some of the finest, if not the very finest and best work of decorating that it has been our pleasure to see.

Hon. E. C. Moody intended plowing to-day. Rather frosty, Ed.? F.

A STARTLING FACT.

It is not commonly known that a large proportion of the rheumatism and neuralgia extant is traceable directly to the diseased condition or imperfect action of the kidneys and liver; therefore a remedy which cures the resulting disease must have found and smitten the first cause. Many persons using Athlophoros for rheumatism and neuralgia have been surprised to find that chronic disorders of the liver and kidneys have also been greatly relieved and they have written for an explanation. The fact is, that the remedy acts directly on these organs, cleansing them from all irritating substances and regulating their action. Taken in connection with Athlophoros Pills this is, without exception, the most valuable kidney and liver remedy in the world, and will cure a large proportion of those who have these diseases.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

Allow me to say a few words in favor of Athlophoros. Having been troubled with rheumatism for several years I had tried many remedies but with no satisfactory results. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Athlophoros and I was surprised at the immediate relief it afforded. I would highly recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatic trouble.

T. D. PHELPS.

Leominster, Mass., May 13, 1886.

I think Athlophoros is a grand, good medicine. I used not quite one bottle for neuralgia in the shoulders and neck, and experienced great relief, the pain subsided and in twenty-four hours disappeared altogether. I recommend Athlophoros to any and everybody afflicted with neuralgia, for it will kill that disease. MRS. FREEMAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send, either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' MONUMENT.

At a meeting of the committee on Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, held in the city rooms on Monday evening, it was stated that the Goodwin lot could not be secured for any other purpose than that already named, and that about $1700 more is needed to fulfill all the conditions, and furnish such a monument as shall be a credit to the city.

Mr. Alfred Stavers tendered the use of Franklin hall and Franklin theatre, for an entertainment or any other purpose decided on by the committee, in furtherance of the object in hand; and the offer was accepted with thanks.

The Grand Army signified willingness to get up an entertainment, and this offer too was accepted.

A committee was appointed to select a committee of six citizens to act in conjunction with six from the Grand Army, to personally canvass the city for subscriptions to the monument fund.

PARISH MEETING.

The annual parish meeting of St. John's church, held on Monday afternoon, April 11th, at four o'clock, was adjourned to Friday evening, the 15th, at 7:30 o'clock, in St. John's chapel.

NAVY YARDS AND WOODEN SHIPS.

Despatches from Washington say the funds available for repairs to naval vessels are at a low ebb; within a short time heavy discharges of force will be made at the navy yards, and reductions have already been ordered at the Mare island, Portsmouth, N. H., and New York navy yards. A large part of the general appropriation for construction and repair of vessels has been diverted to the completion of the cruisers Chicago, Boston and Atlanta, the special appropriation for which failed with the general deficiency bill. Not much more than $25,000 is available for repair work at navy yards during the remainder of the fiscal year, and even this sum is also subject to drafts from vessels repairing on foreign stations. Congress at its last session made an appropriation of $200,000 to repair wooden ships, but the vessels to be repaired are mentioned in the act by name, so that the money is not available for general use.

As a result of the survey of the United States ships Shenandoah and Lackawanna at Mare island, Cal., these vessels will be sold at public auction, and their names stricken from the naval register. There are two other wooden naval vessels, the Cyane and the Wachusett, now condemned and awaiting sale at Mare island; and three at New York, namely, the Tennessee, Powhattan and Ticonderoga. The names of the wooden warships are rapidly disappearing from the register, and Mare island has acquired the name of a naval grave-yard among naval officers from the number of condemnations of vessels that are made there. This is said to grow out of the fact that, after a four years' cruise in Atlantic waters and a voyage across the Pacific, the old wooden vessels cannot be put in condition to round Cape Horn without an excessive expenditure of money.

THE DOVER FAIR.

It it reported that the recent Knights of Labor fair at Dover netted $7800, which seems likely enough to those who have glanced at the interminable lists in the Dover papers, of tickets which drew handkerchiefs, crockery mugs, salt cellars, photograph frames, and other articles of little cost and value. The "fair" was merely a big lottery with a fair attachment, nearly 15,000 tickets being sold at $1 each, and every ticket being entitled to a prize of some kind; as a number of the prizes were of considerable value, of course many of the others had to be of trifling cost to the promoters of the scheme, to make the balance sheet come out as desired. Some of the principal prizes were awarded as follows, the drawing being unquestionably fair:

Etta Kelley of Dover, John B. Lane of Manchester, $500 each; Mrs. E. G. Butler, Dover, Corning buggy; Belle Richmond, Dover, harness; Mrs. Carrie Chapman, Berwick, upright grand piano; music box, B. T. Durgin, Portsmouth; Nellie G. Sneall, Great Falls, saw and saw-horse; J. A. Maddox, South Berwick, $5; Clara Burnham, Epping, fishing tackle; George W. Stacy, Eliot, brocade plush easy chair; J. M. Downing, Eliot, $2; William Sladen, Portsmouth, $5; James A. Waterhouse, Portsmouth, Knights of Labor charm; Calvin Rogers, Newmarket, checker board; L. A. Laws, South Berwick, $25; John Staples, Eliot, $2; Frank E. Watson, Portsmouth, $25; Lucy Mills, Kittery Point, $5; Mary Malone, Dover, wheelbarrow; J. F. Brentwood, Portsmouth, $2; Fairfax Stimson, Kittery, $5; M. J. Perry, South Berwick, feather duster; B. Spinney, South Eliot, ton of coal; John Cousens, Kennebunk, square grand piano.

NOTICE--G. A. R.

A meeting of Storer Post, G. A. R., will be held Wednesday evening, 13th inst., at 7:30 o'clock, to consider the getting up of an entertainment in aid of the Monument Fund. PER ORDER.

The schooner Alpine, before reported as having been driven ashore at Vineyard Haven on the 2d inst., after being damaged by collision and losing both anchors, arrived at this port on Sunday, April 10th, with her original cargo of coal from Port Johnson to E. F. Sise & Co. The schooner Kate Walker, with coal to the same firm, arrived from Port Johnson on Monday.

The schooner Lizzie C. Rich, Rich master, which wintered inside the Noble's island bridge, sailed for a Maine port on Friday last on her first trip this season. The schooner Loella, Amee master, from Rockland with a cargo of lime for Dover, arrived on Saturday, and proceeded up river to discharge. The Chilion, Whidden master, from Hingham, Mass., and the G. W. Raitt and Hattie Lewis, from Boston, also arrived on Saturday, and went up river to load bricks. The schooner Clara B. Kennard, Freeman master, which started for Boston on the 3d inst. with a load of bricks from the yard of Isaac L. Lucas at Dover point, left the same yard on Saturday, the 9th, with another load, and sailed for Boston on Sunday. Mr. Lucas is reported to have sold one day last week to Ham & Carter of Boston, one million bricks,

The schooner D. K. Ham came down the river on Saturday with 12,000 less than her usual complement of bricks on board, to enable her to take to Boston the fish spawn collected during the winter by Randall & Caswell, and Edw. Jameson. The schooner Golden Gate will take up E. Newton & Co.'s stock, and bring a return cargo of stores from Boston to the Shoals.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, April 11th.

Mary Crowley, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90; county farm in default of payment.

AROUND HOME.

The spring term of the public schools opened on Monday.

Frank W. Hackett, Esq., has arrived home from Washington, D. C.

The Nonpareil Associates of this city are to give a social assembly in Franklin hall on the 27th inst.

Major W. H. Trickey, of Dover, will deliver the Memorial day oration at Enfield this year.

The New Hampshire Methodist Episcopal Conference will assemble at Nashua on the 28th inst.

Mr. C. A. Hazlett has on exhibition in Montgomery's music and art store a collection of rare coins, medals and badges, very neatly and artistically arranged.

Mr. Clarence Joy, well known to frequenters of Music hall the past winter from the excellent work he has done in the orchestra as first violin, is to have charge of the music at the Isles of Shoals hotels this season, and will immediately organize a superior orchestra of six pieces, to go to the islands early in July.

The clouds of dust which blew along the streets and into every open door on Monday indicated the early employment of the sprinkling carts.

Mrs. Whiton-Stone of South Boston and Miss Ethel Whiton were in this city on Sunday, as guests of Capt. J. G. Moses.

The house on State street long the residence of Rev. James DeNormandie and family, has been purchased by the Laighton brothers, of the Shoals, for a winter residence.

Mr. Harry P. Kent, son of Col. J. Horace Kent of this city, and for a number of years past a clerk in the Boston custom house, was removed on Saturday last.

The statement that Mrs. Camp is to be housekeeper of the young men's club boarding house on State street was an error; Mrs. Camp merely gave them the benefit of her experience in the selection of furniture for the club house, and will have nothing to do with its management.

David M. Ladd of Manchester, secretary of District Assembly 124, Knights of Labor, and editor of the Labor News, was in this city on Monday in reference to the reported labor troubles at the Portsmouth shoe factory. He thinks the differences will be amicably adjusted.

Miss Margaret Mather will appear at Music hall next Saturday evening as Juliana in "The Honeymoon," supported by Milnes Levick and the Union Square Theatre Co., under the management of Mr. J. M. Hill.

The old telephone exchange building, rear of the city building, for several years past occupied by Mr. John W. Young as a store for leather and shoemaker's findings of all kinds, and a repair shop for all varieties of foot-wear, has recently been so changed in the interior by the removal of partitions and the liberal application of paint, that it does not look like the same place. It is a great improvement.

City Marshal Norton and the other witnesses in the cases of Crowley, charged with burning his wife to death, and Blute, charged with kicking his wife to death, were on Monday notified to be at Exeter to-day (Tuesday) to give evidence before the grand jury.

Capt. Richard F. Trevellick, grand lecturer for the Knights of Labor, will deliver a public lecture at Music hall on Wednesday evening, April 13th, under the auspices of L. A. 5844. Ladies and gentlemen are respectfully invited to attend, that they may the better understand the object and needs of the organization of the Knights of Labor.

John S. Clements of South Berwick was committed to the county jail last Friday for non-payment of $10 fine, and costs, for cruelty to animals, but was released that night as some of his friends came to the rescue and paid the fine and costs.

Capt. Frank P. Coleman of Newington, master of the schooner Emily C. Dennison, which wintered at Kennebunk, left for that place on Saturday last to commence the season's work of brick carrying between Saco and Boston.

Mr. Charles W. Randall, an invalid veteran of the late war and an honorary member of Storer Post, G. A. R., has taken the agency for this city and vicinity, for a very simple but effective contrivance for preventing the dropping off of lamp chimneys when moved about, or when accidentally touched. The price of the article is but a trifle, and the purchase of it from Mr. Randall will aid a deserving man, disabled by wounds from engaging in any active employment, to earn an honest living.

The display of flowers at the Congregational church, Easter Sunday, was not exceeded in any church of the city, for extent and beauty. The children's Easter service at the chapel, in the evening, was also brightened by flowers and growing plants; the chapel was filled, and the order of exercises included the following: Recitation of the Apostles' creed by the Sunday school; prayer; scripture exercises; recitations by Miss Carrie Fletcher and five little girls, reading by Miss Corbett, Miss Kimball, Miss Fletcher, Mrs. Myers, Miss Ferguson and Rev. Mr. McGinley, remarks by Mr. Borthwick, Mrs. Knight and Mr. McGinley, the whole being liberally interspersed with music by the choir, the whole making a very interesting occasion.

The annual meeting of the Mercantile Library Association of this city was held Friday evening, when the following officers were elected for the coming year.

President, Wm. G. Billings; vice president, Joseph Cheever; secretary, Albert H. Sides; treasurer, Charles A. Hazlett; directors, Wm. H. Sise, J. R. Connell, M. Crowley, W. A. Hodgdon, L. G. Davis, W. J. Fraser; trustees of the association, C. A. Hazlett, W. H. Sise, Wm. Marvin; trustees for the Public library, C. A. Hazlett and Wm. G. Billings. The treasurer reported that $45 had been received from the estate of Daniel Austin, who made a bequest in favor of the association. There is also a small fund in the hands of the treasurer.

As one instance of the effect of the interstate commerce law upon freight tariffs it is stated that the Sawyer Woollen Manufacturing Co. of Dover cannot get wool from California to Dover by rail at less than $5.25 a hundred pounds, while the former rate was sixty-eight cents a hundred pounds. This of course will prove a virtual prohibition upon the bringing of California wool to Dover.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The new marble works of Jenness & Dowd wish to state to the public that owing to doing their own work they are under no expense, and can sell work for prices that cannot be outdone by any firm in New England. First class work guaranteed. Nothing but the best Italian marble used, and no work set in brimstone, as formerly done by other shops; all set in lead.

Spring Medicine

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, cannot by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

"There is no blood purifier equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." E. S. PHELPS, Rochester, N. Y.

Drawing a Crow.

Two well known artists went out into the suburbs to sketch crows. They saw a fine specimen in a cornfield, and after approaching him began to make a drawing from life. The nearer they got the more they admired him. Presently they stole up to within ten feet and reproduced even the tint of his toes. Wonderfully tame the bird seemed, until he suddenly turned out to be only the top of a burned stump.—Harper's Weekly.

Education Among the Turks.

There is not an unmarried woman in Turkey who can both read and write the Turkish language, and there are but few men who are able to do so. It requires six years of hard study to acquire these accomplishments. When you hear of a Turk with the title bey prefixed to his name you may know that he is one of the few educated men in that country, as the title is only conferred upon those who can both read and write.—Chicago Times.

A Proclamation in Scotland.

The following is a proclamation made at the Market Cross of Inverness, Scotland, less than 100 years ago: "Ta hoy! Te tither a-hoy? Ta hoy three times!!! an' to hoy—Whist!!! By command of his majesty, King George, an' her grace te Duke o' Argyll; if anybody is found fishing aboon te loch, or below te loch, afore te loch, or ahint te loch, in te loch, or on te loch, aroun' te loch, or about te loch, she's to be persecutit wi' three persecution; first she's to be burnt, syne she's to be drown, an' then she's to be hangt—an' if ever she comes back she's to be persecutit wi' a far waur death. God save te king an' her grace te Duke o' Argyll."—New York Tribune.

That Baby of Mine,

Auntie, three months ago had the salt rheum so bad that his head was a mass of sores, and I had begun to lose all hopes of raising him, but my druggist recommended Sulphur Bitters, and to-day he is as fat and chipper as any baby you ever saw, and he has not a sore on his head, and just think that after paying out so much, that a few dollars worth of Sulphur Bitters should cure him.—Mrs. J. Spinal Weakness and Lung Troubles.

56 PRINCE STREET, NEW YORK,
March 25th, 1884.

Having been troubled with pains in back and chest during the last winter I was compelled to remain at home unable to attend to business, until I was advised by a friend to try one of Allcock's Porous Plasters. After applying one to my chest and one to my back, in three hours I found relief which I had not got in over three months. I cheerfully recommend them to persons having spinal weakness and lung troubles.

HENRY J. GALLAGHER.

—It sounds a little inconsistent for her to call it a "duck of a bonnet" and yet seem so terribly alarmed over the possibility of its getting wet.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE CONTINENT WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position, close relation to principal Rivers and Lakes of Canada, and connections at terminal points West, Northwest and Southwest, is the only true transcontinental line. Its transcontinental system which invites and facilitates travel and traffic in close direction between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Rock Island main line and branches include Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, LaSalle, Peoria, Keokuk, Moline and Rock Island, in Illinois; Davenport, Wheeling, Washington, Fairfield, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, West Liberty, Iowa City, Des Moines, Indianola, Whitewater, Atlantic, Knoxville, Audubon, Harlan, Portsmouth Centre and Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, St. Joseph, Cameron, Kansas City, in Missouri; Leavenworth and Atchison, in Kansas; Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul, in Minnesota; Watertown, in Dakota, and hundreds of intermediate cities, towns and villages.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees Speed, Comfort and Safety to those who travel over it. Its roadbed is thoroughly ballasted, its track is of heavy steel. Its bridges are solid structures of stone and iron. Its rolling stock is perfect as human skill can make it. It has all those safety appliances that mechanical genius has invented and experience proved valuable. Its equipment and service is conservative and methodical—its discipline strict and exacting. The history of its passenger accommodation is unequaled in the West—unsurpassed in the world.

All Express Trains between Chicago and the Missouri River consist of Comfortable Coaches, magnificent Palace Parlor and Sleeping Cars, elegant Dining Cars providing excellent meals, and—between Chicago, St. Joseph, Atchison and Kansas City—reclining Chair Cars free.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

is the direct route by all odds between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. Over this route solid Fast Express Trains run daily during the summer resorts, picturesque localities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. The rich wheat fields and pastures of Interior Dakota are reached via Watertown. A short, desirable route, via Seneca and Kankakee, offers superior inducements to travelers between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul and intermediate points. Special classes of patrons, especially families, ladies and children, receive from officials and employes of the Rock Island trains protection, respectful courtesy and kindly attention.

There is not an unmarried woman in Turkey who can both read and write the Turkish language, and there are but few men who are able to do so. It requires six years of hard study to acquire these accomplishments. When you hear of a Turk with the title "bey" prefixed to his name, you may know that he is one of the few educated men in that country, as the title is only conferred upon those who can both read and write.

THE ETIQUETTE OF ALBANIA.

Flirtation Unknown and Love Making Forbidden—The Marriage Ceremonies.

The dress of the Albanian women is ungallantly described by travelers as hideous. It is said to be of thick material and shapeless; a leather band encircles the waist, and usually a little black cloak is thrown over the shoulders. But the wearers are the most beautiful women of eastern Europe, and their manners always gracious.

Flirtation is unknown, and even the most decorous love making forbidden. The proper thing is for the lover never to see his intended till their marriage day. She has been carefully secluded in the recesses of her home till her parents think she is old enough to be married. Having arrived at this conclusion, they announce the fact; if the mere announcement is of no avail, they adopt strong measures. The lady's brother will politely come up to a friend in the street and pleasantly remark: "You are just the fellow I wanted to see. My sister is 14 years old; you must marry her."

No Albanian who respects himself rejects the proposal of his friend; in fact, he regards it as an honor, and knows that a refusal means a duel to the death. Like other more western mortals, he may have a morbid curiosity regarding his friend's sister's personal appearance, and then he has recourse to the inevitable old woman, the entremetteuse in the true sense of the word, whose profession is to intervene in such cases. She calls on the bride, inspects her, and then returns to the expectant swain with a detailed account of the young lady's qualities, of course colored in proportion to the fee she has received. Then the wedding day is fixed, and at last the happy pair are face to face.

The etiquette of Albania requires the bridegroom to be coy and reluctant; it is considered degrading to his dignity to affect any tenderness for the fair sex, and therefore he is bound to offer strong resistance to her approach. In marked contradistinction to the usual marriage ceremonies, which point to a capture of the bride, the Albanian customs indicate a capture of the bridegroom, and yet the whole race displays a degree of contempt for women which is not found in the most lecherous nations. It is worthy of remark, also, that in every family the males usually go to the mosque, the females to church.—Foreign Letter.

Anæsthesia in Dentistry.

Dr. G. Q. Colton, of this city, enjoys the distinction of having first administered gas for surgical operations, and who brought anæsthesia into practical use. It may not be generally known, but Dr. Colton was one of California's Forty-niners, and can tell of the time when he was paid an ounce of gold ($16) for every tooth he pulled. Dr. Colton, when asked about the discovery of gas as applied to pulling teeth, gave the following interesting account of the first case:

"On the evening of Dec. 10, 1844, I gave an exhibition of the effects of laughing gas in the city of Hartford, Conn. Among those who inhaled it was a young man by the name of Cooley, who, while under its influence, in jumping about, ran against some wooden benches or settees on the stage, bruising his legs badly. After taking his seat he was astonished to find his legs bloody, and said he did not know he had run against a bench, and felt no pain until after the effects of the gas had passed off. Dr. Horace Wells, of Hartford, who sat next to him, noticed the circumstance, and as the audience was retiring asked me why a man could not have a tooth extracted without pain while under the influence of the gas. I replied that I did not know, as the idea had never occurred to me. Dr. Wells then said he believed it could be done, and would try it on himself if I would bring a bag of gas to his dental office the next day. The next morning, Dec. 11, 1844, I took a bag of gas to his office—Dr. Riggs having been called in—and administered it to Wells, and Dr. Riggs extracted a molar tooth for him. Dr. Wells, on recovering, exclaimed: 'It is the greatest discovery ever made! I didn't feel it so much as the prick of a pin!'"—New York Mail and Express.

A French Scientist's Plan.

A curious proposition has just been made by M. Camille Flammarion, the well known French scientific writer. He wishes at once to preserve international peace and to enlarge the sum of human knowledge concerning the structure of the earth. To this end he would have the various European governments unite and turn their soldiers into miners and their bayonets into pickaxes and spades. At some suitable place a vast well should be excavated, miles in depth. Indeed, M. Flammarion would dig downward until he reached the "central fire," or the center of the globe. Thus positive knowledge of the structure of the earth would be gained; peace for the time would be secured, for the nations would neither fight nor fear each other while all their armies were underground; and, indeed, a permanent reign of peace would be begun, since the soldiers in the mines would forget the arts of war, and the nations, finding out how well they got along without them, would raise no more great armaments.—New York Tribune.

The Thief in Court.

A Thief who had been Arraigned in Court for Stealing a Bolt of Cloth sought to Mitigate his Punishment by saying:

"Your Honor should take into Consideration the Fact that, while I could have Stolen two Bolts I only took one."

"Certainly," replied the Court, "I see how it is. There is a Chap here who stole two Watches when he needn't have taken but one, and I'll make your Sentences alike."

SKIN & SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction.
C. F. ARTHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

The son of the late Hiram Barker of Farmington contests the will because it places the estate in trust for contestant's children. There is a somewhat similar case which has been recently decided against the will. It was the will of the late Francis Palms of Detroit, by which he gave $7,000,000 to his two children to be held by them in trust for their children, which has been declared invalid on the ground that the laws are against controlling fortunes from the grave, from generation to generation. The contestant of the Palms will was the young lady with whom Senator Jones of Florida was so infatuated that he did not appear in congress for an entire session.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., April 12th.

The Sunday School convention of York, Eliot, Kittery and Wells met at the Congregational church, Kittery Point, on Tuesday, the 5th inst. The best methods for the advancement of Sunday school work were ably discussed by Rev. Messrs. Holmes, Colburn, Hill, Ives, Grovenor and Atkinson. On account of the bad condition of the roads, many persons living at a distance were unable to attend.

Mrs. Charles Caswell has assumed charge of the almshouse since the death of Miss Picoat.

We understand that the new hotel at Kittery Point, built by Jesse E. Frisbee, is to be called "Park-Field," as it is built on a plot of ground which was once a park.

The box party which the Good Templars of North Kittery advertised to have last Friday evening, proved a failure, simply, we are told, because some one took the trouble to circulate a report detrimental to the plans of the committee. A large company were present and a good time would have been had, but the majority of the members were indignant at the proceedings, and the party broke up at once, while threats of boycotting are contemplated, as the meddlesome ones are known.

The funeral of the late Alonzo Fernald, held on Sunday at the Second Christian church, was largely attended. The Odd Fellows and Good Templars, of which orders the deceased was a worthy member, attended in a body and took part in the obsequies.

At the annual meeting of school district No. 1, held Saturday evening last, Augustus Goodsoe was elected agent and William Johnson, clerk. Daniel Hutchinson has been elected agent in district No. 3.

Daniel C. Norton has been elected agent in district No. 9, and Wallace S. Jackson clerk.

Mr. Frank E. Rowell has been unanimously elected principal of the high school, and Miss Amanda Abrams assistant.

The assistant principal of the free high school has been wisely, we think, re-elected to this position. Miss Abrams after a thorough course in this school entered our normal school at Gorham, and graduated with much credit to herself as to scholarship; and she has marked ability to teach.

No teachers put in an appearance to be examined on Saturday at the Austin schoolhouse, consequently the committee adjourned sine die.

The free high school commenced its spring terms on Monday, the 11th inst.

We give the nearly full roster of the teachers in our town for the spring term: District No. 1, Florence E. Sanderson; No. 2, Carrie H. Haley; No. 3, Lizzie A. Thomas; No. 7, Minnie Paul, (grammer,) Ethel C. Weare, (primary;) No. 9, William L. Fernald, (grammer,) Addie Remick, (intermediate,) Nellie F. Todd, (primary.)

We learn that the largest class since the ceremony of graduation has been instituted at the free high school, will graduate this year; also that Misses Moore, Walker, Langton, Locke and Hutchins, are from district No. 1.

Miss Ethel C. Weare of Ogunquit, who has engaged to teach the primary department at the Austin school, comes with an excellent record as to scholarship; she has for some time past been a pupil at Smith's academy in Portsmouth. We trust she will receive merited success in her new departure.

It is a matter of wonder to the numerous friends of Miss Emma H. Gerry, that her excellent, well proven methods and long experience as a graded school teacher should without the slightest cause have been dispensed with. To have heard that the free high school teacher, who has never done better work, we learn, than during the past year, (which is praise enough for any teacher,) had been ousted, could not have surprised us more. We hope however that the new teachers will have good success, and that time will be given them to gain needed experience. The experience and ripe scholarship of the new principal of the grammer grade, which also involves the oversight of the lower schools, fully assures the success of this department. The Austin school is fortunate in the selection of its lady principal. The primary teacher has had, we learn, first class educational advantages, though without experience. Teachers never work harder to win success than in their first school, it is said.

The following was the result of the examination of candidates for admission to the free high school on Monday, the 11th: Willie Abrams and George Trefethen, each ninety per cent; Myrtle Safford, eighty per cent; Fred Tucker, Lizzie Emery and Ralph Gerry, each seventy-five per cent; Charles Drake, 72 1-2 per cent; Nellie Manson, sixty-five per cent.

Mr. Warner, an attorney from Boston, was in Portsmouth a short time ago and received the deeds of the Seaward place on Gerrish's island, which was purchased on the first of March by Mr. Albert Stickney of New York.

Moses A. Safford, Esq., was recently summoned to appear at Berwick to give his deposition concerning a case which had been tried before him as referee.

The Ladies' Social Circle of the 2d Methodist church netted over $60 by their orange tea party in Trefethen's hall last Thursday evening.

A largely attended and very interesting missionary concert was held in the 2d Methodist church on Sunday evening, the 10th, under direction of the Woman's Foreign Mission society.

Frank E. Donnell has engaged work with John E. Frost, contractor and builder of Berwick.

The Badger house at the Foreside is occupied by about twenty-five Italian and French Canadian railroad laborers. Sunday the house looked like an immense bee hive with the bees all swarming.

In looking over the York Town Report, we noticed one school not reported; and asking why, (knowing the young lady teacher, (learned that the local committee died, consequently the school was not visited, which fact should have been named as an act of justice, for it was the estimable young lady's first effort. We hope the neglect may do her no harm.

SUB ROSA.

Gladstone has issued a letter to the miners of the north of Great Britain, which is virtually a manifesto, in which he points out that the coercion bill is a shame and a dis-honor, the rejection of which is necessary.

A socialist meeting in Hyde Park, London, Eng., last Sunday, terminated in a collision with a body of police. Nine socialists were arrested, including the leader, Williams.

It has been decided by the German courts that the acquisition of citzenship in the United States, with an unbroken residence there for five years, causes loss of citizenship in Germany. Such persons returning will be liable to expulsion from Germany until they re-acquire German rights.

Can Colds, Croup, Coughs, Cramps, be CURED? OH YES. PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER Will do it every time. Your druggist sells it.

Governor Wetmore of Rhode Island was seized with a fainting fit on Saturday, caused by taking internally medicine intended for external application. He soon rallied under medical care, and nothing serious is feared. When the governor's successor takes the helm, the democrats will enact the law suspending the constitutional provision as to prohibition, and providing for the easy purchase of an article that can be taken internally, externally and eternally without producing gripes or jim-jams. The medicinal draughts in the Providence Plantations are evidently dangerous under existing laws.

A STARTLING FACT.

It is not commonly known that a large proportion of the rheumatism and neuralgia extant is traceable directly to the diseased condition or imperfect action of the kidneys and liver; therefore a remedy which cures the resulting disease must have found and smitten the first cause. Many persons using Athlophoros for rheumatism and neuralgia have been surprised to find that chronic disorders of the liver and kidneys have also been greatly relieved and they have written for an explanation. The fact is, that the remedy acts directly on these organs, cleansing them from all irritating substances and regulating their action. Taken in connection with Athlophoros Pills this is, without exception, the most valuable kidney and liver remedy in the world, and will cure a large proportion of those who have these diseases.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

Allow me to say a few words in favor of Athlophoros. Having been troubled with rheumatism for several years I had tried many remedies but with no satisfactory results. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Athlophoros and I was surprised at the immediate relief it afforded. I would highly recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatic trouble.

T. D. PHELPS.

Leominster, Mass., May 13, 1886.

I think Athlophoros is a grand, good medicine. I used not quite one bottle for neuralgia in the shoulders and neck, and experienced great relief, the pain subsided and in twenty-four hours disappeared altogether. I recommend Athlophoros to any and everybody afflicted with neuralgia, for it will kill that disease. MRS. FREEMAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney disease, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

NOTICE--G. A. R.

A meeting of Storer Post, G. A. R., will be held Wednesday evening, 13th inst., at 7:30 o'clock, to consider the getting up of an entertainment in aid of the Monument Fund. PER ORDER.

THE LECTURE TO-NIGHT.

Do not forget the lecture at Music hall this evening, by Grand Lecturer Trevellick of the order of the Knights of Labor. He is an able and earnest speaker, and all ladies and gentlemen are invited to attend, and hear an official and authoritative explanation of the objects and principles of the great organization which has become so prominent and powerful within a few years. The lecture will commence at eight o'clock.

FAST NIGHT.

Thursday (Fast day) evening, at Music hall, the charming little actress Miss Lizzie Evans, and her excellent company, will appear in the new romantic play in four acts, "Our Angel," in which Miss Evans takes the part of "Blossom, the Angel," introducing new songs, dances, etc. This play has never been presented here, but it has been received with enthusiasm in other places, and Miss Evans is said to be more attractive in it than in any other of her pieces, which is very high praise.

SUPREME COURT--APRIL TERM.

Grand Jurors for April term of the Supreme Court are as follows:—Fred E. Davis, Nottingham; Franklin Burnham, Plaistow; Charles H. Downs, ward 2, Portsmouth; Forrest O. Paige, Raymond; Emery Woodman, Rye; Oliver G. Woodbury, Salem; Allen Senter, Sandown; Thomas Chase, Seabrook; John O. P. Clifford, South Hampton; Daniel G. Neal, South Newmarket; Albert C. Thomas, Atkinson; Luther Brown, Auburn; John Smith, 2d, Brentwood; Jonathan Pillsbury, Candia; Charles Chase, Chester; Jacob Collins, Danville; Martin W. Childs, Deerfield; John Folsom, Derry; Arthur T. Robinson, East Kingston; Almon L. True, Epping.

Petit Jurors 1st and 2d weeks:—Wm. H. Jones, Joseph W. Bean, Derry; Jacob P. Cilley, George W. Fernald, Benj. R. Perkins, Exeter; Fred H. Pillsbury, Nathan H. Leavitt, Newmarket; Benjamin J. Lake, Benj. F. Canney, Edwin W. Cochrane, ward 1; Enoch J. Conner, John L. Frisbie, William Y. Evans, ward 2, Portsmouth; Milton G. Woodbury, Willard W. Merrill, Salem; Geo. E. Seavey, Windham; James M. Nesmith, Atkinson; Willard H. Griffin, Auburn; Justus J. Bean, Brentwood; Josiah M. Fitts, Candia; John A. Haselton, Chester; James W. George, Danville; David Gerrish, Deerfield Nathan B. Tilton, East Kingston; John Sanborn, Fred P. Knox, Epping; Warren True, Eben L. Poor, Fremont; Charles W. Lydston, Joseph W. Chapman, Greenland.

The court came in at Exeter on Tuesday, the 12th, Hon. George A. Bingham on the bench. The term is likely to be a long one, the number of criminal cases to be tried being unusually large.

MARGARET MATHER.

The announcement that the popular actress, Miss Margaret Mather, is to appear at Music hall next Saturday evening as Juliana in Tobin's delightful old comedy "The Honeymoon," supported by the Union Square Theatre Co., including Milnes Levick, will give pleasure to all lovers of refined comedy well performed. Miss Mather's recent engagement in Boston was the most successful she ever played in that city, and her Juliana was one of her most successful characters.

PERSONAL.

Howe Call, Esq., of New York, was in this city on Tuesday.

Mr. Arnold Knowlton and wife are passing a few days in this city at Mr. Thomas Nell's.

Capt. J. Touro Marcy, of Boston, has been visiting his father, Hon. Daniel Marcy, in this city.

Mr. Frank S. Preston, who went on a trip to the China seas in the barque Harvard with his friend Capt. Pray, arrived back in New York with the vessel on the 10th inst.

Mr. Edward G. Niles of Boston sails for England in the Pavonia on her next trip, and his marriage to a young English lady will take place in June. Mr. S. R. Niles and wife will attend the wedding, and pass the summer at Carlsbad.

Messrs. Will Frink of Greenland and Edwin R. Pearson of this city, with ten other students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, being the electrical class, are spending the Easter recess on a scientific and pleasure tour in New York, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

MARITIME NOTES.

The ship Grandee, of this port, arrived at New York on the 11th inst. from Hong Kong.

The schooner D. K. Ham, with a partial cargo of bricks, and fish-spawn shipped by Randall & Caswell and Ed. Jameson, sailed for Boston on Monday, the 11th inst.; and the Golden Gate, Capt. Amee, sailed on Tuesday with spawn from E. Newton & Co.'s storehouse.

The schooner Mary Willey came off the ways at Kittery on Monday, and was towed across to this city. She will be ready to start in her regular trade between this port and Bangor in a few days.

"TRUE CIVIL SERVICE REFORM."

The Times, referring to the removal of Harry P. Kent from a clerkship in the Boston custom house, and the request to Charles E. Littlefield, John E. Colcord and William A. Ashe to resign their clerkships under Paymaster Cosby, general storekeeper at the Portsmouth navy yard, says:

The resignation of these men will doubtless be for the good of the administration, and there are yet others whose resignations would perhaps be equally acceptable. It must be that the administration in its own time intends to have its subordinates in accord with its own principles and designs. True civil service reform calls for this much.

That is, "true civil service reform," under a democratic administration, calls for the removal of all republican subordinates, and the filling of their places with democrats who are "in accord with its own principles and designs." Of course the same rule "for the good of the administration" would hold good under republican rule, and it would be the duty of a republican administration to remove all democratic subordinates, however efficient and faithful they may have been in the performance of their official duties, and replace them with persons "in accord with" republican "principles and designs."

Our neighbor takes nearly a "stickful" of space to say what Hon. Wm. L. Marcy in Jackson's day said in six words: "To to victors belong the spoils."

The old moss-buck democrats of this region will be glad that the local organ of the party, which has for some time been regarded by them as being decidedly mugwumpian, has at last come out squarely in favor of Jacksonian principles regarding the division of the plunder.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, Rockingham, ss.

By the Judge of Probate for said County.

TO the heirs at law and creditors to the estate of EBENEZER WYATT, late of Portsmouth, in said County, deceased, Intestate, and all persons interested in said estate, GREETING.

YOU are hereby notified that CHARLES A. WENDELL, administrator of the estate of said deceased, has filed his account of administering said estate in the Probate office, for said County, and will present the same at a Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth, in said County, on the Second Tuesday of May next, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for examination and allowance.

YOU are therefore hereby cited to appear at said Court to be heard thereon, and to make such objections as you may then have. And notice is hereby required to be given by causing this citation to be published three weeks successively in the PORTSMOUTH DAILY CHRONICLE, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge.

Dated April 12th, A. D. 1887.

Another sign of spring: The pump and drinking-trough on Miller avenue have been put in position, and the Rye horses can now get a drink of their favorite beverage.

Mr. Humphreys of Andover, Mass., has accepted a call from the Congregational church at Rye, at a salary of $700 a year.

Messrs. Abram E. Drake and William W. Tucker of Rye have recently returned from Nova Scotia with a number of horses for Mr. Drake's livery stable at Rye beach.

Messrs. Editors: When the Lenten season was on the eve of leaving us I chanced to meet a young lady with a pot of flowers. Exchanging a pleasant passing greeting, she nodded to her half-enveloped treasure, and said, "To-morrow is Easter, you know." I could but wonder which would bring the most pleasure to the home of her childhood,—the rare hyacinths, or the rose-leaf face and the girlish, laughing voice (though she is a matron.)

April 10th.—This is a beautiful Easter morning, and every leafless shrub and tree seems alive with bird music, sounding richer for the long tarrying, and free as the Great Gift this day commemorates. After all the care of and for wealth, there are gifts it cannot purchase! It might be well for people who do not appear to think it worth while to speak a kind, encouraging word to those on whom the burdens of life weigh heavily, reserving all their heart, smiles and soothing words for their own kith and kin, to take a lesson of the birds,—for who shall say their music is not divinely inspired?

It is sometimes well, an old poet says, to talk with past hours, and ask what report they have borne to heaven. Therefore let us resolve that when Easter comes again the hours between now and then shall "bear more welcome news" than any previous twelvemonth in our brief lives. F.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

☞—Mrs. De Hobson—"What a lovely prayer-book, Mrs. Hendricks! Is it a present from your husband?" Mrs. Hendricks—"No; I won it at the progressive euchre party at Deacon Smith's last week!"

☞—A Boston eight-year-old was drawing pictures at school the other day, and drew a pig. After the work of art was completed to his satisfaction the youngster wrote beneath it: "This is a domestic animal; he is called a pig because he is so selfish."

☞—"Have you 'Hours of Idleness' here?" the maiden asked, as she sauntered into the book store. "No, we haven't, miss," said the youth behind the counter; "the boss is an old skin-flint, and when we ain't doing any business he keeps us dusting the books."

Twelve hours use of the Athlophoros you sent me greatly removed the pain from my system, and rendered the muscles so supple that I could get up and down with ease, which I have not done for a long time. Rev. A. S. Cooper, Williston, Vt.

I recommend Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for gravel. It cured me.—S. J. McCormick, United States Dep. Mineral Surveyor, Blue Station, Idaho. My head and face was a mass of putrification. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy purified my blood and I am now well.—J. A. Parker, Sanderlinville, Pa. Price $1. Send two-cent stamp to Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for book on kidney, liver and blood disorders. Mention this paper.

Capt. Alfred E. Hunt of Pittsburg, Pa., who has been selected to test the metal of which the government men-of-war will be built, formerly resided in Nashua, where he was chemist for the Nashua Iron & Steel company.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure cannot reasonably be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

Two fifteen-year-old boys, Robert Welch and Daniel Harvey, quarelled at Beaver Falls, Penn., and Harvey pounded Welch with a cane so that he died.

Be Your Own Doctor!

It won't cost you one-half as much. Do not delay. Send three two-cent stamps for postage, and we will send you Dr. Kaufmann's great work, fine colored plates from life, on disease, its causes and home cure. Address, A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

A lady who had lived in the Hawaiian islands noticed that the California climate was much like that of Hawaii, and sent for some banana plants for an experiment. The result has been successful, and banana raising promises to become a flourishing California industry.

"I was a terrible sufferer with Salt Rheum—preferring death to life. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy cured me.—Chas. Owen, Ironville, N. Y. I acknowledge Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy to be a cure for Gravel, and, so far I know, the only cure.—J. M. Allen, Charlotte, N. Y. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for a book on Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Mention this paper.

A correspondent asks: "Where can we send to get Peck's Patent Ear Drums, an invention for enabling people to hear who are deaf, slightly or otherwise?" Write to F. Hiscox, 853 Broadway, N. Y., stating cause and particulars of your deafness and he will give you all the points desired. Read the following from the Medical Record: "A lecturer in one of our hospitals, while illustrating progress in medical science, introduced a deaf person whose cases baffled all medical skill and was considered hopeless. But an invention belonging to F. Hiscox, New York, having been recommended, it was used with very satisfactory results, as it fully restored the hearing. It was tested in other cases and found to be more successful than any known device for the relief of deafness, as hearing lost for many years was fully restored by it. The invention is all the more satisfactory as it is out of sight and does not require to be held in position. And while it can be readily removed or inserted by the patients themselves it is withal curative in action and comfortable to wear."

Let Our Hopes Spring Like May Flowers.

Now Spring gives us renewed hopes for the future—so as it has been, so it will be—let us learn by experience. The 30th Grand Monthly Drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery occurred at New Orleans, La., under the entire supervision of Gen. G. T. Beauregard, of La., and Jubal A. Early of Va., on Tuesday, March 15th, 1887. $235,000 was sent flying everywhere, in sums of from $150,000 down to $5 in a single ticket. No. 66,051 drew the First Prize of $150,000. It was sold in tenths coasting each $1, sent to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La.; one tenth to Joe Lanzwing, 430 William St., Buffalo, N. Y.; one to Wm. Moxley, Topeka, Kas.; one to Joe Rosenfield, Houston, Texas; one to H. Taylor, New York City, collected through Adams Express Co.; one to F. M. Vermilya of Chicago, Ill.; one paid through London, Paris and American Bank, Limited, of San Francisco, Cal.; one paid to Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Bank, also of San Francisco, Cal.; one to I. F. Hawes, Decorah, Iowa, one to Thos. Falvey, Wrightsville, Pa.; and one to H. J. Warner, Stratford, Ontario. No. 45,844, drew the Second Prize of $50,000, also sold in fractions: One-half to Hon. Hyron D. Houghton, the Democratic candidate for Mayor of Oswego, N. Y.; one to Mr. Frank Brock, 518 Porter St., East Saginaw, Mich.; one to T. J. Weaver, Trabue, Fla.; others to parties in Central City, Dak., and Pembroke, Ontario, Canada, etc., etc. No. 45,733 drew the Third Prize of $20,000, also sold in tenths at $1 each; one to E. B. Kimball, of Portland, Me.; one paid through The City National Bank of Dallas, Texas; one to Oliver & Grigsy, Bankers, also at Dallas, Texas; two to Union National Bank of Kansas City, Mo.; one to J. E. Partigan, No. 128 W. Canton St., Boston, Mass.; one paid through Adams Express Co. to Chas. H. Horner, Newark, N. J. No. 62,229 and 65,015 drew the Fourth Two Prizes of $10,000, sold everywhere, etc., etc. The same thing will be done again on Tuesday, May 10th, and any information can be had on application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La. Now let our hopes spring like May flowers.

Jefferson Davis made a speech in New Orleans last week at the unveiling of a statue of the late Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, in which he described Franklin Pierce as "aYankee who never faltered in the maintenance of state rights, a man who in the senate voted for every one of the resolutions of Calhoun, though many southern senators did so reluctantly;" and he added, "Thanks to New Hampshire for breeding such a man as Franklin Pierce." This calls to mind the famous letter of Pierce to Davis just before the war, in which the Yankee wrote the arch rebel that before the republicans would be permitted to send an army to coerce the south, the streets of northern cities would run with blood.

Cheaper and Better than Wall Paper.

Johnston's Kalsomine and Fresco Paint is handsomer than ordinary paint and more durable; will not rub or scale from the wall, can be mixed in five minutes ready for use, by the addition of water only, and a give number of pounds will cover more surface than any paint known to the trade. We especially commend to our readers the card which will be found in another column, and would advise them to send for sample card, price list, etc.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had pooh-ed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

MY GRAVE.

For me no great metropolis of the dead—
Highways and byways, squares and crescents of death—
But, after I have breathed my last sad breath,
Am comforted with quiet, I, who said,
"I weary of men's voices and their tread,
Of clamoring bells and whirl of wheels that pass."
Lay me beneath some plot of country grass,
Where flowers may spring and birds sing overhead;

Whereto one coming, some fair eve in spring,
Between the dayfall and the tender night,
Might pause a while, his friend remembering,
And hear few words breathed through the falling light,
Spoken to him by the wind, whispering,
"Now he sleeps long, who had so long to fight."
—Philip Bourke Marston in April Lippincott's.

THE SUEZ SHIP CANAL.

How the Traffic Along the Waterway is Managed—Enormous Fees.

The number of ships in the canal at the same time is something very great. Dec. 8 last, for example, fifteen steamers cleared the canal, of which seven were outward bound. The previous day nine ships cleared, and the day before seven, so that during the 8th some thirty ships were probably at one time in the canal. Sometimes there are as many as forty, and all are under the control of the French gentleman sitting at his desk in an upper chamber at Terrepleim. The method of working is excessively simple. Against the wall at one side of the room is a narrow shelf or platform, along which runs a groove. At intervals this trough or groove has deep recesses, and at two places these recesses are of larger size. This trough or groove represents the canal. The recesses are the sidings. The larger intervals are the Great Bitter lake and Lake Timsoh.

When a vessel about to enter the canal at, say, the Suez end, a small toy boat or model three or four inches long is chosen to represent her. A group of these model ships stands ready beside the model canal, each furnished with a flag. About forty have the English flag, ten or a dozen the French flag, and so on with other nationalities. As the steamer comes up and her name is known it is written on paper and placed on the toy boat. The whole number of ships thus actually in the canal at any moment can be seen at a glance; and, as the telegraphic signals give notice, the toy boats are moved along, or placed in a siding, or shown traversing one of the lakes at full speed. Signals are sent from the office to the various "gares" prescribing the siding at which each ship must stop to let another meet and pass it. The official who is on duty keeps the models moving as he receives notice, taking care when perhaps two ships, going in opposite directions, are both nearing the same siding to give timely warning to the pilots in charge by means of the signal balls and flags at each station under his control from the office, and to direct which of the two is to lie up and which to proceed.

Notwithstanding accidents, the whole arrangement goes like clockwork; the clerk can read off in a moment the name, tonnage, nationality, draught and actual situation of every steamer; he can tell what pilot she has on board, what is her breadth of beam, what rate she is moving at, and everything else which has to be known about her; and he is able without an effort to govern all her movements, to prescribe the place where she is to pass the night and the hour at which she is to get under way in the morning, although he does not see her and probably never saw her in his life. The fees which vessels pay for passing through the canal are often enormous. Some of the large liners of the Peninsular and Oriental, or the Orient service pay as much as £1,800 in making a single transit. For every passenger half a napoleon, or eight shillings and fourpence, is charged. Three-fourths of the ships that go through the canal are English.—Saturday Review.

Children in Cairo.

It is the poor little children here that most move me to pity and make me lose sight of the wonderfully varied and picturesque scenes of Cairo. The poor little things, borne astride the shoulder of their mothers, often seem more dead than alive, and the little hand clutching so feebly, yet confidently, to her headgear is a sight mere pitiful. It is said that 78 per cent. of the children die here in infancy. I have seen several funerals of children. They are borne along the streets in an open wooden box with a gay pall thrown over it, a motley crowd bearing the box and others following chanting a song with not the least degree of feeling or solemnity. Neither the mother nor any woman is ever allowed to follow, and at the grave the child is taken out of the box, and, scarcely wrapped at all, is dropped into the sand. —Egypt Cor. Detroit Tribune.

The Rabbit Pest in Australia.

The extent of the rabbit Pest in Victoria may be comprehended from a recent report of the United States consul general. At least 12,000,000 acres have been rendered almost useless and uninhabitable through the damage caused by the rodent. In one section, where 700,000 sheep were fed in 1875, less than 100,000 found good grass to eat in 1882, and the loss here, in various ways in the last five years, has been at least £800,000. The government has spent about £30,000 in efforts to rid the country of the pest, the principal means used being poisoned food, such as phosphorized oats and wheat, bran and chaff charged with arsenic and bisulphide of carbon. There has also been offered a bonus of three pence a dozen on all skins brought in to certain officers. The figures show that 1,884,000 rabbits have been paid for under this offer.—Boston Transcript.

Preliminary tests have shown that iron cooled while a strong current of electricity was passing through it was increased fully one half in tensile strength and ductility.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting are affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. A good reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore peace and bodily health for many years. Evidently Scared.

Mr. Burgess has received Mr. Chamberlayne's terms for the race between the sloop Mayflower and the cutter Arrow, for the Queen's cup. The British cutter will race the American sloop only on condition that the latter's centre-board is so bolted that it cannot be raised above the cutter's extreme draught — a condition which, if acceded to, would destroy the American type of the yacht. The imposing of such a condition amounts to a confession that the boasting of the British yachtsmen, to the effect that while the Yankee "skimming dishes" might sail well enough in the shoal and smooth waters of the American coast, they would prove utter failures in the deep waters and heavy seas of Britain, has been bluster only, and that they fear to tackle the skimming dishes on equal terms.

The "New South."

A colored man, a preacher, well dressed, intelligent, sober and well behaved, and holding a first-class ticket, was ordered out of a car on a train between Chattanooga and Atlanta, Ga., a day or two since, by the conductor, because some of the white passengers objected to his presence. He refused to obey, when he was set upon by three white ruffians, the train officials not interfering, and after being overpowered by numbers, was put off the train in the middle of a swamp, the train being stopped by the conductor to allow this. The inter-state commerce law will put an end to this manner of race discrimination, unless the southern roads are willing to run the risk of pains and penalties. All men are equal before this law, and it will be invoked by the colored preacher.

Florida Hotel Burned.

The large St. Augustine hotel at St. Augustine, Florida, was burned on the morning of the 12th inst., with all its contents; the ninety guests and forty servants of the hotel escaped safely, but Bridget Barry, the laundress, returned to get her clothing, and lost her life. The fire extended to other buildings, and a considerable space was burned over. Among the buildings burned were the old Spanish cathedral with its historic relics, and the old county court house, from which the records were saved. Total loss by the fire estimated at $250,000.

Strikes.

The journeymen carpenters of Indianapolis, Ind., at a recent meeting determined to strike. There are 10,000 of them, and as more building is in progress in that city than at any time for many years, serious trouble is being caused. They demand nine hours work a day, and an advance of ten per cent over last year's wages. The contractors agreed to make some concessions, but the journeymen refused to consider any proposition for a compromise.

A despatch from St. Louis says that war has been declared between the Stove Founders' Defence association and the Molders' National Union, and in the next few days every stove foundry in the United States will probably be closed. The defence, the manufacturers' association, has organized the country into four districts, and there are now 4000 men locked out in the fourth district, which includes St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville, Milwaukee, Leavenworth and Keokuk. The patterns of Bridge, Beach & Co., a foundry of St. Louis boycotted by the molders' union, having been ordered by the defence association into the first and second districts, strikes will immediately follow. The first district includes Troy, New York city, Philadelphia and Boston. The second district includes Harrisburg, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Detroit and Cincinnati; and the third district includes all the southern states and cities.

The demand of the laborers at the extensive rolling mill of the Pottsville (Pa.) Iron & Steel company for ten per cent advance in wages being positively refused, the men have struck. The mill has shut down indefinitely in consequence, and the mill hands are thrown out of employment.

Energetic Reformers.

The election board of the eighth precinct of Jersey City, N. J., consisting of Patrick Goulden, Patrick McGinnis, Owen Mabe and Cormac T. Dolan, were arrested on the 12th inst. in the act of stuffing the ballot box with thirty democratic tickets. The city election was carried by the democrats.

Great Prairie Fire.

A terrible prairie fire swept across Graham, Norton and Decatur counties, Kansas, this week, the burned district being 100 miles long and seven to ten miles wide. Fifteen persons are known to have been burned to death; thousands of heads of stock of all kinds have been burned, and thousands of tons of hay, corn and wheat, and from 160 to 175 houses and barns. People living along the line of the fire have been left homeless and destitute.

Mr. Robert A. Vinal, one of the oldest and most esteemed citizens of Somerville, Mass., died at his residence on Walnut street in that city Tuesday, April 12th, of Bright's disease, after a month's illness. Mr. Vinal was engaged in the grain business for many years, and in his name to-day there are 500,000 feet of land in Somerville assessed to him. He had held many offices of trust in Somerville, and several years ago was United States revenue collector for that district. He was a member of John Abbott lodge of Masons, Oasis lodge of Odd Fellows, the Central Club and other organizations. He leaves a widow, three daughters and two sons. Owing to the absence of his daughter Louise in Bermuda, whither she went last winter for her health, the body will be embalmed and will await her arrival for the funeral, which will take place in about a week. Mr. Vinal leaves three brothers, Quincy A., John and Alfred. He was the soul of honor, very conscientious and upright, taking a leading part in the management of the Unitarian church.

A STARTLING FACT.

It is not commonly known that a large proportion of the rheumatism and neuralgia extant is traceable directly to the diseased condition or imperfect action of the kidneys and liver; therefore a remedy which cures the resulting disease must have found and smitten the first cause. Many persons using Athlophoros for rheumatism and neuralgia have been surprised to find that chronic disorders of the liver and kidneys have also been greatly relieved and they have written for an explanation. The fact is, that the remedy acts directly on these organs, cleansing them from all irritating substances and regulating their action. Taken in connection with Athlophoros Pills this is, without exception, the most valuable kidney and liver remedy in the world, and will cure a large proportion of those who have these diseases.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

Allow me to say a few words in favor of Athlophoros. Having been troubled with rheumatism for several years I had tried many remedies but with no satisfactory results. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Athlophoros and I was surprised at the immediate relief it afforded. I would highly recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatic trouble.

T. D. PHELPS.

Leominster, Mass., May 13, 1886.

I think Athlophoros is a grand, good medicine. I used not quite one bottle for neuralgia in the shoulders and neck, and experienced great relief, the pain subsided and in twenty-four hours disappeared altogether. I recommend Athlophoros to any and everybody afflicted with neuralgia, for it will kill that disease. MRS. FREEMAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

SUPREME COURT--APRIL TERM.

TUESDAY, April 12th.

The grand jury heard the testimony in several liquor cases, and in the case of Patrick Blute of this city, charged with murdering his wife. The case of Crowley, charged with murdering his wife by setting fire to her clothing, was commenced but not completed, several witnesses remaining to be examined on the 13th.

The case of Edward H. Clark against the Boston & Maine railroad for the loss of a horse killed at Newmarket was put on trial, and the jury went to Newmarket to view the premises.

A number of divorce cases were heard, and five mis-matched couples were unmated. The term is expected to be the longest one for several years.

WEDNESDAY, April 13th.

In case Clark vs. Boston & Maine railroad, the jury found for the plaintiff in $100.

The grand jury will finish their labors on Friday, probably, the court on Wednesday evening having adjourned over to that day.

Case Reid vs. Dalton is in order for Friday morning, 15th, and the B. W. Hoyt Co. cases for Friday noon; cases Cate vs. town of Northwood, and Jenkins vs. town of Newmarket, for Monday, 18th.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, April 13th.

John J. Steele, accused of surrounding more liquor than he could carry steadily, was dismissed, the evidence failing to convict.

Patrick Dorothy, less fortunate, was assessed $9.90.

A youngster was accused of stealing $7.50 from Ye Sing, "no checkee, no washee;" case placed on file.

Charles Winkley, for larceny of a wheelbarrow from George B. French, was sent to jail for sixty days, and ordered to pay $9.18 costs.

MUSIC HALL TO-NIGHT.

This evening, at Music hall, the new romantic comedy "Our Angel" will be presented for the first time in this city, Miss Lizzie Evans appearing as Blossom, the "angel," a part written expressly for her and in which she is said to be even more engaging than in any of the characters in which she has previously delighted Portsmouth audiences. But Miss Evans does not have the entire play to carry, there being several other strong speaking parts—more, in fact, than are usually found in modern light dramas—and they are all ably taken. See advertisement.

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' MONUMENT.

At at meeting of Storer Post, G. A. R., Wednesday evening, April 13th, a committee was appointed to co-operate with the Woman's Relief Corps and the Sons of Veterans, in arranging for an entertainment in aid of the fund for the erection of a Soldier's and Sailor's Monument.

Mr. C. M. Gignoux, treasurer of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument committee, publishes a card in the Penny Post announcing that a lady residing on Islington street will be one of ten new subscribers to give one thousand dollars for the monument. If the ladies will help in this good work there can be no doubt of its success.

Mr. Lowell Jenness and wife have subscribed $25 to the soldiers' monument fund. They gave a son to the war for the preservation of the nation.

MARGARET MATHER.

As we shall issue no Chronicle on Friday, we this morning call the attention of theatre goers to the fact that tickets are now on sale at Goodrich's for Miss Margaret Mather's performance of Juliana at Music hall on Saturday evening. "The Honeymoon" is a charming comedy, and it is unnecessary to say that Miss Mather is a charming actress, and that her support, under J. M. Hill's management, is all that could be asked. See advertisement.

Capt. R. F. Trevellick, grand lecturer of the Knights of Labor, appeared before a rather small audience at Music hall on Wednesday evening, April 13th. Capt. Trevellick is an easy, rapid speaker, and his presentation of "the objects and needs of the organization of the Knights of Labor" was faverably received by his hearers.

The Dover Republican compliments a young lady of this city, who recently appeared at a piano recital in that city, as follows: "Miss Tebbetts, a lovely young girl from Portsmouth, who has taken lessons of Mr. Hill for one year, is a graceful and skillful performer, and as her fingers glided over the keyboard in performing Valse de Juliette she reminded us of the famous description of 'old Ruby's' playing the piano."

The P. A. C. ball to-night! For weeks maidens and matrons, young gallants and staid citizens, have been looking toward this as a gala night, confident that it would surpass any previous attempt in this line in this city, and they will not be disappointed. Blaisdell's orchestra, of Concord, one of the best, will present a concert programme in Franklin theatre, at eight o'clock, that it will be "a dream of pleasure" to listen to. The gymnasium and the hall opposite will be for the accommodation of the guests, and the dance hall, handsomely decorated, will be brilliantly illuminated by the Electric Light Co. A glorious time will be had.

Mr. John S. Wendell was on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week in charge of the peace of this city, the marshal and officers being at Exeter in attendance on the grand jury as witnesses. Mr. Wendell as a police force was a success, no trouble having arisen under his administration.

After this week no more new pupils will be admitted to the primary schools. Parents intending to send children to the public schools this spring, should remember this rule.

The Epping camp-meeting committee have purchased the Exeter skating rink, which they propose to take down and carry to the camp-ground, and convert it into a Chautauqua hall, for the purpose of accommodating congregations in stormy weather. It will seat from 1500 to 2000 people, and will be a great convenience. It will be ready for use by August 1st.

The Mutual Life Insurance company of New York paid death claims amounting to $140,888.18, and endowments amounting to $34,748.31, for the week ending April 8th. For every $1.00 paid in premium the company returned $2.65.

Mr. Freeman F. Sanborn, a veteran soldier with a brilliant record, will retire from his position at the navy yard on the 1st of May, in the interests of civil service reform.

CAMPMEETINGS AT OLD ORCHARD.

July 20th to 28th—Salvation Army.

July 29th to August 9th—Holiness meetings and faith healing, under charge of Rev. A. B. Simpson of New York.

August 9th to 15th—Fellowship holiness convention, under direction of Rev. Mr. McLean of Brooklyn.

August 15th to 20th—Methodist campmeeting for Portland district, conducted by Rev. W. S. Jones, presiding elder.

Following the Methodist meeting the Royal Templars of Temperance of New England will hold a series of temperance meetings.

Season tickets at reduced rates will be issued by the Maine Central and Boston & Maine roads, good from July 29th to August 22d.

To-day being Fast day, no paper will be issued from this office to-morrow.

The body of Mr. Darius Frisbee of Kittery, mate of the schooner Susan Stetson, who was drowned on Monday night of this week by falling from Morse's wharf, Boston, was recovered the following day not far from the spot where the sad accident occurred. Deceased was a brother of Mr. O. L. Frisbee, landlord of the Oceanic hotel, Isles of Shoals.

Sanford, a town in York county having about 2500 inhabitants, has a brass band, water works and electric lights, and an opera house is in course of construction. The latest news is that a base-ball club is about to be organized in the town. As soon as the latter becomes an accomplished fact the town will be all ready to ask to be elevated to city rank.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The new marble works of Jenness & Dowd wish to state to the public that owing to doing their own work they are under no expense, and can sell work for prices that cannot be outdone by any firm in New England. First class work guaranteed. Nothing but the best Italian marble used, and no work set in brimstone, as formerly done by other shops; all set in lead.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

—Agent: "Have you a burglar alarm in your house, madame?" Lady of the house: "Well, we did have last week. A burglar came into the house Tuesday night and fell over a rack of milk pans. Talk about alarms! You ought to have heard that."

—A nice young schoolmistress] of [Correlsville, Pa., had among her pupils a bad boy whom she attempted to punish. She found he was too big for her, but her young man happening in before school was out, she asked his aid, and with it thrashed the boy. Now the boy's pa threatens to sue the teacher's young man for assault and battery.

—"Women are poor creatures, anyway," said Mr. Flyaway, savagely. "Yes," assented Mrs. Flyaway, sweetly, "they are. I always did like the men better." And then Mr. Flyaway finished his breakfast with a good deal of silent thought.

Dion Boucicault's scheme for getting Irish rights is to cut all the railroads and telegraphs in Ireland. This would paralyze the British power, and this and the boycott would sufficiently damage financial interests to bring about a compromise.

Humors run riot in the blood at this season. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels every impurity and vitalizes and enriches the blood.

At Warner, April 12th, the depot square was submerged with water from the Warner river, and Ela's saw mill suspended business. At East Bradford a highway was submerged four or five feet, and mills were stopped at West Henniker and West Hopkinton. At Contocook a number of buildings on the river bank were partially submerged, and in various places in that and other towns the highways were under water and travel obstructed. The pile bridge on the Concord & Peterboro' railroad was reported in danger from a pressure of ice.

Real Estate.

Valuable Investment. You may buy and sell real estate but if you suffer from backache, kidney affections, rheumatism, crick, severe pains, sore chest, sciatica, sore joints and muscles, or pain in any part, you cannot enjoy happiness. Hop Plasters are prepared from burgundy pitch, canada balsam and fresh hops. Apply one directly over pain and get instant relief. 25 cts.

While visiting the mine of Chamberlain colliery at St. Clair, Pa., on Monday afternoon, the 11th inst., an explosion occurred by which Miss Minnie Kelter of Vassar college was killed, Miss Berleita Shaul, also of Vassar, quite severely wounded, Harry Short probably fatally injured, and Edwin Thompson, one of the operators, painfully, but not fatally bruised. Miss Shaul is the coming valedictorian at Vassar, and Miss Kelter was visiting her.

I recommend Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for gravel. It cured me.—S. J. McCormick, United States Dep. Mineral Surveyor, Bliss Station, Idaho. My head and face was a mass of putrification. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy purified my blood and I am now well.—J. A. Parker, Sunderlinville, Pa. Price $1. Send two-cent stamp to Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for book on kidney, liver and blood disorders. Mention this paper.

The dead body of William Dorsey, a capitalist and politician of West Troy, N. Y., who has been missing all winter, was found floating down the Hudson river on the 11th inst., frozen in a cake of ice.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

Dr. Offutt and O. D. Cannon engaged in a shooting affray at Hearne, Texas, over a game of dominoes, and were both fatally wounded.

Dr. J. B. May says: "I used 'Digestyline' in my own case, and was much pleased; found it not only efficient for indigestion, but very palatable."

Sold by all druggists, $1.00 per bottle, or W. F. Kidder & Co., manufacturing chemists, 83 John street, New York.

ELIOT, ME., April 11th.

A visit to the stable of the Hambletonian and Morgan stallion "Japonica," owned by J. H. Mathes of Eliot, will repay any one interested in breeding horses. This promising young horse unites the stoutest and most fashionable strains of blood in the country, and his size, beauty and speed, as well as his individual merits, insure his success as a stock horse. His color is a beautiful dark bay or chestnut; he is three years old, stands sixteen hands high and weighs 1125 lbs., and is pronounced by the best of horsemen to be as handsome a horse as they ever saw. Mr. Mathes has shown us more speed to the sleigh with this colt the past winter than we have been shown by any four or five year olds for many miles around. We think we have seen the best, as we are interested in breeding.

RIVERSIDE.

I was a terrible sufferer with Salt Rheum preferring death to life. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy cured me.—Chas. Owen, Ironville, N. Y. I acknowledge Dr Kennedy's Favorite Remedy to be a sure cure for Gravel, and by far the best, the only cure.—J. M. Allen, Charlotte, N. Y. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for a book on Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Mention this paper.

A correspondent asks: "Where can we send to get Peck's Patent Ear Drums, an invention for enabling people to hear who are deaf, slightly or otherwise?" Write to F. Hiscox, 853 Broadway, N. Y., stating cause and particulars of your deafness and he will give you all the points desired. Read the following from the Medical Record: "A lecturer in one of our hospitals, while illustrating progress in medical science, introduced a deaf patient whose case baffled all medical skill and was considered hopeless. But an invention belonging to F. Hiscox, New York, having been recommended it was used with very satisfactory results, as it fully restored the hearing. It was tested in other cases and found to be more successful than any known device for the relief of deafness, as hearing lost for many years was fully restored by it. This invention is all the more satisfactory as it is out of sight and does not require to be held in position. And while it can be readily removed or inserted by the patients themselves it is without curative in action and comfortable to wear."

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. That Baby of Mine,

Auntie, three months ago had the salt rheum so bad that his head was a mass of sores, and I had begun to lose all hopes of raising him, but my druggist recommended Sulphur Bitters, and to-day he is as fat and chipper as any baby you ever saw, and he has not a sore on his head, and just think that after paying out so much, that a few dollars worth of Sulphur Bitters should cure him.—Mrs. J. Rupture Cured.

CLINTON, CLINTON CO., IOWA, March 26, 1886.

About nine years ago I was attacked with a severe cutting pain in my left side, I screamed at times with agony. No remedies availed until I placed an Allcock's Plaster over the seat of pain. I wore the Plaster ten days, the pain decreasing every day until I was cured. My daughter was ruptured just above the navel when only three months old. She suffered little until she began to walk. The treatment of physicians appeared only to aggravate her case. I procured an Allcock's Porous Plaster and cut it in three pieces. One I applied over the rupture. It acted perfectly. At the end of ten days I washed the place with a little alcohol and put on a fresh piece. I used afterwards two more pieces, and after forty days the child was entirely well. I have never found any Plasters equal to Allcock's.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had pooched at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst, took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

The Story of a Confederate Soldier's Escape from the Federal Guards.

Some time later we were transferred to Point Lookout prison, Maryland. Among our number was a young man named Hunter, of Washington, D. C. During his imprisonment he had been furnished with a complete wardrobe, far more complete than any Confederate soldier dared to dream of. On the day of departure he was dressed in a "nobby" business suit, looking as unlike a soldier of any kind as could be. The prisoners were gathered together in the quadrangle of the prison, and as each name was called the man passed through the office out to the pavement and formed in column between the lines of guards. Each prisoner carried his effects—if he was fortunate enough to possess any. When Hunter's name was called he came out enveloped in his blanket, his hat knocked awry and carrying his valise. Those who had seen how jauntily he looked in the yard scarcely recognized this figure that shuffled, with its shambling gait, out to the pavement, nor did they understand why he had made such a guy of himself. The prisoners talked and laughed gayly among themselves.

No one noticed Hunter lay aside his blanket and "spruce" himself up. Asking a comrade to look after his blanket and valise, and to make no remark on anything he might see, Hunter moved to the curbstone side of the column. Unnoticed by the guards he stepped beyond the curbing and faced around, looking nonchalantly at the prisoners while leisurely lighting a cigar. One of the guards noticed the distingue individual and brought his musket down to a "charge bayonet," remarking: "He's against orders, sir, for anyone to come on this side of the street." Hunter coolly said, while puffing his cigar: "Oh, I'd like to get a good look at these d—d rebels." The guard repeated: "It's against orders, sir, and you will have to cross the street." "All right," says Hunter, not wishing to prolong the conversation, and he sauntered across the street—turning occasionally to look at the prisoners—where, leaning against a tree box, he watched the "Johnnies" with as much curiosity as anyone there. When the column moved off the cheer that went up from the Confederates was thought by the lookers on to be the escape of pent up feelings of prisoners at being let out into the open air, when in reality it was the farewell outburst of admiration for their comrade left standing there, who, by his strategy and nerve, had won for himself freer air than they breathed.

Hunter spent several days in Washington, then started for Dixie, but was captured at Bowling Green, Va., not as an escaped prisoner, but as one who couldn't give a clear account of himself. His captors halted for the night on the way to Washington, taking refuge in an old abandoned house, with one of those large stone chimneys so common in Virginia. The windows being all boarded up and one of the guards lying against the door, they thought that sufficient to hold a fancy little "blockade runner," therefore relaxed their vigilance so much as to sleep. A little fire, smoke and soot were slight impediments to a man like the prisoner. He crawled up the chimney, dropped down on the outside, and prisons knew him no more.—Philadelphia Times.

Anna Dickinson and the Driver.

Of unadulterated impudence and cold assumption the coachman of the millioned upper thousands in New York provide the most nearly perfect specimens to be found in the United States. They appear to think that common vehicles and people on foot have no right in the streets. So they halloo at pedestrians who are about to get in the way, and rattle across streets with indifference as to who or what may be on the crossings. The average democratic New Yorker does not mind being whistled at by car drivers, and will make lively jumps over a crossing to get out of the way of a milk wagon or a coal cart; but when it comes to having a carriage drawn by prancing horses, with banged tails and silver mounted harness, bear down upon him with a "Halloo, there," from a liveried driver, he feels more like cracking the horses' nose with a stick than clearing a passage for them.

He usually does nothing restrictive, however, and Anna Dickinson is therefore all the more a heroine. It was at Fourteenth street and Fifth avenue, in a recent rain storm. The avenue was crowded with vehicles, and crossing was difficult. Anna had dodged in and out successfully, but she found when near the farther sidewalk that she had to wait a few seconds for a wagon loaded with long pieces of lumber to pass. As she stood there a carriage, containing the wife and daughter of a ten millionaire, came dashing up, and some inarticulate whoops from the driver warned her to get out. But she didn't. She stood as resolutely as if she had been on the lecture platform, and Jehu had to slacken the pace of his horses, though he let them walk up almost against her, and it looked as if it was his intention to drive over her. But she shook an umbrella in the face of the beasts two or three times and apparently made him believe that she would stick the end of it into their eyes if her rights were imposed upon much further. And he, looking very much disgusted, stopped short. But a look of triumph was spread over Anna's features as she stepped upon the sidewalk.—New York Cor. Kansas City Journal.

A natural curiosity has been discovered at Solothurn, Switzerland, the center of a large watch manufacturing district. It is the nest of a wagtail, built wholly of long spiral steel shavings, without the least part of vegetable or animal fibre used in its construction. The steel shavings are half a millimetre thick and about twelve centimetres long. The nest has been preserved in the Museum of Natural History.—American Register.

SKIN & SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va. Reference, G. W. Latimer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured.

E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs Henry Rinta, who had fetter on her hands to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered greatly, was completely cured by the use of your medicines.

C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.

For the last year I have had a species of Itching, scaly and pimply humour on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA.

MRS. ISAAC PHELPS, Ravenna, O.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction.

C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere: Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; RESOLVENT, $1.00; SOAP, 25 cents. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting are affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

"Official" British Humanity.

A despatch of April 13th from Halifax, Nova Scotia, is as follows:

The schooner Scylla of Lunenburg, N. S., has been seized by customs officers here, charged with illegally supplying provisions last October to the fishing schooner Carrie Parsons of Gloucester, Mass. The Scylla arrived here a few days ago from New York, laden with corn. The transfer of provisions is stated to have taken place at some distance from Cape Mabou, the Gloucester schooner having run short while homeward bound. The Lunenburg vessel is 101 tons burden. She was engaged last season in fishing and trading.

Readiness to imperil his life in aid of others, and to share his last crust and even his last plug of tobacco with them when rescued, has always been an attribute of the true sailor; and none has more worthily earned a right to this reputation than the British tar. Figs and curs have occasionally been found sailing blue water under the British flag, as under the flags of other nations; but these have been the contemptible exceptions to an honorable rule. But according to the decision of the Canuck officials, as implied in the Scylla case, this rule must be changed. If a provincial skipper meets on the high seas a Yankee crew distressed with hunger, and relieves their necessities, his vessel is to be forfeited; should he rescue the crew of a sinking Yankee vessel, he would probably be hung off hand. And this is British "humanity."

The story of the Scylla, as related by the Canadian officials themselves, reads queerly by the side of their denial of the story of Capt. Sol Jacobs of Gloucester, that he was refused permission in Prince Edward island to purchase provisions for his vessel, after having expended the abundant stock he took from home in feeding the crew of a Canadian fishing vessel who were taken from their sinking craft on the banks. Capt. Jacobs, who is perhaps the most widely known and constantly successful skipper sailing out of Gloucester, is probably not a fool,—as he certainly would be to tell the story which he and his entire crew relate in regard to the affair, were it not the truth, for it would be at once proved false, by evidence more convincing than the mere denial of the Canadian government officials. The tale of Capt. Jacobs and his crew is, that having taken seventeen provincial fishermen from their foundering schooner, and gone hundred of miles out of their course to land them near their homes, they found themselves short of provisions for their own passage home, and Capt. Jacobs proposed to purchase what he required. He did not beg permission to do this as a merciful privilege, but demanded it as a right under the laws of humanity and international comity; and he was finally notified that as a special favor, he would be graciously allowed to buy ten pounds of flour! The bold skipper very properly told the Canuck officials to go to sheol with their ten pounds of flour, and made sail without it.

This story has been before the public, through the press, for many months, and was alluded to in Congress in scathing terms by Senator Frye, in the debate on the retaliation bill; but it is only now, when the British home government sends to the Dominion authorities for an explanation, that the latter "deny that Capt. Jacobs was prevented from purchasing supplies after rescuing the crew of a Canadian schooner." The Canadian officials are undoubtedly endeavoring to shield themselves from the charge of inhumanity, by sneaking behind that ten-pound paper bag of flour!

FAST DAY SERVICES.

The churches and clergymen of the city generally joined in a union service at the Universalist church on Fast Day. Beside Rev. Mr. Fisher of the Universalist church, there were present Rev. Mr. Alden of the Baptist, Rev. Mr. McGinley of the Congregational, Rev. Mr. Jasper of the Methodist, Rev. Mr. Hovey of the Episcopal, Rev. Mr. Gooding of the Unitarian and Rev. Mr. Waldron of the F. W. Baptist churches, most of whom took some part in the service. The discourse was by Rev. Mr. Fisher, upon the "Present Attitude of Church and State." The text was from I Peter 4: 17. "For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God." The church was treated by the speaker not as the subject of judgment, but rather as the judge of the state. References were made to the influence which the church exerted at various eras, through the Popes, upon the kingly governments of Europe, in the times when the church and state were one. This was changed in Luther's time, when began the era of free religion, free opinion.

From that time the state has feared the spirit of the church when that spirit exerts itself. As an instance of this, reference was made to Rev. Mr. Bartol's denunciation of Gen. Butler in connection with the state of Massachusetts. Gov. Currier's Fast Day Proclamation was sharply criticised, and he was reminded that the most learned agnostics of the present time do not resort to the circumlocutions and adjectives used by our Governor to avoid using the name of the Supreme, but accept the name of God, leaving its mystery unsolved. The interstate commerce law was referred to, but the speaker seemed at loss to know how the church should deal with it, and as much in doubt as the business men and politicians regarding its meaning and application. In conclusion, immutable truth and love were affirmed to exist, and the application of these must set all things right.

There was but a small audience present when it is considered that this was the only church opened. There were but about 200 present.—Times.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Mystery, Baker master, arrived on the 13th from Plum Island with a load of sand to F. Jones.

The British schooner Pleasantville arrived at this port from La Have, Nova Scotia, on the 12th inst., and the British schooner Ornatus on the 13th, both with ties to the Boston & Maine railroad.

The schooner Lizzie J. Call, Call master, from Perth Amboy for Hallowell, Me., arrived at Bath on the 14th inst., and will have to stay there until the ice is out of the river before completing her trip.

It is Near the First of May.

BOSTON, April 14—All the ladies in New England will be interested in the announcement that the subject of "moving house" will be treated on by Mr. James W. Clarke in the next Boston Sunday Globe. It will be illustrated and full of bright hits. The Boston Sunday Globe is still gaining, and leads the Boston Sunday Herald by 30,000.

The entertainment proposed for the benefit of the soldiers' monument fund by the committee of citizens and war veterans is a May party in Franklin hall.

The Nonpareil Associates, at a meeting held last Thursday evening, voted to give the proceeds of their next social assembly for the benefit of the soldiers' and sailors' monument.

Emory Marshall, Hayden Libby and Byron Bradbury went to church at Biddeford recently, and created such a disturbance that the services could not continue. At least, that is what the pastor and deacons say. Warrants were issued for their arrest, but they left for Boston. When they landed in that city two patrolmen were waiting to receive them, and they were taken back to Biddeford.

A STARTLING FACT.

It is not commonly known that a large proportion of the rheumatism and neuralgia extant is traceable directly to the diseased condition or imperfect action of the kidneys and liver; therefore a remedy which cures the resulting disease must have found and smitten the first cause. Many persons using Athlophoros for rheumatism and neuralgia have been surprised to find that chronic disorders of the liver and kidneys have also been greatly relieved and they have written for an explanation. The fact is, that the remedy acts directly on these organs, cleansing them from all irritating substances and regulating their action. Taken in connection with Athlophoros Pills this is, without exception, the most valuable kidney and liver remedy in the world, and will cure a large proportion of those who have these diseases.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

Allow me to say a few words in favor of Athlophoros. Having been troubled with rheumatism for several years I had tried many remedies but with no satisfactory results. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Athlophoros and I was surprised at the immediate relief it afforded. I would highly recommend it to any one troubled with rheumatic trouble.

T. D. PHELPS.

Leominster, Mass., May 13, 1886.

I think Athlophoros is a grand, good medicine. I used not quite one bottle for neuralgia in the shoulders and neck, and experienced great relief, the pain subsided and in twenty-four hours disappeared altogether. I recommend Athlophoros to any and everybody afflicted with neuralgia, for it will kill that disease. MRS. FREEMAN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

MARGARET MATHER.

The most notable dramatic event of the season will take place at Music hall this evening, when the young and fascinating actress, Miss Margaret Mather, with Milnes Levick, Frederick Paulding and other deservedly popular performers, will appear in "The Honeymoon," a comedy which is not only full of refined fun, but affords scope for fine acting by nearly all its characters. Tickets at Goodrich's.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

FRIDAY, April 15th.

Thomas Givens, drunk, fine $3, costs $6.90; county farm in default of payment.

Michael Mack, drunk, fine $3, costs $5.76; Patrick Mack ditto, ditto, ditto; county farm for the pair.

Joseph Murphy and William Quigley, drunk, were allowed to depart on their promise to leave town.

Joseph Brown, drunk, sixty days at Brentwood, costs $6.90.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Friday evening, April 15th, Mayor Eldredge in the chair, Aldermen Sinclair and Russell absent:

Communication from Mark H. Wentworth in relation to the salt-water conduit for the Pleasant street reservoir, was referred to the committee on fire department.

Request for the acceptance of Spring street was referred to committee on streets.

It was reported that it would cost between $400 and $500 to put illuminated dials on the North clock. The Electric Light Co. will put in the apparatus at their own expense, and light the clock for the price charged for one street light.

Recommended that the committee on school houses prepare plans and elevations for the new school building, and that they invite a committee of three from the board of instruction to act in conjunction with them, in this duty.

City solicitor reported that the injunction against building a road across the south pond will be continued to the October term of the court, but the injunction against dumping refuse on the marginal road has been removed.

Bills amounting to $600 were ordered to be paid.

Copy of an order from Capt. Bradford, commandant of the navy yard, allowing members of the fire department employed there to leave their work at an alarm of fire, was received.

The annual appropriation bill was passed under suspension of the rules, and sent down for concurrence.

Adjourned for two weeks.

THE P. A. C. SECOND ANNUAL BALL.

The great event, so anxiously looked forward to by the young people of our city, proved to be a grand success in all respects. Franklin block, or a large portion of the upper two stories, was given up to the active members of this enterprising club, and the result was the transformation of the ball room into a magnificent hall, brilliantly illuminated by the gorgeous rays of two large arc lights, furnished by the Portsmouth Electric Light Co., and the large hall opposite the gymnasium into a bower of beauty, elegantly decorated with streamers and flags, while potted plants, palms, ferns, singing birds and flowering shrubs added an exquisite effect to the charming scene. Various mottos of designs appropriate to the occasion, and the monogram of the club, tastefully worked in flowers and evergreen, added to the decoration of the ball and reception rooms.

At eight o'clock Blaisdell's orchestra, of Concord, began their concert in the theatre, which was listened to by an audience which filled the house; and at nine o'clock the grand march, led by Mr. Hiram C. Locke and his daughter, promptly commenced in the hall. Owing to the immense throng this was somewhat circumscribed, but the scene was a brilliant one, the happy faces and the many bright-colored dresses being finely shown by the electric light. The galleries were filled with delighted spectators up to the close; and on the floor, when the last dance was called at three o'clock, there were more couples than are ordinarily seen at the opening of a ball. Floor Manager Hasty and his aids, Messrs. Locke, Sides, Emery, Philbrick, Rowe, Lear, Smart, Conner, Dennett, Dolan and Sullivan, were very efficient and attentive, but they needed all their energy and skill to get even a semblance of room for dancing. The orders of dances were very beautiful and appropriate, and will no doubt be largely preserved as mementoes of the most successfull ball given in this city for many a year.

PARISH MEETING.

At the adjourned meeting of St. John's parish, held on Friday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Wardens, John Hatch, Geo. B. French;

Vestrymen, Washington Freeman, Moses H. Goodrich, Daniel L. Stover, Alfred O. Larkin, Henry F. Wendell, John Christie, Lyman D. Spalding, Timothy A. Tucker, Robert King;

Parish Clerk, Samuel R. Gardner;

Treasurer, Robert C. Peirce;

Delegates to Diocesan Convention, John Hatch, John Christie, C. S. Franklin, Robert C. Peirce;

Auditors, Henry F. Wendell, C. S. Franklin.

MEMORIAL DAY COMMITTEES.

The following committees on Memorial day exercises were appointed by Commander Burnham at a meeting of Storer Post, G. A. R., held Wednesday evening:

On invitations, route, procession and selection of chief marshal, Senior Vice Commander B. S. Laskey, S. R. Marston, O. H. Locke, A. M. Lang, J. A. Waterhouse, H. M. Tucker, W. Y. Evans.

On carriages, Junior Vice Commander J. A. Rand, Edwin O. Randall, W. H. Lear.

On flowers, Thomas Tredick, M. H. Bell, J. E. Moore, C. H. Goodwin, G. L. Hersey, C. L. Hoyt, C. Randall, C. N. Osgood, J. A. King, D. J. Vaughan, H. Lombard, J. Griffin, H. T. Fuller, G. W. Williams, E. F. Hamlin.

On printing, Willard J. Sampson, G. N. Jones, C. H. Besselievre.

On evening exercises, John H. Hutchinson, D. W. Barnabee, T. Kennedy, M. T. Betton, J. R. Morrison, D. W. Jones, S. C. Whittier.

On finance, Abel Jackson, J. H. Kent, M. Garrity.

On decoration of graves, Portsmouth and vicinity, J. H. Locke, C. W. Shannon, S. Taylor; Rye, J. H. Berry, A. Caswell, A. Y. Rand, G. B. Caswell; Newcastle, E. A. Rand, J. W. Amazeen.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

The Easter Sunday music at St. John's church will be repeated to-morrow forenoon, by the double quartette, and the young ladies of the choir chapter as a chorus.

Rev. O. S. Baketel of Greenland will preach in the Christian church on Sunday afternoon.

The subject in the Universalist church Sunday morning will be "The sinner's right to worship;" service at 10:30. Vespers at 7:30.

Rev. W. A. McGinley will preach in the North church to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock; subject, "The world we make for ourselves." Young men especially invited.

Fifty years ago on Friday, the 15th inst., a cotton-loaded ship which had been struck by lightning entered this port, bringing in Mr. Charles E. Myers, who had been severely hurt when the ship was struck, and who has ever since resided here, winning a competence, and enjoying a most honorable reputation and the respect of the entire community throughout his whole career. On Friday afternoon last, in honor of the day, his children gave him a surprise reception, and a large number of ladies and gentlemen called to tender their regards and good wishes.

The grand jury reported on Friday. Blute and Crowley were indicted for murder.

GREAT FIRE IN DOVER.

About half-past three o'clock, Friday afternoon, an alarm of fire was given from the Cocheco Print Works at Dover, and in a very few minutes the large central building of the works, four stories high and containing all the printing machines, the big engine and other apparatus, was on fire all through. The fire department rallied promptly and worked for all they were worth, but the heat was so great that it was for a time feared the entire works would be destroyed. About 4:15 the roof and walls of the main building fell in one wreck to the cellar, the printing machines and engine being of course totally ruined. At half-past four the fire was under control, having been confined principally to the main building, though some of the others were considerably damaged. The total loss could not be estimated by our informant; at the time he left Dover it was not known that any lives were lost, though there were such rumors. Many of the operatives were injured by jumping from second and third story windows, and some were seriously burned. The fire is the most disastrous one in Dover for many years, and it will take months to repair the damages so that the works can again be started up.

A grand concert complimentary to Miss Mary McCarthy will take place at Music hall on Tuesday, April 19th. This young lady is one of our most pleasing local singers, and the other talent secured for the occasion warrants the assertion that the concert will prove a great musical treat. Miss McCarthy has always been very liberal when her services have been asked, and the opportunity is now presented to show a proper appreciation of her worth.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, well known to most of our people, will speak in the North church next Monday evening under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. This affords a rare chance to hear an eloquent speaker at your own price,—what you please to put in the box when passed.

The Nowell Brothers will give a concert in Music hall on Wednesday evening, April 27th, assisted by other talent.

Hon. Frank Jones arrived home on Friday from his trip to Florida.

A game of base-ball was played at the Plains, Fast day, between a nine from the making room of the shoe factory and a nine from the cutting room, the former winning by a score of fourteen to seven.

Prof. Moses G. Farmer, of Eliot, has bought the Nathan Goodwin farm near Eliot depot, and it is said will fit it up as a summer sanitarium for the inmates of the Baldwin place Home for Little Wanderers at Boston.

A democrat just returned from the west says that republicans may as well get ready to vote for John Sherman for president next year. The western people are convinced that he is the coming man. He has captured Tennessee already, and the republicans can have that state with Sherman as their candidate, says this informant.

That Tired Feeling

When the weather grows warmer, that extreme tired feeling, want of appetite, dullness, languor, and lassitude, afflict almost the entire human family, and scrofula and other diseases caused by humors, manifest themselves with many. It is impossible to throw off this debility and expel humors from the blood without the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I could not sleep, and would get up in the morning with hardly life enough to get out of bed. I had no appetite, and my face would break out with pimples. I bought Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling, and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, O.

"I had been much troubled by general debility. Last spring Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit. I never felt better." H. F. MILLET, Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of a reliable tonic and invigorant. The impure state of the blood, the deranged digestion, and the weak condition of the body, caused by its long battle with the cold, wintry blasts, all call for the reviving, regulating and restoring influences so happily and effectively combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me a great deal of good. I had no particular disease, but was tired out from overwork, and it tones me up." MRS. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.

"For seven years, spring and fall, I had scrofulous sores come out on my legs, and for two years was not free from them at all. I suffered very much. Last May I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken two bottles, the sores healed and the humor left me." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Rowell & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.), where advertisements can be made for it IN NEW YORK.

Miss Braddon gets about $5,000 for the serial rights of a new story, and, as she writes something like two a year, her earnings are considerable.

George C. Gorham, of Washington, formerly secretary of the senate, is to write a biography of Edwin M. Stanton. He hopes to complete it in two years.

Mr. Julian Hawthorne is now the book reviewer of the New York World. In that position he had a salary of $5,000 a year, with the new books as perquisites, and wrote from two to five columns a week.

Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton has a home on Rutland square, Boston, although she passes much of the year in England. She is not a good sailor, and with all her voyages has no great love for the sea.

Two great enemies—Hood's Sarsaparilla and impure blood. The latter is utterly defeated by the peculiar medicine.

—A nice young schoolmistress of Correllsville, Pa., had among her pupils a bad boy whom she attempted to punish. She found he was too big for her, but her young man happening in before school was out, she asked his aid, and with it thrashed the boy. Now the boy's pa threatens to sue the teacher's young man for assault and battery.

Good Advice to Intending Murderers.

The Portland (Me.) Advertiser of the 13th inst. said: "There is nothing in the new law to prevent the hanging of Graves. This is the point clearly made in the communication of an eminent Portland lawyer, given in another column. He shows that the law abolishing the death penalty, not being retroactive, does not apply to crimes committed before next Monday, the 18th, when the law goes into effect. Therefore Graves can save his neck only through a friendly jury or a merciful executive. In the meantime those intending murder had better put it off until after the 17th."

Real Estate.

Valuable Investment. You may buy and sell real estate but if you suffer from backache, kidney affections, rheumatism, crick, severe pains, sore chest, sciatica, sore joints and muscles, or pain in any part, you cannot enjoy happiness. Hop Plasters are prepared from burgundy pitch, canada balsam and fresh hops. Apply one directly over pain and get instant relief. 25 cts.

An Albany (N. Y.) despatch says: "The Hudson is beginning to give up its dead. Every spring when the ice moves out and the flood from the Mohawk comes, from three to a dozen bodies are found. Thus far six bodies, one that of a girl about thirteen years of age, have been recovered, and the next instalment of ice may bring more."

I recommend Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for gravel. It cured me.—S. J. McCormick, United States Dep. Mineral Surveyor, Bliss Station, Idaho. My head and face was a mass of putrification. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy purified my blood and I am now well.—J. A. Parker, Sunderlinville, Pa. Price $1. Send two-cent stamp to Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for book on Kidney, liver and blood disorders. Mention this paper.

Rev. Josiah Marvin, formerly of the Universalist church at Nashua, has been taken to Dr. Clark's private asylum in Burlington, Vt. Since the death of his wife some time since Mr. Marvin has continued despondent, and to this cause is attributed his insanity, though it is thought probable by his friends that he may recover.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

The steamer Victoria, bound from London for France, ran on the rocks close to the French coast on the morning of the 13th inst., and became a total loss. She had about ninety passengers, many of them being women and children, and over twenty were drowned.

A correspondent asks: "Where can we send to get Peck's Patent Ear Drums, an invention for enabling people to hear who are deaf, slightly or otherwise?" Write to F. Hiscox, 853 Broadway, N. Y., stating cause and particulars of your deafness and he will give you all the information. Read the following from the Medical Record: "A lecturer in one of our hospitals, while illustrating progress in medical science, introduced a deaf patient whose case baffled all medical skill and was considered hopeless. But an invention belonging to F. Hiscox, New York, having been recommended it was used with very satisfactory results, as it fully restored the hearing. It was so-test in other cases and found to be more successful than any known device for the relief of deafness, as hearing had for many years was fully restored by it. This invention is all the more satisfactory as it is out of sight and does not require to be held in position. And while it can be readily removed or inserted by the patients themselves it is wind curative in action and comfortable to wear."

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

The British Bear Garden.

While the debate on the Irish coercion bill was in progress in the British house of commons on the 15th inst., a season of disorder prevailed which more than rivalled the most disgraceful exhibition of ruffianism in the United States congress "before the wah."

Major Saunderson, conservative, said the National League was supported mainly by criminals, dynamiters and murderers across the Atlantic. He did not charge the gentlemen opposite with imbruing their hands in blood, but he did charge them with associating with men whom they knew to be murderers.

Mr. Healy, home ruler, said if Major Saunderson referred to him he had no hesitation in saying that Saunderson was a liar. This remark was greeted with roaring Parnellite cheers. The speaker called upon Mr. Healy to withdraw his expression, which he refused to do unless Saunderson would first withdraw his; and he repeated that Saunderson was a liar.

Motion being made to suspend Healy, Mr. Redmond jumped up and shouted "I say he is a liar, too." The motion to suspend was carried, 118 to 52.

Mr. Sexton, home ruler, then asked Saunderson a question, and the answer not being satisfactory exclaimed, "I say you are a willful, cowardly liar," and as soon as he could make himself heard above the uproar which ensued, added, "If I only met you outside of this house, I would thrash you within an inch of your life."

After another scene of confusion Saunderson withdrew his offensive words, and Sexton then did the same; but a few minutes later Saunderson again roused Mr. Sexton, who shouted "The honorable gentleman is again a liar," which led to another withdrawal of words by each.

At the conclusion of Saunderson's speech the debate was adjourned.

That Baby of Mine,

First Cyclone of the Season.

The first genuine cyclone ever witnessed in the vicinity of Wheeling, West Virginia, struck the earth near St. Clairsville, Ohio, ten miles west of Wheeling, on the 15th inst., and cut a path of destruction of varying width from there to Wheeling, levelling brick and stone buildings, trees and fences, whirling cattle and horses through the air, snapping off head and footstones in cemeteries, and doing damage estimated at $1,000,000, besides injuring many persons, some of them fatally. In one place a scantling torn from a house was carried a mile, and shot through two brick walls, making a hole like that of a cannon ball; and shingles were driven through weather boarding like arrows.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

Green B. Raum,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24th, 1884.

Dear Sir:—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters. His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The parent—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10th, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to any one as a truly tonic bitters. Respectfully,

Rev. Mrs. J. H. Ellgood.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has been greatly benefitted and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them. E. R. Warren.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and he has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. official, Chicago, Illinois.

SLEEP—A SONNET.

We sleep and dream. Who has not seen and met
His heart's desire in that charmed palace—sleep,
And hugged the happiness he could not keep,
Or kissed an ideal he could never set
In place of waking facts? Thus from the fret
And toil of life, we enter, wandering deep
Through the long corridors, where dreams, that steep
Our souls with gladness, wile us to forget
That they are dreams. Here in the sleeping place
We come into the presence, face to face,
Of longings realized; here stretch our hands
To touch some well-remembered form of yore,
And speak the words we should have spoke before
Our friends passed from us into distant lands.
—Chambers' Journal.

WATCHMAKING IN FRANCE.

The Enormous Yearly Output of Almost 65,000,000 Watches.

A French correspondent sends us the following particulars of the watch trade of his country by way of supplementing what Sir John Bennett said the other day about Swiss watches:

"Besancon, in the old province of Franche Comte, is the center of watchmaking in France. In 1877 428,754 watches, of which 290,763 were silver, passed through the Hall marking establishment. And those watches represented an amount of 24,000,000 francs. The population of Besancon living upon the watch industry is 15,000. Besancon possesses a school of horology and an observatory. This last has a department used by watch manufacturers for the purpose of timing watches. The village of Cluses, also, whose working population is about 1,000, makes watch movements, pinions, wheels, wheel cutters, keyless works and sundry detached pieces, such as barrel arbors, etc., to the value of 1,500,000 francs; most of that production is sent to Switzerland. Cluses possesses also a school of watchmaking of good repute. Watch glasses are produced in sufficient quantities at Trois Fontaines to supply the whole world. Their value is fixed at 1,300,000 francs.

"Last, but not least, comes Paris, the cradle of such horologists as Thiout, Antide, Janvier, Leroy, Berthoud, Breguet, etc. Paris manufactures ship chronometers, regulators, and turret clocks, finishes those French clocks so well known here, the movements of which come from Beaucort, St. Nicholas, and the making of their artistic cases engages a great many workers. Paris alone manufactures largely clock material, such as anchors, pinions, main springs, hands, dials, electric apparatus—finished by watchmakers, who number about 8,000. Paris, besides delivering to the trade 250,000 clocks, 300,000 eight and one day alarms, tell-tales, etc., is the great emporium for the sale of watches. It has a school of horology, which bids fair to become the best of France. Saunier concludes his report in estimating the total of the watchmaking production of France: Besancon, 24,000,000; Paris, 23,000,000; some small centers of production, such as Trois Fontaines, 1,500,000; Morez and neighborhood, 4,000,000; Saint Nicholas d'Allermont, 1,500,000; Beaucourt, Montbeliard-Selincourt, 9,000,000; Cluses, 1,500,000; total, 64,500,000."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Closing Days in the House.

It was curious to note the difference which the loss of sleep made with different members. Speaker Carlisle had a splitting headache and his eyes were dull and expressionless. Mr. Randall's black eyes sparkled with unwonted fire, and he was as brisk and chipper as if he had eight hours refreshing sleep. Waite, of Connecticut, the oldest man in the house, who is far up in the seventies, showed no sign of weariness, while young fellows like McAdoo, of New Jersey, looked sad and hollow eyed from loss of sleep.

Reed, of Maine, was another man whose vitality withstood the drain upon it. He was as ready to tell a story to his fellow members over in "Saint's Corner," or chastise the Democrats for their shortcomings, as if he had not been up all night. Morrison, of Illinois, who is a man of iron frame, showed the effect of too much tension. Perhaps the thought that he would in a few hours step from the halls of congress, where he had been a leader, had something to do with his depression; but he looked weary and sad. Randolph Tucker, to whom retirement from the house comes as a glad relief, was cheery and fresh as a schoolboy, and went about with his fellow members, and beamed kindly on everybody through his spectacles.—Providence Journal.

Handwriting of the Insane.

In a paper entitled "The Handwriting of the Insane," recently read in Philadelphia, Mrs. Henry Hazlehurst said that the giving way of the mind in an educated person was often shown in bad spelling, blotting, frequent erasures, the absurd use of parentheses, italicization and underscoring in excess. Insane pride and obstinacy take to capitals, and, it is said, make frequent use of the letter "P," which becomes perfectly enormous. Many of these indicia were to be found in the handwriting of ex-Sheriff Rowan, who recently became insane. In him, too, was noted another peculiarity, a tendency to commence at the right instead of the left hand side of the paper, this being carried so far that he would not leave himself room on the paper to complete even his signature.—New York Sun.

Author of the Doxology.

The Chicago Times remarks that probably no verse in the English language is so often sung as the doxology: "Praise God from whom all blessings flow." This was written by Bishop Ken, who was born in 1631, and made bishop of Bath and Wells by King Charles II. He wrote three hymns for the Winchester school boys, beginning: "Glory to Thee, my God, this night;" "Awake, my soul, and with the sun;" "Lord, now my sleep doeth me forsake."—Call.

SKIN & SCALP

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying Itching, Burning and Inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited Skin and Blood Diseases, CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.

I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds and have never found a permanent relief, until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES. I gave them a thorough trial, using the bottle of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, two boxes of CUTICURA and seven cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELLE WADE, Richmond, Va. Reference, G. W. Ladmer, Druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.

I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin entirely came off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking CUTICURA REMEDIES, and now I am entirely cured.

E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton St., Boston.

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE THEM.

Have sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs Henry Kintz, who had rotten on her hands to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered greatly, was completely cured by the use of your medicines.

C. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.

For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without succe s, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA.

MRS. ISAAC CHELLIS, Ravenna, O.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.

We have sold your CUTICURA REMEDIES for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction.

C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold everywhere: Price: CUTICURA, 50 cents; RESOLVENT, $1.00; SOAP, 25 cents. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

GRUBS, Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and Baby Humors, cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of sufferers in all advertised remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting are affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive cases. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and an IMPROVED INHALER, with treatise; price, $1.

An Important Case.

The new liquor law passed by the Maine legislature at its late session makes the payment of a retail liquor dealer's tax to the internal revenue office prima facie evidence of the guilt of the person paying such tax; and under this provision an important case has been brought before the superior court at Augusta, and will probably lead to an authoritative decision by the United States court as to whether the records of the internal revenue department can be compelled to be produced in evidence in a state court. The case is as follows:

On the 13th inst., in case State vs. Reuben C. Hall of Gardiner, Me., for keeping a liquor nuisance, Mr. Thomas F. Murphy, deputy collector of internal revenue, was called as a witness to testify relative to the payment by Hall of a retail liquor dealer's special tax. The witness refused to furnish any evidence or information whatever in regard to the payment of tax by the respondent, on the ground that, as a public officer, he was not justified in doing that which might tend to reduce collections of internal revenue in his district. Mr. Murphy said he was acting under instructions from Collector Redman. The court did not regard the witnesses as contumacious, but ordered an attachment against him as being in contempt of court, and ordered him into custody of the sheriff until next day.

On the 14th Deputy Collector Murphy again took the stand, but still refused to answer questions relative to the payment of a special United States liquor tax by the respondent. Judge Whitehouse ordered him committed for contempt of court, but suspended action on the mittimus, to give Murphy opportunity to petition the United States court for a writ of habeas corpus. On the morning of the 14th Collector Redman telegraphed Judge Whitehouse that Mr. Murphy was acting under his instructions and those of the commissioner of internal revenue, and requesting the judge to discharge the prisoner. The case of the State vs. Reuben C. Hall, in which this case came up, has been continued.

Should Mr. Murphy be sustained in his course by the United States court, the section of the liquor law which makes the payment of a retail liquor dealer's tax prima facie evidence, is likely to be badly shattered; for unless the testimony and records of the internal revenue department can be obtained it will be very difficult to prove that such tax has been paid.

In the hearing at Portland on the 15th, on Dep. Coll. Murphy's petition for a writ of habeas corpus, Judge Webb, in giving his decision, referred to section 755, United States Revised Statutes, which provides that a judge to whom an application for a writ of habeas corpus is made shall award it, unless it appears from the petition itself that he is not entitled to it. Judge Webb said that in this case the petition shows that Mr. Murphy is not entitled to a writ of habeas corpus, and he should therefore deny the petition. District Attorney Bird gave notice of an appeal to the United States supreme court.

In relation to this case, the commissioner of internal revenue says that his office has no disposition to interpose any obstacles to the enforcement of state laws, but that a provision similar to that in the recent Maine law making the payment of an internal revenue tax as liquor dealer prima facie evidence of a violation of state law, has been incorporated in the statutes of several of the states; that the question in issue in Maine has been raised several times in other states, but never settled, and that it is desired to obtain a judicial decision for future guidance in the numerous cases likely to arise.

The following despatch was sent from Ellsworth, Me., on the 15th: Ellsworth citizens called on John B. Redman, collector of internal revenue, this morning, and claimed the right to examine the official records under the provisions of section 3240, which reads: "Each collector of internal revenue shall keep conspicuously in his office for public inspection the names of all persons who shall have paid special taxes within his district." Collector Redman reversed his previous decision, and produced his records for the inspection of the visitors.

THE DOVER FIRE.

The damage by the fire in the Cocheco Print Works is estimated at $180,000 to $200,000; and 600 operatives will be thrown out of work for four or six months. The fire caught in the hot-room back of one of the printing machines, and within thirty minutes the roof and all the floors had fallen into the cellar; the walls remained standing, except a portion of the north wall, which fell after the fire was under control. The building was 250 feet long and seventy-five feet wide, four and one-half stories high, and contained fourteen printing machines, which required 18,000 pieces of cloth, of fifty yards each, per week; of this amount, 14,000 pieces per week were manufactured by the Cocheco Mills, 4000 pieces per week being purchased from other mills. In the old packing room, which was not burned, were 200,000 pieces of Cocheco prints ready for shipment, all which were ruined by water from the sprinklers, the loss from this cause being about $30,000.

Treasurer Howard Stockton of the Cocheco Manufg. Co. arrived in Dover on Saturday, and gave orders to an architect for a much larger building than the one destroyed. The loss of the print works will not interfere with the running of the cotton mills of the company, and work will be provided for as many of the operatives as possible.

Shortly before midnight last Friday night the skating rink at Kennebunkport was discovered to be on fire. The flames quickly took hold of an old stable near by, and then on the house of Mrs. Mary Leach. Only one small hand tub is owned by the town, but that soon emptied every well and cistern in the heart of the village, and was then taken to the wharf, where it was kept working until the fire was under control, which was not until fourteen buildings had been destroyed, including the rink, engine house, the Spring hotel and five dwellings, involving a loss of $15,000, with about $3000 insurance. A steamer from Biddeford and a hand engine from Kennebunk were sent for, but arrived too late to be of material service. The fire was incendiary.

Hon. E. C. Moody of York was in town on Saturday, as was also Vice President Evans of the York Harbor & Beach railroad.

Joshua Haley Tarbox, a prosperous farmer of Lower Biddeford, hung himself in his barn last Friday. Despondency was the cause. He leaves a wife and two children. His age was seventy-eight years.

The announcement is made that Ex-Congressman James F. Briggs of Manchester is a candidate for United States senator from this state.

A NEW LEASE OF LIFE.

When one has been suffering the agonies of a severe attack of rheumatism, neuralgia or sciatica and relief comes, it seems as if a new lease of life had been granted. Such have been the feelings of thousands who, after trying physicians and numberless remedies, have used Athlophoros and found to their great joy that this medicine really did cure these diseases.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

Some twenty-two years ago while in the U. S. Navy, quartered at New Orleans, I like many other sailors, by constant exposure became afflicted with an attack of rheumatism, for which I was treated by the doctors with all sorts of medicines, liniments, etc., but no matter what I did take the relief was for a few moments only, and the pain, that terrible pain, came on me again worse than ever. Why the pain was so sharp and sudden as to almost fell me to the ground as though I had been struck on the head. I continued in this condition for years, one week in every four. I was confined to the house one day hobbling around when a friend who had been cured of rheumatism by Athlophoros asked me why I did not give the medicine a trial. I had taken so much medicine and got no better I felt sure there was nothing to cure rheumatism, but thought again it could do me no harm and so bought a bottle. The very first dose of Athlophoros took hold of me in such a way I knew it would do me good. I continued until two bottles were used, and my rheumatism of so many years standing, that everything failed to touch, was at last gone, and I have never suffered the least mite since. I tell you Athlophoros will do the work every time. I can't say enough for it.

CHAS. O. V. BAGLEY, Grocer,

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, etc., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

KITTERY GRAND ARMY FAIR.

LIST OF THE LUCKY TICKETS.

The fair of Parker Post, No. 99, G. A. R., of Kittery, was held in Trefethen hall at the Foreside on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week, the attendance on each evening being a good deal beyond the comfortable capacity of the hall. On Friday evening the pack was very great, it being almost impossible to wedge one's self sidewise through the throng. The drawing for prizes, some eighty in number and aggregating $245.29 in value, took place Friday evening, the numbers of the lucky tickets, the names of the holders and the articles drawn by each, being as follows:

976, Perry C. Moore, cake basket;

704, W. W. Dixon, oil can;
185, A. W. Nowell, mat;
992, L. Brown, picture;
158, G. S. Hanscom, half-dozen silver forks;
461, Fremont Bond, three cans peaches;
936, John B. Wilson, gent's underwear;
506, J. W. Goodrich, three jars preserves;
638, Carrie Hickey, lady's skirt;
914, W. H. Bunker, fruit dish;
184, Wm. F. Bartlett, celluloid set;

950, J. E. Leavitt, stationery;
129, Thos. H. Abrams, six packages maize.

The above is a full and accurate report of the result of the drawing, by the latest corrected list; and for it we are largely indebted to Jethro H. Swett, the efficient chairman, and Levi A. Goodrich of the committee. The managers of the fair have worked hard, and merited the decided success attained, everything having been done in a fair and honorable manner. We understand that the amount cleared rises $400.

The hall will be open this (Monday) morning at nine o'clock sharp, for the delivery of the presents. SUE ROSA.

SUPREME COURT--APRIL TERM.

FRIDAY, April 15th.

The grand jury reported fifty-three indictments, and were discharged. The list is as follows:

George Laskey, assaulting officer.
George Hunt, tramp, plea not guilty.
John Sullivan, tramp, plea not guilty.
Patrick Blute, murder.
Daniel Crowley, murder.
John Henright, tramp, plea not guilty.

Gus E. Mitchell, keeping cider for sale.
William Hunter, liquor indictment.
William Borrett, liquor indictment.
George Tuttle and Charles Tuttle, breaking and entering.

Of the above, Patrick Blute and Daniel Crowley, indicted for murder; John Blute, breaking and entering, two indictments; Jeremiah Murphy, Jr., alias "Wildy" Murphy, aggravated assault; William Coombs, disorderly house, and Letitia J. Coombs, perjury; and a dozen others charged with being thieves or tramps, or with having committed assaults, are from this city.

In Reed vs. Dalton, action to recover for damages to two horses and carriages, the jury found for the defendant. Fuller for plff.; Page for deft.

The suit against the sureties on the bond of the late Col. B. W. Hoyt was settled without a trial, the sureties paying about $3000.

"THE SINNER'S RIGHT."

"The sinner's right to worship" was the subject in the Pleasant street church yesterday, the text being Luke 20: 26; "Render unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

A great truth, fully expressed, trespasses upon some other truth. The war cries of a party, the shibboleths of a campaign, the proverbs shouted during a reform, all may be true, all may be demanded by the necessary radical spirit, yet they make inroads upon opposing realities; and sometimes these injured truths are as great as those which excite the people. Our good advice can be followed to destruction, especially by those who possess a dogged undiscrimination. But our good advice is eternal, the injury is temporal.

The great Protestant reform in the church has led to a demand of morals for religion. This is a truth that needs a saving clause, for it has not only led to a vain demand for perfection, but to the vainer demand that "your perfection must be just like mine." Thus people who feel that they are sinful are shut out from the worship of God. Now if this idea were held consistently, the inside of our churches would never see a human face again. We are pretty much alike in the eyes of God, for he gives to the refined soul compensatory feelings of life and being, and it feels not the deep need of love that a sinner does. No such soul will question the right of anyone to worship. Is it hypocritical to love God and love to hear about good things? Why should not the vilest wretch fall in adoration before the Father of all?

Who are we, that pass them over to Cæsar and offer ourselves to God? Why should not they give out of their souls that which God put there and which belongs to him? Let every man, good and bad, render unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's, and unto God the things that are God's.

MARGARET MATHER.

The Margaret Mather combination had a very refined but not very numerous audience at Music hall on Saturday evening, when "The Honeymoon" was presented in better form than it had been seen here before for years. Miss Mather was more attractive than ever, and her support was excellent all through; but Portsmouth theatre-goers will not as a rule pay a dollar for a seat.

Do not forget the temperance lecture at the North church this evening by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, one of the most pleasing speakers on the lecture platform of to-day. Admission free; collection to help defray expenses.

Tickets for the concert complimentary to Miss Mary McCarthy, at Music hall to-morrow evening, are now on sale at Goodrich's. The list of talent advertised warrants the confident expectation of a musical treat of a high order, besides which Miss McCarthy merits a full house on her own account, her services having always been at the command of any good cause.

The glass ball shoot of the Newmarket Gun club, on the afternoon of Fast day, was participated in by only six contestants; a considerable number of spectators were in attendance.

The Newmarket Advertiser of April 16th says: "The annual inspection of Winfield Camp, Sons of Veterans, will take place next Wednesday evening in their hall, Lieut. Col. Michael Crowley of Portsmouth, inspector. At the close of the inspection a baked bean supper will be served in the hall.

For the past five months extensive and thorough repairs, improvements and alterations have been made on each of the steamers belonging to the Boston & Hingham Steamboat company, under the personal direction of Superintendent Elbridge G. Peirce, our former genial and efficient postmaster, whose management of the company's business last season was so satisfactory that he was given carte blanche by the directors as to what should be done after the season closed, and as a result the boats will be in readiness for summer travel in better condition in every respect than in any past year.

Ezra H. Winchester, Esq., and wife, arrived home from San Francisco on Friday afternoon of last week.

The annual meeting of the parish of Christ church was held last week, and officers as follows elected to serve for the ensuing year: Wardens, John H. Slater, Edwin B. Prime; vestrymen, Frank J. Philbrick, William Bates; clerk, John H. Knox; treasurer, Edwin B. Prime.

The Easter Sunday music was repeated at St. John's church last Sunday forenoon, by the double quartette and the choir chapter chorus. Many members of the Unitarian society were desirous of having the highly enjoyable Easter music given in that church repeated also, but owing to the large amount of preliminary trouble it would involve, it was not done.

Dr. F. E. Potter announces his readiness to be one of ten gentlemen to make up an additional $1000 for the soldiers' monument fund—$100 each. Dr. Potter starts this (Monday) morning for Kansas, to be absent three weeks.

The Daly Brothers will appear in Music hall on Saturday evening, in "Vacation."

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when is the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.
"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.
"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.
Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."
"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.
Purifies the Blood
"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.
"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.
"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.
"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

THIS PAPER is on file in Philadelphia at the Newspaper Advertising Agency of Messrs. N. W. AYER & SON, our authorized agents.

"The Romance of a Letter," now in the press of D. Lothrop company, is a story partly located in Boston which introduces many familiar features. The plot is original and ingenious. The heroine, in her determination to fulfill the promise made a dead friend, meets with unexpected difficulties, but bravely accomplishes her purpose. The snowbound train in the far west is a piece of realistic drawing; and the night at Mt. Washington will bring pleasant recollections to many mountain visitors. Readers will be divided as to the attractions of the two lovers, so strongly contrasted; but the denouement is satisfactory.

"Scythe and Sword" is a dainty little volume by O. C. Auringer, a rising poet, whose contributions to the leading periodicals have given much pleasure to the general reader, and been highly commended by such literary judges as E. C. Stedman, R. W. Gilder, and Edward Eggleston.

"Can't eat a thing." Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, regulating digestion, and giving strength.

Thomas Hallahan, a flagman, was instantly killed one day last week while trying to save a team from being struck by a freight train at a crossing of the Cheshire railroad in Bellows Falls, Vt. The driver of the team escaped, but his wagon was demolished. The train was derailed, and the bridge over the Connecticut river badly injured.

Kentucky Rye,

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1860, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE HARPER.

MARITIME NOTES.

The brick schooners Triton, Hattie Lewis and Lillie arrived at Boston on the 15th inst. from this port.

The schooner Cora C. Meader arrived at Boothbay on the 15th inst. from this port, having carried away her fore-topmast on the passage around.

The boiler for the new engine at the hotel Wentworth was taken from this city to Newcastle on a gondola last Saturday, its weight, seven tons, being greater than was considered safe to transport across either of the bridges on wheels.

Among the charters reported last week were the schooner John Bracewell, with 300 tons coal at $1.10, flat, and a schooner from Perth Amboy for this port with 450 tons coal at $1 per ton, and discharged.

The schooner Mary Willey, Capt. Williams, will sail on Tuesday for Boston, to take on a load of grain for Thaxter of Portland, thence taking corn to Bangor, and there loading with lumber for this port.

About four hundred feet of the new extension of the Concord railroad wharf is now nearly ready for the planking. The wharf when completed will extend from 75 to 100 feet farther yet toward the center of the river, the piling for which has not yet been driven. When this extension has been finished and fitted for the discharge of coal there will be no superior wharf privilege owned by a single railroad along the New England coast. It will be supplied with the best hoisting apparatus to be had and with these facilities the Concord will be able to handle coal with great rapidity and in a comparatively easy manner. Mr. Daniel Littlefield the contractor who is building the wharf, is prosecuting the work with a gang of 25 men and to-day is rebuilding a portion of the original wharf built many years ago and finds many of the old timbers as sound as when first put in. These old sticks are much larger than those now used, but the new work is considered stronger because a greater number of sticks are now used and are more carefully put together. The old was built so low that it was flooded about once each month, and in this manner the spiles and cap-sills have been kept solid and sound.—Times.

Elvin Newton & Son on Saturday gave $20 toward the soldiers' monument fund, and indicated their willingness to give more if needed to make the monument an assured success.

Real Estate.

Valuable Investment. You may buy and sell real estate but if you suffer from backache, kidney affections, rheumatism, crick, severe pains, sore chest, sciatica, sore joints and muscles, or pain in any part, you cannot enjoy happiness. Hop Plasters are prepared from burgundy pitch, canada balsam and fresh hops. Apply one directly over pain and get instant relief. 25 cts.

The czar's family have abandoned the proposed journey to the Crimea owing to grave reports received from the interior. Two hundred and sixty political arrests have been made at Odessa. Five persons were surprised in a cellar there while engaged in filling bombs.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

"I was a terrible sufferer with Salt Rheum for years, and despaired of a cure. Dr. Benedict's Favorite Remedy cured me.—Chas. Owen, Ironville, N. Y. I acknowledge Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy to be a great blessing to me for a cough, which was the only cure.—J. M. Allen, Charlotte, N. Y. Send 2-cent stamp to Dr. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y., for a book on Kidney, Liver and Blood disorders. Mention this paper.

A correspondent asks: "Where can we send to get Peck's Patent Ear Drums, an invention for enabling people to hear who are deaf, slightly or otherwise?" Write to F. Hiscox, 853 Broadway, N. Y., stating cause and particulars of your deafness and he will give you all the points desired. Read the following from the Medical Record: "A lecturer in one of our hospitals, while illustrating progress in medical science, introduced a deaf patient whose case baffled all medical skill and was considered hopeless. But an invention belonging to F Hiscox, New York, having been recommended it was used with very satisfactory results, as it fully restored the hearing. It was re-tried in other cases and found to be more successful than any known device for the relief of deafness, as hearing lost for many years was fully restored by it. This invention is all the more satisfactory as it is out of sight and does not require to be held in position. And while it can be readily removed or inserted by the patients themselves it is without a curative in action and comfortable to wear."

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Says the Providence Journal: "Mr. Whitney has made an efficient head of the navy, despite his constant and laborious and generally futile endeavors to turn his high office to party advantage by extolling his own virtues and belittling the work of his predecessors. His treatment of the Atlanta, like that of the Dolphin, certainly lacks ingenuousness. Either that cruiser is or is not worthily built, and fitted to perform the work for which she was designed. If she is, his acceptance of her involves no magnanimity; if she is not, his gracious condescension does the nation a wrong. In any event, Mr. Whitney harms himself and his office by letting it go forth from his friends that these cruisers are poor affairs beside the splendid vessels which he is to build."

What a Well-Known Restaurant Keeper Says.

432 Broadway, New York, March 12, 1885.—Some weeks ago I took a severe cold, which settled on my lungs. I suffered great pain, considerable fever, and, worst of all, found myself with a racking cough. In the evening I went to my box of Allcock's Porous Plasters, intending to use them on my throat, chest and back. Unfortunately my wife had given all the plasters away, and the consequence was that I spent a sleepless night. The next day I applied an Allcock's Porous Plaster to my throat, one to my chest, and one between my shoulder blades. By twelve o'clock my breathing was much easier, cough almost stopped, while a gentle perspiration indicated that the fever was almost gone. In two days I was entirely cured. J. L. JONES.

Camille Reid, a well-known resident of Exeter, seriously assaulted his wife on the night of April 15th, and then threw her out on the sidewalk, greatly injuring her. Neighbors called the police, whom he resisted, striking one officer on the head with a stick, and drawing a pistol; but he was arrested, and on the 16th was committed to jail in default of bail for assaulting an officer, his wife not appearing against him. Reid is a German, and his wife is daughter of Orrin Head; they have several children, and have been highly respected. Jealously, which the lady's friends claim to be wholly unfounded, was the cause of the assault.

KIDDER'S DIGESTYLIN

— FOR —

INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA.

A POTENT REMEDY FOR

Indigestion, Acute and Atonic Dyspepsia, Chronic and Gastro-Intestinal Catarrh, Vomiting in Pregnancy, Cholera Infantum, and in convalescence from Acute Diseases.

Over 5,000 physicians have sent to us the most flattering opinions upon Digestylin as a remedy for all diseases arising from improper diet-tion.

For 20 years we have manufactured the Digestive Ferments expressly for PHYSICIANS' use, and for the past year DIGESTYLIN has been by them extensively prescribed, and to-day it stands without a rival as a digestive agent. It is not a secret remedy but a scientific preparation, the formula of which is plainly printed on each bottle. Its great DIGESTIVE POWER is created by a careful and proper treatment of the ferments in manufacture. It is very agreeable to the taste, and acceptable to the most delicate stomach. For the reliability of our statements we would respectfully refer to all Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and PHYSICIANS generally. Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists, or

I was affected with kidney and urinary Trouble—
"For twelve years!"
After trying all the doctors and patent medicines I could hear of, I used two bottles of Hop Bitters;"
And I am perfectly cured. I keep it
"All the time!"
Respectfully, B. F. BOOTH, Saulsbury, Tenn. May 4, 1885.

BRADFORD, PA., May 8, 1885.

It has cured me of several diseases, such as nervousness, sickness at the stomach, monthly troubles, etc. I have not seen a sick day in years, since I took Hop Bitters. All my neighbors use them. MRS. FANNIE GREEN.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 15, 1885.

I have been very sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the root part. The lungs and heart would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I should never die in peace till I had tried Hop Bitters. When I had taken two bottles they helped me very much indeed. When I had taken two more bottles I was well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they cured me, and they used them and were cured and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.
Yours truly, MRS. JULIA G. CUSHING.

Baby Saved.

"Luddington, Mich., Feb. 2, 1885. I have sold Hop Bitters for ten years, and there" is no medicine that equals them for bilious attacks, kidney complaints, and all diseases incident to this malaria climate. H. T. ALEXANDER.

"Monroe, Mich., Sept. 2'th, 1885. SIRS—I have been taking Hop Bitters for inflammation of the kidneys and bladder. It has done me much better than physicians failed to do—cured me. The effect of the Bitters seemed like magic to me. W. L. CARTER.

GENTS:—Your Hop Bitters have been of great value to me. I was laid up with typhoid fever for over two months, and could get no relief until I tried your Hop Bitters. To those suffering from debility, or any one in feeble health, I cordially recommend them. J. C. STOETZEL.

Tolerance Among the Turks.

Yet the Turks—if they are not high officials and have not lived in Paris, from which they take home its vices only—the Turks, I say, are neither malicious, nor jealous, nor disloyal. They are not intolerant, even, at least if no outside cause comes to wound their pride, which is all the more touchy as it has no justification. But the Turks are haughty—very unconscious of it, however—and are ignorant to a degree that they do not even suspect. Their fanaticism is never fired by the sight of an alien creed, by public processions, by Christian festivals; as far as they are concerned, all this has no existence. They pass to one side; they see it, but do not look at it. Their fanaticism, which in reality asks for nothing more than to be allowed to slumber as they do themselves, is awakened only by a wound to the Mussulmanic pride, by a palpable and visible insult given to their beliefs.

Christian priests can traverse streets with their insignia and their sacerdotal costumes, preceded and followed by their devotees, carrying banners, wax candles and crosses, and singing with all their might. The Turks would not get angry at this any more than they would at a procession of children with their dolls. They even praise their musicians and their drums at the funerals of bishops and the processions of Corpus Christi, and nothing is more curious than the sight of Turkish soldiers, in full uniform, following with the most profound respect the crucifix and the holy sacrament.

But let a Christian take it into his head to enter one of their mosques without their authority and without submitting to all the ceremonial of Mussulmanic humility, and they will drive him out in a brutal manner. This is not intolerance; it is obedience to the principle that every man is master of his own house; and we may be certain that when the so-called Turkish fanaticism has inflicted severe punishment upon European scoffers, or upon persons that are too inquisitive, it is not always the Turk that began the quarrel between the disciple of Christ and the follower of Mohammed.—M. Emile Jullard in The Cosmopolitan.

Seven Bibles of the World.

The seven Bibles of the world are the Koran of the Mahommedans, the Eddas of the Scandinavians, the Try Pitikes of the Buddhists, the Five Kings of the Chinese, the three Vedas of the Hindoos, the Zendavesta, and the Scriptures of the Christians. The Koran is not older than the seventh century of our era. The Eddas of the Scandinavians were published in the eleventh century, and are the most recent of these seven Bibles. The Pitikes of the Buddhists contain sublime morals and pure aspirations; their author lived and died in the seventh century before Christ. The sacred writings of the Chinese are called the Five Kings, "king" meaning web of cloth or the warp that keeps the threads in their place. They contain the best sayings of the best sages on the ethico-political duties of life. These sayings cannot be traced to a period higher than the eleventh century B. C. The three Vedas are the most ancient books of the Hindoos, and it is the opinion of Max Muller, Wilson, Johnson and Whitney that they are not older than eleven centuries B. C. The Zendavesta of the Persians is the grandest of all the sacred books next to our Bible. Zoroaster, whose sayings it contains, was born in the twelfth century B. C.—Boston Herald.

The Brahmin's Poetic Language.

The Tamil Brahmins have a peculiarly poetic language, and though their ideas are not always poetical, yet they are generally picturesque. The insect kingdom is the human world in disguise, and accordingly they call the bee a Brahmin from its selfish exclusiveness and its dislike to insects other than bees; the wasp is the vidgar, or priest; the grasshopper and locust, soldiers, from their destructive qualities; a large insect, being a species of glow worm, a cowherd or milkman; the mosquito and the flea, household servants; the bug, a doctor; the butterfly, a Brahmin woman, and the horsefly, a dog. And, in conclusion, should any of my readers ever desire the speedy departure of a Brahmin from his house, I have but to say let him call into the room a dog—for to a pure Brahmin a dog or a fowl is as much an abhorrence as is a hog to an orthodox Hebrew or to faithful followers of Mohammed.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Law Loving Negroes.

The negro likes to sue and be sued—indeed, they seem to have a sort of an idea that it elevates them in the eyes of their neighbors to "git the law" on one another. A walk about the numerous magistrate offices any day will reveal a half a dozen or so coons sitting round waiting for their cases to be called. Oftentimes there is absolutely nothing in these cases, but too often the magistrate and his satellite who serves the warrant manage to get their few dollars of costs one way or another. Of course the better class of justices do not encourage the negroes in their lawsuits, but there are men who will hear every one and render such a decision as will cover the costs every time.—Memphis Avalanche.

"Robins" for the Children.

The readers of "Home Words" publications have contributed over £900 to the Robin fund this year. The fund was instituted some years ago by the editor of "Home Words," the design being to give a Christmas "robin dinner" and a "happy evening" to the children of London. Dinners have been given in nearly all the poor parishes of the metropolis to about 30,000 "robins." The movement has also spread to the provinces. In Norwich about 7,000 robins were entertained, and in Nottingham, Grantham, Rye, Portsmouth and other towns dinners have been given.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A FATAL DELUSION.

The Fancied Security and Appalling Perils of People Revealed.

The eminent scientist and author, Dr. Joseph F. Edwards, of Philadelphia, relates the following wonderful experiences:

"During my term as resident physician in the medical wards of the Philadelphia Hospital, it was a common occurrence for an ambulance call to be received from one of the down town station houses. Upon reaching the place designed, we would be shown a man or woman who has been found unconscious on the street and supposed to be intoxicated. He would be removed to the hospital, where he would linger unconscious for 24 or 36 hours and then die. In the majority of these cases a post mortem examination would reveal a most horrible state of affairs which I will explain hereafter."

AN AMBULANCE CALL.

"A lady in apparently good health, who rarely complained, and then only occasionally, of some slight and transient ill feeling, as nearly every one does at some time or other, took a long walk with her husband, and, upon returning home (feeling particularly well) went to her room to remove her bonnet, and, while standing in front of the mirror, fell to the floor in a convulsion, followed by twenty-four hours of unconsciousness and death without a return to consciousness. A post mortem examination revealed the true cause in a most horrible form."

"A young married man for years suffered from dyspepsia, for which he consulted many physicians. After suffering in this way, and having no other symptoms of disease, he awoke one morning to find a very slight swelling, scarcely more than a puffiness under one eye. In less than a month he was dead."

Now, the real and terrible cause of all these deaths was Bright's disease of the kidneys, and, they might all have been avoided, had the unfortunate victims known what a horrible malady was fastened upon them. But Bright's disease has no symptoms of its own. It steals into the system like a thief, and deceives its victim by showing the symptoms of nearly every other disease.

But what can be done?
Take it in time.

If you feel unaccountably tired; if you have peculiar passing pains; if your appetite is uncertain; if your head aches occasionally; if your sleep is irregular; if the fluids passed are profuse or scanty, do not delay, but use the best known means for escaping agony and death before it is too late. For this purpose there is a remedy and the only one that has ever proven absolutely certain. Hunt's Remedy has never been equalled and it is the only absolute one known to the medical profession. There are thousands of men and women to-day who enjoy perfect health who would be in their graves had it not been for this wonderful remedy, and there are thousands of others who require it without an hour's delay. This is no idle statement, but truth drawn from cases which are beyond

Idiotic Strikes.

The 200 furnace men in the employ of the Union Steel company of Chicago went on a strike April 15th, and the company is preparing for a strike of its remaining 1800 men. A day of two ago a Knight of Labor who assailed a non-union Pole was discharged by the company. His reinstatement was demanded, and being refused, the strike of all the furnace hands followed, and threatens to spread to the other departments.

A despatch of April 17th from Pittsburg, Pa., says: "It is reported that the employees of the Pan-Handle railroad have decided to make a decisive move to force the railroad into some kind of a compromise. It is proposed to demand a guarantee that no further arrests shall be made of the thievicy freight train men, and that those under arrest shall not be kept in jail all summer, but tried immediately. If the demands are not complied with, a strike will be ordered and all trains side-tracked."

Such idiotic strikes as these, in aid of ruffians and thieves, are not only no advantage to laboring men, but tend greatly to bring all labor unions into disrepute with all decent people.

The governor and council have appointed Saturday, April 30th, as Arbor day.

John D. McCarthy of Boston, formerly of this city and a graduate of the Portsmouth high school, was last week appointed to a clerkship in the Boston custom house at a salary of $1200, taking the place of Charles C. Whittemore of Salem, Mass., formerly of this city, removed. Mr. Whittemore had been in the custom house seventeen years.

Hon. F. Jones is putting in a spur track at the southerly end of his brewery buildings, for convenience in landing materials to be used in constructing the new brewery this spring.

The bill now before the Massachusetts legislature to authorize the Boston & Maine railroad to purchase the Eastern, further authorizes the purchase of other roads, but not until after the purchase of the Eastern. The roads mentioned are as follows: The Danvers railroad, the Dover & Winnipiseogee, the Kennebunk & Kennebunkport, the Lowell & Andover, the Newburyport, the West Amesbury Branch, the Worcester, Nashua & Rochester, the Orchard Beach, the Chelsea Beach, the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, the Newburyport City railroad, the Portsmouth & Dover, the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway, the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth, the Wolfeboro', the South Reading Branch, and the Portland & Rochester.

A second telephone line has been put up between this city and Dover, the work being completed last Friday.

The big engine of 800 horse-power, which ran most of the machinery in the print works at Dover, and was supposed to have been ruined by the fire which destroyed the building, escaped with very slight injury. There were three other engines of 100 horse-power each in the cellar with the big one, but their condition is not reported. The rapid spread of the flames is explained by the fact that an elevator well extended from the hot room on the lower floor, where the fire caught, to the fourth story, having communication with the second and third stories.

Almon Gray, a stone cutter aged thirty years, having a wife and two children, recently eloped with Alice E. Cheney, a pretty young girl of seventeen, from South Berwick. They went to West Concord, N. H., and took up their residence in a boarding house as husband and wife. The girl's parents traced her there, and after she had refused to return they swore out a warrant, charging the couple with adultery. With the alternative of prosecution on this charge before her the foolish girl finally relented, and returned home with her parents. Gray was not molested.

Three hoodlums who disturbed a Salvation Army meeting in Biddeford, and next day left town to escape the consequences, having been arrested in Boston and taken back were arraigned before Judge Hamilton, and each received a fine of $1.00 and costs.

C. B. Hildreth of Manchester has leased the Thompson house at York beach.

In accordance with the petition of Edward C. Moody, Frank P. Emerson and Jeremiah McIntire, the selectmen of York last week gave notice that it is their intention to meet, view and lay out a highway from a point on the road leading from York village to Long beach, near the house of Mrs. C. O. Emerson, to the proposed station of the York Harbor & Beach railroad, thence along the line of said road to a point in the road leading from York village to the harbor near the "overhead" bridge. The proposition meets with general approval, as a means of access to the railroad station will thereby be afforded without driving parallel with the track. The selectmen notified all parties interested to meet at the town hall on Wednesday, the 20th inst.

Joshua Littlefield of Sanford died on Wednesday night, April 6th, at the home of his daughter in Winthrop, from the effects of a paralytic shock. Mr. Littlefield followed the sea during eighteen years of his early life, and fifty-five years ago was first mate of a merchantman plying between American ports and the West Indies. During the rebellion he served as captain of a military company. He was born in Kennebunk, April 6th, 1810, and was seventy-seven years of age on the day of his death. He was one of Sanford's oldest and most highly esteemed citizens, having resided there upward of sixty years.

The Unitarian society of Saco, Me., gave a supper at their vestry on Wednesday evening of last week, in celebration of the completion of the 44th year of the pastorate of Rev. J. T. G. Nichols over their society. Five ladies were present who were members of the society when Mr. Nichols was installed as pastor.

The city records of Saco show that on June 26th, 1852, Florimond L. Howe and Miss Sarah E. Chase, both of that place, were married by Rev. G. G. Strickland, then pastor of the Universalist church there. The lady who on that date became Mrs. Howe was the same one who in recent years has achieved notoriety, wealth and a term in prison, as manager of the "Woman's bank" of Boston. There will be an auction sale of the furniture and fixtures of Mrs. Howe's late "banking establishment" at her residence on Concord street, Boston, on Thursday, April 21st. It is thought she got away with at least $50,000, and the depositors in her bank may get a dividend of one-tenth per cent, if they are lucky.

A NEW LEASE OF LIFE.

When one has been suffering the agonies of a severe attack of rheumatism, neuralgia or sciatica and relief comes, it seems as if a new lease of life had been granted. Such have been the feelings of thousands who, after trying physicians and numberless remedies, have used Athlophoros and found to their great joy that this medicine really did cure these diseases.

Great Falls, N. H., March 25, 1886.

Some twenty-two years ago while in the U. S. Navy, quartered at New Orleans, I like many other sailors, by constant exposure became afflicted with an attack of rheumatism, for which I was treated by the doctors with all sorts of medicines, liniments, etc., but no matter what I did take the relief was for a few moments only, and the pain, that terrible pain, came on me again worse than ever. Why the pain was so sharp and sudden as to almost fell me to the ground as though I had been struck on the head. I continued in this condition for years, one week in every four. I was confined to the house one day hobbling around when a friend who had been cured of rheumatism by Athlophoros asked me why I did not give the medicine a trial. I had taken so much medicine and got no better I felt sure there was nothing to cure rheumatism, but thought again it could do me no harm and so bought a bottle. The very first dose of Athlophoros took hold of me in such a way I knew it would do me good. I continued until two bottles were used, and my rheumatism of so many years standing, that everything failed to touch, was at last gone, and I have never suffered the least mite since. I tell you Athlophoros will do the work every time. I can't say enough for it.

CHAS. O. V. BAGLEY, Grocer.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 25c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney disease, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, etc., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

THE CONCERT TO-NIGHT.

This evening, at Music hall, the concert complimentary to Miss Mary McCarthy will be given, and the following talent will aid the beneficiary in giving an entertainment worthy the patronage of all lovers of music: Soloists—Miss Fannie P. Hoyt, violin Mr. E. C. Seymour, clarionet, Mr. Thomas Guinan of Boston, tenor, Mr. John A. Cassidy, bass; also the choral club chorus of forty voices, and the Music hall orchestra. The admission fees are reasonable, reserved seats being but fifty cents each; and aside from the musical treat which will unquestionably be afforded, Miss McCarthy's liberality in giving her services on occasions of public interest should be recognized with a full house.

NOT A PLEASURE TRIP.

Fifteen prisoners who have been in the jail in this city awaiting the action of the grand jury at Exeter, and were indicted last week, were taken to Exeter in a four-horse barge on Monday morning. John Blute, indicted for breaking and entering, and his brother Patrick Blute, indicted for murder, were among the number. Daniel Crowley, indicted for murder, was left in the jail, his case not being on for Monday.

SUPREME COURT--APRIL TERM.

MONDAY, April 18th.

Patrick Blute, indicted for murder in the first degree, pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree, and was sentenced to twenty years in state prison at hard labor.

Thomas Williamson, larcency, plea guilty; eighteen months in state prison.

Four tramps pleaded guilty, and were sent to state prison for fifteen months each.

Three boys were sent to the industrial school for a term of years.

John Blute, charged with breaking and entering, pleaded not guilty, and was put on trial, the jury finding him not guilty of breaking into the store of John P. Sweetser.

The trial of Daniel Crowley, for murder, was set down for Tuesday.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In common council, Monday evening, April 18th, President Crowley in the chair:

Absent Messrs. Casey, Frazer, Frisbee, Young, and Mahoney.

The appropriation bill was referred to the committee on bills on their second reading.

Bill increasing the pay of the police force was referred to the same committee.

The joint resolution authorizing the sale of the city farm was laid on the table.

Adjourned.

ODD FELLOWS' CELEBRATION.

The sixty-eighth anniversary of Odd Fellowship will be observed by Osgood Lodge, No. 48, of this city, by an entertainment and banquet at Odd Fellows' hall on Thursday evening, April 21st. The exercises will consist of an address of welcome by the noble grand, selections by the orchestra, and a musical entertainment by the Arion quartette and other talent, preceding the banquet; after which the Osgood Dramatic Co. will render a new and pleasing comedietta entitled "Atchi"——sounds a good deal like a sneeze, that name does——with the following cast: Lord Adonis Fickleton, Mr. Charles Garvin; Sir Martin Mayduke, Mr. Charles E. Hatch; Larkins, valet to Lord Adonis, Mr. Edward E. Green; Lady Mayduke, Mrs. G. H. Jenness; Emily Hargrave, Miss Ida Tilton. Members of the lodge are requested to send cake and pastry to the hall on Thursday afternoon, for the banquet.

BUSINESS CHANGE.

Mr. Charles L. Damrell, formerly of this city, has entered into partnership with his former co-partner, Mr. Henry M. Upham, and purchased the interest of Mr. J. G. Cupples in the late firm of Cupples, Upham & Co., now succeeded by Damrell & Upham. It is pleasant to know that a Portsmouth man is still located in the old corner bookstore, where for so many years the late James T. Fields, the poet-publisher, welcomed a brilliant coterie of authors and poets, and made celebrated the old corner which in these days of modern Boston seems about all that remains to remind the veteran visitor of his early days at the hub.

THE REMOVAL OF ASHES.

Official notice is given by the mayor that hereafter the city carts will collect rubbish put out by the citizens on Tuesdays and Fridays, instead of on Wednesdays and Saturdays as heretofore. The reason for the change is that sometimes the weather or other cause has made it impossible for the teams to remove the boxes and barrels of ashes and other waste matter placed on the streets and sidewalks on Saturday, and in consequence they have encumbered the highways and added nothing to their beauty over Sunday.

CORRECT TO A CENT.

The experts detailed by the treasury department to examine the accounts of Martin Parry Kennard, the outgoing assistant United States treasurer at Boston, have found the sum on hand as stated by the books of the treasurer, namely, $15,-300,717,92, right as a trivet. Every copper was on hand as stated, and the sum was turned over to Mr. Kennard's successor on Saturday last. We are glad to chronicle the result of the long service of a worthy native of Portsmouth, who has filled so acceptably this responsible position of assistant treasurer, and who has been fortunate enough to emerge from his office, with honest subordinates enabling him to perfect a record as a public funtionary of which any man might be justly proud.

MARITIME NOTES.

The British schooner Alice S., Kerrigan, from St. John, N. B., for Boston with spruce plank, in Portsmouth lower harbor 18th, reports that on the night of the 13th in a heavy blow the main sheet parted, which caused the breaking of the main-boom and tearing of the mainsail; also had davit broken, and boat stove. Being unable to reach her destination she came into the lower harbor, and will have to repair before proceeding.

Coal freights at the close of last week for this port were reported—from Baltimore $1.25, from Philadelphia $1.15; to Newburyport from Philadelphia $1.20.

The southern mackerel fleet have done nothing at all as yet this season. There are about eighty vessels engaged in the business this year, and on Friday of last week fifty of them were anchored inside of Delaware breakwater. The weather for the past month has been very unfavorable, and the total catch reported up to April 16th was one mackerel, taken by the schooner Solitaire of Portland; there will not be much of a dividend from this catch, as the crew of the Solitaire ate their solitary fish. The United States fish commission schooner Grampus caught a few mackerel in the latitude of Smith's island; and some of the fishing schooners saw a few schools of fish about 100 miles east-southeast of the Delaware coast, but could not get any, and were not certain they were mackerel. The prospect of the mackerel fleet this season is regarded as very poor.

The pink-eye is very prevalent in this city at present, both among children and adults.

The city rooms being occupied by the common council last evening, the regular monthly meeting of the Teachers' Association was postponed without date.

Winter is becoming altogether too familiar with spring; she should give him the mitten.

At auction in Boston on the 16th inst. Portsmouth city sixes of 1893 sold at 110 1-2 and Dover sixes of the same date brought the same price.

The notes of a disappointed robin singing from a high elm "Oh! carry me back to Ole Virginny," commingled with the deep bass notes of the Whale's-back foghorn, while the weary traveller on Monday toward sunset wended his way home amid the flakes of the soft falling snow, did not impress him to any extent that there was much in it which wore "the gentle name of spring."

The sub-committee of citizens and soldiers appointed to make a personal canvass of the city in aid of the monument fund, had a meeting in the aldermen's room on Monday evening, and the reports of the members were that the outlook was very encouraging, $350 having been collected, and as much more promised, since the previous meeting. Adjournment was taken to Friday evening.

We cannot afford to have any more snow storms this spring; broke our snow shovel the Sunday before Easter, and kindled fire with it one morning last week.

Notwithstanding the very unseasonable snowstorm on Monday evening there was a fair audience in the North church to hear an earnest and eloquent temperance address delivered by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, than whom there is no more graceful, forcible and pleasing speaker on the modern lecture platform.

Rev. J. D. Waldron on Sunday morning tendered his resignation as pastor of the Pearl street church, but signified his intention to remain until the society had secured a suitable supply for the pulpit.

A line of Jersey Waists at $1.00 have just been recived by Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market street.

Those wool worsted suitings in plain and mixed colorings, are the very best. No. 6 Market street. J. W. Moses.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, April 16th, 1887.

WHEREAS on account of storms and for other reasons, it has sometimes been impossible for the city teams on Saturdays to remove the ashes and refuse placed upon the streets and sidewalks in boxes and barrels for removal, and in consequence such boxes and barrels have incumbered the streets on Sunday.

Therefore notice is given that the days for removing such ashes and refuse are changed to Tuesdays and Fridays, and from and after this date the city teams will remove the same on the last named days. M. ELDREDGE, Mayor.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

The two noted roughs, John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain, are likely to fight for a diamond belt, the championship of the world and $5000 a side, if Sullivan will consent to meet Kilrain. The latter's backer has given a challenge, and put up $1000 as forfeit.

South Lawrence, Mass., is considerably stirred up over the elopement of Laura Hunter, wife of Lorenzo Hunter, with one Edward Hackett. Laura is a prepossessing brunette, twenty-three years old, with whom Hackett became acquainted a year ago. Hunter is after them, but has obtained no trace of them as yet. Hackett is a young man twenty-six years of age, with considerable means left him by a relative.

THE BEST IN THE WORLD

President Lincoln's Body.

On the night of November 7th, 1876, two Chicago thieves made an unsuccessful attempt to steal the body of President Lincoln from its resting place in the monument at Springfield, Ill. The marble sarcophagus in which it was enclosed and which was exposed to the view of visitors through the iron grating on the north side of the monument, was forced open, and the coffin was taken out, but at this point the robbers were interfered with by persons secreted in the monument, who had received information that the robbery was to be attempted.

Since that time the public mind has been in a state of uncertainty as to the real resting place of the martyr's body, a report having gone out that it was not returned to the sarcophagus after the attempted robbery. All the mystery that has been attached to the matter is now cleared away. It appears that the body was replaced in the sarcophagus and remained there for about a week. The members of the Lincoln Monument association, however, felt that it was insecure, and it was subsequently removed to a place of greater safety.

Finally the Lincoln Guard of Honor, composed of some of the best known and most highly respected citizens of Springfield, was organized, and one of the duties of this association has been to sacredly guard the body of the dead president. During the month of November, 1878, the members of the guard with their own hands prepared a vault beneath the monument for the body. An excavation was made in the earth about thirty feet south of the sarcophagus, and the body was safely deposited therein and the mouth of the excavation closed. Two days after the funeral of Mrs. Lincoln, in July, 1882, her body was taken by the guards and laid beside that of her husband. The members bound themselves by the solemnity of an oath not to reveal what had been done until the proper time, which last week arrived.

The new receptacle is in the earth near where the sarcophagus has so long stood. It has on the bottom twelve inches of cement, and has double walls of brick. The entrance to it is cemented over, and this in time will become as solid as rock. After the work had been completed the bodies were formally turned over by the guard of honor to the monument association, and accepted by the latter. Before being formally entombed the coffin of the great president was opened, and the body, which was in a remarkable state of preservation as regarded the features, fully identified by persons who had known Lincoln during life. The tomb will be guarded day and night by armed men until the cement has become like rock.

The Portsmouth Times takes exceptions to the remark of the Journal that the republicans of Chicago overthrew the corrupt Carter Harrison democracy of seven years' standing, and brought down the vulture of anarchy. We suppose the Times will not deny that the republican organization was the only one that had the moral courage to stand up against the anarchists. The fact that the democracy were so demoralized that they could not unite upon a candidate for mayor, was proof of their inability to stay the tide of lawlessness which threatened to overwhelm the city. The Carter Harrison democracy went with the anarchists; of the better element of the party, fairly driven at bay by their leaders, a few thousand voted the republican ticket in pure self defence, while the majority refused to vote at all. They loved not the republicans more but Carter Harrison less. It is almost incrdible that any democrat outside of Chicago should have tears to shed over the downfall of Harrison and his corrupt followers.—Biddeford Journal.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

A correspondent asks: "Where can we send to get Peck's Patent Ear Drums, an invention for enabling people to hear who are deaf, slightly or otherwise?" Write to F. Hiscox, 853 Broadway, N. Y., stating cause and particulars of your deafness and he will give you all the point desired. Read the following from the Medical Record: "A lecturer in one of our hospitals, while illustrating progress in medical science, introduced a deaf patient whose case baffled all medical skill and was considered incurable. But a few weeks before he had belonged to F Hiscox, New York, having been recommended it was used with fully satisfactory results, as it bearing lost for many years was fully restored by it. This invention is all the more satisfactory as it is out of sight and does not require to be held in position. And while it can be readily removed or inserted by the patients themselves it is withal curative in action and comfortable to wear."
